"ROSEBURG DAY" FERRYBOAT ON AT MYRTLE POINT RIVER PROPOSED

Many Roseburg People Accompany Band to Coos and Curry County Fair

MARKSMEN TO SHOOT WILL INVESTIGATE PLAN

Local Rod & Gun Club Members Participate in Open Competition—Big Prizes Awarded to Winners

The Douglas County Concert band left yesterday evening for Myrtle Point where it will play for the Coos and Curry county fair, which continues over Saturday. The local band played for the fair last year and made such a decided hit that the committee immediately negotiated at that time for the return of the band again, and although it is very expensive to pay the transportation for the organization and pay the players for the time they must take from their work here, the fair association insisted that the band return and made a very attractive financial offer, which was accepted.

The Roseburg band is ranked as one of the finest musical organizations of the state and is highly praised by those who have heard it play. As a concert band it is unsurpassed and some of the most difficult of band selections are played in its regular weekly programs and will be presented to the audiences attending the fair. The band was accompanied to Myrtle Point by a large number of Roseburg citizens who participated in the program for today, Roseburg Day. The address of the afternoon was made by District Attorney George Neuner of this city. The local rod and gun club sent over its best team of marksmen to compete in the trapshoot being staged by the Coos County Sportsmen's league. This shoot is being held as one of the main features of the fair and valuable prizes are being offered. $100 in cash will be divided among the winners of the main events and the Roseburg shooters are determined to chalk up some of the records in this meet.

The Coos and Curry county fair is becoming a southern Oregon event rather than a local affair and the other communities are aiding each year in making the fair a greater success each time. It is quite possible that in future years, Douglas county will join in these fairs. Douglas county has no fair grounds of its own, but there is a growing demand for a county fair. Coos, Curry and Douglas counties are closely connected now by the new highway and it requires only a short time to drive to Myrtle Point which is a good central location. The fact that "Roseburg Day" is drawing such a large crowd from this section of the state, undoubtedly will strengthen this sentiment and it may be that some satisfactory plan may be worked out in the future whereby these neighboring communities can join together in one big celebration which will become an annual event of much importance in the southern portion of the state.

County Court May Arrange to Start Travel on Roseburg-Reedsport Highway

May Transfer Cars by Ferryboat Around Uncompleted Section Between Mill Creek and Brandy Bar

The county court is today considering plans to start traffic over the Roseburg-Reedsport highway by means of a ferryboat to transfer automobiles from Mill Creek to Brandy Bar around the uncompleted section of the road. E. J. Kernan who has had the contract on the dredger section of the road was in Roseburg today and announced that the dredger work is completed. From Sandy Bar to Reedsport the road is now finished, except for surfacing and from Scottsburg to Mill Creek the road is in passable condition. This leaves three and one-half miles which is yet to be graded. This section is within the national forest and government aid is being secured, but it will probably be at least a year or more before it can be opened.

It has been proposed to the court that a ferryboat capable of conveying four or five cars be put on the river between Mill Creek and Sandy Bar and the completed section of the road put into use. The starting of traffic would be of untold benefit to the coast section and the inland communities and is very desirable. The county court will leave probably the first of next week to make an inspection of the project and see what can be done. It is understood that a private company is being formed to build a ferryboat and put it on the run if the county court will allow tolls to be charged. This could be operated as a private enterprise until the road is completed and the county court to-day expressed itself willing to enter such an agreement provided a satisfactory arrangement can be reached regarding the amount to be charged for conveying automobiles over the distance specified.

As the distance is quite short trips could be made every hour and there would be very little delay to traffic in handling the machines back and forth and it is believed that the arrangement would be quite satisfactory provided a private company is willing to take up the proposition. The county has not the funds to build such a boat or to stand the expense of operation without charging tolls. But it is believed that a toll system would be satisfactory, providing the amount is limited to a fair price.

"Watchful Waiting" After three years of decided "watchful waiting" policy of President Wilson, the national administration has signed a treaty with Mexico. And strange to say that treaty is based on the very principle which the Wilson regime declared must be recognized. Frequently the wisest course for men, as well as nations to pursue is that of waiting patiently and watching closely for the psychological time to act.—Eugene Guard.

A string of 21 show horses from Victoria, B. C., belonging to one of the most prominent horsemen on the coast and having many blue ribbons to their credit, will be in Medford for the fair in addition to smaller numbers from other stables. There will be at least three horse racing events each day including running and harness events in addition to the automobile and motorcycle races.

In the evening, on each of the four days of the fair the horse show will be held and spectators will have the advantage of seeing some of the finest horses on the coast. Several local men are already training their horses for the harness events. Among them are J. W. Lawton with his pacer, "Mao," and S. B. Sandefer, who is training Lawton's horse, Hal Paxton, winner of the $5000 free-for-all at Salem at the state fair at Salem four years ago, also a pacer. Sandefer is also entering Phyllis Wynn, a trotter that is also expected to show up well. Some fast horses will be brought in from points both north and south to compete for the purses and the races, both harness and running events, will be better than any that have been seen in southern Oregon for some time.

COUNTY BILLS FOUND IN EXCELLENT SHAPE

The auditing committee of the Douglas County Taxpayers league reported today that they found the county bills this month in very good shape. Last month the committee reported the bills not properly itemized and indefinite. This month, however, they were very satisfactory from the committee's standpoint and all bills gave quantities and prices in itemized form so that they might be easily checked.
