MOVE IS MADE TO OUST WALTER

Governor Pierce Will Fight Opposition Attempting to Recall Him

REASONS ARE GIVEN

Recall Sponsors Declare Tax Burdens Are Increased and That Governor Has Not Kept His Promises

PORTLAND, Sept. 15.—Plans to recall Walter M. Pierce, governor of Oregon, require the signatures of 46,500 voters. Those who are sponsoring the movement expect to obtain 50,000 names.

No candidate has to be named in the recall and none will be named.

When the petition has received the required number of names it will be filed with the secretary of state. Then Governor Pierce will have five days in which to resign. If Pierce resigns, then Jay H. Upton of Bend becomes governor by virtue of being president of the state senate.

Should Governor Pierce refuse to resign—and the chances are that he will refuse—the secretary of state must issue a call for an election to be held within 30 days and the program of the recallers is to speed up the petition so that the date of calling an election will fall on the date of the special election in November, when the referendum on the proposed state income tax will be voted. Having the recall election on the same day as the referendum election would be a stroke of economy.

When it is known that the governor will stick by his guns, the next step is to have a candidate against him. A gathering of 100 people, who have signed the recall petition, can nominate a candidate against Pierce. But the field is wide open, for that matter, and anyone who feels the urge can become a candidate by filing with a fee. Candidates in a recall election have no political designation on the ballot.

So much for the technical features of the recall movement.

Reasons Are Set Forth.

Causes assigned for the ousting of Governor Pierce from his job are about as follows:

"He has established the spoilsman's system in the state administration."

"He has trifled with institutional appointments to the great detriment of the helpless wards of the state."

"He has shamefully surrendered to the criminal element in the state penitentiary."

"He has throttled state irrigation development."

"He has damaged state credit at great community loss by depreciating in public utterances the value of municipal bonds."

"Promises of reduction in taxation and economy in state government have been violated."

Tax Burdens Are Increased.

"Public expenditures and the burdens of the taxpayer have been increased."

"Instead of a firm, reasoned, dignified administration, he has given the state a vacillating administration devoid of dignity and stifling to state development."

"He is simply not big enough for the job."

See how the high points which are said to be the basis for the argument for the recall of Governor Pierce, who was inducted into office eight months ago. It is presumed that the general charges will be followed up by specific instances when the campaign warms up. The ammunition is ready, according to report, to expend on the governor and his administration if he refuses to resign after having had an opportunity to do so.

Governor to Make Fight.

No one acquainted with the disposition of Governor Pierce imagines for a moment that he will supinely yield to the opposition. That the governor will refuse to resign—if the 46,500 names are collected on the petitions—is a foregone conclusion. It is also certain that he will take the stump and defend his policies, and says that the following for a recall is because he is "weaning calves from the public trough," which has been his stock story in answering criticism of his appointments.

The first step in the proceeding is to collect the signatures, and the 46,500 is only about one-third of the number of votes that Governor Pierce received last November. The petitions have bobbed up in the agricultural section, the supposed stronghold of the governor, and among the governor's old-time neighbors, who knew him before he left his white-faced calves on the ranch to go to Salem to cut taxes in half.

BERLIN REPORTS MORE OUTBREAKS

Communist Uprising Threatens and Government Troops Are Heavily Armed

TWO REGIMENTS CALLED

Communist Outbreak Occurs Today in Beuthen and Severe Rioting Reported—Many Arrests Are Made

BERLIN, Sept. 15.—Strong detachments of heavily armed troops have been stationed in the suburbs of Berlin to take vicious action against the threatened Communist uprising. Two regiments of the Reichswehr, Security police of 2,000 men each, are held in readiness for immediate action. The Prussian ministry of interior is co-operating with the Reichs government for preservation of order.

While these ominous preparations took place in Berlin it was reported that a serious Communist outbreak had occurred in Beuthen. There was severe rioting, the miners adjoining the Communists in looting the food shops. The police reinforcements are aiding in the restoration of order. Many persons were arrested.

The above information was telephoned from Berlin via Paris, indicating that censorship was in effect in Berlin.

The causes of the threatened outbreak were not apparent, but it is presumably caused by the food shortage and the open scandal in connection with the conduct of passive resistance.

MISSIONARY SPEAKS

Thursday afternoon the Presbyterian Missionary society had the pleasure of listening to a most excellent address by Miss Penney, a missionary returned from China.

Miss Penney chose as her subject, "Women of Dynamic Power," and spoke of the life of two Chinese women who were converted and through their influence led many others to Christ. Miss Penney's talk was couched in most beautiful language, almost poetic, and her remarks were very forceful and touching. All who heard her felt it had been a real treat to enjoy the privilege.
