Uric Acid Deposits Are the Rheumatic Poison Leave the System Within 48 Hours.

Allen's Relieves at Once. Immediately after you start to take if the good work begins, it searches out the uric acid deposits, dissolves the secretions and drives rheumatic poison out of the body through the kidneys and bowels.

It's marvelous how quickly it acts. Blessed relief often comes in two days, and even in cases where the suffering is most painful all traces disappear in a few days.

Mr. James H. Allen, the discoverer of ALLEN'S, who for many years suffered from the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless ALLEN'S has effectively conquered this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee it as above in every instance.

MILES HIGLEY IS ROTARY VISITOR

Local Rotarians Honored By Presence of High Official Last Evening

DELIVERS FINE ADDRESS

Much Valuable Information Given for Improving Club's Activities—In This Vicinity

Roseburg Rotarians had an opportunity last evening to absorb some real Rotary doctrine, the occasion being a visit to this city of District Governor Wells Higley, of Spokane, Wash. The governor was the guest of honor at a banquet served at the Palace of Sweets at 7 o'clock, after which he addressed the members at length on Rotary principles, business ethics and general attitude toward public matters for the good of the community and a higher standard of citizenship.

Mr. Higley arrived in Roseburg late yesterday afternoon and was taken in charge by Secretary Bert Lawrence who drove him about the city that he might gain an impression of Roseburg and vicinity. Previous to delivering his message to the Rotary members last evening the governor took occasion to pay a number of compliments to Roseburg and the progressive spirit prevalent here, and particularly the camp ground facilities offered the tourist.

"In all my travels throughout the northwest," Governor Higley stated, "I have so far failed to find a camp ground so beautifully located as here in Roseburg, neither have I seen a camp ground for tourists where better facilities were offered for their convenience. This is one of the best advertisements for a live community and Roseburg is certainly to be congratulated for the spirit it has shown in the way of catering to the tourist and your city need never apologize to any one so far as your camp ground facilities are concerned, for I consider them not only equal, but in many ways superior, to any like city enterprise in the northwest."

Governor Higley was highly impressed with Roseburg and the Umpqua Valley and made it plain to his listeners that, should he ever consider leaving Spokane he would "head in" for the Umpqua Valley.

Mr. Higley spoke for nearly two hours to the members of the local Rotary club, his address being directed solely to those principles embodied in Rotary work that should be practiced by every Rotarian to insure the highest standard of efficiency that the club might continue to be the leading factor in all matters of public interest, better business methods, building character and cultivating a true spirit of fellowship and brotherly love, not only locally but internationally, that the world may be made better, homes purified, and our boys and girls reared in wholesome atmosphere that they may be better fitted to take on the responsibilities of life and grow to better men and women.

"Deal with your opponent in business life in just as charitable a way as is possible for you to do," Governor Higley remarked. "Apply the Golden Rule in every day life. This is not a 'highbrow organization.' Far from it, and the people of the world are beginning to learn that the teachings of Rotary are for the good of all. Being international in its scope it is striving to bring together all nations of the earth in one hand for common good. There is no politics in Rotary. Nothing enters into its program save to bring about wholesome relationship and good fellowship among men."

He gave the members much valuable information in reference to boys' and girls' work. This is a part of Rotary program that is being given careful attention by every club throughout the world and is bringing about a higher standard of boys and girls, as well as bettering home environment.

After the close of the meeting at the Palace of Sweets, Governor Higley met with the board of directors and chairman of the various committees and much valuable information was given them in the way of carrying out the true spirit of Rotary in Roseburg.

Mr. Higley left this morning for Medford where he will meet with the Rotary club of that city this evening.

His visit to Roseburg has left an incentive for the members to give the very best that is in them for the great work that is being carried on in the organization.

The big event, and Portland is making extensive preparation to entertain the guests—the first time the big labor body has ever met here.

Commencing Monday, October 1, and preceding the main convention by perhaps a week, various sections of the national organization will hold the national convention. There will be special gatherings of delegates representing the printing, label, building, metal and many other trades, all affiliated with the federation.

Detailed program for the convention will not be announced until shortly before it opens, but it will include action on various recommendations and resolutions dealing with labor problems, together with a number of addresses from prominent speakers.

Samuel Gompers, president of the federation will officiate at the main convention sessions.

In addition to the business of the convention a variety of entertainment is being arranged for the visitors. This will include a motor trip along the Columbia River highway and perhaps an excursion to the ocean at Seaside and Astoria.

PRUNES JUNIOR HIGH MAP RELIEF SCHOOL NEEDED

Patrons of School District Must Erect New Building in Near Future

ALL ROOMS CROWDED

Must Divide Beginners Into Morning and Afternoon Classes City Superintendent Hamm States

The school patrons of Roseburg must begin making plans for the erection of another school building in the near future, City School Superintendent Hamm said today. The crowded condition of the city schools makes it absolutely necessary that more room be provided if the children of the city are to be given an education in the efficient manner which they deserve. The congestion is particularly noticeable in the lower grades where teachers are required to handle 25 to 37 pupils each. No teacher can do justice to that many children, Mr. Hamm says, but because of the lack of room the classes cannot be made any smaller.

It is proposed to construct a junior high school at some central location where the 7th, 8th and 9th grades can be handled.

At the present time these grades are conducted on the departmental plan, which is similar to the high school plan except that each of the grades have their separate rooms but recite their various lessons to different teachers. Under the junior high school plan the pupils would be taught in the same manner as in the high schools, allowance being made, of course, for their younger age.

By taking the 7th and 8th grades from the grade school buildings and the freshman class from the high school, enough room would be provided to reduce the size of the primary classes giving each teacher a number of pupils she could handle with efficiency.

Under the present conditions it will probably be necessary to make two shifts of the beginners classes, Mr. Hamm says. Over 95 pupils enrolled in the first grade yesterday and more are expected. This is the largest number of beginners to be received in any one year in the history of the city schools.

Miss Swinney at the Fullerton school has 37 pupils. Miss Katherine Olson at the Benson school has 31 and Miss Parrott at the Rose school has 27 and Miss Thelma Gooding at the Rose school, teaching the first and second grades has 18.

This applies to the primary grades only. In some of the higher grades some of the teachers have as many as 48 to 49 pupils, and when there are this many students in one room the teacher absolutely cannot give each pupil the individual attention which he deserves.

At the present time it is being planned to divide the beginners into two classes, one class to attend school in the morning and the other in the afternoon, as this appears to be the only way out of the difficulty.

Mr. Hamm says that he hopes that very soon the residents of the school district will realize the necessity for additional room and teachers and will provide the junior high school which is so badly needed. The junior high school plan is now being adopted in all of the cities of the northwest and is being found very satisfactory. Linking with the high school, there is less distinction between the 8th grade and high school and more children complete their education through the high school.

BERKELEY FIRE WAS DISASTROUS

fringe of exclusive homes on the hillside and was spreading in three directions, wreaking havoc as it advanced.

The Berryman reservoir district was completely wiped out and the flames progressed down the slope toward the bay and north toward the University of California.

Homeholders whose homes were threatened by the flames, made desperate attempts to prevent their residences catching fire, but their efforts proved unavailing until this evening, when the fire at last was gotten under control.

As the flames progressed and it became certain that vast destruction probably would result unless they were checked, hurry calls were sent out for volunteers to fight the fire and all available fire fighting apparatus in Berkeley, Oakland and nearby cities was mobilized and hurried to the scene of the conflagration.

The greatest confusion reigned in the fire zone and the district for blocks surrounding that laid waste by the flames.

Residents Make Hasty Flight.
Hundreds of residents whose homes were many blocks removed from the danger zone hastily gathered together such belongings as they could collect and fled with them to areas it was believed the flames would not reach. Hundreds of automobiles jammed the streets on the edge of the constantly enlarging fire zone, many of them carrying refugees who had been left homeless by the flames and others carrying squads of volunteers who lent their efforts in attempts to extinguish the flames.

Many fraternally and sorority houses of the University of California were destroyed, as were homes of several instructors although the institution's structures themselves were not harmed. Hundreds of university men engaged in the fight to check the flames, sprinkling the roofs of houses, as a guard against fire starting from clouds of flying sparks, chopping down treetops and shade trees which grew thick in the burned district and were one cause of the fire spreading, dragging wires

SYSTEM OF ARBITRATION SETTLES MANY DISPUTES

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—Satisfactory settlements were reached in a large majority of the cases of grievances and controversial questions arising under the employe representation plan of the Pennsylvania railroad system for the first half of 1923. This was accomplished at conferences between the local officers and representatives of the employes without recourse to a higher authority, according to a report made by the Northwestern Region headquarters of the system.

"During this period a total of 3,666 cases were taken up with officers below division superintendents," the report says. "Although appeal is provided for to superintendents, general superintendents, general managers, and finally to a joint reviewing committee equally representative of management and employe, the number of cases carried to the general manager totalled 223 and those reaching the reviewing committee, 84."

"Of the controversial questions taken up originally or on appeal with the local officers, superintendents, general superintendents and general manager, almost half were adjusted or compromised in favor of employe. Of cases appealed to the reviewing committee, about half were decided in favor of the management."

The Pennsylvania plan was formulated and established by joint action of the management and employe about two and one-half years ago. The report concludes that under its operation local settlement of disputes has reached a new high level of success.

ROSEBURG PISTOL TEAM IS WINNER

The Roseburg National Guard pistol team decisively defeated the Cottage Grove team here on Sunday afternoon. This is the second time Roseburg has won from Cottage Grove, the local team having won by a wide margin at the Cottage Grove range two weeks ago Sunday. The shoot held here was the first since the range has been improved. The range was in use a number of years ago but during the war the buildings were removed and the targets taken down. Recently the government appropriated $2,000 and the range was improved by Contractor Metzner. The Cottage Grove shoot being the first since it was again made ready for use. Both the Roseburg and Cottage Grove shot better this week Roseburg won by a score of 48 points.
