

TCK! TCK! WHAT A PITY!

Read the other day of a poor farmer who bought a cheap plow, after only using it one season threw it in the fence corner and bought another kind of plow. Poor fellow! He must have bought a better plow. Now if he had only bought one of our would have saved just as much money—and gotten a plow GUARANTEED TO SATISFY HIM. If they don't do the work to YOUR satisfaction bring 'em back and get your money.

Good Moline Plows

Black Mud Plow $22.90

See Us First—We Can Save You Money.

Farm Bureau Cooperative Exchange Roseburg and Oakland

RELIABLE TAILOR

Make Ladies' Suits Men's Suits
J. H. BERNIER We Do Alterations Cleaning and Pressing
Kohlhagen Bldg. (Next Door Umpqua Hotel)

LOCAL NEWS

is a Studebaker year.
brushes for Xmas. 362-R.
products, 120 W. Lane
Orders delivered. Phone 177.
cement just in. L. W. Metzger, Old Empire Barn.
Subscribe. Alden Harrison Library.
extraction of teeth at room
Temple. Dr. Nerbas.
lamp that lasts. Edison
Electric Store.
Hurd of Looking Glass was Friday attending to business.
for quick service. Grand Shop. Country trips specialty.
Gillan of Winchester was in Monday attending to business.
the stairway to High Quality
Price shoes—Bellows Store
Mrs. R. M. Fox of Portland spending a few days in Roseburg attending to business.
123 for all kinds of electric
Edison Electric Store.
Casey left Thursday night for and where he will spend several days looking after business.
Modes in the "Upstairs Shoe"
at Bellows Store Co.
L. McAlroy, a resident of Olam-ent a few hours in Roseburg today looking after business.

LEGION MEETING

At the club rooms in the armory on Tuesday night November 6th. All members urged to attend. Last meeting before Armistice Day. Come out and hear the plans for the monster celebration. The receipt blanks for the 1924 dues are here. Remit early. By order of the commander E. B. STEWART.

This is a Studebaker year.
Arundel, piano tuner. Phone 189-L.

Stewart O'Dell, pastor of the M. E. church, South, will preach at Green Sunday evening at 8 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Shira of Sutherlin spent today in this city attending to business matters and visiting with friends.

Miss Leopold from Kansas arrived in Roseburg yesterday and will spend several weeks visiting with Mrs. R. M. Cooley of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Thels, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Talhridge for the past six weeks, left yesterday for their home in Los Angeles.

Car of cement just in. L. W. Metzger, Old Empire Barn.

William Marvel, a resident of Yoncalla, underwent an operation yesterday morning at Mercy hospital. Doctors Stewart and Sether were in attendance.

Mrs. S. J. Allen of Portland arrived in this city last night to spend several days visiting with her cousin, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cray, and also with Mrs. Carl Wimberly.

Mrs. R. B. Bickelstaff of Myrtle Creek who has been spending the past few days visiting with Mrs. T. L. Beaver, left last night for her home.

V. N. Rust of Myrtle Creek and Floyd Watson of Glide each purchased a Ford touring car today. The sales were made by the C. A. Lockwood Motor company.

Among those who attended the wrestling match at Cottage Grove last night were: P. G. Pingle, Bill Deardorff, Ed Bush, Charles Harpster, Andy Crain, Ed Ball, White Bush.

Taylor's special treatments for Catarrh, lagrippe, female complications, dyspepsia, pneumonia and heart, gastric and cancer, have no known equal or superior. In use forty years. Taylor's Specific Co., Roseburg, Oregon.

Mrs. G. M. Frohmeder, who has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Young for several days left yesterday for Marysville, California, where she will visit with relatives and friends. Mrs. Frohmeder is from Camp Douglas, Wisconsin.

'A WIFE'S STORY'

By JANE PHELPS

CHAPTER VI

Brother Tom, in New York on business, spent the week end with us. There was a sort of armed truce between him and Paul that made me uncomfortable, and when Paul trudged off on Sunday morning to golf with George Markham, I was relieved.

"Are you happy, sis?" Is everything all right?" Tom asked, looking keenly at me. We had settled ourselves on the porch for a talk.

"Of course! I should think you could see that it is."

"I see you have a dandy little home, rented furnished, you said. But can you afford it, Ruby? Paul's book hasn't come out yet I notice." The old sarcastic tone, as Tom spoke of Paul's book, nettled me.

"Certainly we can afford it. You forget Dick has money he inherited."

"Did have, you mean. Do you know how much he has now?"

"Enough, evidently. Paul never talks his affairs with me."

"Too bad. You'd better save a little of what he gives you. Rainy days may come."

"What an old croaker you are, Tom!" I replied. "Paul is very kind, very generous. And his book will soon be out. He has promised me the very first copy." I said proudly yet with a little chill creeping over me. Paul had talked very little of his work in the last few months; lately he had not mentioned it.

"I can only pray you won't have to wait until we are all dead to get it," Tom said half laughing, but with serious eyes.

The Markhams came over in the evening, and Evelyn at once took to Tom.

"Your brother is a dear," she said to me. "Too serious for go young a man; I wish I had him here for a time. We would wake him up."

Tom serious! I laughed gayly. I had never known him to be serious save when talking of Paul. He was the cut-up of the family.

But after they were all gone, and Paul was asleep, what Tom had said came back to me. Was it necessary, because of Paul's lavishness, for me to save? I wished I knew more of his affairs; what he did when away from me. It was with something of fear in my heart that at last I slept. A fear caused by what was soon to happen.

We had been married a year when my little Jane was born. Paul had hurt me dreadfully when I told him of the expected little stranger. He declared he wanted no children. I had been so happy in the anticipation that his ill concealed anger grieved me terribly. Yet he was kind to me and insisted I have the best of care. I consoled myself thinking he would soon learn to love her, his own little daughter. I argued that men naturally did not find a very young babe interesting. Yet the hurt remained. She was his child as well as mine, and I loved her so madly.

About this time I noticed a change in Paul, which I laid in part to the coming of Jane. He was often moody, at times sullen. He complained that it cost us too much to live; yet when I spoke of selling the car, reducing our expenses, he flew into a rage.

"I have never lived like a pauper and I don't propose to!" he declared.

"But now baby is so young I use the car very little, and you scarcely at all," I urged.

"Advertise we are hard up. That's all a woman knows about business," he stormed.

"But you complain about expenses, then when I propose making them less you get angry," I replied, picked into a retort.

Paul turned on his heel and left me muttering angrily.

Again what Tom had said came back to me, this time with more force. He had thought I should save. But I was helpless. Paul paid all the bills; although I had charge accounts I handled little money. And the bills never came to the house; he had them sent to him in town.

I longed for another visit from brother Tom, longed to talk with him. Yet I little imagined all this brother was to mean to me in the future—mean to me and my children.

To Be Continued

ROBBER, LENIENT WITH POOR, SLAIN IN FIGHT WITH POLICE

(Associated Press.)
MADRAS, Nov. 2.—An Indian robber named Jambulingam, known as "Roids Hood" because of this sternness with the rich and his respect for the poor, has been shot dead by the police after a desperate struggle, which has ended an intensive campaign of daylight robbery throughout the Nambuhori division.

Jambulingam, with his lieutenant, Kasli Nadan, escaped from prison a third time and immediately proceeded to follow his usual plan of action. This included a call on prominent people to whom he disclosed his identity and purpose, at the same time demanding a fixed sum of money. Almost invariably the demands were complied with as any refusal provoked the wrath of Jambulingam and his gang which took the form of assault and robbery. His last exploit was at a village wedding at Nambi-Kurichi where the robber and his gang mixed with the guests, placed two armed guards at the exits, and then relieved the guests of their valuables.

CHICHESTER'S PILLS

All the police in the district set out to get Jambulingam. Late in September at a place called Koriyar special police surrounded a house occupied by the gang. Police fire set the roof ablaze, Jambulingam made a dash for freedom, killing the inspector in his rush, but was himself killed by the police.

Stiles Hurd and George M. Swangart of Elkton were business visitors in Roseburg today and callers at the News-Review office.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Mackay leave Monday for Marshfield where they expect to locate permanently. Mr. Mackay is going into business in the Coos Bay city.

KEEPING PACE

The Roseburg National Bank keeps pace with the growth of business. All the while it is adding to its facilities and increasing its capacity for broader service.

Checking Accounts are invited.

The Roseburg National Bank Roseburg, Ore.

The New Oldsmobile Light Six

A General Motors product, selling in Roseburg for $900.00 will be on display Saturday and Sunday. Come in and see it.

GLENN H. TAYLOR,

DEALER

Service Garage

332 N. Jackson St.

Roseburg, Ore.

The Prime Factor for a

SUCCESSFUL SUNDAY DINNER

Is Plenty of Good Things to Eat WELL, HOW'S THIS Fried Spring Chicken and Chicken Pot-Pie

50¢

Y-NOT-EAT

The Most Popular Place in Town

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Owing to the fact that some people persist in abusing the privilege I have heretofore granted them of passing through my property, on the West side of the river opposite Roseburg, by leaving the gates open, and in some instances actually fastening them open, thus allowing my stock to stray into this city, I find it necessary to lock my gates and prohibit all trespassing on my place, without my specific permission. Responsible parties living above the place will be granted temporary permission to pass through under certain conditions, which may be ascertained by calling to me personally. Signed this 1st day of November, 1923.

O. J. LINDSEY.

LOCAL NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Haines of Elkton were in Roseburg this afternoon looking after business matters.

Among those in town today from Glendale were C. Newbold and Mrs. C. Nebo.

Mrs. M. M. Van Horn who resides in Green was in town for a few hours today visiting and attending to business.

Chrysanthemums for sale. Bigger, better and more of them. Come and see them. At the home of H. B. Church 218 East Commercial Ave.

Dr. and Mrs. Dewey Wilson residents of Canyonville, spent a short time in town today visiting and attending to business.

J. R. R. Smick and son, Raymond, of Canyonville, left last night for Corvallis, where they will attend the football game.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Wood, residents of Myrtle Creek, were in town today attending to business and visiting with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Edwards were in town today attending to business and visiting with friends. Mr. and Mrs. Edwards are from Umpqua.

A. D. Cornwell today purchased the nine-room modern home on Winchester street formerly owned by Chas. L. Wilson. The deal was made by Chas. Kres.

Mrs. Edna Hallan, Miss O. C. Coffin, Ray and Elijah Hallan, of Drain, arrived in Roseburg today to attend the funeral of W. N. Kitchen.

Buick Open Cars are Stormtight

Perfect protection is provided from rain and wind. The lower frame of the windshield fits into a permanent rubber grommet. Moulded rubber seals every joint between the frames and posts. At the top a new weatherstrip, steel reinforced, excludes all air that might enter between the windshield and top, and side curtains button to the windshield, instead of the posts, covering the slight crack between them.

In addition to these and numerous other refinements, Buick four-wheel brakes afford a greater degree of safety on all models.

SEE THE BUICK AND RIDE IN IT MOTOR SHOP GARAGE

Distributors for Douglas County
ROSEBURG OREGON

When better automobiles are built, Buick will build them
Buick Motor Company, Flint, Mich.

TUBBY

It Wasn't His Fault That Mom Said No

By WINNER

WATCH FOR "TUBBY" AND HIS DOIN'S IN THE DAILY NEWS-REVIEW

Take No Risks
We write any sort of accident or general insurance.
Talk to us about this thing today
JOHN E. FLURRY
Insurance Agency
Rooms 1 and 2
Roseburg Bank Bldg.
Phone 123
Roseburg, Ore.