

Special Offer

orders for a few second hand tractor plows. Orchard man wants to trade in his field plow for a real orchard plow, now is his chance.

Special

Way Sulky Plow (14-inch)$75.00

See Us First—We Can Save You Money.

Bureau Cooperative Exchange

Roseburg and Oakland

RELIABLE TAILOR

Ladies' Suits J. H. BERNIER We Do Alterations Cleaning and Pressing

Kohlhagen Bldg. (Next Door Umpqua Hotel)

ARRIVALS

Hotel Grand
arrivals: J. A. Wilson, Katherine Moser, James Robertson, Harry Levinson, J. Nichols, Ben McMullen, Charles Durgin, Riddison, North Bend, Philman, Louis Jones, Riddison and wife, E. O. Boston, Mass., V. O. and wife, Coos Bay, Oregon, Canada, E. S. Francisco, Miss E. J. Ansel, C. J. Murray, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Swanson, Louis Smith Falls, Swain, Yates, G. Mulvey, A. Field, W. Wilson, Otto E. Bolech, B. F. Inman, G. W. Evans, E. Johnston, Vancouver, B. Darn, Los Angeles, Eugene, John Smith, J. N. Fredrick, Wash., W. M. Kenney, C. Morten, San Francisco, Tom Acosta, Jess Deorunk Bruko, Frank Sokolich, John Norman Anderson, Ferris, George M. Oakland, W. S. Hunt, L. E. Stenger and Miss Claire Smith, Lew Riddle, George J. L. Beach, W. and daughter, M. Keenan, C. S. Metner, E. city, Mrs. Amos O. T. H. Davis, Glides, Riddle, A. W. Ream, McClane, Riddle, Mr. L. Funchan, Mrs. O. North Dakota.

Hotel Umpqua
arrivals: Frank Meyer, Guy Moss, W. W. Carroll, A. B. Salmon, J. C. McCawthy, C. A. Rodman, F. M. Waite, W. C. Knighton, Jess Gage, Robert Hamaker, R. V. Rush, George G. Irvine, J. Albus, B. Rosenfer, M. M. Fernetz, B. A. Johnson, E. M. Schmoen, R. B. Gudson and wife.
Miscellaneous: Merle H. Hays, J. A. Amstein, Reedsport; William L. Dolan, city; Ben Manning, Marshfield; A. Henninger, Oakland; C. H. Jones, Chas Cook and wife, Silverton; L. H. Briggs, Grants Pass; R. G. Berryman and wife, Walla Walla; D. M. Anderson, Eugene; P. F. Pinkette, Seattle; A. Tariff and party, Pundleton; G. G. Byers, Gardiner; W. W. Reider, Seattle; Mary G. Lyman, Mr. and Mrs. C. Lyman, Walla Walla; D. D. Rarrington and wife, Seattle; H. E. McGinn, Medallin Colony, South America; T. A. Rafferty, Salem; Edith Hanks, Oakland; C. S. Pierce, Seattle; J. L. Cole, Sutherlin; Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Gray, Seattle; M. R. Ryan, Drain; Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Denman, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Massey, Medford; E. E. Hewitt, Ashland; George C. Penner, R. Brown and wife, Corvallis; R. R. Kiers and wife, Spokane; Walter V. Swanson, Seattle; Noah Block, Reedsport; C. S. Pendleton, Marshfield.

Roland Schwartz and Dale Smith who have been spending the week end in this city with their parents, returned to Corvallis last night.

Hotel Douglas
arrivals: C. E. Bigger, T. E. Hammell, W. G. Hancock, F. J. Conward, E. J. Slack, Ross, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. and Mrs. Chas. Gos. Wenatchee; Mrs. Mason, Methon, Wn.; Mr. W. Wells and family, W. Morzac, San Francisco; Mrs. Rose, Seattle; Mrs. H. C. M. Dietrich, San Francisco; Glendale; C. H. Youcalle; M. Stanton, Lawrence, Aberdeen; San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. Struckle, Oakland; C. F. Pugh, Klamath Falls; L. Hanson, Rutte; Darrell Thomas L. Brown, G. H. L. Kaping, E. Nelson, E. Olson, Andrew Coleman, J. Al-Franco; T. E. Lehan, C. O. Sherer and wife, L. L. Sherer, Lisbon, N. Albany, McMinnville; W. Dayton, H. D. Tolbert, E. E. Hubbe, Pullman, D. Behl and wife, San M. R. Amick, Corvallis;

Why Druggists Recommend Swamp-Root

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine. It is a physician's prescription. Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do. Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends. Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.

PROFESSIONAL CADRES
FLYER—Chiropractic
W. Lane St.

'A WIFE'S STORY'

By JANE PHELPS

SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS CHAPTERS

Eighteen-year-old Ruby Atkins marries Paul Norwood, age 25, against the judgment of her brother, Tom, and her parents. Norwood is a spendthrift and has already dissipated a small fortune. At first there is much talk about his writing a novel. But when he finishes it and it is rejected by the publishers he burns it. He rents the studio where he has been working on his book. He goes broke and things go from bad to worse; when he does bring in money he will not tell his wife where it comes from. Their eight years of married life are years of anxiety and unhappiness for Ruby. She confides in Evelyn Markham.

CHAPTER XIII

I knew that brother Tom would soon see that things were not going well for us, and while I longed to ask for his advice, his help, I dreaded his criticisms. He had opposed my marriage, never had trusted Paul. I welcomed him warmly. It was good to see one of my own kin again. He was delighted with the children, played with Joan, and coaxed the quiet little Laura until she forgot her shyness.

"They are darlings, Ruby," he said. You must bring them home. Father and mother will be delighted with them."

"Perhaps I may before long," I craved, a longing to go in my heart, but knowing it could not be. There was no money to pay railroad fares.

Tom asked about the maid, and I told him the truth: I had let her go because we couldn't afford to keep her. He asked about the book, Paul's best seller, and I also told him the truth about that: It was a failure. He had burned it.

"What is he doing now?" The dreaded question.

"I don't know, Tom," I replied. "You don't know?" he repeated, astonishment in his voice, in his face.

"No, I only know that he makes enough to get along." I decided I would say nothing of debts, bills.

Tom looked very thoughtful. "It is strange you do not know what business your husband is in," he said. "Is he writing still?"

"Not that I know of."

"Does he still keep those rooms in the city?"

"No, he rented them and sold the furniture soon after he burned his book."

"Yet he goes to town every day; he has some position, perhaps something he is rather ashamed of doing. His ideas were pretty lofty for a poor man, I remember." Then: "I see you still have the car."

"Yes, but I scarcely ever use it. We can't afford the upkeep, gas and so forth. But he says it would advertise we are hard up, and that would militate against him."

"He's right, in a way. Yet I don't quite see his point of view," Tom said slowly. "A car deteriorates standing as fast as if it is used. Better sell it while he can get something for it. But as long as it is standing idle, I'll take you and the children for a long ride."

The car needed oil and gas, and Tom drove to a nearby garage to be fitted out. We had taken a lunch with us, would be gone all day.

I was terribly embarrassed when the man at the garage refused to wait upon us until paid in advance.

"Your bill is pretty big, Mrs. Norwood," he said, not unkindly. "It has been running over a year."

"How much is it?" Tom asked. Then paid it. Fortunately it was not large, because I had used the car so seldom.

"I am Mrs. Norwood's brother. I will be responsible for what she needs to enable her to use the car," Tom said to the man, giving him his address and directing the bills be sent him monthly.

"Now, sis," he said, using his old pet name for me. "I want you to use the car all you want to. You are looking thin and pale. As long as Paul keeps it, you and the children ride every day. It will keep you fit."

I thanked him effusively. I got out so little, was too tired to walk after my housework was done. It would do me good, mentally as well as physically. I was a good driver, knew how to handle the car as well as anyone. I would forget some of my worries in the delight of handling it again, give myself and the children many outings.

We had a happy day. Tom did not once speak of Paul, but gave himself to making me and the children enjoy ourselves. Joan was wild with delight when we camped by a little stream, and Tom built a fire to make coffee. Laura nestled close to him while he smoked, and I napped lazily under a tree.

A red-letter day, one that remained in my memory for years.

Tomorrow—Paul Resents Tom's Interest

MOVIES

Antlers Theatre
"Three Ages" Buster Keaton's first full length picture. Is coming to the Antlers Theatre tonight. Keaton has deserted the two-reel slap stick comedies, and will henceforth star in comedies of feature attraction.

"Three Ages" is classed as a burlesque on love, marriage and business. Beginning with primitive man Keaton depicts vividly the life of the cave man era and then swings into the triumphant period of the Roman Empire. Here there are several massive scenes, principal among which is a duplication of the famous Coliseum. Several thousand people participate in this scene where Keaton makes a brilliant hit as a Roman noble matched in a chariot race with an envious rival.

"Three Ages" was directed by Buster Keaton and Eddie Cline from the story by Jean Haver, Joe Mitchell and Clyde Bruckman. It was photographed by William McGann and Elsin Lessly. Fred Gabouri was art director. It is a Joseph M. Schuck presentation through Metro.

Liberty Theatre
"The Little Red Schoolhouse" which will be shown at the Liberty Theatre tomorrow and Thursday, was most certainly destined to find its way to the screen. There were many facts in connection with the early production of this old play which seemed to foreshadow its photodramatization.

In the first place it was written by Hal Reid, father of the late Wallace Reid, being known originally as "The Little Red Schoolhouse, or In Convict Stripes." It is interesting to note that one of the first casts assembled for the production included Lillian Gish and Mary, Jack and Lotie Pickford! At that time, of course, they were children and were entrusted only with small parts.

Although, of course, it was necessary to revise and modernize the

A Good Thing - DON'T MISS IT.

Send your name and address plainly written together with 5 cents (and this slip) to Chamberlain's Medicine Co., Des Moines, Iowa, and receive in return a trial package containing Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis, "flu" and whooping coughs, and tickling throat; Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for stomach troubles, indigestion, gas, pains that crowd the heart, biliousness and constipation; Chamberlain's Salve, needed in every family for burns, scalds, wounds, piles, and skin affections; these valued family medicines for only 5 cents. Don't miss it.

play for the present screen version, a great deal of the old heart interest and thrills is retained, and it is a certainty that all those who see this great picture will remember it in the years to come. "The Little Red Schoolhouse" is more than a term or title—it is a tradition which will never die.

DON'T FORGET

You owe those friends a photo. A good photo is the best Xmas gift you can make, and the most appreciated. Make an appointment now with Carl and Clark at the Roseburg Studio, 127 Jackson St., Bell Sisters Bldg.

LOCAL NEWS

Long, wide clear cedar boat lumber, Page Lumber and Fuel Co.

M. F. Ryan, of Drain, is in the city looking after business matters.

Dr. A. C. Seals and John E. Runyan were at Grants Pass yesterday to attend the football game between the local boys and the high school of that city.

Miss Helen Casey who spent the week end and Christmas Day in Portland returned last night to her home in this city. While in Portland Miss Casey was the house guest of Miss Naomi Scott.

ROSEBURG BEATS GRANTS PASS HI

Locals Play Shut-Out Game on Grants Pass Gridiron Yesterday.

SCORE IS 27 TO 0

Team Obviously Out-Played Opponents Scoring First Touchdown After Two Minutes of Play.

(By Glenn Radabaugh)

The boys of the Roseburg high school football team "did their stuff" yesterday when they defeated the Grants Pass squad by a score of 27 to 0 on the home field of the latter team.

Playing one of the best games of the season and the only complete shut-out game, the locals easily outplayed the Grants Pass team from the start. Only once throughout the game was the pignin within scoring distance for the local's opponents and then they failed to score.

Just, Roseburg's little end man, scored the first touchdown just two minutes after the opening of the game on a completed 10-yard pass, followed by a 35-yard run. The second touchdown came in the second quarter on a pass from Irwin to Burr, followed by a broken field run of 40 yards. The locals kicked the goal and the score at the end of the first half stood 13 to 0 in their favor.

Losing nothing of their splendid start Roseburg's squad came back in the second half ready to pile more points onto the score. The third touchdown came in the third quarter after a series of off-tackle bucks and end runs and two passes which carried the ball to the 2-yard line from which Captain Irwin shoved the pignin through the center. Burr again kicked the goal for Roseburg.

In the fourth quarter, with the score 29 to 0 in favor of R. H. S., Grants Pass uncorked all their trick plays, but to no avail. A double cross resulting in a pass netted them big gains and it began to look serious for the R. H. S. gridsters, but an intercepted pass saved them the ball and they started another march to the goal and were not halted until Irwin, with the ball on the 3-yard line, slipped through the tackle hole on the short end of the line without being touched by the Grants Pass man. For the third time Burr kicked the goal.

The remainder of the game was a punting and passing duel, with both teams about even. The game ended with the ball in Roseburg's possession on the 55-yard line.

Roseburg dashed the Grants Pass boys with passes and cross-crosses, interspersed with wicked line-plunging. Every man on the local team played well. Irwin, Burr, Just, and Agce starred for Roseburg. Agce's terrific plunging was a feature of the game. Clair Taylor, at center, stopped all attempts through the middle of the line and made it impenetrable.

The boys who are successfully wound up the next-to-last game of the season were: L. E. Beckley; L. T. Hatfield; L. G. Niblett; C. Clair Taylor; R. G. Wright; R. T. Vernon Taylor; R. E. Jost; Q. Chilson; L. H. Agce; R. H. Burr; F. Irwin.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a sweetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

(captain). The substitutions made: Reymers for Beckley; Pierson for Agce; McCulloch for Chilson; Beckley for Reymers; Agce for Pierson.

One more game, the one with Ashland, and the local boys are through for the season, with three victories, two defeats and every indication for another victory in the last game.

Special price on evening dresses, The Marksbury Co.

B-K disinfectant and germicide has a hundred uses around your house or farm. It has ten times the germ killing power of carbolic acid, yet is non-poisonous. Sold by Wharton Bros.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Matthews, who have been making their home at Carnos for the past several years, have moved to Roseburg to again make their home here. They will reside at their former home on Pitzer street.

Attention!

Mass meeting of all CARPENTERS and BUILDING TRADESMEN in Roseburg vicinity Thursday, Nov. 15 at Moose Hall.

Purpose of meeting to organize the Carpenters and Building Tradesmen. J. J. Stack of the Oregon Federatio of Labor will speak.

THE NEW WILLYS-KNIGHT COUNTRY CLUB

expresses the sport motive with a taste seldom seen on American roads. Superbly finished in Cavalier, Maroon and Nickel, with khaki top. Completely appointed.

Willis-Knight Motor Cars

GLENN H. TAYLOR
Roseburg, Oregon

Service Garage

TUBBY

One Look Was Enough For Tubby

By WINNER