CLAN WITHDRAWS FROM BIG PARADE

The News-Review has been requested to make the following statement regarding the failure of the Ku Klux Klan to appear in the Armistice Day parade, as it was previously announced that they would do. The Klan was prepared to march and went to considerable expense in preparing a beautiful float. Several hundred of its members were robed and ready for the parade in which they had planned to participate. When it was announced that the Klan expected to appear, some of its opponents made a vigorous protest. The Legion post refused to consider the protest, holding that the Legion is a neutral organization and that an invitation had been extended to all organizations regardless of beliefs and creeds to participate. Shortly before the parade, however, the Klan heard of the protest that had been made, and rather than cause any possible embarrassment to the Legion post voluntarily withdrew, in spite of the expense to which it had gone.

WILLIAM NORMAN DIES SUDDENLY

William Earl Norman, aged 25 years, a well known resident of Drew passed away at the Mercy Hospital on Saturday night following an operation for ulcer of the stomach. The young man resided in Roseburg for many years and was quite well known here, his parents being pioneer residents of this section.

Last week Mr. Norman was on a hard trip in the hills and was away from his home for four days. Upon his return Friday he appeared to be in the best of health and was playing with his children when he suddenly became ill. His condition appeared to be so serious that he was rushed to Roseburg for medical attention and upon his arrival here it was found that he was suffering from an ulcer of the stomach which had evidently broken. An attempt was made to save the young man's life by performing an operation but the poison had spread through the system and all efforts were of no avail.

Mr. Norman was born in The Dalles on August 24th, 1897, and moved to Roseburg with his parents when but a year and a half old. The greater part of his life was spent in this city, his parents being engaged in the grocery and confectionery business here. The family moved to Drew, Oregon, in 1909. Mr. Norman was married to Ethel Laura Bartels of Cottage Grove on January 12th, 1918. Three children were born to the union, two boys and a girl. The oldest boy, George Winfield, was aged 4 years, the other boy Max Dyott, aged 2 years and Barbara Janine, aged 15 months.

The deceased was a young man of sterling character and who was well liked by all who knew him. His loyalty to his country was shown by his enlistment in the U. S. army during the World War.

The funeral services will be held at Cottage Grove Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

BANDS GIVE AID IN CELEBRATION

The Armistice Day celebration held yesterday was made much more successful than would otherwise have been possible, as a result of the services of the Douglas County Concert Band, and the juvenile band.

The concert band donated its services and played for the parade, patriotic music and the football game. The musicians were ready at all times to aid in making the day a success. Many people were greatly surprised by the fine playing of the boys' band. The youngsters played in perfect harmony and perfect time. It is remarkable that such a band could be formed in such a short space of time and people are speaking very highly of the ability of the directors who are responsible for this showing.

RAST AUTOMOBILE IN PECULIAR ACCIDENT

A peculiar accident occurred Monday night when the car owned and driven by Del Rast backed over the sidewalk on Jackson street hill and dropped into the space between the walk and tree in front of the old creamery building. Mr. Rast was going up the hill when his engine stalled and his car started backward, his brakes refusing to hold. The top of the sidewalk is about eight feet above the level of the ground and the car backed over the sidewalk and rolled over the edge. The tree which stands near the walk prevented the machine from turning clear over and it slipped down between the tree and the sidewalk. Fortunately Mr. Rast was not injured, and the car was only slightly damaged.

and an attempt is made to teach English. The English, however, is of a bad sort and rather difficult to understand when spoken by the natives.

"It seems as though there are only two policies to pursue in the Islands. They are: we must either get out or stay in and run the government. The island is practically self-governed, and is so independent at present that they dictate to the authorized United States officials whenever possible. Only recently they discharged a large number of Americans without any cause. Politics are such that they think they have Tammany backed off the map."

Dr. Waterous declared that public health conditions are woefully lacking. Tropical diseases are prevalent such as dysentery and malaria. The public health service has gone to rack and ruin, he said. Millions of mosquitoes aid in spreading disease and several cases of cholera and bubonic plague have been discovered. He said that school infection was similarly bad.

In speaking of the leper colony in the Philippines, Dr. Waterous gave a wonderful description of the conditions there. He said the colony consists of about 7,700 lepers and up to the time of the arrival of General Wood practically no treatment had been given the inmates. General Wood secured a large quantity of the drug necessary for the disease and since that time a great deal of experimental work has been done. Some cures have been reported, he said. Five hundred children have been born from leper parents in the colony. These children are not afflicted with the disease at the time of birth and when isolated can be saved from its terrible ravages. General Wood has isolated the children and they are being cared for. The care of the insane is another big question to cope with in the Islands.
