THE CHRISTMAS SEALS

The pretty little stamps called Christmas seals will soon begin to adorn the letters you receive. Will not our home folks in Roseburg take hold and do their share in buying them this year, so that our community shall take its full part in the anti-tuberculosis campaign for which they are used?

Congress has little time to be juggling about for a leader and the country, generally want to see less politics and more real business done during the present session of this body.

The alert proclivities of the bootlegger is costing Douglas county a goodly sum, but it will be money well spent if conditions generally are purified.

DUMBLETT DORA THINKS Hyacinth is a French intoxicant. Well fellows, has your wife bought your Xmas present yet which she plans on using?

The Elluks minstrels are buying up all the old corks in the village today which is working quite a hardship on the home brewers.

Many girls bath charms—trouble is they usually purchase them at confectionery stores.

THE HORRORS OF PROHIBITION This home-made hooch will give you grit. It has a kick by Grass. A fishworm took a drink of it. And whipped a ten-pound bass.

THE WISE FOOL "Imitation is the sincerest form of flattery," observed a fellow. "Yes when you give a girl an imitation diamond ring," commented another.

We no longer find the village smithy under the spreading chestnut tree. Ah, no; he is under some automobile that has become a chestnut.

Of course, you ought to tell your wife everything. It's safest to tell her, but do it before someone else does.

If hunters would shoot off something besides their mouth the woods wouldn't be so full of rabbits.

Man tried to flirt in Seattle. Girl knocked him down with her fist. He certainly fell for her.

As motorists won't stop at railroad crossings to let the trains get by, it looks as if the trains would have to stop and let the automobiles pass.

When some rounder doesn't play square you get an eternal triangle.

Women are more efficient. No man can handle a cold with four square inches of lace.

PERHAPS After all there are only three things that are worth while: To be good. To do good. And always to smile.

The man who lets success turn his head will be looking backwards.

The man who doesn't invent anything else is there with bells on when it comes to inventing excuses.

Of course it's the Christmas spirit that counts, but that doesn't necessarily mean that she will be satisfied with a Christmas card.

Prospective buyer: "You say your car is different from the rest of them. In what way?" Auto salesman: "Well, there is no pig iron in the machine to squeak."

Don't get discouraged. The civilized nations are those that owe more money than they can pay.

"Blessed be the tie"—that binds a man to a woman's apron strings.

A New York correspondent says the question most frequently heard in fashionable circles is, "What are you drinking nowadays?" Of course the answer is, "I wonder."

Maybe she's a grass widow because she just couldn't stand to live with a hayseed.

It is seldom that a jury of men is able to find a bad speck in a peach.

A MAN WHO BECAME FAMOUS

Dr. R. V. Pierce, whose plethoric appears above, was not only a successful physician but also a profound student of the medicinal qualities of Nature's remedies, roots and herbs, and by close observation of the methods used by the Indians, he discovered their great medicinal qualities, especially for weakness of women, and after careful preparation succeeded in giving to the world a remedy which has been used by women with the best results for half a century. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is still in great demand, while many other so-called "cure-alls" have come and gone. The reason for its phenomenal success is because of its absolute purity, and Dr. Pierce's high standing as an honored citizen of Buffalo is a guarantee of all that is claimed for the Favorite Prescription as a regulator for the female system.

TAKES HOLD AND HELPS Colds that "hang on" should be gotten rid of, for no one can stand the strain of racking cough, disturbed sleep and irritation of throat and lungs. Marie Heisler, Freeport, N. J., writes: "I had more or less of a cough for years and I have taken quite a number of medicines. None of them takes hold and helps like Foley's Honey and Tar." This old, reliable cough syrup promptly helps coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. Contains no opiates. Children like it.

The Amount of Confidence Shown by Our Customers in 1907

During the short and acute panic of that year is a matter of public knowledge. During the two weeks prior to the limiting of withdrawals $4,000. These names and amounts were listed by the officers and an attil preserved as a reminder of those strenuous times.

That year there was a large export market in Umpqua Valley and this bank had made advances to the shippers of some $100,000 on most of which credit advances had been made on account of bills of lading and sight draft by both Chicago and New York correspondents. These banks in turn had taken credit against the shipments from their foreign correspondents in London or Berlin. But the buyers abroad decided to take advantage of the situation existing and refused payment until the arrival of the products.

This bank was notified by wire of the dishonored drafts and that the amounts had been charged back to its account. Retribution was so soon as funds could be spared was asked, and it was now to be met by this was done by telegraphic transfer, without waiting for the usual course through the mails, or by waiting until normal conditions again prevailed as might have been done.

Further dismay was added by two large Portland banks which suspended. One of these was the correspondent here of this bank. The tying up for the time being the funds on deposit with it. It had now become apparent that the country banks could not secure funds from correspondent banks to provide against the time when the bank should be ended.

It also became known to us that it would be necessary for this bank to provide sufficient funds to carry both banks. Wharpoon Mr. Bond sold personal securities in the Eastern market amounting to $25,000 and had this amount placed to the credit of his bank with The Merchants Loan & Trust Company, the Chicago correspondent. From there it was transferred by wire to our San Francisco bank which secured the gold coin from the United States Mint and shipped as by express.

On that November morning when the wagon of the Wells Fargo Express Company drove up to the side door of the bank on Oak Street with the first shipment of $80,000.00 in gold 296 the panic was past and the gold in exchange charge of $1800.00 was paid by the bank. Large additional shipments to a total of $125,000.00 were made. The First National paid no part of the expense of the money shipments to us.

Earlier in 1907 Mr. Marsters had disposed of his interest in the bank and was now organizing the Roseburg National Bank. The 10 per cent payment of capital stock amounting to $25,000.00 was deposited in the Douglas County Bank, and some of the share holders were uneasy and asked him to withdraw it, but this he declined to do, because as he was with the strength of the institution.

When the holidays were suspended the deposits in the bank on the first day exceeded withdrawals by $4500.00 and continued to increase from day to day. All the money shipped in for a possible emergency was unused and was soon shipped out.
