Every vote cast in Douglas county at the special election held on the income tax measure, cost the tax-payers of Douglas county approxi-mately 10 cents. It is possible that the cost will go higher when all of the bills are in, but with some claims still outstanding the cost has reached still outstanding the cost has reached 69 cents per vote, and more bills are to be added to the total before the election cost is entitrely settled.

So far the county has expended $2.421.09 for the special election, while less than one-third of the voters were sufficiently interested to turn out and cast their ballots. The total number of votes cast was $3.531, so that the average cost per vote was nearly 70 cents.

ADVISE EARLY MAILING

Business Houses Asked to Send Letters to Office at Frequent Times Throughout Day.

The local post office force is making preparations for the holiday rush which will start about the 17th and continue until the 29th. The imployes met yesterday with Postmaster Heinline in a conference to discuss the best methods of handling the Christmas mail and to provide an organization to give the best possible service. Arrangements were made to provide the needed help during the peak hours and to make up the mails at specified times to catch the mail trains, so that there will be the least possible delays.

The postal employees are counting on the co-operation of the patrons of the office.

Business houses are asked to distribute their mail throughout the day rather than dump all their let-ters in the post office at one time. It is the practice of many firms to allow their outgoing mail to accoum-ulate throughout the day, and then in the evening to turn in a large number of letters. With several tirms doing this each day the postal employees are rushed to the limit in the evening. If the business firms would mail their letters at various times throughout the day, this work could be done without creating any great rush or confusion, and at the same time they would get better de-liveries to the mail trains.

Another matter stressed very heavily at the conference was in re-gard to the mailing of parcels. Few gard to the mailing of parceis. Few people take the proper care with the parceis they mail. All parcel post packages are dumped into large mail sacks, which are filled as full as possible. If a small package is put in a large box, and without the large box being filled, the outer covering is sait to be crushed and the smaller package will come out of its wrapping and be lost. Frequently parcels are tied with light cord which breaks and allows the wrapper to come off and the address to be lost. In connection with the rules for

CONNELLY CASE BASEBALL BOARD

State Introduces Surprise Testimony Late Yesterday by Rebuttal Witness.

Gives Instructions-Expect Verdict Tonight.

CONNELLY GUILTY

Seven minutes after they walked out of the court room, the jury in the Connelly case the Jury in the Connelly case reported that it was ready with its verdict. The verdict of guilty was returned into court and the defendant, Jack Con-nelly, former officer, and prime mover in the Reedsport bootleg ring, was remanded to the cusring, was remanded to the cus-dy of the sheriff to remain in jail until Friday, December 14, at 10 a. m., at which time the sentence of the court will be passed upon Connelly, Fred Schultg and B. The fate of Jack Connelly, former Reedeport officer, accused of accepting a bribe and giving protection to a notorious beoze ring, was placed in the hands of the jury at 2:20 p. m. today. Twelve men will decide whether or not Jack's story on the wifness stand presented a truthful version of the state of affairs existing in Reedsport in July, 1922. Connelly's partner, Fred Schulte, former constable, is "toasting his shins" around the stove in the county just awaiting sentence, having been convicted of a similar crime and although he was the star witness in the former trial of Connelly at which time the jury disagreed, Schulte was not called from his cell during this The fate of Jack Connelly, former not called from his cell during this trial.

New angles to the case were intro-duced at the trial late yesterday.

William Grabbe, denuty shariff of Reedsport, testified on the stand that he had talked to Jack Connelly on July 2, 1922, and produced his ac-count book to prove that he had had a business dealing with the defend-which the test well is located.

According to Mr. Perkins, this is the best oil prospect in Douglass dealing with the defendant on that day. Connelly has mainto receive a brile from Reedsport on July 1, 1922, and therfore it would have been physically impossible for him to receive a brile from Roberts in Reedsport on that day. Grubbe's account book showing that Grubbe had daid Connelly for some wond on that day, was introduced as evidence.

Alech Tate, who was night marshal in Reedsport under Schulte during July, 1922, took the stand next. The declared that be taked to both Connelly and Schulte in Reedsport on the side in the faith of July 1, 2 and 3. He said be was talking to them on the night of July 1 when a car loaded with something backed up to the reer of Earl Wroe's mont hall. He said that Connelly and Schulte tried to stand between him and the car so be could not see what was being unloaded. When asked how he happened to fix the dates for July 1, 2 and 3. Tate answered "I happen to be an American, brother, and I sell-dem forms the Fourth of July." He the direct personal supervision of the Gracula construction work. In his testimons on the witness stand, Connelly had declared that he was up near Ada on July 1, 2, and 2, earthing for stills. Bill Burnett, allocal moonshiner for the ring, also testified to that effect and said that on July 2nd he caught a freight train from Ada to East Gardiner.

In an effort to offset this testimont, the state brought J. I. Spent Over 50 Years of Life Running Down Criminals of All Classes-Head National Agency.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 11.—William Plakerton, one of the owners of the Plakerton National Detective Agency, died here today at a hotel.

One of the first noted American criminologists to advocate and prac-tice humanitarian methods in dealing with felons, William Allen Pinkerton, head of the Pinkerton National De-tective Agency, was credited with having reformed more safe blowers and bank thieves than any other man in the country.

Primarily a thief-taker, Mr. Pinker-ton spent more than 50 years of his life running down criminals of all classes, yet he always stood ready to proffer a helping hand to the unfor-tunate malefactor whose repentence was genuine and whose desire to re-form was shreers. form was sincere.

Knowing criminals and their methods, their weaknesses and their human side as perhaps no other man of his time had known them. Pinkerton never sympathized with the theorist and the sentimentalist who sought to reform desperate, hunted men by kind words, but he did know that a little help and a little encouragement at the right time and in the right place were frequently more effective than imprisonment. Scores of former criminals scattered over the country are now living honest and useful lives as a result of the reform measures practiced by the archenemy of their criminal days.

The Roseburg Oil and Gas company, which is drilling the well, has already invested about $2,540 in the well, and it will be necessary to expend about $3,000 more before the powerful armor-plated vaults, olectrically operated and protected, were heard of, and safe blowers were in their beyday. Determined to specialize in bank protection, William Pinkerton enlisted the support of leading financial institutions of the
