

THE WOMAN'S PAGE

SOCIETY

By BEULAH JEWETT

All contributions to this page, society, women's clubs, and personals, should be telephoned to the society editor by Friday of each week. Telephone No. 135

The New Year with its never failing promise of joy and hope was started on its way with characteristic energy by Roseburg folk, whose hospitality was evidenced by the numerous dinners and watch parties with which the week was filled. The jolly informality which marks the exodus of the old year and the welcoming of the new, was a joyful note amid the entertaining and the advent of several popular girls from out of town gave a fresh impetus.

The close of the holiday season has started the numerous dancing and bridge clubs to serious thoughts again, and their regular schedules will be resumed the coming week. The L. F. T. club, whose clever entertainments have been missed during the past few weeks, will have their initial dance under the new organization on Tuesday evening. Other dances and parties in great number have been planned for the coming weeks.

Bradburns Hosts on New Year's Day

Among the many dinner parties on Tuesday was that for which Mr. and Mrs. George Bradburn were hosts, serving dinner at 4:30 at a table exulting with clusters of yellow mimosas. Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Will Craven, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Winston, Mrs. S. C. Collier, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Renner, Miss Grace Lloyd, Miss Marion Porter, Miss Elizabeth Renner, Miss Willa Craven, George Bradburn and Mr. and Mrs. George Bradburn.

The M. F. Club of Melrose, a social organization of the ladies of that community, met Thursday evening, entertaining their husbands at the home of Mrs. H. P. Conn. Cards and music were the diversions of the evening, and a delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. Conn. The next meeting date has not yet been set.

Mrs. Hubbard Hostess at New Year's Dinner

Mrs. O. D. Hubbard was a New Year's hostess inviting a number to three o'clock dinner at her home on First street. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Dill, Mr. and Mrs. William Phelps and two daughters, Jean and Mary, Mrs. C. A. Bellows and daughter Hilda, Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard, and daughters Leonora and Verna. Social diversions filled the hours after dinner, and the theatre was attended in the evening.

Entertain Informally For House Guests

For the pleasure of their house guests Mrs. G. A. Thibodeau, and Miss E. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bubar invited friends in on Tuesday evening to make two tables of five hundred, serving a dainty luncheon after cards. Invited to the Bubar home were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bell, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bubar.

Skinner Entertain Large Group Saturday

One of the largest affairs of the past few weeks was the holiday dancing party for which Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Skinner were hosts at their beautiful country home at Winston Saturday evening. The spirit of holiday time manifested itself in the quantities of Christmas evergreens sparkling with snow and crystals with which the rooms were filled, and a large group of the younger set enjoyed one of the merriest dances of the season. Mrs. George Johnson and Mrs. George Bradburn assisted the hostess. Invitations were sent to Misses Bess Wharton, Jane Wharton, Alice Ueland, Lois Parks, Ava Jane Darby, Mildred Parks, Eloise Barnard of Eugene, Helen Casey, Marion Porter, Grace Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lilburn, Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson, Mrs. George Bradburn, Messrs. Frank Lilburn, Ivan Pickens, Wayne Akers, Joe Murphy, and Lyman Skinner.

Miss Lloyd Is Honored Guest

Miss Grace Lloyd, of Sausalito, who is a house guest of her sister, Mrs. Fred Renner, was the honored guest at a bridge evening on Thursday for which Misses Bess and Jane Wharton were joint hostesses. Guest prize at bridge was won by Miss Lloyd. Guests for the evening were Miss Lloyd, Miss Alice Ueland, Miss Ava Jane Darby, Miss Lois Parks, Mrs. Fred Renner, Mrs. George Johnson, Mrs. Alvin Knudson, Mrs. Tom Wharton, Mrs. Jack Wharton, Mrs. George Wharton, Mrs. Glenn Wimberly.

Watch Party at Kidder Home

Among the many watch parties which characterized New Year's eve was an interesting affair held at the S. L. Kidder home also commemorating the 15th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Kidder. The hosts received a number of beautiful pieces of cut glass from their friends. Holly and mistletoe cleverly arranged in bowls adorned the rooms where tables for bridge had been placed. Mrs. J. C. Hume, and Mr. H. H. Stapleton winning high honors at cards. Mrs. Kidder was assisted in serving a delicious supper by Mrs. Baum, Mrs. Virden, Mrs. Sawyers and Miss Gertrude Rast. The friends who gathered at the Kidder home were Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Broadway, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stapleton, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Wilder, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wharton, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hume, Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Rast, Mr. and Mrs. George Bradburn, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sawyers, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Sanford, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Fuller, Mrs. A. Baum, Mr. H. Wollenberg, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Virden, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Barker, Mr. and Mrs. George Bolter, and Miss Gertrude Rast.

Dinner at Bubar Home on Friday

An exquisitely appointed turkey dinner was served on Friday evening at the Dean Bubar home. Mr. Bubar and his mother Mrs. Addie Bubar being hosts to a small group of their intimate friends. At a table charming with red carnations and baby breath, covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Akers, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bubar and two children, Miss Eue Richardson, Mrs. G. A. Thibodeau, Mr. and Mrs. Washington Hughes, and daughter Daphne, Mr. and Mrs. William Bell, Dean Bubar, and Mrs. Addie Bubar. Bridge was the diversion of the evening.

The Elks dancing party at the Elks hall on Thursday evening was the usual interesting affair, and a number of the order from out of town motored in for the evening. The dances will be held regularly every two weeks.

Card Party for Miss Grace Lloyd

Miss Grace Lloyd of California, who is a house guest here of her sister, Mrs. Fred Renner, was the honored guest on Friday evening of Mr. and Mrs. Will Craven, who entertained a number of friends at cards at their home at Brookway. Gathered about the card tables were Miss Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Winston, Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson, Misses Jane and Bess Wharton, Mr. and Mrs. George Bradburn, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Farrington, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Skinner and Lyman Skinner.

Officers Are Installed on Friday Afternoon

Reno Post No. 29 and Reno Relief Corps No. 10 held a joint installation of officers at the armory Friday afternoon. Officers of Reno Relief Corps installed were commander, C. B. Sutton; Sen. vice com. O. McCumber; Jr. vice com. A. Minnick; adj. M. J. Moore; Q. M. J. M. Lindsay; Searg. G. M. Grant; Chap. Louis Huff; O. D. John Hamlin; O. G. E. W. Crain. For the W. R. C. officers installed were Pres. Belle Case; Sen. Vice, Amanda Kirk; Vic. Anna Bowker; Treas. Hallie T. Hamlin; conductor Susie Lewis; guard, Mary McCumber; Asst. Con. Melinda Hagen; Asst. guard, Emma Wamsley; patriotic instructor, Mrs. Brumback; P. C. Ruth Cyrus; color bearers, Virginia Brooks, Ruth Cyrus, Anna Dowell, Ida Stages; and chaplain, Jenny Stanton. Luncheon and a social hour followed installation.

Unusual New Year's Party

An unusual New Year's party was held on Tuesday at the parsonage of the Christian church, the Young People's Division of the Christian Endeavor society entertaining the elderly ladies of the congregation. The ladies were taken by automobile to the parsonage where an interesting afternoon of games and music had been arranged for them. A luncheon of hot biscuits, chicken, and other delicacies were served to them, and New Year's gifts presented to each. This will be an annual feature of the Christian church hereafter.

Miss Wharton Has Small Dinner Saturday

Miss Florence Wharton of Redondo, Beach, California, who was a Christmas holiday guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wharton, entertained a number of her former schoolmates at dinner Saturday evening preceding her return to California. At a table with a decorative arrangement of Christmas holly and mistletoe were seated Miss Beulah Jarvis, Miss Verita Kohlhaugen, Miss Teka Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Osborn, Fred Porter, and Miss Wharton.

Quines Hosts at New Year's Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Quine were interesting hosts at a cleverly appointed dinner New Year's day, placing covers for Mr. and Mrs. George Wharton, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wharton, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Catching. Two tables of bridge were made up after the dinner hour.

Entertaining Watch Party at Wright's

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Wright were hosts on New Year's eve at a watch party with several entertaining features, inviting the Northside 500 club, and a number of guests to their home. Tables were made up in the early part of the evening for 500, Mrs. Durby and Mr. Bruun winning high prizes for the club members, and Mrs. Wimberly and Mr. Whipple low. Guest prizes were won by Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Hamilton, and Mrs. Lockwood and Free Johnson. After the Christmas grab bag with gift cards, a Christmas game merriment to the party. As the occasion was also the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Darby, they were compelled to lead a wedding march at the end of which they were presented with a beautiful gift from the club. A delicious supper was served by Mrs. Wright, Mrs. W. M. Pierson, Mrs. Irvin Bruun, and Mrs. R. L. Whipple.

Club members who gathered at the Wright home were Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Whipple, Mr. and Mrs. George Bradburn, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sawyers, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Sanford, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Fuller, Mrs. A. Baum, Mr. H. Wollenberg, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Virden, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Barker, Mr. and Mrs. George Bolter, and Miss Gertrude Rast.

Handsomely Appointed Dinner on Sunday

Complimenting her sister Miss Grace Lloyd who is her house guest, Mrs. Fred Renner entertained at a handsomely appointed dinner Sunday. A color motif of pink was carried out at the table centered with pink rose buds, and lighted with pink candles around which were seated Miss Lloyd, Mr. and Mrs. George Bradburn, Misses Jane and Bess Wharton, George Bradburn, Elizabeth Renner, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Renner.

Mrs. M. M. Van Horn invited a number of her intimate friends to her home on Thursday afternoon for an informal afternoon of sewing and chatting. A dainty luncheon was served by the hostess late in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Pierce had as New Year's dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Cooper, Dorothy Palmer, and Edwin Thomas. Mr. Thomas is a student at Willamette University, and was a house guest during the holidays of Mr. and Mrs. Pierce.

Chicken Supper Served to Club

The Roseburg Art Embroidery club varied their usual routine somewhat, and on Monday evening, December 31st, were invited to the home of Mrs. P. Brooks on Unquapa Avenue for a chicken supper. Games and music were the informal diversions of the evening preceding the serving of the supper. Seated about the table were Mesdames Cluck, Christens, Decker, Morgan, Palm, Snyder, Stephensson, Wamsley, Hooper, Montgomery, Miss Echo Gaddis, and Mrs. Brooks, the hostess.

Camas Valley Club Has Social Afternoon

Mrs. J. R. Russell was hostess on Thursday, December 27th, to the members of the Neighborhood club of Camas Valley, inviting the ladies to spend a pleasantly informal afternoon at the home. Mrs. Della Coon assisted the hostess in serving the dainty luncheon. The ladies who enjoyed Mrs. Russell's hospitality were Mrs. Ethel Brown, Mrs. Winnie Brown, Miss Alice Scranton, Mrs. Clara Gauthier, Mrs. Louise Richter, Mrs. Mayer, Mrs. Ruth Lawson, Mrs. Benson, and Mrs. J. R. Russell. Mrs. Della Coon was a club visitor for the afternoon.

Unique Watch Party at Bell Home

One of the most charming of the watch parties of the past week was that for which Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bell were hosts to a number of their intimate friends. A cover dish supper was served at 6:30 at a table effectively arranged with holly, mistletoe, and other reminders of the season. The party then attended the Antlers theatre, later returning to the Bell home to watch the old year out and the New Year in with appropriate ceremony. Enjoying the unique affair were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bubar, Mrs. G. A. Thibodeau, Miss Eue Richardson, Dean Bubar, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Healdline, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Washington Hughes, and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Runyan.

Birthday Anniversary Occasion for Surprise

Surprising Mr. O. D. Newhard on his birthday anniversary on New Year's day, a number of his friends gathered at his home where dinner was served at seven. An enjoyable evening of 500 followed the dinner hour. The guests who gathered to honor Mr. Newhard were Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Harpster, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Shields, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Worthington, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Newhard of Dayton, Ind., Mrs. Ed Payton, Mrs. H. H. Hildinger, and Mrs. Kate Neate.

L. F. T. Club Will Dance Tuesday Evening

A dancing party which will bring together a number of the smart Roseburg folk will be held on Tuesday evening at the Knights of Pythias hall by the L. F. T. club. This is the first party of the club since its reorganization, and the new officers plan to make it an interesting affair. Five dances will be given during the winter months, and summer dances at open air pavilions are planned for the summer as an innovation for the club. Tuesday's party will be informal, and a luncheon will be served.

Misses Ora and Eleanor Gibbons of Corvallis were house guests at the B. W. Taylor home over New Year's.

Renner Hosts at Evening of Bridge

Miss Grace Lloyd, who is a much feted California visitor, was the honor guest at an evening of bridge on Wednesday for which Mr. and Mrs. Fred Renner were hosts at their home at Happy Valley. Invited for Miss Lloyd's pleasure were Mr. and Mrs. George Bradburn, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Winston, Mr. and Mrs. Will Craven, Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson, Mrs. Russell Dunham, and Lyman Skinner.

Card Party at Busenbark Home

A number of friends gathered on Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Busenbark at Melrose to enjoy several hours of progressive 500. Seated about the tables in the rooms which were most attractive with evergreens and mistletoe were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Sparrett, Mr. and Mrs. John Busenbark, Mr. and Mrs. Royce Busenbark, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Busenbark, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Conn, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Petersen, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Goff, Mr. and Mrs. Rosecoe Conn, Dorothy, Fern and Allan Busenbark, Mrs. Royce Busenbark and Mrs. Sparrett won high honors.

The Roseburg Woman's club will have an interesting meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. A. Bemis. Attorney Carl Wimberly will speak on a current subject, and there will be other entertaining features.

Friends Surprise With Gay Watch Party

A watch party, which was also a surprise for Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Thompson, was a pleasant feature of Monday evening. Friends of the Thompsons spending the evening with them with games and music. Miss Lois Thompson, assisted by Miss Viola Hall served a dainty luncheon to the guests. Gathering at the Thompson home were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Braughton and family, Mrs. Robert Forester, Mrs. Ed Smith and daughter, Jessie, Mrs. Henry Hall, Misses Viola and Merriell Hall, Mrs. Eva Van Briesen, Misses Lois and Ruth Thompson, Victor Van Briesen, Ellis Hall, Kathryn Dearborn.

Mrs. Ballou Hostess to Club Members

Mrs. E. P. Ballou invited the members of the Northside Sunshine club to her home this week, for the annual business meeting and election of officers for the group. Mrs. Wm. Fisher was elected president, Mrs. B. Chilson, vice-president; Mrs. Fred Bowen, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. A. E. Pederson, corresponding secretary. Mrs. Ballou, assisted by several members of the club served a delicious luncheon. Visitors to the club for the afternoon were Mrs. A. Poole, and Miss Enore Ballou; club members present were Mrs. F. Bowen, Mrs. Edith, Mrs. C. R. Cavender, Mrs. B. Chilson, Mrs. L. W. Inrele, Mrs. W. Fisher, Mrs. H. R. Kronke, Mrs. A. E. Pederson, and Mrs. E. P. Ballou. Mrs. Colby will be hostess at the next meeting of the club, on January 17.

Irvin Bruun, Jr. invited seventeen of his little friends to his home on Friday evening, entertaining them with a magic lantern show, and numerous games and contests. The youngsters spent several happy hours after which refreshments were served by Mrs. Bruun.

Necklines. (International News Service.) PARIS, Jan. 5.—If there is still some doubt as to the proper position of the waistline, Paris designers seem to have at least made it clear about the neckline of the season. The old unbecoming neck opening that has been enjoying such popularity has about disappeared. Only now and then does one see it in the new collections, and then usually in lines of organdie. The "v" neck seems to be the chosen one. Some of the houses give it definite outlines, others drape it. Round openings are also very much used, together with small square ones.

'A WIFE'S STORY'

By JANE PHELPS

CHAPTER XVIII.
Joan was sleeping heavily when I went to her room that night, but Laura sat huddled in a chair by the window, crying softly. I switched on the lights, and saw the truth of what I suspected. Joan had been drinking again. As I stood looking down at the flushed face of my 17-year-old daughter, I listened at her strenuous breathing. I felt that God would have been kind had He taken her when an innocent child. How was I to save her, how combat this habit that was growing upon her?

I bent over her and smoothed back the damp hair from her forehead, then kissed her hot, flushed face. With an aching heart, my eyes dimmed with tears, I joined Laura, and we wept together.

"Where does she get it, Laura?" I asked after we had become calmer. "I really don't know, mother, but some of her friends in town keep her supplied, I think. She was awfully blue tonight, talked so wildly she frightened me. I think something has gone wrong between her and Clem Sanders. I spoke of him, and she fairly flew at me."

Again I wondered if Joan could have heard his cruel speech that day when he and Madge Dearing talked about her in the summer house, yet it seemed improbable, she couldn't have acted as gay and natural had she.

I stayed with Laura until she went to bed, and then I turned out the lights in the house and stationed myself in the guest room. I would watch the water for a time—unable to rid myself of the idea that the boats I so frequently saw held a sinister meaning for me.

I had sat there perhaps half an hour, and was about to go to bed, having been unable to distinguish any small craft. I gave a last look, and crossing the lawn, keeping well in the shadow I saw a form, a man. He reached the dock. Another joined him. Now all was excitement. What did it mean?

I settled myself to watch. Suddenly a rocket flared. The two men got into the boat and swiftly rowed away in the direction of the flare. For nearly two hours I watched. It was the darkest span of night, just before dawn, when my straining eyes detected them returning. They rowed up to the dock, then lifted what looked like heavy boxes from with a rounded back. Lenief is one who favors the round neck cut just at the collar-bone, a style which is becoming to many women and especially to the ill-favored ones with too little flesh covering at this particular point. On his velvet frocks he puts a narrow border of embroidery or fur and continues it down the side in Russian blouse manner.

The Persian neck is a specialty of one of the smaller houses and is one of the prettiest to be seen. It is round, off to a slant on the side, giving a most becoming and youthful finish. Yvonne Davidson uses it on a charming silver-gray silk tunic gown. The neck is bordered with the same fine gold thread embroidery which trims the gown and is finished off with a narrow triple-colored tie in green, gray and silver.

Many of Chanel's little crepe de chine frocks have narrow bands attached to the bodice and standing up across the back of the neck and then brought around and tied loosely in front where the bodice is low. Often the order is reserved and the bands tie in the back.

Evening gowns are cut low in the back and high in the front. Many, in fact, have no backs at all, with the material coming straight up to the neck in front.

The regular meeting of the Ladies of the Nimble Thimble club was an interesting feature of Friday. Miss Beulah Jarvis acting as hostess, Miss Myrth Henderson was the guest of the club. The club members present were, Misses Maude Bridges, Francis Potter, Dr. Lucetta Smith, Margery Brown, Josephine McElhinny, Gladys Smith, Verita Kohlhaugen, and Alice Mahn.

A dainty three course luncheon was served by the hostess. The usual quiet evening of sewing and conversation entertained the ladies. The next meeting will be at the home of Miss Gladys Smith Jan. 18th.

ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN

by MRS. ELLSBURY
(Address all communications to Mrs. Ellsbury, care of News-Review.)

Dear Mrs. Ellsbury: I have been invited to go to dinner at the hotel with a gentleman friend of mine, and as I have never gone to the hotel to dinner before, am wondering just what I should do. He has a car but has said nothing of coming up to me. Will he do that? If I wear a silk dress with long gloves, a hat, and cape, should I remove the cape before sitting down, the boat. My window was open and I heard a low whistle, and almost immediately more men appeared. Now each two lifted a box between them and bore it away. I dared not leave the window, but was sure they had taken them out back of the garage. I watched until the last box was gone, then flew to the front of the house where I could see the road in two directions. A large motor car stood in the shadow, two of the men climbed into it, and with scarcely a sound they moved slowly away, while the other two men stood a moment; then they too disappeared in the opposite direction.

Paul had deliberately bought the house, built the dock, so that he might safely carry on his nefarious business; and in that house, drunk, with perhaps some of the stuff her own father had sold, lay his 17-year-old daughter, the beautiful girl who had told me it was "the usual thing for a merchant's family to use his goods."

No longer could I doubt. Paul, my handsome, fastidious husband, was a bootlegger. I bowed my head in shame, in despair. Yet he must be saved, saved from himself, and saved because of his children.

But how? I felt my incompetence as never before, my lack of will to deal with him, and so with the situation. The longer I studied over what to do, the further I was from any decision. If I could make him understand what liquor was doing to Joan, that she made his bootlegging an excuse for gratifying her abnormal appetite, perhaps that might stop him. He loved Joan, I believed, as much as he loved anyone in the world, perhaps more. For mingled with his love was an intense pride in her beauty, the "Nordic beauty," he called it.

If he would only come home. Now I felt I understood the visit of the revenue agents, that visit that had left me so indignant. In some way they had found out about the liquor being landed at our dock. They might come again—what if they had come that night? The sun came up as I sat trying to think of some way to make Paul realize what he was doing. I arose from my chair, opened my bed to air, then put on a house dress. The girls must know nothing of my vigil.

Tomorrow: A Second Visit From The Revenue Agents.

and should I remove the gloves? ROSY CHECKS: As he has not made arrangements to meet you any place down town, he will doubtless call for you in his car, which is the correct way to do. It is not necessary to remove the cape before sitting down, but you may remove it from your shoulders before eating. The gloves may be tucked in at the wrists but not removed.

Dear Mrs. Ellsbury: Not long ago I was going home, and as it was snowing and wet, a man I know, a married man picked me up and took me home. He did not do it for any reason but to be polite and to help me out when I was in the wet. His wife, who is a good friend of mine will not speak to me now, and makes petty remarks about me to her friends. Should I go to her and have it out with her?

ANGRY: It will be over much more quickly if you ignore it entirely, and do not speak of it to her or to any one. You have done nothing wrong, so have nothing to fear or to talk to her about.

COMMENTS MADE ON SPECIAL EDITION

The Roseburg News-Review issued a 40-page special edition on January 1st, which was not only a credit to its publishers but to Roseburg and Douglas county as well. It was a most complete newspaper, and not only the contents but the general makeup and workmanship were excellent. No part of Douglas county was overlooked in its several articles on the various towns and districts, all contributing to make the paper very comprehensive, interesting and instructive.—Sutherland Sun.

A 40-page special edition was issued by the Roseburg News-Review on New Year's day. The edition was full of interesting facts of progress of the entire county and will undoubtedly be a wonderfully big advertisement for the Unquapa Valley. The edition is well illustrated and was liberally patronized by advertisers.—Riddle Enterprise.

The Roseburg News-Review issued a fine New Year's edition Tuesday, and another creditable number of the same nature was that of the Corvallis Gazette Times. Oregon newspapers are doing their full share to bring the resources and advantages of the state to the attention of home-seekers and investors, and are entitled to much credit for their work.—Eugene Guard.

Return From North Bend—Mrs. W. A. Kepper and two children, Arnold and Betty Jane have returned from North Bend, where they have been visiting with Mrs. Kepper's parents for the past week.

MOVIES

Antlers Theatre
The marvelous beauty of the silent vast spaces of the frozen Canadian northland is the background for the massive Metro spectacle, "The Eternal Struggle," which is coming to the Antlers Theatre on Sunday. It was produced by Reginald Barker, credited with being the greatest director for this kind of picture in the entire film world.

Liberty Theatre
Seldom has there been shown such pronounced interest in any photoplay yet presented at the Liberty Theatre as that evinced by the audiences crowding to see Mary Pickford in "Rosita." This United Artists' attraction is creating more discussion and bringing a most diversified patronage. Managers say that they have seen more new faces; people who have never been to the theatre heretofore, coming to see the different Mary Pickford. Tomorrow, Monday, and Tuesday, with matinees.

Majestic Theatre.
"Legally Dead," which stars Milton Sills, and which will be seen at the Majestic theatre today and Sunday, is the story of a man unjustly convicted of murder and hung two minutes before his innocence is established. A noted cast supports Mr. Sills.

LOCAL NEWS

From Rural District—
C. A. Sedgewick was in town today for several hours from the rural districts.

From Glendale—
Carl Johnson of Glendale is spending a few days in Roseburg attending to business matters.

Undergoes Operation—
Miss Florence Cole underwent a minor operation this morning with Dr. A. C. Seely in attendance.

In Portland—
E. L. Parrott and W. H. Fisher are spending several days in Portland attending to business matters.

Visiting Here—
Harry Rapp is spending several days in this city visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Rapp.

From Glide—
Mrs. O. Smith of Glide was in town for several hours this afternoon shopping and attending to other affairs.

Here Today—
Miss Pearl Jones of Edenbow was in town today spending the day attending to business matters.

In Town Today—
C. L. Mulvihill, who is a resident of Canyonville, was in town today spending several hours looking after business interests.

From Oakland—
Mrs. Ernest Warner was in town today spending the day shopping and visiting with friends. Mrs. Warner is from Oakland.

Here Today—
Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bacon of Umpqua were in Roseburg today spending several hours shopping and visiting with friends.

In Town—
Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Singleton of Dixonville, spent the afternoon in Roseburg shopping and attending to other affairs.

Return Home—
Mrs. T. O. Dixon and daughter Betty Jane, who have been spending the past week at the E. L. Parrott home, returned to their home in Oak Creek today.

From Wilbur—
Mr. and Mrs. F. Ford Northrup and son, of Wilbur, were in town today spending several hours shopping and attending to other matters. Mr. Northrup is principal of the Wilbur school.

Return to Portland—
Miss Sarah Sanders and niece Dorothy and Helen Hartshorn, who have been spending the holidays in this city as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Williams, left this afternoon for their home in Portland.

Return Home—
Miss Helen Casey who has been spending several days in Portland has returned to her home in this city. While in Portland Miss Casey attended the Oregon State Teachers convention. She was the house guest of Miss Naomi Scott.

Will Erect Homes—
J. B. Bailey has purchased the lot at the corner of Douglas street and East avenue, and is preparing to construct a dwelling house which will occupy it upon completion. Mr. Bailey is now residing in North Roseburg. Henry Andrie, who recently purchased the strip of land lying 16 feet along Douglas street, west of East avenue, and from whom Mr. Bailey purchased his lot is already starting work on a residence building adjoining Mr. Bailey's place. Charles Kyes has also secured property from Mr. Andrie and is considering building in the near future.