

ROSEBURG NEWS-REVIEW

Associated Press
Leased Wire

WEATHER
Highest Yesterday ... 45
Lowest Last Night ... 40
Fair tonight and Sunday.

Consolidated of The Evening News and the Roseburg Review. DOUGLAS COUNTY An Independent Newspaper, Published for the Best Interest of the People.

LABBE SEARCH WARRANT ILLEGAL

LABBE SEARCH WARRANT ILLEGAL

LABBE SEARCH WARRANT ILLEGAL
Anonymous tip not enough

LABBE SEARCH WARRANT ILLEGAL
Liquor is destroyed

LABBE SEARCH WARRANT ILLEGAL
Governor announces he will urge legislature to provide $400,000

LABBE SEARCH WARRANT ILLEGAL
Wants garden land

LABBE SEARCH WARRANT ILLEGAL
Says that an industrial plant is needed at state hospital to make institution self-supporting.

LABBE SEARCH WARRANT ILLEGAL
Cottage Grove boy faces murder charge

LABBE SEARCH WARRANT ILLEGAL
Dr. Kelly judge of lake county

LABBE SEARCH WARRANT ILLEGAL
Island official is found dead

LABBE SEARCH WARRANT ILLEGAL
Two children are burned in house

LABBE SEARCH WARRANT ILLEGAL
Connie Talmadge has klieg eyes

LABBE SEARCH WARRANT ILLEGAL
Legion to enforce ask a rehearing

MINER GOES INSANE
(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
BUTTE, Mont., Jan. 12.—George Rajonovich, a miner, fatally shot his wife and then shot and killed himself in their home early today. Mrs. Rajonovich's former husband, Louis Adler, was murdered by highwaymen in the same house in 1916. There are seven children ranging in age from 20 to 5.

PIERCE TO ASK APPROPRIATION
Governor Announces He Will Urge Legislature to Provide $400,000
(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
PORTLAND, Jan. 12.—The search warrant upon which state prohibition agents on New Year's night raided the home of A. G. Labbe, was declared illegal by District Judge Martin W. Hawkins on the ground that the warrant was issued on an anonymous tip. Judge Hawkins at the same time decided that a bottle of liquor seized in the raid should be turned over to the state as contraband. Labbe's attorneys attacked the validity of the search warrant and had demanded that the liquor be restored to Labbe. The hearing in district court this week attracted wide attention because of the fact that this is the first case in which dry agents had raided the home of a prominent resident. Labbe is president of the Willamette Iron and Steel Works, and the raid was made on a New Year's party was in progress at his home. The search warrant was issued by Judge Hawkins himself on application of state prohibition enforcement officer George L. Cleaver. In his ruling Judge Hawkins said: "In the exercise of their great duty courts have no higher duty than to protect the citizen in the rights granted him by the constitution. And if, at any time, the protection of these rights should be delayed or defeated the ends of justice in a particular case, it is better for the public good that this should happen than that a constitution mandate could be used and set aside. In applying this principle we recognize no distinction between the state and the poor. The laws of our state provide in case the grounds for issuance of the warrant be contravened, and the court finds at the hearing that the cause did not exist for the issuance of the warrant, the magistrate must cause the property to be restored." The court explained, however, that the property is not to be restored if it is found to be contraband, and under interpretation of the law, ordered the liquor destroyed.

WANTS GARDEN LAND
Says That an Industrial Plant Is Needed at State Hospital to Make Institution Self-Supporting.
(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
SALEM, Jan. 12.—That he will ask the legislature at its next regular session for an appropriation of $400,000 for the construction of an industrial building at the Oregon state hospital, and also for an appropriation with which to purchase 200 or 300 acres of garden land along the Willamette river where garden truck for all of the state institutions can be produced, was the announcement of Governor Pierce made today in addressing the county judges and commissioners of the state when they assembled at the state hospital for luncheon. Governor Pierce said that not until he became a member of the state control did he realize the necessity of an industrial plant at the asylum, although an appropriation for such a purpose has been asked of the legislature by Dr. R. L. Steiner, superintendent of the institution repeatedly. Pointing out that because of the nature of the institution the asylum can never be made to be completely self-supporting, the governor declared that a large number of the patients could be put to work at gainful occupations in such a plant. County Judge H. E. Cross of Clackamas, in introducing Dr. Steiner, declared that in his estimation the state hospital was one of the most efficiently administered institutions of its kind in the country. The applause which greeted this announcement was drowned out completely by the nature of the institution the asylum can never be made to be completely self-supporting, the governor declared that a large number of the patients could be put to work at gainful occupations in such a plant.

COTTAGE GROVE BOY FACES MURDER CHARGE
(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
EUGENE, Jan. 12.—Whitney Palmer, 17, was bound over to the grand jury late yesterday on a charge of killing Ralph Lammers, 26, who died Thursday night, two hours after he had been attacked by Palmer with a knife during a quarrel at Cottage Grove. This action of the Cottage Grove justice of the peace was taken following the coroner's inquest.

DR. KELLY JUDGE OF LAKE COUNTY
(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
SALEM, Jan. 12.—Governor Pierce today appointed Dr. H. E. Kelly of Lakeview as county judge of Lake county to succeed the late Judge H. E. Smith.

ISLAND OFFICIAL IS FOUND DEAD
(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Jan. 12.—J. W. Bonner, insular treasurer of Porto Rico, was found dead at his desk today. He leaves a widow here and a son and daughter at Ann Arbor, Mich.

TWO CHILDREN ARE BURNED IN HOUSE
(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
GLEN ROCK, Wyo., Jan. 12.—Two children of Lawrence Wenzinger, farmer, were burned to death late yesterday when the Wenzinger home, 12 miles north of Glen Rock was destroyed by fire.

CONNIE TALMADGE HAS KIEG EYES
(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12.—Connie Talmadge, film actress, is temporarily blind due to "kleig eyes," brought on by work under the fierce glare of studio lights, it was announced at her home here today. The malady struck her yesterday. It is expected she will be back at her studio by Monday.

LEGION TO ENFORCE ASK A REHEARING
(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12.—The American Legion in California stands ready to send ex-servicemen to every farm in California that would suffer through the departure of Japanese farm workers, the Morgan Keaton, state adjutant of the organization said here today. A million dollar corporation has been formed in the state to assist Japanese and their American friends in avoiding the anti-alien land act, Keaton said.

SINCLAIR CASE GOES TO JURY
Defense Rests Case This Morning Much to Surprise of Large Crowds.
JURY IS INSTRUCTED
Defense Used Barely a Day in Presenting Case While the Prosecution Consumed Five.

PRUNE MEN HOLD MEETING TODAY
Reorganization Plans of Oregon Growers Association Are Presented.
OFFICERS ARE PRESENT
President and Assistant General Manager of Association Meet Growers and Discuss Situation.

SKELLY MILL AT DRAIN IS SOLD
J. H. Chambers of Cottage Grove Buys Mill From Becker Brothers.
PLANT TO BE MOVED
Machinery Will Be Moved Into Drain and Set Up Adjoining Southern Pacific Tracks.

DISEASE IS MYSTERIOUS
(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
SACRAMENTO, Jan. 12.—Announcement that the state board of health had ordered an investigation of a mysterious disease which is reported to have made its appearance in Santa Ana was made here today by Dr. Walter M. Dickie, secretary and officer of the board. Reports reaching the state health authorities here stated that between two and three stricken with the disease in a short time, although so far as known there have been no fatalities. The disease causes nausea.

REORGANIZATION PLANS OF OREGON GROWERS ASSOCIATION ARE PRESENTED
There was a fine attendance today at the meeting of prune growers held to consider the reorganization plans of the Oregon Growers Cooperative Association. At the present time there is a great deal of interest in the organization of the prune industry. There is a movement on foot to create west Prune Exchange, which would be made up of all organized growers and packing concerns, banded together for the purpose of advertising and selling Oregon prunes.

THE OREGON GROWERS COOPERATIVE ASSOCIATION
The Oregon Growers Cooperative Association, is also in process of reorganization, and as this concern has control of about 40 per cent of the prunes in the state, the Northwest Prune Exchange is being retarded until the growers perfect their plans and determine the course they are to follow. The new organization of the Oregon Growers, will become a part of the Northwest Prune Exchange and will direct its growers through the larger advertising and selling agency.

LABOR RECORD IN STATE FINE
Oregon Was Remarkably Free From Strikes During Last Year.
EMPLOYMENT IS GOOD
Labor Commissioner Gram in His Report Points Out Excellent Conditions and Predicts Prosperity.

CONGRESS LOOKS TO WEST TODAY
Western Projects Receive Lion's Share of Attention From Solons.
ATTACK VOLSTEAD ACT
Minnesota Representative Says Volstead Act Has "Not Made Country Dry Enough."

LABOR RECORD IN STATE FINE
(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The west got the lion's share of attention today in congress. With the eastern half of the country all but unrepresented on the floor, the house wound up general debate on the interior bill, carrying appropriations for many western projects, and the clerk began reading off the bill section by section for amendment. The senate was not in session, but its public lands committee, halting for the moment its Tea Pot Dome investigation, gave approval to a batch of bills designed to help the Indian and the homesteader in the states beyond the Mississippi. Secretary Work asked another senate committee to give him authority to ease up on reclamation project water users who are behind in their payment to the government and the representatives of Northwestern farmers were renewing their petition for relief before senate and house agriculture committee. Both taxation and prohibition committees refused to be crowded entirely from the spotlight. Senator Couzens renewed his fight with Secretary Mellon on tax exempt securities. In the house the Rev. O. J. Kovale, elected from Andrew Volstead's old district in Minnesota, interrupted the appropriations debate long enough to deliver a maiden speech devoted to an attack on the Volstead act—because it hasn't made the country dry enough. After nearly a month of comparative quiescence, the house insurgents held a war council over a project to unite with the democrats and upset the rules revision program of the republican leaders when it comes up Monday. Proposed compromises in the tax program were discussed today with President Coolidge by Representative Tilson, Conn., a republican member of the ways and means committee, who in a statement issued after his visit to the White House declared he was unalterably opposed to any compromise. Decision of the rules committee yesterday not to recommend a number of changes proposed by republican insurgents and republicans brought an announcement from Representative Garrett, minority leader, that the democratic members would take their fight to the floor, and the leaders of the insurgent bloc immediately called a conference for today to determine their course of action. Measures Affect West (Associated Press Leased Wire.) WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Several measures affecting western states were ordered favorably reported today by the senate public lands committee. Under one of the bills by Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, the secretary of the interior would be authorized to grant allotments of lands to Indians on power or reservoir sites heretofore set aside, but unused. The government would reserve the right, however, to develop the sites at any later date upon payment of any damages to crops, buildings or other improvements caused thereby. The secretary of the interior would be directed under another of the bills, by Senator Jones, democrat, New Mexico, to designate as stock raising lands subject to entry, any lands the surface of which, in his opinion, chiefly valuable for grazing and raising forage crops, do not contain merchantable timber, are not susceptible for irrigation, and are of such character that 640 acres are reasonably required for the support of a family.

SKELLY MILL AT DRAIN IS SOLD
Negotiations between J. H. Chambers of Cottage Grove and Frank and W. J. Becker, of Keyport, Pa., for the purchase of the Skelly lumber company property near Drain, have reached a point where the transaction is practically closed, and the mill is to be taken over by Mr. Chambers, who plans to operate it at Drain. This deal means much to Douglas county as a whole, and to the community of Drain in particular, as an industry furnishing employment to 150 or more men will be provided. Mr. Chambers is now in Portland going over the legal papers and within a few days it is expected that the deal will be entirely closed. It is understood that one payment on the property has already been made. The amount involved in the transaction is around $90,000. The Skelly mill is one of the largest in this section of Douglas county. It was operated for many years by the Skelly company, but owing to depression in the lumber business and legal difficulties, the mill finally was closed down, and a short time ago was sold for the amount of the judgment held by the Becker brothers. The new owners of the mill, having no other holdings on the coast, immediately started looking about for a buyer, with the help of E. G. Whipple of Drain, and negotiations were finally started with J. H. Chambers of Cottage Grove, one of the leading lumber men of the state. Mr. Chambers finally decided to purchase the mill and timber property and is now arranging the final details of the transaction. It is his plan to move the large mill from its present location about four miles down Billy creek, into the city of Drain adjoining the S. P. tracks so that movement of lumber will be facilitated. In addition to the mill, which has an output of about 75,000 feet daily, he has also acquired the timber land, which consists of 1,800 acres of choice timber ready for cutting. It is his purpose to operate the mill at full capacity, as soon as it can be set up in the new location, and this will provide employment for 150 men or possibly more, providing contemplated extensions and improvements are made.

LABOR RECORD IN STATE FINE
Oregon Was Remarkably Free From Strikes During Last Year.
EMPLOYMENT IS GOOD
Labor Commissioner Gram in His Report Points Out Excellent Conditions and Predicts Prosperity.

CONGRESS LOOKS TO WEST TODAY
Western Projects Receive Lion's Share of Attention From Solons.
ATTACK VOLSTEAD ACT
Minnesota Representative Says Volstead Act Has "Not Made Country Dry Enough."

LABOR RECORD IN STATE FINE
(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The west got the lion's share of attention today in congress. With the eastern half of the country all but unrepresented on the floor, the house wound up general debate on the interior bill, carrying appropriations for many western projects, and the clerk began reading off the bill section by section for amendment. The senate was not in session, but its public lands committee, halting for the moment its Tea Pot Dome investigation, gave approval to a batch of bills designed to help the Indian and the homesteader in the states beyond the Mississippi. Secretary Work asked another senate committee to give him authority to ease up on reclamation project water users who are behind in their payment to the government and the representatives of Northwestern farmers were renewing their petition for relief before senate and house agriculture committee. Both taxation and prohibition committees refused to be crowded entirely from the spotlight. Senator Couzens renewed his fight with Secretary Mellon on tax exempt securities. In the house the Rev. O. J. Kovale, elected from Andrew Volstead's old district in Minnesota, interrupted the appropriations debate long enough to deliver a maiden speech devoted to an attack on the Volstead act—because it hasn't made the country dry enough. After nearly a month of comparative quiescence, the house insurgents held a war council over a project to unite with the democrats and upset the rules revision program of the republican leaders when it comes up Monday. Proposed compromises in the tax program were discussed today with President Coolidge by Representative Tilson, Conn., a republican member of the ways and means committee, who in a statement issued after his visit to the White House declared he was unalterably opposed to any compromise. Decision of the rules committee yesterday not to recommend a number of changes proposed by republican insurgents and republicans brought an announcement from Representative Garrett, minority leader, that the democratic members would take their fight to the floor, and the leaders of the insurgent bloc immediately called a conference for today to determine their course of action. Measures Affect West (Associated Press Leased Wire.) WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Several measures affecting western states were ordered favorably reported today by the senate public lands committee. Under one of the bills by Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, the secretary of the interior would be authorized to grant allotments of lands to Indians on power or reservoir sites heretofore set aside, but unused. The government would reserve the right, however, to develop the sites at any later date upon payment of any damages to crops, buildings or other improvements caused thereby. The secretary of the interior would be directed under another of the bills, by Senator Jones, democrat, New Mexico, to designate as stock raising lands subject to entry, any lands the surface of which, in his opinion, chiefly valuable for grazing and raising forage crops, do not contain merchantable timber, are not susceptible for irrigation, and are of such character that 640 acres are reasonably required for the support of a family.

LABOR RECORD IN STATE FINE
(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The west got the lion's share of attention today in congress. With the eastern half of the country all but unrepresented on the floor, the house wound up general debate on the interior bill, carrying appropriations for many western projects, and the clerk began reading off the bill section by section for amendment. The senate was not in session, but its public lands committee, halting for the moment its Tea Pot Dome investigation, gave approval to a batch of bills designed to help the Indian and the homesteader in the states beyond the Mississippi. Secretary Work asked another senate committee to give him authority to ease up on reclamation project water users who are behind in their payment to the government and the representatives of Northwestern farmers were renewing their petition for relief before senate and house agriculture committee. Both taxation and prohibition committees refused to be crowded entirely from the spotlight. Senator Couzens renewed his fight with Secretary Mellon on tax exempt securities. In the house the Rev. O. J. Kovale, elected from Andrew Volstead's old district in Minnesota, interrupted the appropriations debate long enough to deliver a maiden speech devoted to an attack on the Volstead act—because it hasn't made the country dry enough. After nearly a month of comparative quiescence, the house insurgents held a war council over a project to unite with the democrats and upset the rules revision program of the republican leaders when it comes up Monday. Proposed compromises in the tax program were discussed today with President Coolidge by Representative Tilson, Conn., a republican member of the ways and means committee, who in a statement issued after his visit to the White House declared he was unalterably opposed to any compromise. Decision of the rules committee yesterday not to recommend a number of changes proposed by republican insurgents and republicans brought an announcement from Representative Garrett, minority leader, that the democratic members would take their fight to the floor, and the leaders of the insurgent bloc immediately called a conference for today to determine their course of action. Measures Affect West (Associated Press Leased Wire.) WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Several measures affecting western states were ordered favorably reported today by the senate public lands committee. Under one of the bills by Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, the secretary of the interior would be authorized to grant allotments of lands to Indians on power or reservoir sites heretofore set aside, but unused. The government would reserve the right, however, to develop the sites at any later date upon payment of any damages to crops, buildings or other improvements caused thereby. The secretary of the interior would be directed under another of the bills, by Senator Jones, democrat, New Mexico, to designate as stock raising lands subject to entry, any lands the surface of which, in his opinion, chiefly valuable for grazing and raising forage crops, do not contain merchantable timber, are not susceptible for irrigation, and are of such character that 640 acres are reasonably required for the support of a family.

LABOR RECORD IN STATE FINE
(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The west got the lion's share of attention today in congress. With the eastern half of the country all but unrepresented on the floor, the house wound up general debate on the interior bill, carrying appropriations for many western projects, and the clerk began reading off the bill section by section for amendment. The senate was not in session, but its public lands committee, halting for the moment its Tea Pot Dome investigation, gave approval to a batch of bills designed to help the Indian and the homesteader in the states beyond the Mississippi. Secretary Work asked another senate committee to give him authority to ease up on reclamation project water users who are behind in their payment to the government and the representatives of Northwestern farmers were renewing their petition for relief before senate and house agriculture committee. Both taxation and prohibition committees refused to be crowded entirely from the spotlight. Senator Couzens renewed his fight with Secretary Mellon on tax exempt securities. In the house the Rev. O. J. Kovale, elected from Andrew Volstead's old district in Minnesota, interrupted the appropriations debate long enough to deliver a maiden speech devoted to an attack on the Volstead act—because it hasn't made the country dry enough. After nearly a month of comparative quiescence, the house insurgents held a war council over a project to unite with the democrats and upset the rules revision program of the republican leaders when it comes up Monday. Proposed compromises in the tax program were discussed today with President Coolidge by Representative Tilson, Conn., a republican member of the ways and means committee, who in a statement issued after his visit to the White House declared he was unalterably opposed to any compromise. Decision of the rules committee yesterday not to recommend a number of changes proposed by republican insurgents and republicans brought an announcement from Representative Garrett, minority leader, that the democratic members would take their fight to the floor, and the leaders of the insurgent bloc immediately called a conference for today to determine their course of action. Measures Affect West (Associated Press Leased Wire.) WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Several measures affecting western states were ordered favorably reported today by the senate public lands committee. Under one of the bills by Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, the secretary of the interior would be authorized to grant allotments of lands to Indians on power or reservoir sites heretofore set aside, but unused. The government would reserve the right, however, to develop the sites at any later date upon payment of any damages to crops, buildings or other improvements caused thereby. The secretary of the interior would be directed under another of the bills, by Senator Jones, democrat, New Mexico, to designate as stock raising lands subject to entry, any lands the surface of which, in his opinion, chiefly valuable for grazing and raising forage crops, do not contain merchantable timber, are not susceptible for irrigation, and are of such character that 640 acres are reasonably required for the support of a family.

LABOR RECORD IN STATE FINE
(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The west got the lion's share of attention today in congress. With the eastern half of the country all but unrepresented on the floor, the house wound up general debate on the interior bill, carrying appropriations for many western projects, and the clerk began reading off the bill section by section for amendment. The senate was not in session, but its public lands committee, halting for the moment its Tea Pot Dome investigation, gave approval to a batch of bills designed to help the Indian and the homesteader in the states beyond the Mississippi. Secretary Work asked another senate committee to give him authority to ease up on reclamation project water users who are behind in their payment to the government and the representatives of Northwestern farmers were renewing their petition for relief before senate and house agriculture committee. Both taxation and prohibition committees refused to be crowded entirely from the spotlight. Senator Couzens renewed his fight with Secretary Mellon on tax exempt securities. In the house the Rev. O. J. Kovale, elected from Andrew Volstead's old district in Minnesota, interrupted the appropriations debate long enough to deliver a maiden speech devoted to an attack on the Volstead act—because it hasn't made the country dry enough. After nearly a month of comparative quiescence, the house insurgents held a war council over a project to unite with the democrats and upset the rules revision program of the republican leaders when it comes up Monday. Proposed compromises in the tax program were discussed today with President Coolidge by Representative Tilson, Conn., a republican member of the ways and means committee, who in a statement issued after his visit to the White House declared he was unalterably opposed to any compromise. Decision of the rules committee yesterday not to recommend a number of changes proposed by republican insurgents and republicans brought an announcement from Representative Garrett, minority leader, that the democratic members would take their fight to the floor, and the leaders of the insurgent bloc immediately called a conference for today to determine their course of action. Measures Affect West (Associated Press Leased Wire.) WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Several measures affecting western states were ordered favorably reported today by the senate public lands committee. Under one of the bills by Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, the secretary of the interior would be authorized to grant allotments of lands to Indians on power or reservoir sites heretofore set aside, but unused. The government would reserve the right, however, to develop the sites at any later date upon payment of any damages to crops, buildings or other improvements caused thereby. The secretary of the interior would be directed under another of the bills, by Senator Jones, democrat, New Mexico, to designate as stock raising lands subject to entry, any lands the surface of which, in his opinion, chiefly valuable for grazing and raising forage crops, do not contain merchantable timber, are not susceptible for irrigation, and are of such character that 640 acres are reasonably required for the support of a family.

LABOR RECORD IN STATE FINE
(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The west got the lion's share of attention today in congress. With the eastern half of the country all but unrepresented on the floor, the house wound up general debate on the interior bill, carrying appropriations for many western projects, and the clerk began reading off the bill section by section for amendment. The senate was not in session, but its public lands committee, halting for the moment its Tea Pot Dome investigation, gave approval to a batch of bills designed to help the Indian and the homesteader in the states beyond the Mississippi. Secretary Work asked another senate committee to give him authority to ease up on reclamation project water users who are behind in their payment to the government and the representatives of Northwestern farmers were renewing their petition for relief before senate and house agriculture committee. Both taxation and prohibition committees refused to be crowded entirely from the spotlight. Senator Couzens renewed his fight with Secretary Mellon on tax exempt securities. In the house the Rev. O. J. Kovale, elected from Andrew Volstead's old district in Minnesota, interrupted the appropriations debate long enough to deliver a maiden speech devoted to an attack on the Volstead act—because it hasn't made the country dry enough. After nearly a month of comparative quiescence, the house insurgents held a war council over a project to unite with the democrats and upset the rules revision program of the republican leaders when it comes up Monday. Proposed compromises in the tax program were discussed today with President Coolidge by Representative Tilson, Conn., a republican member of the ways and means committee, who in a statement issued after his visit to the White House declared he was unalterably opposed to any compromise. Decision of the rules committee yesterday not to recommend a number of changes proposed by republican insurgents and republicans brought an announcement from Representative Garrett, minority leader, that the democratic members would take their fight to the floor, and the leaders of the insurgent bloc immediately called a conference for today to determine their course of action. Measures Affect West (Associated Press Leased Wire.) WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Several measures affecting western states were ordered favorably reported today by the senate public lands committee. Under one of the bills by Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, the secretary of the interior would be authorized to grant allotments of lands to Indians on power or reservoir sites heretofore set aside, but unused. The government would reserve the right, however, to develop the sites at any later date upon payment of any damages to crops, buildings or other improvements caused thereby. The secretary of the interior would be directed under another of the bills, by Senator Jones, democrat, New Mexico, to designate as stock raising lands subject to entry, any lands the surface of which, in his opinion, chiefly valuable for grazing and raising forage crops, do not contain merchantable timber, are not susceptible for irrigation, and are of such character that 640 acres are reasonably required for the support of a family.

LABOR RECORD IN STATE FINE
(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—The west got the lion's share of attention today in congress. With the eastern half of the country all but unrepresented on the floor, the house wound up general debate on the interior bill, carrying appropriations for many western projects, and the clerk began reading off the bill section by section for amendment. The senate was not in session, but its public lands committee, halting for the moment its Tea Pot Dome investigation, gave approval to a batch of bills designed to help the Indian and the homesteader in the states beyond the Mississippi. Secretary Work asked another senate committee to give him authority to ease up on reclamation project water users who are behind in their payment to the government and the representatives of Northwestern farmers were renewing their petition for relief before senate and house agriculture committee. Both taxation and prohibition committees refused to be crowded entirely from the spotlight. Senator Couzens renewed his fight with Secretary Mellon on tax exempt securities. In the house the Rev. O. J. Kovale, elected from Andrew Volstead's old district in Minnesota, interrupted the appropriations debate long enough to deliver a maiden speech devoted to an attack on the Volstead act—because it hasn't made the country dry enough. After nearly a month of comparative quiescence, the house insurgents held a war council over a project to unite with the democrats and upset the rules revision program of the republican leaders when it comes up Monday. Proposed compromises in the tax program were discussed today with President Coolidge by Representative Tilson, Conn., a republican member of the ways and means committee, who in a statement issued after his visit to the White House declared he was unalterably opposed to any compromise. Decision of the rules committee yesterday not to recommend a number of changes proposed by republican insurgents and republicans brought an announcement from Representative Garrett, minority leader, that the democratic members would take their fight to the floor, and the leaders of the insurgent bloc immediately called a conference for today to determine their course of action. Measures Affect West (Associated Press Leased Wire.) WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Several measures affecting western states were ordered favorably reported today by the senate public lands committee. Under one of the bills by Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, the secretary of the interior would be authorized to grant allotments of lands to Indians on power or reservoir sites heretofore set aside, but unused. The government would reserve the right, however, to develop the sites at any later date upon payment of any damages to crops, buildings or other improvements caused thereby. The secretary of the interior would be directed under another of the bills, by Senator Jones, democrat, New Mexico, to designate as stock raising lands subject to entry, any lands the surface of which, in his opinion, chiefly valuable for grazing and raising forage crops, do not contain merchantable timber, are not susceptible for irrigation, and are of such character that 640 acres are reasonably required for the support of a family.