HAVE YOU A BUSINESS PERSONALITY?

Vera Gordon Gives Advice to Business Girls

"The voice with the smile wins" runs the ad of a great business organization, but I think all girls, no matter what their work, should apply this slogan to their own contacts with business acquaintances.

Behind the smile, either the actual smile of the lips or the implied smile of eyes and manner and voice, lies the personality of the individual. Personality is at once the gift of the gods and one of their curses. For if you have an ingratiating, winning personality, then you will be too readily forgiven your mistakes, too greatly helped in carving out your career. Your charm may be sufficient to protect you from reality, and the sooner you face reality, the sooner you win the heights to which you are aspiring. So, be careful. If you have personality do not use it too much.

Vera Gordon, Appearing in Goldwyn's Screen Version of "Potash and Perlmutter"

On the other hand, if you are more like the rank and file of us in this busy world, personality is something for which you must work. I feel myself that personality is primarily based on sincerity. It is, in the main, the quality of being most intensely the person you really are. Surely that is the only thing that distinguishes you from your neighbor. Therefore, to cultivate personality, I advise you to cultivate yourself. With a girl, physical neatness is one of the first aids. Poise is a second. Sincerity is a third. Politeness is a fourth. Tact and consideration are helpful twins. And, above all, the cultivation of an aptitude of listening makes personality.

This, in business, applies particularly to your superiors. When they speak, concentrate on what they say. Sometimes, in important positions, rather petty, stupid people preside. Nevertheless be polite about small jealousies, tiny caprices. If you are resolved on reaching the heights, you can afford to overlook the little annoyances. Remember you can always learn something from everyone.

TURK WOMEN FORGING AHEAD

Restrictions on Their Freedom Are Disappearing One After Another, Says a Writer.

The contrast between the status of these Moslem women and the position of women in Turkey proper grows steadily. In fact, the restrictions surrounding Turkish women disappear more and more almost daily. Four years ago the Turkish woman shopper in Pera used to throw her veil back while in the European quarter, but would draw it over her face immediately on crossing the bridge to Stamboul. Today the harem of the upper class hardly wears the veil at all. It hangs down from the side of the chador in a knot, and figures merely as an ornament.

A number of Moslem girls of the Turkish capital have become pupils of Robert college, the American school picturesquely situated on the hills of Bebek, by the Bosphorus. The number of Turkish women active in professions has greatly increased. During my recent visit to Constantinople I found that a young lady whom I had first met six years before had but two terms left to attain the degree of doctor of philosophy, with the ultimate aim of entering government service. The rare abilities of Halide Edib Hanoum, the well-known Turkish woman author, have been rewarded by her nomination as minister of public instruction in the Turkish cabinet at Angora.

The last remnants of polygamy virtually disappeared with the ascent to the caliphate of his majesty Abdul Medjid. He is the first ruler of the Osman dynasty who adheres to the western form of matrimony.—Edward J. Ding, in Current History Magazine.

LANDLORD OF THE LONG HEAD

French House Owner Devises Scheme to Enlist Tenants' Interest in the Property.

The constant increase in the price of material and the wages of labor tends to make the upkeep of any building an onerous affair for the owner. The repairs called for by existing tenants go to increase the already heavy overhead. This is further augmented by the carelessness which many of them show in allowing children and servants to deteriorate the apartments they rent.

A Paris house owner has just invented an ingenious method of making his tenants his allies in the care and upkeep of the apartment house he owns, says the Washington Star. He has offered a prize of two months' rent for the best kept apartment and has made the tenants themselves a committee of inspection and award. As a consequence his house is now cleaned and polished from basement to garret, children are carefully watched when at play to prevent their doing any damage, while the necessity of care of the premises is impressed on servants and tradespeople.

Each of the tenants, in the hope of gaining the prize, competes with his neighbors in care and cleanliness. Paint and paper are kept spick and span, white floors and staircases shine with varnish. As any application for repairs would be a confession of want and care, the bill for the upkeep of the establishment has fallen to zero. The amount awarded as a prize to the most careful tenant is therefore more than covered by the diminution of the overhead.

Not Enough Forest Protection.

Thirty-nine states contain important areas of forest land, but only 27 have organized state forest protection on a more or less adequate scale. Systematic fire protection of privately owned forest lands is sadly lacking. At least 100,000,000 acres of such land now receive no protection and on many other areas the protection furnished is incomplete and inadequate. An average expenditure of between two and one-half and three cents an acre, or a total of $9,250,000, would fairly protect all of the privately owned forest land in the United States. The task is at present two-thirds undone.

For Value Received.

A Boston woman relates that during her trip to England she visited a certain place and employed a guide to show her around. After he had explained the principal attractions of the neighborhood she remarked as she handed him his fee: "I trust that what you have told me is absolutely true. I never feel I should pay for untruths."

"Well, ma'am," responded the old fellow, scanning the coin, "truth or untruth, you've had a good shilling's worth."

Better Animals in Canada.

There have been large increases in the number of pure bred animals in Canada during the decade between the last two censuses. The increase in the number of pure bred horses between 1911 and 1921 was 44 per cent; of cattle, 130 per cent; of sheep, 75 per cent, and of swine, nearly 44 per cent. The number of pure bred horses in the Dominion in 1921 was 37,782; cattle, 298,656; sheep, 69,643, and of swine, 81,149.

Growth of Bank Deposits.

A single New York city bank of today carries deposits equalling more than 21 times the total deposits in all the city's banks in 1847. The deposits in New York banks in the year 1847 totalled $28,000,000. These banks carried $11,000,000 of specie and had a circulation of about $7,000,000.

ALL WOMEN WHO WORK

Should Know how this Worker was Made Strong and Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Zahli, N. Dakota.—"I was nervous and weak and was not regular. I also had pains frequently. I was miserably for seven years and finally had a nervous breakdown following an operation. I am a dressmaker and milliner, and a lady I work for told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am taking it and it has made me well and able to do my work again. I have even helped take care of a sick neighbor recently, so you can see how fit I am. I highly praise your medicine and you may use my letter as you see fit. I hope it will help some other woman."—Mrs. O. E. Nottel, Box 23, Zaid, North Dakota.

Over 120,000 women have so far replied to our question. "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

WILL GIVE STOCK MEN CREDIT CASH

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) MILWAUKEE, Jan. 17.—The federal reserve bank of Chicago has announced that it is a petition to offer capital to the men of the range states who are the farmers, J. C. Unwin of Cheyenne, director in charge of the Omaha Land Bank, is attending the annual meeting of the American National Stock Association here today.

The agency that has been securing loans through the War Finance Corporation is now eligible to business with the intermediate credit banks," he said, adding that the act also authorized to say that the act will also be allowed to lending agencies for Seattle from this time on. It is the hope of those who are charged with administration of the intermediate credit banks to make them as active of good to the agriculturists of the country as safe conditions will allow.

To the stock men we are prepared to bring a capital that will be dependable, and in which payments for renewal will be made where he shows he is able to do his business. The farmer has crops threshed and ready to market where these may be in season, may obtain a fair loan on each crop for a period that carry him to a reasonable and profitable market.

Up until January 23, 1923, the intermediate credit banks had made loans of $42,917,718.45, the speaker adding that "as time goes on people better understand the nature of their operations, there use will increase."

It was not the purpose of the act to compete with commercial banks, but rather to stimulate
