The New Waist-Line

(International News Service.)

PARIS, Jan. 19.—Oh, where oh where has the waist-line gone? After seeing the collection of many of the smartest Paris designers, many women are still asking what is going to be the fashionable waist-line of the season.

There seems to be no one who can honestly answer the question before the season has begun. Fashion, who is feminine of course, is unreasonable, fickle and completely illogical.

At any rate, the waist-line is on the march. Oned ay you observe a retreat and decide that the important point in the silhouette has gone back to normalcy. The next day you discover that it has slipped so far below the hip-line that there are no signs of it at all.

Worth seems to be showing the slipped waist-line and in some cases allows it to slip to a point where it ceases to be a line at all. The slim unbroken silhouette from neck to knees is the feature of this house.

On the contrary, Yvonne Davidson is showing the waist-line as it was in the good old days. She says the absence of a belt-line is very well for the thin woman, but when one begins to accumulate a little avoirdupois a waist-line more definitely suggested is a good device for making one look slim. One of the most charming evening dresses has a tight bodice in place, with buttons down the back and two flowing velvet bows which are very perky. A picturesque dress in black taffeta patterned in black velvet, Cubist fashion, has a high waist in front and a low dip in back, which is the natural line of the figure.

Molyneux makes the waist-line a charming feature of the new silhouette by placing a very full, rather short tunic on many of his most attractive models, thus calling attention to the dividing line between the bodice and the skirt. On his tailleurs he uses the leather belt to mark the waist-line so that there can be no mistake.

Lenief, so far, seems to favor the low waist-line, putting it somewhere about the hips and accentuating it with drapes and sashes.

ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN

by

MRS. ELLSBURY

(Address all communications to Mrs. Ellsbury, care of News-Review.)

Dear Mrs. Ellsbury: I have been a reader of your column for a long time, and now I come to you for advice. In Oregon is marriage between uncle and niece a legal one? Thanking you in advance for your kindess.

SUBSCRIBER & WELL WISHER:

A marriage between uncle and niece is not legal in Oregon.

Dear Mrs. Ellsbury: Do you know whether there are any high school credits given on club work such as sewing, when you take it up under a leader and the Extension Department of O. A. C. I have taken two years of sewing in a standard club and am taking it again this year. Do you think I could get any credits on it? When a person goes four years to high school do they have to have sixteen credits or can they pass with 15 or 15½ when they have gone four years? I am going to make a new wool dress. Could you suggest some popular material and style to make it? What kind of dresses do high school girls wear this year to school? Are they long? Thanking you in advance.

X. Y. Z.

X. Y. Z.: Write the City School Superintendent at Roseburg, for information concerning high school credits. I do not think that you can get credit for club work. Sixteen credits are required. The Roseburg high school has a uniform dress for girls, and all girls attending high school are required to wear it. It consists of a dark blue skirt, and a blue or white middy blouse. If you are planning on wearing the new serge dress to school I would suggest that you have it made instead into a skirt. Many of the girls are wearing plain, finely pleated skirts, quite long, just a little above their ankles, with low heeled oxfords. They are very good looking.

THEATRES

Antlers Theatre

Mildred Garson, the secretary and finacee of Anthony Moore, playwright is discouraged when he refuses to let her be leading woman in his new play. To prove she is fitted for the role, despite her ignorance of the underworld, she dresses herself as a man, enters his house, "covers" him with a revolver and steals a pearl necklace.

At almost the same time a gang of real crooks visit the house, and in the struggle ensuing which they are discovered, the butler is shot. The bandits, believing Mildred to be one of their own number, pack her into their car and take her to their underworld hangout, operated by "The Fox."

After a series of exciting events in which the girl more than shows her ability, Mildred returns the necklace to Moore, and Chong Wo, a Chinese philosopher who has befriended her bestows his blessing on Moore and the girl and leaves them to their happiness.

Liberty Theatre.

Of more than passing interest is the motion picture, "The Common Law," which is a screen adaptation of Robert W. Chambers' famous novel of the same name. Costarred are Corinne Griffith, Conway Tearle and Elliott Dexter, while an exceptional supporting cast includes Doris May, Hobart Bosworth, Miss du Font, Bryant Washburn, Phyllis Haver, Harry Myers and Wally Van. The story of "The Common Law" is really that of Valerie West, a sweet and rather unsophisticated young girl who, suddenly thrown upon her own resources, sets out to earn her living, but with no tangible idea as to what she is best fitted to undertake. During her search for work she calls at the studio of Louis Neville, an artist who, seeing her great possibilities as a model, persuades her to pose for him in the nude.

"The Common Law" opens a three days' engagement at the Liberty theatre tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday with matinees.

Majestic Theatre.

The story involves the adventures of a little circus girl who was taken from the environment of the big top and given a home with a lonely old couple who had lost their only child. A love interest between the girl and a young lawyer is woven into the story with a dramatic and human interest appeal.

The realistic atmosphere of circus life that has been created in the picture, the pleasures, the happiness, the drab routine and the heartaches.

It will show at the Majestic theatre tonight and Sunday.

Suggestions For The Housewife

EASILY PREPARED PASTRY AND WHEAT GOODIES

Many tempting buns and cakes, easy to eat, easy to make, healthful, inexpensive, and different can all be made from the same sponge with but slight changes. These goodies by whatever name they may be called are suitable for breakfast, lunch, dinner, dessert, or for the kiddies who want a bite between meals.

RECIPE FOR THE SPONGE

1 cup Spring patent flour
2 cakes compressed yeast
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon sugar

Method: Crumble the yeast into the bowl. Gradually add the milk which has been scalded and cooled to tepid or lukewarm and the sugar. Beat in the flour. Cover and let stand until light, about thirty minutes.

The making of this sponge is the first step in each of the four recipes given here. In each case the method calls for the materials in the following recipe for the dough.

Recipe for the Dough

3 cups Spring patent flour
½ teaspoon salt
4 eggs
7 tablespoons sugar
½ cup butter

In making the recipes given here be sure to note the slight changes from the amounts listed for the dough and the sponge.

SAVARINS

Method: In making the sponge for the Savarins use ½ cup flour instead of 1 cup. When sponge is light, from the recipe for the dough, add 1½ cups flour. (Only 2 cups of flour are used in making Savarins.) Next add the melted butter and the eggs unbeaten, adding one at a time, beating well after each egg is added. Now add the salt and ¾ cup of chopped almonds. Beat 10 minutes. Pour into small well buttered molds. Cover and set aside to rise for about 45 minutes. Bake 25 minutes in moderate oven (350° F.). These resemble Cream rolls and can be served in the same way; that is, fill the center with whipped cream and serve with Chocolate Sauce or the following Orange Sauce: Boil to a syrup—about 3 minutes, 1 cup sugar and ½ cup water. Flavor with orange juice.

BRIOCHE

Method: Make the sponge as directed. Sift the flour with the sugar in the amounts given in the dough recipe. Add the butter softened, using an additional ½ cup of butter for this richer dough. Then add the eggs beaten until light and the salt. Beat and mix thoroughly. Add the sponge. Mix thoroughly. Add 4 more eggs beaten until light. Cover. Let rise again about 4 hours. Beat again. Chill in the refrigator over night. In the morning shape by rolling under the hand into a long strip about 27 inches long and ¾ inch thick. Bring ends together and twist like a rope. Form into ring. Small rings may be formed by cutting the long roll into strips. Place on well buttered pan to rise. When double in size glaze with white of egg diluted with water. Bake in moderately hot oven (400° F.) for 25 minutes. Ice while hot with Confectioners' Sugar moistened with water. Spread with almonds.

Note: This Brioche being a richer recipe calls for an additional ½ cup butter and 4 eggs.

BABA CAKES

Method: Follow the general directions given for Brioche up to the point of chilling the dough. Then add 1 cup seedless raisins, ½ cup currants, ½ cup citron, ½ cup candied cherries, and ½ cup nuts. Instead of chilling in refrigerator over night, place in well greased pan, preferably Angel Food type of pan, allow to rise until double in bulk. (This rising will be slower than for plain yeast breads.) Bake in moderately hot oven (400° F.) for about 50 minutes.

From Domestic Science Dept., Washburn Crosby Company, Minneapolis, Minn

ENGLISH BATH BUNS

To the sponge add the following ingredients from the dough recipe: The butter melted, the eggs unbeaten, the flour, 4 tablespoons of the sugar and salt. Beat thoroughly. This mixture should be stiff, but not firm enough to handle. Cover and let rise in a warm place 1½ hours. Sprinkle the rest of the sugar, 3 tablespoons, and 1 cup of chopped almonds over the top of the dough. Mix very lightly. Drop in well greased muffin pans. Cover and let rise until light—about ½ hour. Bake in moderately hot oven (400° F.) for 25 minutes.

SOUTHERN PORTS NOT GIVEN SAME RATES

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 19.—Refusal of the recently reorganized emergency fleet corporation to accord southern ports the same ocean rates as northern Atlantic ports on export shipments originating in the middlewest will nullify export rail rates to southern ports on large movements of European traffic from central west points, R. I. McKellar, foreign freight manager of the Southern railway system, declared in a statement made public here today.

One thousand or more carloads of agricultural implements for export recently were booked for shipment via north Atlantic ports, Mr. McKellar asserted, because of refusal of the emergency fleet corporation to authorize the same rates from southern ports to French ports of destination via shipping board vessels as applied from the northern ports.

The matter Mrs. McKellar added, had been referred formally to the shipping board for a decision under the shipping act.
