

How Much Are Potato Peelings Worth?

When you buy potatoes you wouldn't consider peelings worth as much as whole potatoes, would you? When you buy feed you wouldn't consider husks worth as much as grain either. Buy Douglas County grain instead of Montana Millrun.

AN ILLUMINATING CHAT WITH MOLLIE

MOLLIE CHAPTER XVII
Mollie came into my room, threw herself into a chair, saying: "I'm dead tired, all shot to pieces. I don't suppose you have anything to drink?" She opened her square mesh bag, and found a cigarette. I shook my head. "I might have known it. You're too much of a Puritan to take a drink, or have one for anyone else." She smoked, relaxed in her chair, staring straight ahead of her. As I looked at her I thought she was like a delicate painting by Fragonard on a fan I had seen in her mother's collection, large violet eyes, a cupid's bow for a mouth, a perfect complexion, like a tea rose. She was beautiful, gowned in a shimmering orchid chiffon, and as she reclined in her chair I thought it no wonder that she had attracted love. She was the most perfect creature, physically, I ever had seen.

be and do nowadays to retain her popularity. One can't let up for a minute, or someone else slips into her place.

"I don't quite understand what you mean," I didn't.

"Oh, it's simple enough! If a girl loses her pep, if she refuses to go out when she is asked, if she doesn't dance all night, drink and smoke, the men find someone else who does and transfer their affections mighty quick. A lame duck has no place in society nowadays."

"I can't believe all men are like that, worth-while men," I said slowly. Mollie was giving me a new slant on things. "I should hate to think so. Your father—"

"Oh, dad is different of course," Mollie interrupted. "But he's so out of date, almost as much so as mother. Then he's wrapped up in his business. He gets his kick out of that. I have to get mine out of life—or sit on the shelf."

"Meaning?"
"Nothing at all, because I've no way of knowing—of judging. I never have done all the things you do—have done none of them. But you look tired, there are blue shadows under your eyes—and I couldn't help wondering if so much gaiety paid."

"Does anything pay? I can't live without excitement. But I am all in tonight."
"Did you see your mother when you came in? She's been talking about you all evening—hoping to see you before she slept."
Mollie flushed a little, averted her eyes before she replied:
"No, it was too late, I hated to disturb her."

"Seeing you never disturbs her. She always sleeps better if you say 'goodnight' to her."
"I can't bear to see her look reprovingly at me when I am late. It gives me the jim-jams, even though I know she cannot see me clearly. I'm desperately sorry for mother; but she's no idea what a girl has to last financial year showed an increase of 100,959 pounds over the previous 12 months. The funded debt showed a net increase of 417,233,426 pounds and the unfunded debt a net increase of 318,621,926 pounds. The increase of the nominal debt on conversion of the exchequer national war and treasury bonds into three and one-half percent conversion loan amounted to 127,894,564 pounds and the capitalization of arrears of interest on the United States government loan to 107,914,030 pounds.

CAN'T STOP JOINT-EASE
"You can't stop people from buying Joint-Ease for sore throat and cold in chest," writes one of our druggist friends. "They say it's the best ever." We know that, of course, but please remember that Joint-Ease is for stiff, swollen, painful joints, whether rheumatic or not, and its tremendous sale for that purpose proves that it is the one joint remedy that gets the most satisfying results.

GUN CLUB SHOOT WELL ATTENDED
The ham and bacon shoot conducted by the Roseburg Rod and Gun club yesterday, was a decided success, and marksmen from all parts of the state were present and greatly enjoyed the occasion. There were some particularly high scores and some very close shooting. There were a number of ties, and in shooting these several scores went over 49 without a miss. Points as far north as Salem and as far south as Ashland were present, and were well pleased with the schedule arranged by the local club, events being prepared for all classes of shooters. It is the plan of the club to hold one of these shoots the first Sunday of every month in the future. A prize shoot, in which winners will receive large boxes of packed prunes, and attractive circulars on the prune industry in Oregon packed for shipment to the east, will be held in the near future, according to present plans.

REVIVAL STARTS AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH
The revival meeting began at the Christian church yesterday, with fine indications of interest. The Bible school went past the 200 mark, and the services of the day were well attended. Evangelist John T. Stivers did not arrive, because his meeting at Myrtle Creek had taken on such large proportions that he could not leave it, so the pastor preached morning and evening. Mr. Stivers will be on the ground today and will preach tonight. Singing Evangelist Altheide arrived from Colorado and led the music, singing a solo at each service. Mr. Altheide has a strong tenor voice and his solos were well received. These meetings now begun will continue through the month of February and will be of interest to all. These orchestras will be a big part of many of these services, and there will be many special musical features. Mr. Stivers as a preacher is a man of The Book, and gives the reasons for the hope that is in him.

ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN by MRS. ELLSBURY
Dear Mrs. Ellsbury: Do you think it is foolish for a girl to let herself be engaged to a boy when she has no intention of ever marrying him? Some of the girls think it is awful smart to announce their engagements when they do not intend to marry the boys at all. Is this right, or do the boys know that they don't intend to marry them?
PUZZLED SIXTEEN:
I cannot answer for the boys, although I am inclined to think that their intentions are no more serious than the girls, but I agree with you that it is very foolish and not smart at all for girls to trifle with love in this way. When real love comes to them, they will be sorry and more than a little ashamed that they made light of love and marriage in that manner.

GERMAN GOODS FLOOD ENGLAND
LONDON, Jan. 29.—There is today a new twist to the familiar expression "Made in Germany."
Under the English system of free trade, great quantities of cheap German manufactured products are dumped on the English market. To the casual purchaser during the rash of holidays shopping the words "Designed in England" met the eye. In smaller print below, almost unrecognizable, was the regulation "Made in Germany" mark.
