

WEATHER
Highest Yesterday 68
Lowest Last Night 43
Tonight, Thursday
Probably rain.

ROSEBURG NEWS-REVIEW

TODAY'S CIRCULATION
4200
LEASED WIRE SERVICE

Consolidation of The Evening News and the Roseburg Review. DOUGLAS COUNTY An Independent Newspaper, Published for the Best Interest of the People.
XXV, NO. 393, OF ROSEBURG REVIEW. ROSEBURG, OREGON, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1924. VOL. XI, NO. 292, OF THE EVENING NEWS.

VANDERLIP CHARGES 'MARION STAR,' OWNED BY EX-PRESIDENT HARDING PURCHASED BY TEAPOT DOME FUNDS

Been Subpoenaed to Appear Before Committee Tomorrow Morning to Give Testimony Regarding Scandal—Said Fall Was Not Allowed to Testify For Fear He Would "Peach."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(Associated Press Leased Wire.)—Mr. Vanderlip subpoenaed to appear before the senate oil committee was called today by Chairman Lenoir. He will be asked about the money he made in a speech in Washington, N. Y., last night about the oil inquiry and to the purchase of funds used last year for the "Marion Star" newspaper.

Mr. Vanderlip has given information to the story about the "Marion Star," Senator Walsh said. "Moreover he charged that the committee should hear Mr. Fall because he was ready to talk and to lead to acts which the officials which the committee did not dare go to."

Mr. A. Vanderlip when subpoenaed today that he had summoned to appear before the senate oil committee

"All of these things are floating in the air of Washington," Mr. Vanderlip continued. "What is the truth? We are entitled to know. It will demand courage in high places to find out. The president has got to say something. Silence will not answer. He must say something to make us believe in his great integrity and moral courage which we all think he has."

Mr. Vanderlip said today, discussing his speech of last night that he had no proof of the rumors that were current for months regarding the Marion newspaper.

"My purpose," said Mr. Vanderlip, "in bringing it to public notice is to encourage an investigation of gossip concerning a dead president; gossip which is outrageous if untrue. I have made no formal request to President Coolidge for such an investigation. He might say it is his business and it may be, but it seems to me that a newspaper could best conduct the inquiry—if the publishers abandon their policy of silence toward gossip which they have heard. I have no unusual sources of news."

"But I have profound faith in the honesty and courage of President Coolidge and his ability to clean a very dirty house. We should give him our sympathy and patience and not criticize him yet. He probably felt that he came to his office by an accident of death and that he had to continue the cabinet and policies to which he fell heir."

"The committee failed to call Fall to testify, not because they were afraid he would not talk, but because they were afraid he would talk too much. I do not think Senator Walsh was a party to this and do not include him in my statement that several of his associates were undesirable investigators of any moral question. I think he is extremely sane and almost fanatically high-minded."

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
MARION, Ohio, Feb. 13.—Roy D. Moore, whom, with Louis H. Brush of Salem, Ohio, purchased the Marion Star from President Harding, emphatically denied today that their purchase of the Star was in any way connected with the Teapot Dome scandal.

"I hesitate," said a statement issued by Mr. Moore, to "dignify Mr. Vanderlip's insinuation speech, which apparently tries to implicate the sale of the Marion Star in the Teapot Dome scandal, with denial. If Mr. Vanderlip were a newspaperman he would edit his copy and watch his words more closely."

"If the Teapot Dome bunch could have manipulated the purchase of the Star for $550,000 which was the price paid for it, they would have found it a very good bargain, but they did not buy it."

"The control of the Star was bought by Mr. Louis H. Brush and myself as individuals, the Harding estate still holding a large amount of stock in the company. We regard it as worth all we paid for it, which fact incidentally has never been available for Mr. Vanderlip's investigation."

"Had Mr. Vanderlip taken the trouble to consult the records in the probate court of Marion county and ascertain the facts he never would have made himself so utterly ridiculous."

"If the Teapot scandal is based on information so ridiculously and unnecessarily false as Mr. Vanderlip's insinuation speech it should be very encouraging to the American republic."

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—When the oil committee resumed its hearings today, Stack, who testified yesterday, was cross-examined by Chairman Lenoir. Stack emphasized the danger of drainage of Teapot Dome by wells which would be opened on the land surrounding the naval reserve under the action which the interior department had taken in 1920 when the rights to operate on such land had been sold at public auction.

"In 1920 it was common talk among the oil men that the reserve was being drained," he said. He declared that he had never thought of seeking to obtain a lease to the entire reserve but was only trying to arrange for the privilege of driving off set wells to prevent drainage of the entire reserve. His advances to obtain an arrangement had been rejected in 1917 by Admiral Griffin and Commanders Stewart, Wright and Shafroth.

Taking issue with George Creel, who testified yesterday, Stack said the former Chairman of the committee on public information did not know that E. L. Doheny was associated with him in the efforts to get a lease to drill offset wells in Teapot Dome.

"I may not have told him the money I paid him came from Doheny," said Stack, but he knew I had none and that Mr. Doheny was backing me."

Stack said the $5,000 he paid Creel was the amount named by the latter as "the grubstake" he would need. Creel was employed, he said, because he knew the officials in Washington and was to represent the syndicate in the national capital.

Stack said he had shown Secretary Daniels where Teapot Dome was being drained every day, but that the secretary replied that if the field was being drained the government was getting its royalty oil just the same from the nearby wells.

He conferred also with several naval officers regarding the matter, Stack said, but became convinced that he was making no headway. It was after this he entered into a contract with Doheny to try to get the Teapot Dome lease. This was in January, 1921.

"What did you tell Mr. Doheny?" asked Chairman Lenoir.

"I told him that it was my belief that the new administration would lease the reserves."

Stack said that Schuyler, as his attorney, had drawn up the contract. In the spring of 1921, Stack said, he went to Teapot Dome with consulting geologists of Denver and found that 2,800 acres of the reserve were subject to drainage.

After making a map of the whole Teapot Dome, he said he sent geologists to Washington with it. He was told that geological survey officials agreed that the map was correct and drainage was taking place.

"I showed Doheny the map and told him what the geological survey said and he became enthused," he continued. "I came here and took it up with Secretary Denby."

"How did you get your entry to Secretary Denby?" asked Chairman Lenoir.

"I walked right in."

"You felt you couldn't do that with (Continued on page three)

SEVENTEEN DIE RESULT FIGHTS

Separatists and Citizens of Pirmasens in Bavaria Clash Last Night.

BUILDING IS BURNED

Dead Estimated at More Than Sixty—Building Where Separatists Gather Is Burned.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
BERLIN, Feb. 13.—Fighting between separatists and inhabitants of Pirmasens in the Bavarian palatinate, last night resulted in the killing of 17 persons and the wounding of two, according to dispatches from Pirmasens this morning.

The casualties occurred during fighting for the possession of the government building, which was eventually set on fire.

Of those killed, 14 were separatists.

DUESSELDORF, Feb. 13.—The separatists at Pirmasens, 13 miles south of Wiesbaden, were besieged over night in the government building which was finally set afire.

Dispatches from Pirmasens say eight separatists and six of their attackers were killed, but telegrams from Kaiserslautern estimate the dead at more than sixty.

The inter-alleied high commission today declared a state of siege in the Pirmasens district and ordered the dissolution of certain nationalist organizations.

Dispatches to the Mittag say the leaders of those who attacked the government building had previously served an ultimatum on the separatists demanding that they evacuate the city by 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

The separatists ignored the ultimatum and the attack was launched and continued all night. Various buildings are said to have been taken by assault in bloody hand to hand fighting.

The besiegers finally set fire to the government building where most of the remaining separatists had gathered.

COBLENZ, Feb. 13.—Two companies of French troops have been sent to Pirmasens in the Palatinate, where official reports state 14 are dead in fighting with the separatists.

The inter-alleied high commission has ordered the dissolution of the gymnastic societies at Pirmasens, and a delegate of the commission has instituted strict regulations of street traffic.

The accounts of the incident as published here are somewhat conflicting but it appears that 48 separatists barricaded themselves in the government building which they fired and threw bombs against the crowd.

In attempting to eject them the crowd sprayed benzine on the building with the purpose of burning it. When the lower part was afire the separatists ceased shooting and begged for mercy.

One report says that all the separatists who left the building, including their leader Schwab, government commissioner, were slain, but a later report records but 14 of those in the building were killed.

Latest advices said the building was still burning. The attitude of the French authorities was described as neutral.

AUTOBUS LINES TO CONSOLIDATE

Representatives of Companies Meet Here Today to Discuss Plans.

SCHEDULES ARRANGED

All Motor Buses in New Oregon Stage System Will Be Painted the Same Color.

Representatives of the various autobus stage lines in the state and of the Central Stage Terminal and Hotel company, met in Roseburg last night and today to complete arrangements for the statewide consolidation of auto stage lines. This consolidation will give better operating conditions and will accommodate the patrons of the auto lines by giving them better service with good connections with other lines. A schedule of meets is being worked out so that connections may be made to all parts of the state with few lay-overs and delays.

Six big buses are to be put into operation between Roseburg and Portland, which are to be the main terminals in the state. Portland will be the distributing center for all of the Willamette Valley, and Roseburg for Southwestern Oregon. This through service will start in March with six buses, and two more will be added within a few weeks, making three buses each way daily. These will be nearly all new cars. One huge 24-passenger bus ordered by the Roseburg-Eugene line, which is entering into the consolidation, will be put into service about the last of the month and will be one of those on the through run.

In addition to these through stages, there will be lines operating between intermediate points and to towns and cities off the highway. All lines entering into the consolidation are planning on extensions and the Coast Auto lines will add two or more buses between Roseburg and the coast as soon as weather conditions will permit operation over the road to Coos Bay.

The consolidated organization will be known as The Oregon Stage System. Officers will be elected at some future date, and headquarters will be established in Portland. In Roseburg the offices will be located at the new stage terminal hotel, and the stage will change their terminals from the various hotels of the city to that place on Friday of this week.

At their meeting here, the various (Continued on Page Eight.)

SEVENTEEN DIE RESULT FIGHTS

Separatists and Citizens of Pirmasens in Bavaria Clash Last Night.

BUILDING IS BURNED

Dead Estimated at More Than Sixty—Building Where Separatists Gather Is Burned.

From 1921 to 1922 he was secretary of the North Dakota State Good Roads association, being employed by that organization until his health was broken. He has been spending the past two years in the west for the benefit of his health, and has been located for the greater part of that time in Walla Walla. He is now fully restored in health, but desires to make his home in the west rather than return to North Dakota.

The Roseburg Chamber of Commerce has decided to employ a publicity expert to carry on the work in this vicinity, and from among a number of applicants Mr. Holbein has been chosen and a proposition made to him. He is now on the ground ready to begin work and it is expected that the final agreement will be decided up on immediately.

A representative of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce was in Roseburg today endeavoring to interest the local organization in membership in the national body. Through the U. S. chamber a great deal of aid and assistance can be obtained, and help will be given in the many projects which may be adopted.

CHAMBER TO HIRE PUBLICITY MAN

W. E. Holbein Here to Assume Duties With Local Booster Organization—Is Experienced Secretary.

W. E. Holbein, recently of Walla Walla, is in Roseburg, and will probably remain here as secretary and manager of the Roseburg Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Holbein is an applicant for the position of secretary, and final details covering his employment by the local chamber are being arranged, and he will probably take up the duties of the office within the next few days.

Mr. Holbein is an experienced man in publicity work, and it is believed that he will be an able secretary for the local Chamber of Commerce. Up to the year 1915 he was engaged in the newspaper business, and served for three years as secretary of the North Dakota Press association. He was later appointed secretary of the North Dakota commission to the Panama-Pacific International Exposition in 1915 and from 1916 to 1921 served as secretary of the Minot, North Dakota, association of commerce,

COTTAGE GROVE WINS FROM ROSEBURG TEAM

The Roseburg National Guard Basketball Team was Defeated in a Rough Game with the Cottage Grove Team at the latter place last night.

The Roseburg National Guard basketball team was defeated in a rough game with the Cottage Grove team at the latter place last night. The score was 21 to 13, and the battle was hardfought from start to finish. The game had more the appearance of a football game than basketball and roughness featured the entire contest. Tonight the Roseburg players meet the Eugene guardsmen in a game at the local armory. Tonight's game is expected to be a good exhibition of basketball, as competent officials will prevent undue roughness and keep the game clean and fast. It is expected that there will be a good turnout for tonight's game.

Mrs. Russell Bryant, and Miss Bertha Aubin who have been spending the past two months at San Jose, California visiting with relatives, have returned to their home in Roseburg.

SPORTSMEN WILL PLACE EXHIBIT

Rod and Gun Club to Maintain Booth at Exposition in Portland Monday.

BOOKLETS ARE PRINTED

Chamber of Commerce Preparing Booklet Which Will Advertise County as a Hunters' Paradise.

The Oregon Outdoor Life Exposition, the first of its kind in the state, will start on Monday at Portland. The exposition is being arranged by the sportsmen of the state to bring about a greater interest in the fish and game life and to further the cause of game protection and propagation, and also to interest tourists in the great playgrounds which the state has to offer to tourists, campers and vacationists.

The Roseburg Rod and Gun club is endeavoring to prepare one of the best exhibits at the exposition and is going to a great deal of trouble and expense to get its display in readiness. A large space has been procured for the showing, and the booth will be in charge of L. L. Crocker, who is donating his time and expense in the interest of the county.

An effort is being made to secure all the fish and game pictures obtainable, and also views of camp sites and scenic attractions. These views will be placed on display where they will attract the attention of persons seeking suitable places to spend the vacation season. The fish and game pictures taken in Douglas county cannot be surpassed, and other counties are using pictures taken from Douglas county to advertise their own communities. It is believed that a liberal display of photographs will prove a great attraction, and persons having pictures which they are willing to allow the club to use are asked to notify Mr. Crocker at once.

Douglas county is to be advertised as the sportsmen's paradise of the northwest, and the local club expects to have sufficient exhibits and information to amply support this claim.

An attractive booklet exploiting Douglas county, and listing the attractions which the Umpqua valley has to offer to the vacationist is being prepared by the Chamber of Commerce, and will be distributed in large numbers at the exposition.

Douglas county people who are in Portland during the exposition are urged to attend the show, and to visit the Douglas county booth and give such aid and assistance as may be possible in answering the questions of interested persons and in helping to advertise this section of the state.

COUNTY HAS NO FUNDS FOR CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

W. J. Weaver, representing the Roseburg Chamber of Commerce appeared this morning before the county court, stating that it was understood that the county had set aside in a recent budget a sum of advertising Douglas County, and it was asked if the sum remained.

BAD CHECK ARTIST WANTED

A warrant was issued today for the arrest of J. Rigby, charged with passing a bad check on O. L. Johnson of the Economy grocery. Rigby, it is alleged, passed a check in the sum of $18.00 payable to himself and signed by supposedly fictitious name. Officers are endeavoring to locate the man.

KELLINGTON CASE TO BE FIRST TO BE HEARD DURING THE FEBRUARY TERM.

Investigations into Various Alleged Violations of Law Brought Before the Grand Jury.

CIRCUIT COURT TO MEET MONDAY

The grand jury met today to prepare the state's affairs for the February term of the circuit court which opens on Monday, with the trial of Fred Kellington, charged with manslaughter. The grand jury is composed of E. Briggs, foreman; E. W. Bartram; J. B. Cooke, Wm. L. Moore, C. F. Byers, Alfred Hand, and R. L. Bradford. S. J. Jones has again been appointed by the court to serve as bailiff for the grand jury.

STOLEN CAR HELD

Deputy Sheriff Frank Hopkins on Saturday picked up a large Cole S car believed to have been stolen in Washington. The car was abandoned near the canyonville, and the officer chased the man who drove it to that point, for several hours, but they succeeded in escaping. An effort is being made to locate the owner of the machine, which from indications found on the windshield was formerly registered in King county.

BEAUTIFYING ROSEBURG

(Scouted by the Boy Scouts.) J. I. Love of South Main street is making up his flower beds, thus helping the City Beautiful Campaign. Jim Fletcher is busily engaged in cleaning up the city hall lawn today. The Main street yard of the Bitter home is being cleaned this week which greatly improves the appearance.

GORGEOUS CASE CONTAINS MUMMY

Wonderful Bizarre and Golden Coffin Is Shown to Newspapermen.

DISCOVERY IMPORTANT

Sheets of Gleaming Gold on Mummy Case Tells Tale of Reward That Awaited Ancient Tomb Robbers

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
LUXOR, Egypt, Feb. 13.—(Owing to what he characterized as the "discovery" of the Egyptian public works department, Howard Carter of the excavation work, closed Tutankhamen's tomb today and abandoned operations. It is understood the crisis was precipitated by the refusal of the Egyptian government to permit the wives of the excavators to visit the tomb.

The following notice was posted in the hall of the Winter Palace hotel this afternoon:

"LUXOR, Feb. 13.—Owing to the impossible restrictions and discourtesies on the part of the public works department and its antiquity section, all my collaborators in protest have refused to work any further upon scientific investigation of the discovery of the tomb of Tutankhamen. I am therefore obliged to make known to the public that immediately the tomb will be closed and no further work will be carried out. HOWARD CARTER."

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
LUXOR, Egypt, Feb. 13.—The correspondent of the Associated Press was the first newspaperman admitted today to view the gorgeous mummy case of Tutankhamen, which was disclosed yesterday by the raising of the massive lid of the sarcophagus.

At the first view of this wonderful bizarre and golden coffin with the face, shoulders, breast and arms of the Pharaoh standing out in bold relief on the metal, one realized that this discovery was indeed an event in the annals of Egyptology.

Nothing has ever been found in Egypt before resembling this colossal of gold with its strangely natural, oddly captivating face and supreme dignity of line. The only parallel one can call to mind is the great stone effigy carved on the lid of the sarcophagus of Merneptah, the reputed pharaoh of the exodus.

It now seems clear that the effigy of Merneptah, whose sarcophagus lies in his tomb, a scant hundred yards from that of Tutankhamen, and hitherto regarded unique in Egypt, merely represents in stone the habitual form of the mummy case of Egypt's kings.

The sight of the sheets of gold gleaming on the mummy case of Tutankhamen tells its own tale of the reward that awaited the enterprise of the ancient tomb robbers and readily explains why, of all the sepulchres of Egypt's old rulers, only Tutankhamen's has been inviolate.

When the correspondent entered the tomb he found a sheet of glass laid across the open sarcophagus beneath the cracked granite lid which hung from its tackle some three feet above. The first sight of the dead king's effigy was overwhelming. It might have been a huge golden idol, an incredibly bizarre effect was lent by the solid, folded head-dress, the long curved golden beard, the thickness of a ship's cable and the giraffe's tail and crook grasped in the great hands.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—When the oil committee resumed its hearings today, Stack, who testified yesterday, was cross-examined by Chairman Lenoir. Stack emphasized the danger of drainage of Teapot Dome by wells which would be opened on the land surrounding the naval reserve under the action which the interior department had taken in 1920 when the rights to operate on such land had been sold at public auction.

"In 1920 it was common talk among the oil men that the reserve was being drained," he said. He declared that he had never thought of seeking to obtain a lease to the entire reserve but was only trying to arrange for the privilege of driving off set wells to prevent drainage of the entire reserve. His advances to obtain an arrangement had been rejected in 1917 by Admiral Griffin and Commanders Stewart, Wright and Shafroth.

Taking issue with George Creel,

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Mr. Vanderlip subpoenaed to appear before the senate oil committee was called today by Chairman Lenoir. He will be asked about the money he made in a speech in Washington, N. Y., last night about the oil inquiry and to the purchase of funds used last year for the "Marion Star" newspaper.

Mr. Vanderlip has given information to the story about the "Marion Star," Senator Walsh said. "Moreover he charged that the committee should hear Mr. Fall because he was ready to talk and to lead to acts which the officials which the committee did not dare go to."

Mr. A. Vanderlip when subpoenaed today that he had summoned to appear before the senate oil committee

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(Owing to what he characterized as the "discovery" of the Egyptian public works department, Howard Carter of the excavation work, closed Tutankhamen's tomb today and abandoned operations. It is understood the crisis was precipitated by the refusal of the Egyptian government to permit the wives of the excavators to visit the tomb.

The following notice was posted in the hall of the Winter Palace hotel this afternoon:

"LUXOR, Feb. 13.—Owing to the impossible restrictions and discourtesies on the part of the public works department and its antiquity section, all my collaborators in protest have refused to work any further upon scientific investigation of the discovery of the tomb of Tutankhamen. I am therefore obliged to make known to the public that immediately the tomb will be closed and no further work will be carried out. HOWARD CARTER."

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
LUXOR, Egypt, Feb. 13.—The correspondent of the Associated Press was the first newspaperman admitted today to view the gorgeous mummy case of Tutankhamen, which was disclosed yesterday by the raising of the massive lid of the sarcophagus.

At the first view of this wonderful bizarre and golden coffin with the face, shoulders, breast and arms of the Pharaoh standing out in bold relief on the metal, one realized that this discovery was indeed an event in the annals of Egyptology.

Nothing has ever been found in Egypt before resembling this colossal of gold with its strangely natural, oddly captivating face and supreme dignity of line. The only parallel one can call to mind is the great stone effigy carved on the lid of the sarcophagus of Merneptah, the reputed pharaoh of the exodus.

It now seems clear that the effigy of Merneptah, whose sarcophagus lies in his tomb, a scant hundred yards from that of Tutankhamen, and hitherto regarded unique in Egypt, merely represents in stone the habitual form of the mummy case of Egypt's kings.

The sight of the sheets of gold gleaming on the mummy case of Tutankhamen tells its own tale of the reward that awaited the enterprise of the ancient tomb robbers and readily explains why, of all the sepulchres of Egypt's old rulers, only Tutankhamen's has been inviolate.

When the correspondent entered the tomb he found a sheet of glass laid across the open sarcophagus beneath the cracked granite lid which hung from its tackle some three feet above. The first sight of the dead king's effigy was overwhelming. It might have been a huge golden idol, an incredibly bizarre effect was lent by the solid, folded head-dress, the long curved golden beard, the thickness of a ship's cable and the giraffe's tail and crook grasped in the great hands.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—When the oil committee resumed its hearings today, Stack, who testified yesterday, was cross-examined by Chairman Lenoir. Stack emphasized the danger of drainage of Teapot Dome by wells which would be opened on the land surrounding the naval reserve under the action which the interior department had taken in 1920 when the rights to operate on such land had been sold at public auction.

"In 1920 it was common talk among the oil men that the reserve was being drained," he said. He declared that he had never thought of seeking to obtain a lease to the entire reserve but was only trying to arrange for the privilege of driving off set wells to prevent drainage of the entire reserve. His advances to obtain an arrangement had been rejected in 1917 by Admiral Griffin and Commanders Stewart, Wright and Shafroth.

Taking issue with George Creel,

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—Mr. Vanderlip subpoenaed to appear before the senate oil committee was called today by Chairman Lenoir. He will be asked about the money he made in a speech in Washington, N. Y., last night about the oil inquiry and to the purchase of funds used last year for the "Marion Star" newspaper.

Mr. Vanderlip has given information to the story about the "Marion Star," Senator Walsh said. "Moreover he charged that the committee should hear Mr. Fall because he was ready to talk and to lead to acts which the officials which the committee did not dare go to."

Mr. A. Vanderlip when subpoenaed today that he had summoned to appear before the senate oil committee

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(Owing to what he characterized as the "discovery" of the Egyptian public works department, Howard Carter of the excavation work, closed Tutankhamen's tomb today and abandoned operations. It is understood the crisis was precipitated by the refusal of the Egyptian government to permit the wives of the excavators to visit the tomb.

The following notice was posted in the hall of the Winter Palace hotel this afternoon:

"LUXOR, Feb. 13.—Owing to the impossible restrictions and discourtesies on the part of the public works department and its antiquity section, all my collaborators in protest have refused to work any further upon scientific investigation of the discovery of the tomb of Tutankhamen. I am therefore obliged to make known to the public that immediately the tomb will be closed and no further work will be carried out. HOWARD CARTER."