ROSEBURG, OREGON, SATURDAY, MARCH 1, 1924.

RADIO AND HOME LIFE.

Conditions in the times of our fathers seemed to favor home life. There was less going on then, and people were willing to spend much time in working in their home places, cultivating gardens, making improvements, etc.

Roseburg is favored with a distinguished visitor today in the person of Mayor George Baker, of Portland. Mr. Baker is a candidate for United States senator from Oregon and his many friends throughout the state predict his success at the coming primary election.

The temper of congress suggests that it will not be wise to use any oil to grease the wheels of legislation.

Plenty doing in Roseburg this week to keep the average citizen alert.

PRUNE PICKIN'S BY BERT G. BATES

GOOD EVENING FOLKS— Mayor Gawge Baker Was in the village Today shaking hands With the populace And Gawge is the First candidate This colyum has Talked with who Hasn't promised To send us seeds If he gets To congress.

Ye ed. went over to Sutherlin last night and witnessed a few slapping matches and one guy got rough and laid his opponent's chin on the canvas and we wondered who nicknamed the sport the "manly art of self-defense?"

A red-headed damsel had a ring-dozed seat and she sprung her daily dozen right there during the fight, having lost an even twelve pounds during the struggle.

The auto shows continues tonight but we've almost convinced our wife that the ol' ol' hafta last another season.

SPRING HAS COME, TRA LA! To beautify our city Is now the general cry We've broke our back To do the trick But once again we'll try.

We spaded in the backyard And in the parking too We've busted the hoe and The ol' lawn mower To the slogan we've been true.

If Nap Rice had a yard like ours With acres to harass He'd rent a room And take a broom And not try to raise grass.

By the way, populace, this colyum once more calls your attention to the fact that this is Saturday night and unless your bath tub is loaded with a new batch of home-brew we urge upon you to take your weekly scrub regardless of the consequences.

Hub Quine today wrote a policy on a herd of bulls and spent most of the afternoon branding same he-cows with earings for purpose of identification. We have yet to see a bull so weak that he needed an insurance policy.

Some of the village flappers dance and talk like they were afflicted with the hoof and mouth disease.

Dumbell Dora makes no bright remark today because ye ed. can't think of a bright remark for said damsel to utter.

When it comes to climate folks, doff your chapeau to dear ol' Roseburg. This is the garden spot of the universe and we often wonder why Adam had to eat one of those Garden Valley apples out in his bungalow in Edenbower. If Adam had used better judgment lots of us could be out picking new spring leaves for our wives instead of punting over the jack for a new spring frock.

Harry Johnson, high skule principal is just about recovered from an epidemic of poison oak and Harry tells us that the seven-year itch must be a helluvan affliction.

A lot of Grants Pass damsels were in the village last night and today and the village sheiks were swagging up and down the main stem displaying side-burns and a nonchalant air.

Mayor Baker is going to deliver a talk at the auto show tonight which will hafta be delivered in a loud voice if the Portland mayor hopes to compete with the auto dealers.

It is understood that he auto dealers will have a banquet tonight and it is hoped that no custard pies are thrown.

A feller who took his wife to the prize fights last night asked for his money back on the claim that his wife had her eyes covered during the nose-poking matches.

We've often wondered why the Salvation Army folks don't take a hike out to the golf links on a Sunday a. m. instead of trying to convert the gang around the pool halls.

A large number of local wimmen folks quit playin' mah jongg today en acct. of the rumor that the sets were made outa shin bones of slaughtered cattle. One woman reports that her baby has been using a set to teethe on.

March wandered in like a little lamb today but watch the 'N collectors storm out like a lion when we put 'em off for another month.

Many a Sunday joy ride is ruined because Dad has the car engine havin' all over the garage.

MAYOR BAKER IS VISITOR IN CITY

George L. Baker, mayor of Portland and candidate for republican nomination for United States senator, and Mrs. Baker, arrived in Roseburg this morning. He will speak tonight at the auto show as one of the features of the evening.

"I am not out on a campaign trip," said Mayor Baker this morning. "This is the first real opportunity I have had to visit Roseburg and the surrounding country and Mrs. Baker and myself are delighted to be here today. Roseburg certainly is a fine city and we in Portland have heard much of this wonderful section of Oregon."

Stivers is pleasing and impressive. He was taken to the Oregon Soldiers Home this morning for a visit with the old veterans and later in the day visited several of the fruit growing sections of the valley.

Stivers is pleasing and impressive.

SUICIDE PACT IS REVEALED TODAY

SALISBURY, March 1.—What police authorities declare was an apparent suicide pact, was revealed here today when it became known that Dr. George Russell and his wife of Silverton, were found nearly dead in a local apartment house from an overdose of a drug.

When discovered Dr. Russell was lying on his stomach on the floor in one room, and his wife was on the bed in an adjoining room. A note written by Mrs. Russell and found in the room said they had decided to die together.
