AN "AMERICAN BIBLE."

The idea has been suggested by a prominent "modernist" clergyman that it would be a good idea to assemble a collection of inspirational thoughts from the addresses and writings of famous Americans, to serve as an "American Bible," and to be used for the same purpose that the Sacred Scriptures are employed, to lift the minds of the people to higher aims. No such collection however, will ever take the place of the old Bible that has been such a marvelous force in the world for nearly 2000 years. The demand for the Bible today is greater than at any previous time in history, and human progress never catches up with it. It is the most popular book the world ever produced. It is not merely that it contains lofty thoughts and high ideals which the world has not yet been able to realize, as the centuries roll on. Its power is largely created by its infinite of the village left for Portland yes. Callars was received February 28. Zellars was received February 28. 1923, from Multnomah county to serve not over five years for assault with intent to rob. He escaped to serve not more than four years.

The reader sees how people have acted under all kinds of circumstances, and what the results of their action were and what they should have done. It is the But for a man, as price now goes, greatest study in human experience ever created. But a wonderfully fine collection could be made by assembling the best thoughts of our American thinkers, writers and statesmen. The principal trouble would be that there is such a wealth of inspirational material, that it would be difficult to get an agreement as to what would constitute the finest selection, and what writers Of all the sad surprises should be represented and how much of their thought should be with treading in the darkness included. The American people are offered inspiration and fine thought at every turn. When they are content with low aims, they show little appreciation of their great heritage of noble that income tax report and then a principle.

Marion county, Oregon, has a system of utilizing its old well packed gravel roads that saves the taxpayers large sums of money. Instead of tearing up the old base merely to widen the road a few inches, or making an entirely new road in order to with after they travel that Mexican eliminate a few degrees in a curve, the county utilizes well packed old foundations as base for an asphaltic concrete pavement. In this way outlying sections secure roads which it would otherwise be impossible to build due to excessive cost. On hills that are a after sunset. little steep the road is paved but half the width, the balance being macadam which allows better traction than pavement for the steel shod hoofs of the horses. These roads seem to accomodate very satisfactorily the farm trucking and private automobile traffic which is supposed to go over them. The asphaltic concrete adjusts itself to any slight irregularities in the road, without breaks or cracks, thus assuring a smooth and unobstructed seems surface. As the trunk highways are completed it is essential that the feeder roads be improved and the Marion county idea which utilizes time tested methods and materials in road paving in conjunction with previously established grades and road base, is well worth consideration as a saver of taxpayers' money.
