Attorney General VanWinkle Says Democratic Delegates Cannot Be Doubled.

National Committee's Proposal Cannot Be Followed Out in This State, Says Opinion Today.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) SALEM. March 14.—A recom-mendation of the democratic com-mittee that the number of delegates at large to the national convention be doubled and half of them be women can not be followed in Ore-ron according to an opinion written by Attorney-General Van Winkle to-day on inquiry by Sam A. Kozer, day on inquiry by Sam A. Roser, secretary of state.

While the proposal is not thoroughly clear in the minds of Oregon officials, it would apparently have the effect of increasing the Oregon delegation from 10 to 14.

have the effect of increasing the Oregen delegation from 10 to 14. A prepared statement issued from the attorney-general's office relative to his opinion says:

"I H. Van Winkle, attorney-general in an opinion addressed to the secretary of state discussed the recommendation of the democratic national committee that in order that the opportunity may be afforded to the various states to give adequate representation to women as delegates at large to the democratic national convention, without disturbing the prevailing party custom, there may be elected from each state four delegates at large for each senator in congress from such state with one half vote each, and that one half of the number of delegate at large shall be women. He held that such recommendation is too indefinite and uncertain to authorize the secretary of state to actupen it since no authority is vested in that office to decide upon such substitution, and no other resolution or order of the national democratic committee has been received authorizing the same.

"It was further held that since the constitution and statutes of Oregon provide that all elections

"It was further held that since the constitution and statutes of Oregon provide that in all elections authorized by the constitution, unless otherwise provided by law the person or persons receiving the highest number of votes shall be elected, it would be possible for eight men or eight women to receive the highest number of votes for delegates at large to the democratic national convention, thus defeating the nurpose of the proposed change.

For a long time the News-Review has told its advertisers that the circulation of this paper, bassed upon the population of the sly and country, is in a class all by itself, the outstanding feature being the fact that every evening more than 4200 papers are printed (machine count and sworn circulation), which is sufficient to place a copy of every lasue in every home in Douglas country. The 1920 United States census gives Dougles county a population of slightly less than 22,000, so, counting five to a family, the regular issue of The News-Review is ample to give every family a copy. The remarkable fact that this paper stands in a class by itself in matter of circulation compared to population of the city and district it serves, is shown in an unbiased survey of the newspaper field in the Northwest, comprising Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana, issued by the proprietors of Golden West Coffee.
