TINTING FURNITURE THE KYANIZE WAY—WITH CELOID
YOU CAN DO IT YOURSELF

Of course you've noticed how popular "painted furniture" is becoming. Bedroom sets, sun porch furniture and in fact, things for every room in the house are displayed by the best shops in "painted" beauty.

Why don't you make over some of your old things in this new way? This is a marvelous finish—this Celoid—a really high grade medium-gloss enamel that gives the effect of a costly "hand rubbed" finish.

It may be washed repeatedly without leaving streaks or stains—in fact, it improves with washing.

In addition to tinting furniture use Celoid on any woodwork on walls of metal, wood, plaster or fibreboard, or anywhere about the home.

Eight delicately-toned tints in addition to Pure White. We guarantee absolute satisfaction or "money back for the empty can."

SENATOR STRAYER
VISITS IN CITY

Acquainting himself with the territory, its needs and its people, W. H. Strayer, of Baker, candidate for the democratic nomination for United States senator was in Roseburg today, having arrived this morning from Coos Bay. He is busying himself largely with renewing old acquaintances made during the 19 years he has served as a member of the state senate.

"Your extensive orchards and the horticultural possibilities of the territory tributary to Roseburg are an impressive thing to one coming from the section of the state that I do, and I was surprised to learn this morning that comparatively little of your fruit product reaches the interior markets in fresh form, due to the hazards of transportation and the uncertainty of returns on the products delivered to marketing centers. I can readily understand the loss which the shippers are forced to accept upon the statements of the commission merchants and brokers in the market points, and it appears to me that the most logical solution of the problem is the establishment of a system of federal verification at the point of shipment, which would not only protect the interests of the producer, but would allow for the standardization of products and provide the broker and the commission man in the district market centers with a means of determining the quality of the product purchased.

"Such a certification system could easily and efficiently be organized out of existing federal agencies, and the slight cost would be more than justified in the benefits returned to the agricultural sections of the country, to whom some practical relief is so vital at this time."

The need for immediate and drastic tax reduction and retrenchment steps in the administration of national affairs is one of the points that Senator Strayer is stressing in his campaign for the nomination, and he is also laying stress upon the need for a revamping of the machinery for dealing with labor troubles, especially as they pertain to the nation's transportation system. He favors abolition of the federal labor board and substitution of a plan of direct negotiation, mediation and arbitration between the railroads and their employees.

Senator Strayer is leaving late this afternoon for Medford and other southern points.

Chestnut Venders Join Ranks of Profiteers

The chestnut venders with their snuffpans and charcoal fires are perhaps the latest recruits to the ranks of the profiteers. Doubtless they can present excellent economic arguments to justify the high price of chestnuts this season. To the average man on the street, however, the new scale of prices for roast chestnuts just announced comes as a shock. Within the last few days scores of these venders have taken their places once more on the street corners and one rushes to them as to an old friend. A glance at the familiar stand reveals the same little tin measure as of old, but the good old days of five-cent purchases are gone. The smallest of the measures often are a quarter, and a slightly larger size is 40 cents. The roast chestnut has become a luxury. Meanwhile the proportion of worms has increased. After emptying a bag of chestnuts the other day, it was discovered that the worms had cost nearly a nickel apiece.—New York Times.

Legend of Pan's Death

It was currently believed among the early Christians that at the time of the crucifixion of Christ a loud voice was heard throughout the isles of Greece, proclaiming that the great Pan was dead and that the rule of the Olympian gods was at an end.

"Pantarch is the first to tell the story that in the reign of Tiberius one Thamias, a pilot, when steering near the islands of Paxos, was commanded by a loud voice to proclaim that 'the great Pan is dead.' As soon as he reached Palodes he cried the news aloud from the poop of his ship, whereupon was heard a great noise of lamentation, as of nature itself expressing its grief. The coincidence of this story with the birth or crucifixion of Christ gave occasion to an explanation that it marked the end of the old world and the beginning of the new when the old oracles became dumb. Babelais has the story, there is a well-known allusion to it in Milton's 'Ode on the Nativity,' and it has been finely treated by Schiller and Mrs. Browning."—Chambers' Encyclopedia.

SCHOOLS SECURE
ATHLETIC COACH

Earl W. Doubet of Peoria, Ill., to Teach Physical Education Here.

IS WELL QUALIFIED

Will Graduate This Year From Coaching School at the University of Illinois.

After a great deal of careful consideration and investigation, the local school board has selected Earl W. Doubet, of Peoria, Ill., as athletic director in the city schools for the coming year. At the request of the parent-teachers associations recently, the board decided to install a complete course in physical education in the high school and as far down in the grades as the funds available will permit. In order to obtain a man qualified to take up this work a thorough investigation was started. As the course will include all branches of physical education it was necessary to secure a man who has had some theoretical training in addition to whatever experience he may have gained in athletic endeavors.

The University of Illinois has a course designed particularly to train men for this particular work. A course is given in all of the major athletics, and additional instruction is given in corrective gymnastics, group athletics, and other departments, the students being given both practical and theoretical training. There are twenty faculty members of the University of Illinois who are employed solely in this department. George Huff, Robert Zuppke, Carl Lundgren, and Harry Gill, four of the best known coaches in the country are in charge of the major departments. Huff coaches track, Lundgren baseball, Zuppke football, and Gill basketball.

Earl Doubet, who has been selected as physical education instructor for the Roseburg schools will graduate from that course in June of this year.

He is a young man, 24 years of age and is married. He graduated from Bradley Polytechnic in 1919 and from Bradley College in 1922 and he has obtained nine letters for athletic achievements in Bradley. A letter from the secretary of the coach's bureau of the University of Illinois, praises Mr. Doubet very highly and it is stated that he will fill all of the necessary qualifications. A letter from the president of the Bradley College, states that the young man participated in football, basketball and baseball in that school, before taking the coach's course at the University of Illinois. He will report here in September, two weeks before school opens and will be prepared to start the course in the high school and upper grades when school convenes.

BORN
MOWERY—To Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Mowery, Bend, and daughter, Sunday, April 20, 1924. Mrs. Mowery was formerly Miss Sara Saterfield, surgical nurse in the Mercy Hospital of this city.

SPECIAL MEETING TOMORROW

A special speaker has been secured for the meeting to be held on Saturday night at the local Salvation Army hall and a very interesting time is looked forward to. Mr. J. Stephenson of Tillamook will speak upon the subject "Satan, the author of all sin."

Mr. Stephenson is a very fluent speaker, a good christian and one hundred per cent American, and will deliver a message worth while hearing. Every one is invited to attend the meeting which will commence at 8 o'clock.

OPENS SATURDAY MORNING

The Douglas Grill, widely known as the Y Not Eat, will open for business tomorrow morning. Mr. Warner serving breakfast to patrons for a starter. Several improvements have been made in the dining room, probably the most important being an electric suction fan that was installed today. This device will insure perfect ventilation for the entire dining room.

VOTES NOT COUNTED.

Because of the absence of Mrs. F. R. Dunlap, chairman of the strawberry carnival queen contest committee, the votes for carnival queen have not yet been counted this week. It is expected, however, that a count will be made tomorrow night. Efforts are being made to establish a plan whereby queen votes will be given with merchandise in various stores, and if this is done it is expected that the competition will become much closer.

Leaves Hospital—
Mrs. J. Ellen Perkins, who has been at Mercy Hospital for the last five weeks with a very severe case of neuritis, is much improved, and was today removed to the home of her son, J. W. Perkins.

On Way to Coos Bay—
J. R. Griffith arrived here today from Cottage Grove on his way to Marshfield where he will look after business matters for a few days. He will then return to Cottage Grove where he is employed with the Sentinel of that city.

"I'm glad to know you!"

and Forbes meant it!

He looked at the trim, athletic figure before him and in a new spring suit of an attractive blue striped material. "confidence! Efficiency!"

"You get the job!" Forbes grinned.

Dressing well won't make you efficient, but good clothes help the efficient man a lot.

Don't wait too long to choose one of those spring suits in the popular dark blue pencil stripe pattern.

WOMAN'S DEATH IS INVESTIGATED

Stomach Sent To Portland To Determine Whether Or Not Poison Was Present Before Death

Officers are today conducting an examination into the death of Mrs. Peter Sobanjan, who died very suddenly Wednesday night under circumstances which caused a suspicion that she had been poisoned. The stomach contents have been sent to Portland to Dr. Menne for analysis to determine whether or not poison was present before death, and Dr. A. F. Sother, and Coroner Ritter today made a post-mortem examination to determine whether or not death resulted from natural causes.

According to the story told by the husband of the woman he retired early in the evening. His wife came to bed later and he was awakened again shortly after by her screaming. He found her in terrible pain and suffering intensely. He tried to help her the best he could and she finally went into a stupor. He thought that she was asleep and went to bed again, and about an hour later when he went to see if she was alright found her dead.

He notified the authorities as soon as he could reach Oakland the following day. Coroner Ritter and Deputies Shambrook and Powell visited the homestead cabin where the death occurred, but were unable to find anything to add to the suspicions of either murder or suicide. No poison was found in the home, the woman had been in fairly good health, and was in good spirits, eagerly awaiting the coming of her sister, and the latter's husband, who were to come from Armenia during the summer. It had been planned to take up a nearby claim for the woman was anticipated to be a rival of the sister whom she had seen for many years. Officers are inclined to believe that death resulted from natural causes which the coroner will reveal. Mr. and Mrs. Sobanjan came to this country about 17 years ago from Armenia. Mr. Sobanjan is a naturalized citizen. They in Toona, was a soldier during the war, and upon his return to the homestead upon which his parents have been residing, a jeweler's engraver in Portland.

Harry Cain, of the Star Journal, is a visitor in Roseburg today with Senator Strayer, democratic candidate for the nomination of U. S. senator. Mr. Cain has been writing in the newspaper business in the state for many years and is one of the most able writers in Oregon.

BOHEMIAN GIRL IS PRESENTED

One of the most interesting and successful productions staged by the high school this year was Half's famous opera "The Bohemian Girl," which was presented last evening at the Antlers theatre by the high school plee clubs. The difficult opera is one of the biggest things ever attempted in this city by the high school. With a well selected cast supported by a chorus of fifty voices and under the capable direction of Miss Edna Haseltine, director of music in the public schools, the opera was something to be remembered.

The stage setting and costumes were elaborate and revealed the life of the gypsies as they were in the days of the Bohemian girl. Many of the old songs among which were "Then You'll Remember Me," and "I Dreamt I Dwell in Marble Halls", were exceptionally well sung.

The high school orchestra with Miss Elva Westcott at the piano and John Spottedwood at the organ, accompanied the opera.

"It Made Me Young Again"
Says Elderly Housewife, Praisng Korex Compound.

"I did not have vim enough to sit down and do sewing," says Mrs. G. Amer of Camden, N. J., "but after taking korex compound I am ever so much better. Now I can do three times as much work in one day as I could before. I am 62 years old but korex has made me young again."

Thousands the world over are now using this wonder compound and many are the enthusiastic reports telling of restorations to the splendid vigor and vitality of prime man and womanhood. Congregation Prayed

One of the quaintest ceremonies of the Middle Ages was that of the Feast of the Ass, which was celebrated annually January 14. In order to commemorate the flight into Egypt.

The proceedings began with a procession, in which a beautiful girl, holding a child in her arms, and seated on an ass, was led through the streets to church.

On arrival at the church the ass and its burden were placed near the high altar, while the usual religious services were performed. But instead of the usual responses the people imitated the braying of an ass, and at the close of the service the priest brayed three times by way of benediction, and was answered in the same manner by the congregation.—London Answers.

Clock Feeds Poultry

Poultry can be supplied with grain automatically at any desired time from a feeder operated by an alarm clock. The apparatus scatters the material in proper amounts over a 20-foot space, insuring the fowls sufficient exercise in gathering it. A switch attachment can also be made to turn electric lights on and off without interfering with the feeding mechanism. The device can be hung to the ceiling of a coop or placed over a yard, and is designed to do away with much of the care required from attendants. It is claimed that it can be filled and set for work in a few minutes.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.
