Home Pointers

With skill, left-overs may be made as pleasing as the original dish. Too often they are put away in the ice-box until they spoil and are then thrown out.

Almost any left-overs, except desserts, may be used in soups—vegetables, undesirable gristly meat, water in which vegetables or meats have been cooked, cereals, and even the well-washed parings of vegetables may be added for flavor and for their mineral salts.

Left-over vegetables make delicious salads, or may be mixed with each other to serve again. Peas and carrots make a good combination.

Soft-boiled eggs, left from breakfast, may be cooked hard and used for creaming or garnishing, or they may be chopped fine and added to vegetables or chopped meat.

Left-over cereals may be fried, made into griddle cakes, added to muffins, put into soups or gravies and mixed with meat or vegetables for pie, cralloped dishes, stews or souffles. They may also be sweetened, mixed with fruit and spice, and appear as puddings.

Save dry unbuttered bread, put through a food chopper and put away in covered jars. Same may be used as breadcrumbs for rolling croquettes or coverings scalloped and casserole dishes. Unless bread has been thoroughly dried in the oven it should not be kept in a closed jar or tin. Store in an open bowl or paper bag in a cupboard away from dust. If stored while it still contains moisture, it will acquire a stale, musty taste.

BROCCOLI SALAD

Salad dressing for broccoli salad: 2 eggs well beaten, 2 tablespoons flour, not heating, 1 heaping tablespoon of sugar, 1 teaspoon mustard, a pinch of salt, vinegar enough to rub to a smooth paste. Mix with the egg, add a good sized piece of butter, and set in a pan of hot water on the stove. Stir constantly until thick. When cold, add vinegar

Behold The Tailored Bathing Suit

In "Lilies of the Field" there is a Hint of How the Bathing Girl Will Look next Summer.

This spring it seems as if the evolution of every smart young woman is to look as near like a boy as possible. They are wearing tailored suits of mannish materials and cut, pique vests, bright ties, gay silk handkerchiefs and vivid scarfs, all of which look like the results of a raid on their brother's Christmas presents.

This would seem like carrying the simple tailored vogue as far as necessary, but evidently those who are responsible for styles believe that there is no limit to the scope of a good idea. We are to see tailored women, not only on Fifth Avenue, but at the beaches as well. Instead of the coy maiden in a burruffed suit of magenta and pale blue brocade, doing her bathing in the sun rather than the sea, the 1924 bathing girl is an athletic model who will swim in a smart

Printed Materials Have Wide Appeal In Summer Courts

By HEDDA HOYT, Fashion Editor of the United Press. NEW YORK, April 25.—(United Press.)—Mary bought a little gown With little figures on it; She said: "This is the only way To get in print, doggone it!"

Printed materials are pushing their way through the plain satins, taffetas, crepes and cottons as spring approaches. Women have grown to include the printed frock as indispensable in the wardrobe. Surely, a flowered print or Paisley makes a gown that is suitable for many occasions. The summer traveler finds it the most successful material for knock-about wear, as it is just as suitable for afternoon wear as for morning wear.

This season brings out a great variety of patterned materials, ranging from huge flowered effects to tiny Chinese figures. Hand-dyed print resembling batik, is also listed among the newest of gown materials. Black and white promises to be the favorite of spring's colorings, although brilliant backgrounds with white figures or flowers are equally new. White leaves on colored backgrounds are particularly charming.

In the cotton goods cretonnes and figured crepes proved so successful with the Palm Beach fashionables that they will undoubtedly carry on into the summer months up north, as simplicity is the keynote of the spring and summer silhouette, the printed frock takes away the too and cream until it is thick as very thick cream. Use on broccoli.

PINEAPPLE PIE

Beat 2 egg yolks until light, add 1 cup sugar, and continue beating. Add 1 1/4 cup of canned pineapple, grating of a lemon rind, one tablespoon of melted butter, and 2 well beaten egg whites. Bake with crust.

MRS. IDA HIGGENBOTHAM

Brilliant Satirist and Short Story Writer Says Cooking Is No Joke

VIOLA BROTHERS SHORE whose articles in the Saturday Evening Post and other publications have gained her many admirers, brews her plots to pots and pans. It is said that her most stirring plots were produced during the invigorating motions at the stove. She is most famous for her Jelly Roll, which her grand-mother taught her to cook. Here is the recipe: Beat eggs and sugar together twenty minutes, remove beater, sift in flour, salt, and baking powder, add milk, extract, and melted grease. Grease large flat tin with grease, dust over with flour, pour

- in mixture and spread out evenly.
- Bake twelve minutes in moderately hot oven.
- Turn out on sugared paper, spread quickly with jelly or preserve and roll up at once.
- The cake will crack if spreading and rolling are not quickly done.
- Sliced jelly roll is delicious with custard. Sufficient for one jelly roll.
- 4 eggs
- 1 cupful sugar
- 1/2 cupful molasses
- 1/2 cupful milk
- 1/2 cupful flour
- 1/2 cupful baking powder
- 1/2 cupful salt
- 1/2 cupful extract
- 1/2 cupful melted butter
- 1/2 cupful milk
- Jelly or preserve
