COOLIDGE VETOES VETS' BONUS BILL

DECLARES UNITED STATES OWES NO BONUS TO THE ABLE BODIED VETERANS OF THE GREAT WAR

Follows Closely Action of His Opposition to the Bursum Bill and Was Not Regarded as a Surprise to Those Close in Touch With the Situation.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
WASHINGTON, May 15.—The soldier bonus bill was vetoed today by President Coolidge. On the heels of his approval of the Bursum pension bill because he felt it would be an undue strain on the treasury, the president sent to the capital for the same reason the compensation measure, which would give free life insurance policies to the old war veterans.

Advocates of the bill immediately announced that an attempt would be made to pass it over the veto. In its final passage it received more than necessary two thirds vote in both the house and senate. The veto message, however, on an estimate of probable expense, provided by the budget bureau, was addressed to the house in the bill originated and where the first test of strength must come. The effort to over-ride the president's disapproval.

The president in his veto message stated that the payment of the bonus would commit the nation to an average annual expenditure of $114,000,000 for the next 20 years. At the end of the 20 year period, he said, the government would be faced with the necessity of selling $2,500,000,000 in a major financial undertaking which he argued might jeopardize the national security.

The president estimated that the measure would require an appropriation of $146,000,000 for the next fiscal year in insurance and cash payments with an additional administrative cost of $8,500,000.

The 1926 appropriation he estimated at $155,000,000. To allow the measure to become law, he said, would "wipe out at once almost all the progressive five hard years have accomplished in reducing the national debt."

DELEGATE SUICIDES
(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 15.—Roger T. Raban, a lay delegate to the general Methodist conference from the west China conference, committed suicide in his room in a hotel last night and his body was found today. He had taken poison. Mr. Raban was 28 years old and a teacher in the school at Chungking, West China. A letter addressed to the general conference was found in his room in which he explained the reasons for his act. He leaves a wife and two children. His health was given as the reason for his act.

R. S. Hutton of Garden Valley spent the morning in this city transacting business matters.

QUEEN'S HOLDING VOTES
Candidates for carnival queen are playing politics and are hiding their strength for the final count on Saturday. A check made this morning revealed the fact that all of the ballot boxes were empty and that no change was made after the count on Monday evening. This showing proves that each of the candidates are holding back votes, as it is known that they all have been working hard and have been selling hats, dance tickets, and tickets on the Ford car, so that they should be far advanced over their present position. However, it is quite apparent that each is endeavoring to hide her real strength and the outcome will only be known when the final vote is counted on Saturday.

Publican Leader Longworth tried to get an agreement to delay the roll call until next week. Objecting to the proposal of Mr. Longworth, Representative Rankin, Democrat, Mississippi, declared the veto of the president "an insult to the veterans of the war."

PORTLAND WILL SEND CARAVAN TO FESTIVAL

"The Progressive Business Men's Club of Portland appointed a strong committee to get up a caravan to attend the Roseburg Strawberry Carnival in Roseburg Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week," read a telegram late this afternoon from Bill Holbein, secretary of the chamber of commerce and George Neuner, Chief Umpqua of the Umpqua Chiefs. Both of these gentlemen journeyed to Portland last night to attend the club banquet and took with them a large number of Roseburg roses and over 70 boxes of choice Umpqua valley strawberries for the Portland men. Chief Umpqua Neuner was to address the Portland business men concerning the Strawberry Carnival and undoubtedly the two boosters presented the proposition in such strong terms that they secured immediate action. Plans were started here at once to care for the Portland caravan and with the outside visitors in Roseburg for the festival a grand and glorious time is expected.

HARDING TRIED TO ASCERTAIN FACTS

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Reported efforts by the late President Harding to ascertain independently the facts about the prohibition enforcement were further described before the senate Daugherty committee today by H. L. Searle, former war and justice department investigator.

In September, 1922, he said, Gaston B. Means, who like him had recently left the justice department, employed him at $1,000 a month. "Mr. Means had credentials from the prohibition unit and the alien property custodian," Searle said. "He told me the money came from President Harding. It suddenly stopped in January 1923 after I had received a total of $5,000. "We made several investigations in New York into liquor traffic."

IMMIGRATION MEET IS HELD IN ROME

Before adopting the conference report the house rejected by a vote of 246 to 23 a motion by Representative Sabath, Democrat, Illinois, to re-commit the bill to conference for a number of amendments. He expressed no objection, however, to the Japanese exclusion provision of the report.

QUEEN'S BALL TO BE REGAL AFFAIR

Settings and Pageantry Unequaled in Affairs of This Kind Before, Are Being Worked Out.
When the dancing public attends the Queen's ball, always one of the outstanding events of the Strawberry Carnival, on Thursday evening, May 22, they will be assured of something absolutely unique and different than anything of that kind at any carnival before. A setting of regal splendor, befitting the fair queen and her court, of a prosperous and peaceful country, a court retinue in richly elaborate costumes and entertainment to suit the most exacting ruler, all the details that will make the Queen's ball one long to be remembered are being worked out. The ball will open officially at 9 o'clock, and everyone attending is urged to be present at that time in order to witness the entrance of the queen and her court in a rare bit of pageantry stolen from the time when kings and queens were more than mere names, and court balls were the outstanding social events of the monarchial reign. The ball will not be formal, although the queen and her party will wear their court gowns. Patrons and patronesses for the event will be announced later.

VOTERS URGED TO GO TO THE POLLS

Tomorrow is election day, and the voters of the county will have an opportunity to go to the polls to express themselves on nominations for the various offices, national, state, and county. This is a duty which no one should neglect, regardless of the pressure of other matters. During the past few years, American people have apparently given much less thought to political affairs than in previous years. As a result interest in governmental matters is not as keen as in former periods of the nation's history. Many people think that a primary election is not of sufficient importance to them to lose a short amount of time from their own pleasures or business, but it is a duty which should not be passed by lightly or made light of. The records show that many voters have not even taken the trouble to register. These persons may vote on Blank A statements which may be procured at the polls. Let us all do our public duty, and carefully select the candidates who in our opinion are best suited for the offices to be filled.

JAP EXCLUSION BILL IS FAVORED

House Adopts Conference Report on Measure Over Coolidge's Opposition.
SENATE IS FAVORABLE
Japanese Moving Rapidly to Pacific Ports With View to Hasty Marriage to Escape Exclusion.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
WASHINGTON, May 15.—Overriding the opposition of President Coolidge the house today adopted the conference report on the immigration bill which would make July first this year the effective date of Japanese exclusion.

The senate now will be called upon to act after which the bill will go to President Coolidge for signature. His course has not been learned.

In adopting the report the house developed an overwhelming majority against delay in putting into effect quickly the Japanese provision, which the administration had sought to delay in order that diplomatic negotiations might be entered into in an effort to settle the question.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The new conference report on the immigration bill, containing the provision for Japanese exclusion after July 1, next, was brought up in the house today by Chairman Johnson of the immigration committee. It quickly approval was regarded as certain.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Quick, almost perfunctory acceptance in both chambers was forecast for the conference report on the immigration bill today prior to its final consideration by the house, after which the senate will be called upon to act.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Reports of the unusual movement of Japanese from Pacific ports with a view to hasty marriage and return since approval last month by the house of the new exclusion policy, have resulted in many queries as to the eligibility of non-immigrants to admission after temporary absence.

COOLIDGE EXPECTED TO VETO THE BONUS

WASHINGTON, May 15.—Veto by President Coolidge of the soldier bonus bill was regarded today as practically a foregone conclusion.

The president began preparation of message to the house on the measure yesterday with reports on its provisions before him from director Lord of the budget and from the treasury department and veterans' bureau. No announcement of the executive's intention was made, but his action in beginning work on the message and knowledge of his opposition to any drain on the treasury as expressed in his recent veto of the Bursum pension bill were regarded as clear indications that he had decided not to sign the bonus measure, which Director Lord is understood to have estimated would cost $152,000,000, the first year.

ed under the provision of the exclusion clause. It follows that a Japanese desiring to re-enter the United States after a temporary sojourn in his native land or elsewhere, is admissible if he was lawfully admitted when he first entered this country and if his visit or sojourn abroad has "been temporary" within the meaning of the law. The bureau of immigration and the department of labor have construed the word "temporary" as meaning a period of time of six months or less.

TOKIO, May 15.—Speaking at a gathering of Japanese opposition leaders and prominent American residents, including newspaper correspondents, Cyrus E. Woods, the American ambassador said: "The immigration bill is not what you want and not what I want. I know that your government has done all that it properly could to prevent this situation; you know that President Coolidge and Secretary of State Hughes have done on our side to prevent the situation."
