ROSEBURG, OREGON, FRIDAY, MAY 16, 1924.

THE SPIRIT OF REVOLT.

In spite of all the healthful ambition felt by the youth of today, in spite of all the money seeking and materialistic aims, there are many idealistic youths who are calling for the removal of the wrongs that vex the world.
'We went to war to save the world for democracy,' said one of these young fellows the other day.

SPRING BOOKS LATEST.

All things come in seasons, even books. The sun regulates not only the price of eggs by encouraging an abundance of them in the spring; it decides in a most arbitrary fashion that even human beings shall change their interests with the changing seasons.

If these things keeps on, a common salutation when two women meet will be: "Howdodo, have you killed your husband yet?"
Goat glands as a cure for senility seem to have been abandoned, probably because there is too much "butting in" now.

DUMPELL DORA THINKS
Boswell Springs is an attachment for a fillyver.
Mister Amos Buker who is mayor of Milo, Oregon, where the towing of the cows is louder than the bull, sends in the following free verse which we pass on to you free of charge.

Amos appends the following n. b. to the postal: "Bert—if this entitles me to a vote in the carnival queen contest, register one for your little protegee."

Yes, Amos, your epistle wins you a handful of votes. And it now stands:
Dumbell Dora124

Dumbell Dora was thrown in the hosowg today for violatin' the corrupt practices act. She sold a hat to Dex Rice on election day and Chief Ketch, although in sympathy with her candidacy was forced to employ the weak arm of the law and take little Dora into custody.

Canyonville is still on the map. Altho' "Two Gun" Hopkins handed in his star some time ago, the canyon village is still in the limelight and has christened their new deputy "Squirt gun" Fullerton.

The Ump. Chis rec'd their blankets today which was very timely as Lather Barnes has been complainin' of the cold nights.

The strawberry carnival holds forth three days next week and on the seventh day we'll all rest.

All of the candidates were standin' around today with a wise look on their mugs.

There will be no rest for the News-Review gang tonight when the election returns start and hot dawg but it's thrillin'.

Just as Jack Crafton had affixed his golf trophy belt buckle along comes Charlie Lockwood and forces him back to suspenders.

Mister Goo returned from the metrop today wearin' a straw derby which is different than most of 'em in the village and which he can't hang on a hook without fear of havin' it stolen.

The Salt Creek schooner was docked down by the Deer Creek livery barn today and candidates desirin' passage on the boat should make early reservations.

Pres. Coolidge vetoed the soldier bonus yesterday which cheated ye ed. out of a refrigerator for the back porch this summer.

ROSEBURG WINS TENNIS MATCH

In a return match with the Myrtle Creek high school team the Roseburg high school tennis team defeated the former players in both double and single sets. Louis Miles, captain of the local team, won the single match easily and played with Robert Gile in the double match. Both contestants were fast and exceptionally well-played. The visitors put up a good game in both sets and gave the Roseburg players a hot race.

STUDENT BODY ELECTS OFFICERS

Officers for Next Year's Council Chosen in Election Yesterday To Be Installed Soon.
Persuading politics eliminated, in the high school at least, with the counting of the votes in the election held by the student body association, which selected its officers for next year. The election was a heated affair with all candidates holding a heavy backing and with some of the officers closely contested. A complete change of officers was made, and the new staff is to be installed soon for next year's work.

Paul Geddes won the race for president of the organization, with Kenneth Curt as his closest opponent. Clair Taylor and Ray Jost were the other candidates for the office. The position of secretary went to Elva Wesscott. Other nominees for this office were Marion Ness, Clar A. Henschler, Bertha Kohlman and Neta Wells. Edwina Judd was elected to the responsible position of treasurer, defeating Thelma Omsstead, Lotus Ketch, Leola Rafalaugh, Harold Lewis and Bernard Young. The place of junior vice-president was taken by Norman Ross, the other candidates being Robert Gile, Len Ferguson, and Edward Cook. William Knight won the office of sophomore vice-president. Eugene Hughes, Orville McCulloch, Roy Petty, Truman Runyan and Roy Houser composed the other candidates for this office. Elizabeth Abrahamson was elected freshman vice-president with Kenneth Winston, Melvin Thurston and Fred Chapman as her opponents. The post of sergeant
