LOVE-OR FAME?

by VIOLET DARE

Author of "The Half-Time Wife"

I—A LINK WITH THE FUTURE

"I'd give anything in the world if I could get into the movies!" Madge told me as we left the Star Theater and turned toward home. "It must be such heaps of fun—the pleasantest way in the world to earn a lot of money—and you'd know such interesting people and travel around to all sorts of places. Oh, I wish I could leave this old town and try to get in at least!"

VIOLET DARE

"I didn't say anything about it just then, even though Madge was my chum, but I'd been thinking that some thing for months. I'd always wanted to get into pictures ever since the days when I had my first movie crush—on Mae Marsh. And since I'd graduated from high school the year before I'd thought more about it than ever.

You see, there really wasn't much of anything for a girl to do in our town. You could go back to high school and take what they called the college preparatory course, which included stenography and bookkeeping. I took it, but I skipped those two studies because I certainly never wanted to settle down and be a stenographer or bookkeeper. One of the girls I knew went into the library as an assistant, but that seemed sort of drab to me, too. And one of the girls went East to boarding school. If her sister was going to get married the winter after I graduated from high school, and there were lots of parties being given and I thought I'd rather stay home. I had a pretty good time there, but I never meant for a minute to settle down; I always thought that when I found out just what career I was fitted for—and I knew it would be a pretty big one—I'd go west and be something. And I'd decided, just a few days before, that day when Madge and I walked home from the movies and she confessed her longing to go into pictures, that I'd be a movie star.

We'd seen Norma Talmadge that day in "Smilin' Through" for the second time; it had played our town earlier in the season and been shown again by request. I was crazy about it, but Madge didn't care for it so much.

"I'd like to play emotional parts, but I'd like to wear awfully good-looking clothes, too," she said. "Lillian Gish never dresses up tough. I wouldn't want to be like that."

Privately, I decided that I'd give my eyes right out of my head to play parts like that, though I do think I'd like wearing gowns like Norma Talmadge's better than just having scrubby things. I thought it all over once more after I'd left Madge, and imagined what the life of a great star would be. I could just see her waking late in the morning and having breakfast on a chaise longue before a wonderful open fire, with flowers everywhere and great heaps of mail from admirers all over the world and interesting men telephoning to make engagements for luncheon and dinner and the evening. I knew the star would probably have to work during the day, but then think of coming home and being dressed for a gorgeous dinner party and going from it to the first night of a wonderful play, with the people everywhere recognizing you and pointing you out as a great and talented star! It seemed so vivid to me that I couldn't help thinking maybe I was meant for that sort of thing. And I went up our front steps imagining myself entering one of the famous New York hotels for supper after the theater with Richard Dix and Reginald Denny with me and a gay crowd waiting.

For that letter from Persis linked me with the world I wanted to enter.

My sister's voice woke me from that pleasant dream; she lives right next door since she's married, so she's always at our house.

"You have a letter from Persis Grant," she said, tossing it to me. I simply clutched that letter and ran for my own room, even though dinner was all on the table and the family had been waiting for me. For that letter from Persis linked me with the world I wanted to enter—at least, it sort of did.

PORTLAND MAN HELD FOR KILLING WORKER

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
PORTLAND, May 21.—Paul Hartman, 26, is being held by the authorities under $2500 bail on charges of manslaughter growing out of the death of Peter Green, an employe of the Portland Electric Power company, who was struck yesterday by a car alleged to have been driven by Hartman at a high rate of speed.

Green and Walter Hartsch, fellow worker, were working on the pavement at a street intersection, according to the police, when the car struck them without warning, fatally injuring Green and bruising Hartsch.

Hartman was examined following the accident, police said, and was said to have been intoxicated.

Print This About JOINT-EASE Says Druggist

"Joint-Ease is selling like hot cakes in my store because it is a wonderful and speedy remedy for all joint troubles.

"But why not impress on tens of thousands of suffering people some of the things that dozens of my customers tell me almost daily.

"Some say that it knocks out lumbago overnight—Others assert that for chest colds and sore throat it has no equal, while many insist that there is nothing they ever tried that is so efficient for neuralgia, neuritis and even head colds and nasal catarrh."

Answering the above letter, we, the makers of Joint-Ease, know that what this thriving New Jersey druggist says is true, but we still maintain that Joint-Ease is prepared for stiff, inflamed, painful, swollen joints, whether in ankle, knee, hip, elbow, shoulder, finger or spine.

You'll like to use stainless Joint-Ease, for with just one minute's rubbing, it soaks in through the flesh direct to the ailing ligaments and ligaments—that's why it succeeds—For when Joint-Ease gets in joint agony gets out—quick—and without any waste of time all swelling and congestion disappears. A tube for 69 cents. At all druggists.

PLEA FOR CLOSER COOPERATION MADE

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
KANSAS CITY, May 21.—A plea for closer cooperation between bankers, business men and farmers and for greater effort on the part of bankers to stabilize and sustain agriculture was made before the convention of the Missouri, Kansas, Bankers' Association here today by E. T. Meredith of Des Moines, former secretary of agriculture.

Bankers and business men. Mr. Meredith said, should meet the farmer on a business basis, take him into their councils and jointly work out solutions to problems that affect the country's basic industry.

"It is true that the farmer should practice diversified farming and he is rapidly learning his lesson," Mr. Meredith said.

TAKES HOLD AND HELPS
Colds that "hang on" should be gotten rid of, for no one can stand the strain of racking cough, disturbed sleep and irritation of throat and lungs. Marie Heisler, Freeport, Ill., writes: "I had more or less of a cough for years and I have taken quite a number of medicines. None of them takes hold and helps like Foley's Honey and Tar." This old, reliable cough syrup promptly helps coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. Contains no opiates. Children like it.

SENATE COMMITTEE TALKS WORLD COURT

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The senate foreign relations committee was called today to consider for the first time at this session of congress action on the proposals for American membership in the world court.

The meeting was called at the request of Senator Johnson of Virginia and was preceded by a lengthy White House conference last night at which President Coolidge reiterated to republican members his stand for conditional membership in the permanent court of international justice set up by the league of nations as recommended more than a year by President Harding. The three world court plans pending before the committee and a compromise proposal being worked out by Senators Pepper, republican Pennsylvania, were considered at the White House conference but no decision was reached in favor of any specific plan.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—An effort to obtain the committee's immediate endorsement for the proposal of President Harding and Coolidge for membership in the present court with reservations, resulted in failure.

None of those present would venture more than a "hope" of early action on any of the plans now pending.

CAPTAIN LANG IS KILLED IN CRASH

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
MELBOURNE, Australia, May 21.—Captain Andrew Lang, holder of the world's airplane altitude record was killed this morning when an automobile which he was driving crashed into a fence in a dense fog. Lang was driving the automobile in a twenty hour test. He was a nephew of Andrew Lang, the English author.

MEDFORD MAN GETS ROWING CUP AWARD

SEATTLE, May 21.—Fred W. Spuhn, of Medford, Oregon, three year varsity crew man, was awarded the Pigot cup at a banquet here last night in honor of the Husky Rowing Crews. This trophy is given to the Washington oarsman who, in the opinion of the entire squad, has been the most inspirational to purple and gold rowing during the year. Spuhn holds position number 7 in the shell.

VOLCANO EMITS BIG AMOUNT OF STEAM

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
HONOLULU, May 21.—Unusually heavy steam clouds were emitted from Kilauea volcano, now undergoing a period of great activity, throughout today. There were explosions within the crater at 2:48 and 4:40 o'clock this afternoon. Four heavy earthquake shocks were felt at Naalehu station, Mrs. W. J. Stephens, wife of a sugar company overseer, reported over the telephone to Hill.

OLE HANSON CHARGED WITH STEALING 'HOSS'

LOS ANGELES, May 21.—Ole Hanson, war time mayor of Seattle, and now a Los Angeles real estate subdivider, will have an opportunity to prove that he is not a horse thief when his case comes up in a Pasadena justice court tomorrow. Hanson last night joked about the charge filed against him by Clarence C. Basten. Hanson admitted taking the horse but explained that it was one which had been stolen from him 18 months ago and had no doubt been purchased in good faith by Basten.

Basten, however, says the affair is not a joke; that Hanson has not proved his ownership of the animal, and that swearing out a horse theft complaint was the logical course to take when Hanson invaded his pasture and walked off with the horse. Meanwhile, Hanson has the horse and is at liberty under $1,000 bail.

WHEELER CASE IS DECLARED FRAMEUP

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
WASHINGTON, May 21.—The senate Daugherty committee was told today that representatives of the department of justice not only had sought to "frame" Senator Wheeler, its prosecutor, but had "spied on its members and its witnesses and had spirited away the famous diaries of Gaston B. Means," working with it as an investigator.

One of the witnesses was W. O. Duckstein, who said he knew about the whole proceeding because his wife is a secret agent of the department. It was she, he said, who identified in his presence the records of Means after they had been secured by a ruse.
