THE POWER OF CATCHWORDS.

The ability of people to impress themselves and their ideas on the world depends to some extent on their gift for making magnetic catchwords, which express in a word or a phrase some idea that wins popular favor quickly. Theodore Roosevelt was one of the greatest producers of catchwords that this country has ever known. His famous phrase "the strenuous life" seemed to stir people to achievement. It woke up people who previously had been idling away their time, and it induced them to strive for excellence. Its effect on his generation was more extensive than people realize. Woodrow Wilson was another manufacturer of catchwords. Some of them shook the whole world. His "self-determination" was a famous phrase that at first thought seemed of universal application. But it has a tendency to the upsetting of normal discipline. He stirred the ideal of self-determination in many races not yet fitted for it. Yet in his phrase of "making the world safe for democracy", he uttered a catchword that went a long way toward winning the war. It caught the popular imagination. It is a wonderful thing to have the gift of packing a thought into one little phrase. The carefully reasoned address may fail to exercise great influence, because the orator did not have the gift of concentrating his thought. Yet some more superficial speaker may be able to boil down that thought into some striking phrase that people will carry away and remember, and it will influence their conduct for years. It is customary for politicians to speak somewhat slightly of "literary fellows." Yet the two men who have influenced American life most profoundly for the past generation, Roosevelt and Wilson, were notable for literary gifts. In the quiet of their studies they acquired that power of expressing terse thought that lodges ideas deep in the minds of the people.

LOS ANGELES BOY DRATORICAL WINNER

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
WASHINGTON, June 7.—The secondary school oratorical championship of the United States rests today upon the youthful brow of Don Tyler of Los Angeles.

Speaking in the final contest of a nation-wide competition sponsored by Irwin newspapers, with President Coolidge in the chair, he convinced Secretary Hughes and Justice Vandevanter, Stanford, Sutherland and Butler of the supreme court, sitting as judges, that his gift was the highest of the seven best surviving local and sectional elimination trials.

Miss Ruth Newburn of Washington, D. C., and John M. Dallam, II, of Philadelphia, were awarded second and third honors, respectively, for their talents. All of the contestants spoke on the constitution, which formed also the topic of the opening address by President Coolidge. The prizes—$3,500 to Tyler; $1,000 to Miss Newburn and $500 to Dallam—were presented by Robert Lee Saner, of Dallas, Texas, president of the American bar association.

PIONEER BRIDGE DEDICATION JUNE 29

Plans are rapidly going forward for the dedication of the Pioneer bridge near Canyonville on Sunday June 29. An effort is being made to interest all of the pioneer residents of the state in this event and a big attendance is expected. The dedication is being arranged and planned by the daughters of the American Revolution. The bridge stands on the site of the old California-Oregon trail and many of the old residents of the state came in over that trail, so that it is very fitting that they should be honored in the dedication of the structure. The picnic and program will be held in the grove about three miles south of Canyonville, half way between Canyonville and the bridge.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL MONDAY

The Daily Vacation Bible School that has been so successful at the Baptist church for the past two years will be resumed next Monday. The school will be open to all children of six years old or above. Children of other Sunday schools or of no school are equally welcome. A splendid course of instruction is prepared with efficient teachers in charge. Several of these are public school teachers. The school will run for three weeks on every school day from nine to eleven thirty in the morning. The church is always cool in the mornings. The children are not overwork-

PRUNE PICKIN'S

BY BERT G. BATES

GOOD EVENING FOLKS—
It may rain tomorrow—
And it may not—
Therefore, we advise
Taking your regular
Saturday night
Bath tonight.

"Pussyfoot" Johnson put over a good talk last night, but most of the fellows who need his advice were conspicuous by their absence.

But we did notice a few of the boys present who have not forgotten their favorite brand.

"Pussyfoot" said world-wide prohibition is coming—and we believe he said a mouthful of facts.

When a lady drops her eyes does she break them?
No, but she may break a heart.

We were at a moving picture show the other night.
And whilst the picture
Didn't particularly interest us
There was a little monkey
That had nothing to do with the plot
or the purpose

Of the play;
But every time
The monkey appeared on the screen
People laughed.

And a young lady
Who sat behind us
Would remark:
"Ain't it too cute?"

About twenty times
The young lady said:
"Ain't it too cute?"

And if we were the young man
Who was with the young lady
We would buy her a monkey
If it took our last nickel,
And make a hit.

Jack Dempsey indignantly denies that he is a prize fighter. He says that he wants it understood that he is a boxer. Jack can't be too careful, for people might get the impression that he is a rough, uncouth person, instead of a drawing room favorite.

Nothing gets our nannie much quicker than to hear a bald-headed old man, who has so little hair that it's combed when he wakes up, howl against the girls and women for trying to get a little more comfort and save a little time by bobbing theirs.

"Man is like a tack—useful if he has a good head on him and is pointed in the right direction, but even though he is driven, he can only go as far as his head will let him."

NOTHING DOING
"I am looking for something to do," began the beggar.

"Well, you can't do me," growled the grouch as he hurried on.

More people die of overeating than overwork.

"Some men are willing to try any ism but rheumatism."

Got drapers and other parts for your binder now. McCormick, Deering, Champion and Milwaukee parts at Wharton Bros.

CREW IS REDECKING THE WINSTON BRIDGE

A maintenance crew of the Oregon State Highway Commission is now busy in repairing and redecking the Winston bridge south of Roseburg on the Pacific highway. The work is of such nature that it is necessary to close the highway at various times during the day. H. H. Flaunagan, superintendent in charge of the work, advises motorists that it will become essential to close the highway from twenty to forty minutes between the hours of 8 to 12 and 1 to 5. Night motorists are warned not to exceed 15 miles per hour after passing the danger signal.

This is a Studebaker year.

NOTICE OF BIDS FOR COUNTY AUDIT

POSTAL SALARY BILL IS VETOED

Coolidge Says "Government Extravagance Must Stop" in Message to Senate.

FUNDS NOT AVAILABLE

President Objects to Bill Because It Does Not Provide for Raising Money to Care for Increases.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
WASHINGTON, June 7.—The postal salary increase bill was vetoed by President Coolidge today with the declaration that "government extravagance must stop."

It was returned to the senate with a message objecting to the legislation because it made no provision for raising the approximately $68,000,000 from the postal revenues.

Approval was given by the president to the provision added to the bill to regulate campaign expenditures and the statement was made that he would approve that section if it stood alone.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Veto of the postal salary increase bill was decided upon today by President Coolidge. The president will return the measure to the senate in which it originated before final adjournment today with a message that it imposes an unwarranted drought on the treasury.

TO OBSERVE CHILDREN'S DAY
As a part of the Children's Day program at the First M. E. church tomorrow morning, there will be a baptismal service for children. All parents desiring their little ones christened will please be present.

The evening sermon theme will be "The Message to the Ages." This will be the pastor's first sermon on his return from the general conference of the M. E. church recently held in Springfield, Mass.

Put a hay carrier in your barn. It will save time and labor in handling hay. Myers hay carriers and track at Wharton Bros.

Attractive in Appearance

Pleasing in texture and soft grey tone give Stone-Tile hollow concrete brick building distinctive individuality. The attractive mortar markings possible with the small sized units, add to the beauty of Stone-Tile construction. Stucco finish is particularly suitable for Stone-Tile buildings and forms an indestructible surface that will not crack or peel.

Economical and enduring Stone-Tile will save you money when you build.

Ask your contractor for Stone-Tile estimates.
