THEATRES

ANTLERS THEATRE

An excellent Paramount picturization of Zane Grey's new novel, "The Call of the Canyon," which was shown for the first time with unusually gratifying results at the Antlers Theatre last night, is a story of a hero of the World War who finds health, happiness and love in the rugged, half civilized cattle ranges of Arizona.

The period depicted in the picture is that following the armistice, after the overseas army had arrived home and the wounded were being transported from France at irregular intervals. Richard Dix, Lois Wilson, and Marjorie Daw are featured in the principal roles.

Supporting the featured players in "The Call of the Canyon" is a cast of stellar prominence. In the principal roles are Noah Berry, Ricardo Cortez, Fred Huntley and Lillian Leighton. Others include Helen Dunbar, Leonard Clapham, Edward Clayton, Dorothy Seestrom, Laura Aubson, Charles Richards, Danny Hoy, Arthur Rankin and Mervin Le Roy. Victor Fleming directed the production which was adapted by Doris Schroeder and Ed-ward Bingham. James Howe was the photographer.

LIBERTY THEATRE

"The Yankee Consul," Douglas MacLean's latest comedy picture now at the Liberty Theatre, is the funniest picture in which this youthful star has ever appeared.

With each scene more tensely comic than the one preceding it, the plot builds up to the final climax. It is the story of a young man who is transported, against his will, to a mysterious castle in south America where circumstances force him to impersonate the American consul. He is confronted with weighty international problems, including the necessity of rescuing a beautiful girl from the hands of conspirators.

"The Yankee Consul" is an adaptation of the famous musical comedy success of twenty years ago, which established Raymond Hitchcock as a stage star.

In the leading feminine role is Pat-ty Ruth Miller, who proves a young woman of unusual ability and striking beauty. James W. Horne directed the picture.

It is even funnier than "Going Up" Douglas MacLean's first independent picture. At the Liberty Theatre today and tomorrow.

RANCHER AT 84 LIKE YOUNG MAN

STRENGTH OF YOUNGER YEARS RESTORED BY KOREX COMPOUND.

"I felt myself growing old so fast," says J. L. Rowell, 84 year old rancher of Kaw City, Oklahoma, "that I had no appetite and hardly felt like living. After taking korex compound I am as young and vigorous as at 30 and feel better all the time. I can now walk with a firm, elastic step and can get out and do a man's work with any of them."

The effect of using korex compound is healthful, natural and lasting, say many who have used it. Thousands have tested it the world over for premature old age, weakness after the flu, poor circulation, lack of appetite and aching limbs.

Those feeling the need of such an invigorator will be interested in learning that the American distributors of korex compound have arranged for korex compound to be sold in Roseburg, Oregon, at Lloyd Crocker's Pioneer Drug Store, 211 North Jackson street. Just ask for korex.
