ROSEBURG, OREGON, FRIDAY, JUNE 20, 1924.

THE BOY AND HIS DAD

The following from the Salvation Army War Cry is good stuff for boy and dad. Read it.

This is the season of the year when the adolescent boy is more obstreperous than at any other time of the entire twelve months. He doesn't come home from school, he plays hookey, he gets his feet wet in spite of all threats of punishment and sickness, he neglects his chores, he wanders about with an aimless, dreamy indolence that takes stock of naught more important than the flash of a bluebird's wing or the soft fuzz of a pussywillow. But be patient with the lad! if ever in his life he needs you, dad and mother—and more especially dad, because he seldom has dad—he needs you now.

There are two springs plaguing him: The spring time of the season cycle, when everything is undergoing change and experiencing thrills of new ecstasy, and the spring time of life, with all its visions and yearnings and mystery. The boy of 12, 13 or 14, who is just budding into manhood, does not need punishment for his waywardness. He needs love and sympathy—Mostly sympathy.

Get close to him, dad. Spend your evenings with him. Interest yourself in the things that interest him. Win his confidence and share his plans and dreams. Skillfully help him to shape his ideals. When he was born you felt proud to sacrifice your pleasures to care for him. Don't spoil it all now. Money won't take your place; teachers, scoutmasters, ministers, officers, can't do for your boy all that you can do.

He's worth the trouble. Invest an hour or two a day, and a lot of thought and care in him now and he'll repay you a hundred times when his hair is edged with gray and your own is snowy white.

According to today's dispatches Bill McAdoo, much mentioned candidate for president on the democratic ticket, is "sitting pretty" on the proper mixture to make a good cake. Mr. McAdoo's favorite brand of cake is known as "Lady Baltimore," and in order to give the pastry the proper "swing" it takes a pint of good, old sherry wine. Today the distinguished gentleman was presented with one of these lovely and appetizing pieces of pastry, Major Cohen furnishing the liquid refreshments, and now Mr. McAdoo's "friends" have hooked him up with a "wet" culinary department.

We are wondering if the state "model farm" east of the city —conducted in competition with local farmers—is one of Governor Pierce's new wrinkles to cut taxes in two. It seems to be working along the lines of the bunk peddled during the last campaign which inveigled a lot of fellows into supporting the impossible. This is a fine way to help the farmer—into the indigent home.

Some people seem to think that the American dollar is not so much use in getting ahead as the American holler.

o

Some people think that trade is a little flat, but if so all it needs is to color it up a little with printer's ink.

PEDIGREE UNNECESSARY

A prominent man was asked for information regarding a youth whom a firm was considering taking into their office. He wrote: "I know Mr. —— to be an excellent and well-bred young man. He's a grandson of General ——, a cousin of Lord S——, and has had an excellent bringing-up in every way."

The following reply was received from the firm inquiring: "Dear Mr. ——. Thank you very much for your letter in regard to Mr. ——. We would say, however, that we do not want the young man for breeding purposes, but for clerical work."

PIONEERS VISIT OLD HOMESTEADS

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

SALEM, June 20.—Dr. James H. McBride of Pasadena, California, his brother, Chief Justice T. A. McBride of the Oregon supreme court, and Justice George H. Burnett of the supreme court will today visit the old McBride and Burnett homesteads in Yamhill county, where all three were born more than seventy years ago. The two farms join each other. Dr. McBride, who is two years younger than Judge McBride, is a retired physician. While Superintendent of the insane hospitatl at Wautosa, Wis., he was one of the allenists called to make a mentatl examination of Giteau, the assasin of President Garfield.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

PORTLAND, June 20. — Donald Riepenlender, 7 years old, died late last night in a hospitatl, apparently from the results of a fall from a sprinkling wagon.

The boy was found last evening lying unconscious near the wagon. A small contusion on his forehead was the only mark of injury. He did not regain consciousness.

TO DISMISS CHARGES.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

MOUNT VERNON, Wash., June 20.—Charges that Dave W. Nadeau, Russell R. Evans, Lawrence H. Lee and Warren L. Ridley of Tacoma, held up the Citizens State Bank at Anacortes, 17 miles west of here, April 14, when $18,000 was stolen, are to be dismissed.

Declarations from both the prosecution and defense, that complaints filed against the four men, well known in Tacoma would be quashed, were made public here today.

W. H. Hodge, deputy prosecuting attorney of Skagit county, the seat of which is here, said that he had gone carefully over a route which the Tacoma quartette asserted that they had traveled on a hunting trip at the time of the holdup, and that he had found their statements in defense of their innocence all true.

PLACER MINERS ARE PANNING OUT GOLD

That the unusually low water stage in the streams of Southern Oregon due to lack of snow in the Cascade range, is not entirely devoid of benefit, was the statement of J. A. Becker, veteran mining man and assayer of Riddle, who was in town late yesterday afternoon for a short time. Mr. Becker says that the low water in Cow Creek is enabling many placer miners to get at "pay dirt" that has heretofore been inaccessible. In many instances, Mr. Becker stated, miners are "panning out" from $4 to $6 per day. Low water has enabled them to get to many sand bars, as well as to open up a lot of small cracks and crevices in the rocks, that are really rich little pockets, where gold has been deposited by action of the water in years past. Cow Creek which has its source in the Cascade Mountains in southeastern Douglas county, has long been known as a gold producer, and in the earlier days a lot of wealth has been taken out along the stream.

KENYON GLAD IS NOT IN POLITICS

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

MASON CITY, Iowa, June 20.—Expressing a hope that "the time has not come when denunciation of the buying of seats in the senate will keep anyone from being elected to office," Federal Judge William H. Kenyon told a group of farmers at a farm bureau picnic here yesterday that he was glad he had not been called upon to lay down the judicial robes to enter the arena of politics again.

"After I resigned from the senate in order to accept this position," he said, "I spoke to an audience in Missouri, and there I said something about Newberry. I denounced the buying of public ofice.

"The very next day before I had been sworn into the office of Judge there were men who got up in the senate and demanded my immidate impenchement.

"And that, according to what I read and hear, was the reason for my defeat at Cleveland as a vice-presidential possibility. For this I am truely thankful, but I hope that the time has not come when denunciation of the buying of seats will keep anyone from being elected to office."
