BANDON MAN IS SLAIN IN CHINA

SHANGHAI, July 1.—The murder of George D. Byers, American missionary, whose home is in Bandon, Ore., by Chinese bandits, was reported in messages to the American Presbyterian representatives here today.

Byers was killed at Kachek, Malmien Island, off the coast of Kwang Tung. The message said Byers' wife and four children and all other missionaries at Kachek escaped.

Hainan Island, in the China sea, is under the nominal control of the Canton government.

Protests are to be made by the American legation to both the Peking and Canton governments.

ALBANY, Or., July 2.—Rev. George Douglas Byers, reported murdered on the island of Hainan, near the China coast, presumably by brigands, was a graduate of Albany college.

Mr. Byers came to Albany college from Coquille, where he was born, and finished the course here in 1902. He then attended the San Francisco seminary and later took a mission post at Kachek, island of Hainan. He married a fellow missionary who, with several minor children, survive him.

DANCE AT RAINBOW GARDENS.

The Blue Devils are sponsoring another big dance at the Rainbow Gardens at Winchester tonight. The roof to the pavilion has not been completed but the floor is electrically lighted and having been sanded this week is in fine condition for dancing.

The Blue Devils are conducting one of the cleanest dances ever held in the county and will continue to cater to the class who like that brand of amusement. Tonight the dance will start at 9 o'clock and continue until after midnight. Large crowds are expected from Sutherlin and Oakland and many will attend from Roseburg.

DANCE AT TILLER

There will be a dance and picnic at Tiller, July 4th. Roseburg music. Celebrate at Tiller.

JUNE WAS A HOT AND DRY MONTH

The month of June was slightly warmer than usual and considerably drier, according to the monthly report given by Weather Observer William Bell. The month set no records for either heat or cold, but a daily average shows an excess temperature of 21 degrees for each day. The hottest day was the 29th, when the mercury went to 100. The lowest was 43 on the 19th. The precipitation for the month was .56 inches, while the normal is 1.07 inches, giving a deficiency of .51 inches. The total deficiency for the season is 15.58 inches. There were 14 clear days, 14 partly cloudy and 2 cloudy. Rain fell on four different days.

The daily temperature records for the month were as follows:

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

PIONEER DAYS RECALLED.

Wattsburg, Wash., June 30.

Editor News-Review:

Through your courteous response to my request for a copy of The News-Review containing the write-up of Umpqua Academy Alumni Association reunion at Wilbur. On reading that story how my memory leaped back over the decades of the past as I looked back through the fleeting years. I seemed to live over the school days of my boyhood. On reading the familiar names, through the eyes of memory, the scenes and associations of those years seemed to be re-created. A relative had previously sent me a copy of The News-Review containing a picture of the old academy building. Why! I can almost see where we played town-ball, and other games of those days. On the hill pictured in the background I can almost pick out the old laurel tree where on a bright June day, with my pocket knife I carved in the tender bark the name of one—a friend, who for many years has been lying "neath the sod in the village graveyard on the hill. Beneath, I traced my own; the day, the year, the time. Nature may cover and erase the name, but the past can be so deeply traced on the heart that the cloud of death alone can obscure it from memory's view. I seemed to renew the scenes of my early school days.

There in the early sixties, I sat at the feet of such men as T. F. Royal, Clark Smith, the pioneer teachers of old Umpqua. Those men, directed us in the paths of right, told us how to set the stake; to draw the lines, that we might reach the goal we might want to attain in our future life work. In the year 1908 I started in work on my last years of school life, ending my four years June 21, 1871. Those days as I look back over the drama of life seem as a bright oasis, where the hopes, the cares and desires of the future life were planted.

That lovely June day in '71, I shall never forget as I and four others—Quincy A. Grubbe, Marjorie Parker, Ada Clinkbeard and Ellen Dees Chapman, with our parchments in our hands started out on the fields of our endeavors, thus fortified, and as we supposed fully equipped to fight the battles of life. My diploma I keep as a choice relic of my life, equalled only by my discharge given me by Uncle Sam when as a boy I had worn the blue. Some of those dear classmates have passed beyond the river, that we call the sweet forever.

Some of us are going down the western slope of life—seen our barkies will be launched on the ocean of Eternity. Already the eyes of time have marked off the period of more than a half century since the day we bid each other goodbye, went out from the old familiar halls of our old alma mater, and merged ourselves into the whirl of business life and worldly pleasure. Yes, I remember the founder of the Umpqua Academy, Father Wilbur, one of the grandest of the pioneers, along with others, Skidmore, Deardorf, Jackson and Herrin.

In the paper sent me I note the sketch: "The School of Sixty Years Ago," taught by Blazer Hermann. During the exciting time of 1864, I seem to hear him yet. Those stirring words of patriotism delivered on that fourth of July. In those days, patriotism was not felt, but practiced and expressed. Old Glory was flung to the wind on every hand. Men were dying for that flag every day.

I remember well when Captain John Fullerton, recruiting officer, came to our school, announcing a call for volunteers for the Union army. Binger Hermann, with patriotic fervor asked us to respond to Lincoln's call for 200,000 more, when 17 of us boys responded to the call and donned the blue uniform. Among other familiar, honored names, I find those of Cora Fullerton, Frank Garley and S. P. Chadwick. The two first were comrades of mine in old company A, when we wore the blue. Judge Chadwick, all honor to his name. The state of Washington now does honor to his son, Steve Chadwick—a worthy son of a noble sire. Now, if any of my old time friends see this and care to write to me I will be glad to hear from them, for years are fleeting by, the sun of life for us soon will be behind the western horizon of life, disappear into the mystic clouds of the far off sweet forever.

My heart is full with fond remembrance, and is in full accord with friend Chenoweth's poem:

Dear old Alma Mater Umpqua,
In thy halls we got our start;
Dear old Alma Mater Umpqua,
You will always hold our heart.

Assuredly, the receiving of a paper from my old home, where I spent the years of childhood, the scenes and associations of my early manhood, was like receiving a long delayed letter from home.

Reduction in Prices

A substantial reduction in the prices of Exide Batteries for automobile starting and lighting is announced, effective July 1.

In making this announcement, we wish to state emphatically that none of the well-known qualities which have always characterized Exide Batteries has been sacrificed to make this reduction possible.

The same materials and the same first-grade workmanship which you have always associated with Exide Batteries will continue to feature their construction.

ASK FOR PRICES

Taste tells why Borden's Evaporated Milk is used regularly in the homes of particular women everywhere. Once you get to know the taste of Borden's, no other will do. For cooking, especially, you'll prefer it even to bottled milk.

The creamy richness—the wholesome flavor of pure, fresh milk with the cream left in—and the convenience of always having it ready for use, in any strength you want—will soon convince you that you ought to lay in a dozen cans at a time. You will save money—your cooking and baking will taste better.

Try it—wherever the recipe calls for milk. But insist on Borden's!

ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN

by MRS. ELLSBURY
(Address all communications to Mrs. Ellsbury, care of News-Review.)

LAUGHING BLUE-EYED PEGGY: Keep the idea that you have, my dear, and you will never be sorry. I am sure that you will find the kind of a pal you want, and he will be looking for a girl just like you. You should weigh 125 pounds until you are 19.

Dear Mrs. Ellsbury: Can you tell me what is good to wear to a Fourth of July celebration that will include a dance in the evening? If my friend and I go with some other people is it necessary for us to stay with them all day?

MAXINE: I would not advise you to wear a light colored veil or linen summer dress as in the heat and crowds they soon lose their fresh appearance. A printed silk or crepe dress made on simple sport lines and worn with a small felt or other sport hat, black slippers, and light colored hose, would be the most practical, as well as smart. If this is not possible and you must wear a summer dress, take another dress and fresh hose for the dance in the evening. If you are all the same age and congenial you would stay together. If not it is only natural for the younger ones to go about by themselves. You should have dinner with the people you came with, and make a point of seeing them several times during the day.
