The happy proximity of Friday to Sunday, and Friday being a national holiday, has occasioned a week end vacation that is gladly seized by warm and weary people, and Roseburg was indeed a deserted city Friday. The warmth of the past few days sent many to the seashore, and all county and state celebrations drew their quota of Roseburg folk.

Los Angeles Guest

Is Honored Saturday

Mrs. G. W. Berrier of Los Angeles, who is a guest here of her parents, and Mrs. F. A. Knight, was the inspiration for a pleasant afternoon Saturday, for which Mrs. Henry Druecker was hostess. Music and conversation filled the afternoon, and the dainty luncheon was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. James Daugherty. The guest of honor was presented with a beautiful picture.

Enjoying the delightful occasion were: Mrs. G. W. Berrier, Mrs. F. A. Knight, Mrs. Mable Smith, Mrs. A. J. Geddes, Mrs. B. H. Laird, Mrs. A. Keyley, Mrs. W. M. Fisher, Mrs. I. H. Huff, Mrs. James Daugherty and Miss Lotus Knight.

Friends Bid Farewell

to Rev. and Mrs. Hilton

A farewell reception for Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Hilton concluded the regular quarterly business meeting of the Christian church Thursday evening. Musical numbers by the Christian church orchestra entertained the many who gathered to bid the Rev. and Mrs. Hilton goodbye, and to add their good wishes to follow them to their new home at Burbank, California. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

The business meeting showed all departments of the church to be in good condition.

Interesting Program

for Woman's Club

Mrs. R. A. Calhoun provided an interesting program for her guests, the Garden Valley Woman's club, Saturday afternoon. On the program were readings by Dale Calhoun, solo by Miss Alice McDaniel, duet by Dale Calhoun and Inez Calhoun, and piano selections by Inez Calhoun. The hostess, assisted by her daughter, and Mrs. John Sinclair, served a dainty luncheon to Mrs. G. McDaniel, Mrs. Peter Sinclair, Mrs. Hugh Ritchie, Mrs. R. S. Hutton, Mrs. H. C. Wood, Mrs. E. E. Labrie, Mrs. Fred Parrott, Mrs. Niday, Mrs. John Sinclair, Mrs. J. D. Young, Mrs. Wood, Mrs. Brown, Miss Alice McDaniel, and Miss Georgine Sinclair. Mrs. Fred Parrott has invited the club to her home for the next meeting.

Former Douglas County

Boy Is Married

An interesting announcement to many in Douglas county is that of the marriage of Chas. E. Sherman, formerly of Roseburg, to Gertrude Mae Janney of Seattle. The ceremony took place at Montebello, Wash., on June 2. Mr. and Mrs. Sherman are residing at Aberdeen, where Mr. Sherman is connected with Smith's dairy. Mr. Sherman made his home in this county with Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Dumbarton, who lived at Winchester and Winston for a time.

Young Ladies Entertain

Members of Club

A program of songs and musical selections given by the young ladies of the club entertained the Ten Mile Community Circle Wednesday afternoon when they met at the home of Mrs. Walter Coats. A luncheon closed the pleasant afternoon. Mrs. Fred Breitenbush has invited the club to her home for a quilting bee and all day session soon, with an old fashioned dinner at 1 o'clock.

Miss Agnes Pitchford and Mrs. V. M. Pitchford left on Thursday evening for Coquille, Bandon and other coast points, to enjoy a three-day vacation.

Simple Wedding at

Elkton on Monday

A simple ceremony at the Elkton Methodist church Monday morning, united in marriage Miss Cordella Butler and Rev. Earl R. Horsell, pastor of that church. The service was read by Rev. Brown of Sutherland. Only close relatives and friends were bidden to the ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Butler of Elkton, and after a short wedding trip they will be at Elkton until after the fall conference. A delicious wedding dinner was served at the Weatherly hotel at Elkton by Charles Weatherly.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wellock and two daughters, who have been guests at Wilbur of Mrs. Wellock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Dumbarton, and at Roseburg of her sister, Mrs. Chas. Staten, returned Friday to their home at Puyallup, Washington.

Wedded Again on

Golden Wedding Day

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lindgren of Melrose, July 4, was made a happy one by the children and many friends of the couple. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon the wedding ceremony of 50 years ago was read again by Rev. Edmunds of Elgarose, with the bride very charming in an elaborate wedding gown. Only a few intimate friends and relatives witnessed the ceremony, and attended the luncheon which followed at 5 o'clock. At seven an informal reception was held for the members of the Swedish church at Elgarose, who came in a body to surprise and congratulate the elderly couple. Many lovely gifts were received by Mr. and Mrs. Lindgren.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindgren were married on July 4, 1874, at Paxton, Ill. They came to Oregon in 1898 and settled at Salem where they remained until in 1905 they moved to their present farm at Elgarose. They have two children, H. A. Lindgren of Corvallis, and Mrs. A. E. Cummings of Salem. Both children, their husbands, and several grand children were present at the anniversary.

A week end party at Idleyld is composed of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Lockwood and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Hart, and Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Roberts, of Portland, Mr. and Mrs. V. M. Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hudson, Mrs. Agnes Hudson, Charlotte and Peggy Lockwood, and Gloria Aden. They will return to Roseburg early next week.

Letters received today from Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Crafton of this city, who are now in Denver, Colo., state that they are homeward bound. They have been traveling in the east and are returning to Roseburg over the northern route.

Back to Nature

Women's Plea for

Summer Activities

CHICAGO, July 5.—A vigorous campaign for simplicity in daily life this summer has been launched by Chicago club women, it became known today. They are going to make comfort fashionable during the dog days.

Not only will the club women's campaign encourage the wearing of simple cool clothing by men, women and children, but an educational program regarding recreation, health and the proper foods for summer consumption is being prepared.

"While women are popularly supposed to be willing to endure any amount of discomfort for the sake of fashion, they have really been pioneers in fostering new health habits," said Mrs. Leonora Z. Meder, famous Chicago woman attorney and prominent in women's organizations, in announcing the "simplicity campaign today.

Oh, Those Stupid Men! "Today we wear lovely silks, dotted swiss, cool embroidered frocks, delicate sport woolsens during the hot months," she continued, "we no longer wear blue, muslin and duck. But men are still stupid."

"They over-excite the heart, exhaust the nervous system, grow prematurely old—by smothering themselves in hot woolen clothes and by over-eating during the sweltering summer months. Especially in their diets do men outrage nature. Much of their 'summer' fatigue, medical authorities now say, is due to the wrong foods."

A leading member of the Chicago Women's Athletic Club today was delegated to prepare scientific menus for business men in the summer months, she said.

"Mothers today are turning more and more to simplicity in diets for growing children. They are going back to the wonderful body-building foods that our grandmothers served. For instance, oatmeal was erroneously believed to be a winter dish. Now doctors prescribe it every day during the summer for their private patients and for the sick in the hospitals."

The New Summer Meal "Oatmeal, science now finds, is ideal as a summer food. It is mildly laxative, having just enough 'roughage'; it is rich in iron, vitamins and carbohydrates; it is the most easily digested in the nutritious cereals."

"We are going to urge business men to eat oatmeal in its various appetizing forms for luncheon this summer; oatmeal cakes, oatmeal soup, oatmeal in the new 'chilled-luncheon' style are cooling and nourishing dishes during July, August and September."

A warning against too-strengthening exercise in hot weather was voiced by the club women. Playing tennis steadily under a blazing sun can only result in harmful effects on the heart and eyes, they declare.

Against Fried Meats "We are not vegetarians," added another member of the committee, "but we are convinced, from what physicians tell us, that the eating of too much meat in summer is injurious. Members are going to visit the poorer districts, explaining the cooling advantages of summer diets largely composed of fruits, simple cereals and vegetables instead of fried meats and other dishes.

"Too many Americans are slaves of their stomachs. We believe our proposed campaign for simplicity in summer activities will add ten years to the lives of every man and woman who conscientiously follows the health rules we are preparing."

And dancing? Well, that's a moot question, the women confessed. But so long as it's not too—ah, athletic, why they believe it an excellent form of summer recreation. But, they added, dance in the open air, folks.

THEATRES

Antlers Theatre

In "Tiger Rose" Lenore Ulric plays a part that permits her to run the entire gamut of human emotions, from the fearless child of the woods on into the woman's land of romance where her heart is frayed and beaten by circumstances beyond her control. She lives and fights in a world of men and in the end she attains her goal and comes out triumphant.

The supporting cast naturally is composed of some of the best known and highest paid artists in the field. They are Forrest Stanley, Joseph Dowling, Andre De Branger, Sam De Grasse, and Theodore Von Eltz. The scenario was written by Edmund Goulding and Millard Webb, well known novelist and short story writer, and the direction was under Sidney Franklin. At the Antlers for the last time tonight.

Liberty Theatre

George Arliss, star of "20 a Week," is one of the world's most distinguished and best loved actors. He is an Englishman by birth but all his successes have been made in America where he has been a prominent figure in the theater for the past twenty-five years. Arliss first came to this country with Mrs. Patrick Campbell, but it was with Blanche Gates in "The Darling of the Gods" that he first attracted widespread attention. Following this he was starred in a number of plays which have made theatrical history, notably "The Devil," "Diana," and "The Green Goddess." The latter play is now the outstanding hit of the current London theatrical season. In motion picture form, it is one of the greatest successes of recent years.

Practically all of Arliss' stage plays have been adapted to the screen with excellent results. "20 a Week" is, however, a magazine story and somewhat resembles "The Ruling Passion," in which Arliss was so well received last season. It comes to the screen of the Liberty theatre on Sunday playing for three days.

WOMAN DIES FROM INJURY

$100 For a Complete Summer Outfit

By HEDDA HOYT

Fashion Editor of the United Press NEW YORK, N. Y., July 5.—(United Press).—Where one woman spends one hundred dollars on one gown there are hundreds of other women who cannot afford to spend more than one hundred dollars on their entire wardrobe.

To be well dressed on a limited amount one must have taste and discrimination developed to the nth degree. The following wardrobe for summer should be adequate for all occasions and should come within the hundred-dollar limit.

The first requisite for the average woman is the tailored suit. Those who have delayed the purchasing of the suit until the June sales will find a wide selection at reduced prices to choose from. Practically all of the suits displayed in the earlier part of the season are selling at half price. Thus the $50 suit becomes the $25 suit and a garment which can be worn on cool days throughout the summer and be carried over for fall use.

The Flannel Suit Lately introduced are the flannel tweed and knitted suits which are meant for sportswear and these are selling very cheaply. At one shop I found silk and wool knit mixture selling for $5 a suit. This had the fashionable boyish jacket and plain skirt attached to an elastic belt.

The knit suit has one bad feature and that is its sagging or bulging in the rear of the skirt. By wearing the front in the back and thus reversing the skirt now and then this fault of sagging is partially done away with.

The flannel suit is as chic as it is durable. These are selling around $15 in many shops. Dark colors, such as navy blues, browns and dark mixtures are suggested for the woman with limited means. Colorful trimmings and accessories may be added to give the color spirit desired.

This suit solves the dress question for occasions such as business morning wear, semi-sports wear, resort wear, etc.

The one-piece dress is the next essential to every woman's wardrobe. There is no better material than crepe de chene or silk crepe for such a frock. Again we suggest subdued colors, aided by colorful trimmings if one desires them. Black or navy crepe de chene is perhaps the most durable frock material that is ever popular and never out of style. One can purchase such a frock at a sale or at some of the shops which make a specialty of inexpensive ready-made garments for $15 or $20.

The Dinner Gown Most women have occasion to need a dinner gown. The woman of limited means will find it cheaper to have an expensive model copied by her dressmaker than to buy a good looking one in the shops.

For the woman who sews, there is a model displayed by one of the higher priced shops which is easily made and which will meet with the requirements of various occasions. This frock is made of black and tan serge. The entire upper portion of the frock, which is made in simple slip-on type, is of black georgette, which extends just below the knees. Here an accordion-pleated flounce of tan georgette is joined to form the present vogue for the flaring hemline. This flounce has a border of tan marshmallow outlining it, which gives an extremely soft and pretty hemline.

There is a wide sash of black satin ribbon placed about the low waistline which lies in a huge bow at one side. Sleeves extend just over the shoulder and neckline is round.

So extremely simple is this frock that it can easily be made in one day by the average dressmaker. Any simple pattern of slip-on type will be sufficient and the flounce is just a straight piece of pleated material. Such a gown can be made for $12 and can be carried out in all black, gray, tan, etc., or with the mixture of two colors, as it is in the original model. A frock of this sort would do for evening occasions of any sort and it could be worn for dressy afternoon occasions.

While the city woman has little need for the real summery gown, there are days when she feels the need of something thin and cool. Figure mule is a very suitable material for a gown of this type. There are lovely dark background mules figured with brilliant or pastel coloring which cost but 75 cents a yard. One can buy these gowns ready-made for $15. By making them at home the cost is more than cut in half.

These frocks are very simply made. To a simple slip-on frock one adds a front apron of pleated material, a sash, and one has a very desirable frock. One of the prettiest frocks I have seen this season need cost the home-dressmaker but six or eight dollars. This was a rose and black figured silk mule with a pleated apron effect in front. Three rows of wide black lace were inserted in the apron before pleating and produced a very striking effect. Neckline and tiny sleeves were piped in black.

The slender woman will want to include at least one voile frock in her summer wardrobe for wear on the very warm days. These sell as low as $3 and they launder well and can be worn on occasions where the gingham frock is decidedly out of place.

Sweaters and Skirts

The summer girl needs two sweaters and two white skirts. Very good-looking sweaters are selling for $2 in many shops and white skirts can be quickly and easily made at home. If one wishes to save on their cost. In a sweater and white skirt one is prepared for almost any resort occasion.

I should say that every woman needs three pairs of shoes and three hats. The conservative woman buys a pair of walking shoes for suit and every day wear, a pair of soft kid shoes for dress wear and a pair of light colored kid shoes for evening wear, which can later be browned for day wear. There are numerous good shops in New York where shoes sell for $3 a pair.

As for hats, one needs a small, ribbed-trimmed cloche felt of straw for suit wear. Since hats are constantly verging towards simplicity, if straw, such a hat is also worn with a dressy afternoon gown. An untrimmed light straw hat can be purchased for $2. On the hat counters and a subdued colored straw will go with any color scheme. A band of ribbon is all that is required for trimming. For a dressy hat, what can be prettier than a wide brimmed affair of horse hair straw, simply trimmed with one huge flower? Such hats sell in the untrimmed department for $4 or $5 and a flower trim is not an expensive necessity.

AVIATOR EVENS SCORE WITH COP

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 5.—(United Press).—Policeman Crane of the Los Angeles vice-squad, has come to the conclusion that aviators, like elephants, have long memories.

Recently he went to the flying field at Wilmington where flyers take patrons into the clouds at $5 a head. One of these pilots invited Crane to take a ride.

"Can't afford it," the policeman admitted, ruefully.

"Well, I'll take you up for $1.25," said the obliging birdman, and Crane agreed and up they went.

The pilot went up 5000 feet while Crane's head felt like the inside of a wooden bucket on a hot day. Once at this dizzy height, the pilot started making crazy loops, tail spins, Immelman turns, grapevines, and finally went into a sheer nose dive for the earth, making a desperate landing.

"What's the idea?" chattered the policeman as he stood waveringly beside the fuselage.

"Well," said the pilot, "you pinched me for cutting a corner when you were on the harbor detail some time ago, and I wanted to show you I could make turns with a plane much better than with an automobile."

Her parents and friends had left the child in the car rather than permit her to approach the brink of the chasm. It was supposed that she had loosed the brake of the auto. A vain effort was made to reach the car before it plunged over the cliff.

SMALL GIRL DIES WHEN AUTO PLUNGES

REND, Ore., July 5.—Wanda May King, three year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. King, of Portland, was instantly killed when the automobile in which she was sitting while her parents and friends were admiring the beauty of Crooked River Canyon, started moving and gradually gaining in speed, plunged over the 300 foot cliff into the canyon.

Her parents and friends had left the child in the car rather than permit her to approach the brink of the chasm. It was supposed that she had loosed the brake of the auto. A vain effort was made to reach the car before it plunged over the cliff.

What have you done with it? Smothered the desire for Heaven with earthly things? Quite likely. But old Abraham lived in Heaven while he stayed here, for God says in this chapter, that faith is the substance of things hoped for—and that's the way for you and me to live.

If we live in Heaven by faith and desire, we shall actually heavenize our surroundings here, and the better country will be an actual, present possession of ours. What is it like—this better country? Ah, what a beautiful description of rivers and trees and light and fruit is that of the first seven verses of the twelfth chapter of Revelation. Read it, and let the Living God reawaken your desire for a "better country."

Small Town Sisters Wear Paris Styles

By Hedda Hoyt (Fashion Editor of United Press)

NEW YORK, N. Y., June 27.—Fashions, like gossip, travel fast. Daily newspapers are largely responsible for this, for today every city and most towns have their newspapers, fashion column, devoted to styles from Paris, Vienna, London, New York and all great fashion centers.

Styles change so quickly that it is only the woman who is a constant reader who manages to keep up with them. Time was when the woman living in the small town could be distinguished from her city sister but this isn't true today. Demand begets supply and women readers demand the latest styles and novelties from their shopkeepers. One can find the same gowns in Gopher Prairie as one finds on Fifth Ave., New York. It keeps the small town shopkeeper hopping to satisfy his trade.

American women are the best dressed women in the whole world and this is undisputed. While Paris is termed the fashion center of the world, one can travel one hour outside of Paris and find no resemblance of style. For this reason it is safe to state that America is the Fashion Center of the world. Every little American village is a fashion center which duplicates the current styles of larger American cities.

There are no poorly dressed communities in America due to intelligent women reading the daily newspapers.

Styles Changes Sleeveless frocks which were worn for street wear last summer will be replaced by frocks with the shoulder cap sleeve or the long sleeve. Women of refinement refuse to consider the sleeveless frock for other than evening wear. Even the little shoulder-cap sleeve, which though comfortable, is slightly less vulgar for street wear than the sleeveless mode, is deemed in poor taste by better-groomed women, except for country wear, sports-wear and afternoon wear under a short jacket or capelet.

Very few women have lovely arms and the needless display of over-fleshy or over-slender arms last summer marked the doom of the less frock for street wear this season. Many of the most fashionable frocks in silk and in cotton feature the long-sleeved sleeve which reaches the wrist. Full pleated bands at the wrist are cool and as effective as the sleeveless mode shown on many frocks. The woman who wears the sleeveless frock for street wear chooses the one which comes over the shoulder and for street wear will have a soft wrist of material or of self-tied band or a small cape attachment takes away the undue prominence of the short-sleeved frock.

Sweaters will not be as popular this year as they have been in previous seasons, because of the heat for the knit dress and the jacquette. Many younger women, however, will continue to wear sweater sportswear and the type of the slip-on. Knit and the tailored blouse are popular out-of-town wear.

There is a tendency in the world of well dressed women to get away from the colorful and to wear frocks with embroidered, beaded ends are fading into the better shop. Chinese embroidery on a dark chene makes a lovely and though colorful, is not as being sponsored for many. White net scarves with flowers trimming the ends are effective. Recently the Paris started Paris by the wearing of their evening frocks of simple white net with about the full back and long scarves of white net. Laces of applied damask, lace of their frocks were with shoulder straps of rhinestones. Rhinestones, way, are the favorite evening gown this season. Red and white is a lovely mer sportswear combination.

What God Says about - A BETTER COUNTRY

"But now they desire a better country, that is an heavenly."

Are you like them? Honest, now, do you believe Heaven would be an improvement on the United States?

"Ah, but," you say, "I was born in America, and it's a mighty fine country to live in."

Yes, but where were you born again? If you have had a second birth you were actually born into Heaven by faith, and, like Noah, Enoch, and Abraham, the longing for the better country was born in you.

What have you done with it? Smothered the desire for Heaven with earthly things? Quite likely. But old Abraham lived in Heaven while he stayed here, for God says in this chapter, that faith is the substance of things hoped for—and that's the way for you and me to live.

If we live in Heaven by faith and desire, we shall actually heavenize our surroundings here, and the better country will be an actual, present possession of ours. What is it like—this better country? Ah, what a beautiful description of rivers and trees and light and fruit is that of the first seven verses of the twelfth chapter of Revelation. Read it, and let the Living God reawaken your desire for a "better country."

It should be noticed, first of all, that the discussion of this question does not relate to our Lord's pre-existence, but merely to his relationship to the human family. He became related to the human family, as we have seen, by taking our nature, through his Mother Mary. Mary's personality, as traced by Luke, leads back to David through his son Nathan (Luke 3:24).
