ROSEBURG, OREGON, WEDNESDAY, JULY 16, 1924.

HOME ENVIRONMENT.

Two girls, one 12 years of age, the other 15, residents of this county, have been taken in charge by officers and will be sent to the state home. Here's the reason: The mother of the children just recently served out a sentence in the county jail for bootlegging. After her release she was again taken into custody on a like charge and is now awaiting trial. Can anyone wonder that such an environment would cause the authorities to step in and save these girls from complete ruin? But, the real question is, after associating and indulging in such deplorable home surroundings as witnessed in the case at hand, will it be possible for a state institution to take the girls at their given ages and rear them to useful womanhood? Childhood impressions are hard to eliminate. The older child, it is alleged, has already consorted with the opposite sex and the close association with her younger sister has quite likely not been as wholesome as might be expected. Here is a good exhibit and the result of questionable home surroundings. Those who are working and exerting every possible means to make this old world better, hoping to raise the standard of citizenship, have many like conditions to meet. The home—the most sacred of all heavenly gifts—a place where children should receive all that is pure and wholesome from the cradle to that period when the responsibilities of life are thrust upon them, is made a breeding place for harlots and criminals. Until such time arrives that every home is made the foundation for pure manhood and womanhood criminals will continue to prey upon society. The home—and there only—can pure thoughts be instilled in the young boy or girl that will assure a clean bill of lading for their delivery to those public institutions, our schools, where the delicate minds will absorb the good things of life and abhor the bad, thereby growing into clean, useful and bright citizenship.

Figures from authoritative sources assert that nearly $4,000,000,000 is paid out in the United States every year to public officials, active and retired, remarks an exchange. These figures are not surprising when we know that nearly 3,500,000 persons are on the public payroll, federal state and local. Nearly one-half of the $8,500,000,000 spent yearly by our government goes to officials and former officials. Every taxpayer should understand that almost one-half of his taxes go to support office-holders. One of Mussolini's first acts was to dismiss 100,000 men from the public payroll. Our trouble is that the job-holder is the backbone of every political party. Jobs are the currency in which party debts are paid. And this currency is at present inflated.

The need for making every reasonable effort to prevent fires is self-evident, but unfortunately it is often overlooked. This is true of any home or manufacturing plant but is particularly important as it applies to those places where inflammable materials are present. Fire prevention deserves very serious consideration in every building, whether it be design, construction, operation or maintenance. Exhaustive studies of fires that have occurred in the past indicate means for preventing similar fires in the future. Practically every fire furnishes lessons in fire prevention from which all can profit.

Up around Mount St. Helens, Wash., a new specimen of man beast has appeared, the only difference exhibited between this particular specie and the one in every day walks of life is its hairy appearance and a few other appendages unknown to civilized atmosphere. So far, none of the animals are in captivity but the shaggy creatures are being pursued by a few men and some girls who are anxious to get in touch with the activities of cave life.

Ezra Meeker, the noted pioneer, says let the girls bob their hair. Ezra, old boy, there's no letting about the matter—they're already doing it. Man long ago determined that when woman gets it into her head to do a thing all that is left for the other half is to furnish the grease to make the skidding more rapid to her ultimate goal. In other words, he wants to get her desires and wishes "off his chest" as quick as possible.

A recent speaker at Chautauqua said: "I see no reason under God's heaven why we should not have daily teaching of the ten commandments in the public schools." And the speaker said a whole mouthful. If boys and girls had these fine sentiments instilled in their minds this old world would soon be much brighter and a lot more happier.

Speaking about the checkerboard of life, when do we make a move toward placing that $10,000 against the government's offer of $50,000 to build the highway up the North Umpqua river? It has been said that, "everything comes to him who waits," but why any delay? Let's get some action.

If you are not attending Chautauqua in Roseburg this week you are missing a mighty big treat. The program for the entire week is exceptionally good and seldom an opportunity comes to you to take advantage of such a well-balanced and high class series of wholesome entertainment.

Both of the principal political parties are oiling up their machines for the November election—while the third party is having a little trouble with its differential and is not yet striking on all fours.

PRUNE PICKIN'S BY BERT & BATES

GOOD EVENING FOLKS— At the ch'qua Last eve I was giggled Ourselves sick At Ralph Bingham And meat of us Are still Giggling at some Of the gags Which went Over our heads And are just Sinkin' in.

DUMBELL DORA THINKS

The Bronx is where they keep all the buckin' bronchos.

It seems almost futile to attempt an alleged colyum of wit today after the atmosphere has become permeated with the marvelous satire, repartee, sarcasm, and humor of Mister Bingham but the boss says "snap out it" and here goes.

'Bout all the mail a feller gets nowadays is from somebody tryin' to sell us something or else someone wantin' to collect for what we have bought.

The fellers are in from the rural district with their garden sass and accordin' to their scales the crop this year is very light.

Some folks are too dern inquisitive. Someone smelled ham cookin' at ye ed's house the other night and had the crust to ask us where we got it.

The Dillard fellers may trust humanity but just the same they allus plant their watermelon patches in sight of their houses.

Quite a lot of excitement took place on the main stem today when an unknown autoist ran over Town Marshall Ketch's foot, which at the time was protruding into the street.

One of the town sheiks told ye ed today that he is not vain and that he hates to brag on his good looks or anything like that, but while he was sittin' in a local cafe the other night the young lady waiter dropped a dish and broke it and she was lookin' at him at the time.

As ch'qua nears an end the callosities begin to appear.

Dist. atty. Gordon caught a terrible cold yesterday from blowin' his snoot on a hanky with a hole in it.

In spite of the fact that this season has brought forth various fly exterminators the summer crop seems to be as heavy as usual and with fly swatters in as delapidated condition as ever.

Its funny how some fellers allus git their hands hung up in their pockets when they're racin' to see who'll pay for the drinks.

The batlin' beauties of the village are out agin showin' their vaccination marks.

One of the village beas bums had a sign painted on the rear of his flivver which reads, "Chicken—here's your coop—get in."

Its dern difficult to be clever in a town where you're born because everybody knows better.

In spite of predictions to the contrary business is as good as ever.

Some fellers jest take the newspaper so's they'll have paper to wrap bundles in.

LAFOLLETTE NOT TO BE OFFICIALLY NOTIFIED

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) WASHINGTON, July 15.—Senator La Follette of Wisconsin probably will not be notified of the recent Cleveland convention of the conference for progressive political which endorsed him as an independent candidate for president.

He knows he is a candidate—in fact he knew it before the convention did—and he knows the delegates to the convention know it. As for their endorsement he knows they know they have it.

So he has concluded it would be a waste of time, money and energy to have a formal notification ceremony, such as is customarily accorded presidential candidates and his supporters, knowing his attitude are making no plans for one.

TAMMANY HEAD WANTS SMITH FOR GOVERNOR

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) NEW YORK, July 15.—Judge George W. Oliver, new chairman of Tammany, insists that Alfred E. Smith run for governor again. "I certainly think that the governor should run again," said Judge Oliver. "He would add immeasurably to the strength of the ticket."

Mute Messengers of a Nation

IN AN underground telephone cable scarcely thicker than a man's wrist there are 2400 threadlike copper wires, each pair providing a path for instant speech.

These highways of the spoken word, buried beneath many an American city, are carrying thousands of voices simultaneously from office to factory and some from coast to coast.

If released from their copper carriers, these messages would sound a Babel, in which none could be heard. Confusion beyond description would reign if this unhindered speech, now hushed by science in tiny strands, were voiced aloud.

An average of 54,000,000 telephone conversations speed daily over the wires of the Bell System. By hundreds in cables, by dozens in the open wires, they travel in silence side by side, to find voice again only at their journey's end. Muted as they pass from telephone to telephone, they weave the pattern of the nation's life.

INCENDIARY FIRE DESTROYS CHURCH

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) OAKLAND, July 15.—Fire said to be of incendiary origin last night destroyed St. Elizabeth's Catholic church, for years a landmark of Oakland. There were three attempts to burn the church last Monday, according to firemen. After the third attempt had been frustrated, oil soaked rags were found in the structure, they said.

The building had not been used as a house of worship for some time and all furnishings had been removed. Firemen said there had been two other incendiary fires in Oakland for the past two weeks.

HEAD OF HOSPITAL IS RELIEVED OF POSITION

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) TACOMA, Wash., July 15.—Colonel George B. Story, for the past four years in charge of United States veterans' hospital No. 59, known here as Cushman hospital was relieved from duty as head of that institution yesterday. It became known today, Colonel W. P. Leverton who was transferred from the Helena, Montana, veterans' hospital replaces Colonel Story.

While Colonel Story had no theory to advance as to the change at the hospital, patients at the hospital and others outside the institution expressed belief that it resulted from recent attempts to remove patients from the Cushman to the American Lake Psychiatric hospital, which have been resisted desperately by

CARPENTIER'S LAST CHANCE TO COME BACK

(United Press Staff Correspondent.) NEW YORK, July 15.—When a boxer has been as consistent a ring performer as Georges Carpentier, it is unusual to speak of his "coming back."

But that is just the way we must look at the Frenchman in the light of his forthcoming bout with Gene Tunney, American light heavyweight champion. The two are scheduled to meet July 24.

Carpentier has never seemed a second rate fighter. He is of the stuff whereof champions are made. His workmanlike manner in knocking over the best of Europe entitles him to consideration on those grounds.

When Carpentier was "baten by Dempsey, he did not lose caste. But when he was knocked out by Harding Stik, the bad boy from Senegal, then definitely did Georges' Georges bit the chutes. And he never has "come back" from that lowly state to which he took a dive in losing to the black.

Georges started to the top via his favorite route, knocking out Joe Becker in his time. He did one or two other more or less easy stunts of that sort, and then came over for a match with Tommy Gibbons.

That young man, to our way of thinking, definitely put a crimp in Carpentier's career as a champion boxer. When Georges made such a miserable showing against the St. Paul terror, he finished himself as a real top-notch drawing card.

But this bout with Gene Tunney opens the door again—just a crack it—and it doesn't seem likely—Georges could polish off the American champion—not win by a lucky, looping, right-hand punch, but really whip Tunney decisively—then there might be something more doing for the Frenchman. But that's the only way there ever will be.

Carpentier wasn't made to be a good second-rater. It isn't his forte. His is the gallery play, the elaborate training quarters, the fancy dressing gowns and interviews and lovely ladies calling upon him while he shadows boxes.

However, the promoters of the Tunney bout are putting out propaganda to the effect that they are well pleased with the advance gate.

"I believe it will be the greatest spectacle we ever had in New York," said Jimmy Johnston. "Shouldn't be surprised if we were sold out."

The Frenchman trained for the bout at Jack Curley's place, down in Great Neck, Long Island, while Tunney prepared to defend his title by hammering sparring partners about a barn at Fair Haven, N. J.

The bout will be at the Polo

Grounds, and the promoter says never rains as hard as it pours. Ticket price $1 to $10.
