ABOLISHING ARMY AND NAVY.

Among the placards which decorated the third party convention held at Cleveland, was one which said "Make war illegal, abolish the army and navy." Many people think that it would be a good proposition for the nations to agree on a new principle of international law, to the effect that any nation that commits an act of aggressive warfare and declines to submit the cause for which it goes to war to an international tribunal, should be declared to have violated the law of nations. But even if the nations should adopt such a principle, it would be a long time before they would abolish their armies and navies altogether. Possibly if some action along this line was taken, they could be very considerably reduced. Eventually if the nations showed good faith, they might be cut down to a very low point. But with the nations showing an unconciliatory spirit, it will be a considerable time before armies and navies can be discarded. It is an end to be ardently hoped for, yet as long as the world has so many people who are willing to fight rather than give up their pet aims, it is desirable to have a few shooting irons around. Under present conditions, the country that deprived itself of arms would command little respect among those nations that depend upon military force. The idea needs to be promulgated that war is the great crime of the ages, and that the world can get rid of it. But when you consider the way the peoples of Europe brandish their weapons and spend money for munitions, such reductions in armament as take place will have to be by mutual agreement. The United States has taken the lead in making offers of such reduction, and it will do so again in the near future.

Well, we are mighty glad the North Umpqua project is beginning to assume definite shape. And we will feel better than ever when the county court puts its "John Henry" to the order making the ten thousand dollars available to match the fifty thousand put up by the government. This is real constructive work and the county court is to be commended for the interest they have taken in the matter to carry out a road of vital importance to all Douglas county.

State editors are going to meet at Tillamook next week to check up their subscription lists, give their feet a salt bath and chew the rind of the famous product of that section of the state. Cheese it, boys, you may get caught in your "dirty work."

What has become of the long-haired ape the Portland papers have been trying to keep on the front page of their daily editions?

Tomorrow is the day that carries most of us away to some shady nook in the mountains or to the sea to get a sniff of salt air.

Today's weather was hard to beat—even in the Umpqua Valley.

The unexpected might happen—rain in July.

TACOMA MAN CHARGED WITH SLAYING WIFE

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
 TACOMA, Wash., July 18.—With Richard Connor, 37, alleged wife slayer, held in jail at a place that is being kept secret, Prosecuting Attorney James W. Selden and deputy sheriffs began to forge what they believe will be the final links in the chain of circumstances which they say will connect him with the disappearance of his wife, Pearl Connor, 34, who dropped from sight May 19. Connor was spirited away immediately after his arrest on the charge of first degree murder yesterday afternoon. Efforts are now being centered in the search for the body of Mrs. Connor which the officers say they expect to find shortly.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

CONCERNING THE AVIATION FIELD.

Editor of News-Review:
 In your issue of yesterday you had an item with reference to the proposal of the Roseburg Kiwanians to visit the so-called Hanan aviation field and clear it of rocks, after which they were to enjoy a picnic dinner, but you state that on account of permission being refused them to clear the field by George Kohlhaugen, the plans have been called off. The property which you call "the Hanan aviation field" is private property and under lease to me for pasturage purposes, at an annual cash rent. There has been considerable disposition on the part of the public to make use of this property without the consent of the owner or the lessee, to the extent of even burning off the grass, breaking down gates, etc. It was evidently the purpose of your article to cast some reflection on me. However, I think all fair minded people will recognize the fact that the lessee of a pasture is entitled to protection

JAPS PLAN COLONY

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
 LOS ANGELES, July 18.—California Japanese whose plans to purchase a 20,000 acre tract of land in the Missouri Ozarks were wrecked by the discovery that Missouri has alien land laws similar to those of this state, are now contemplating the establishment of a colony in the Mississippi delta region, it was announced here by Hiroshi Nakamura. The deal for the purchase of the delta land will not be closed, Nakamura said, until representatives of the Japanese company for which he is acting, have examined the tracts he has selected, which will be some time this fall.

ATTENDANCE RECORD AT CRATER LAKE LARGE

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)
 MEDFORD, Ore., July 18.—If the present travel to Crater Lake continues all attendance records will be broken before the season is half over. Up to July 15, the total attendance reached the unprecedented figure of 20,427, while last year at the same time the total figure was 9,865, an increase of over 100 percent. Moreover, last year was a record year for Crater Lake up to that time.

PRUNE PICKIN'S

BY BERT S. BATES

GOOD EVENING FOLKS—
 What words can paint
 The loveliness of dawn
 As blushing skies betray
 The kisses of the ardent sun
 Behind a misty screen
 Of eastern hills?
 Where is the language
 Could convey
 The gorgeous splendors
 Of the heavens' never constant
 Cloud shapes
 Drenched in colors
 Edged
 With liquid gold?
 Exquisite miracle of light
 Reflected,
 Reflected,
 By the ling'ring vapors
 Of the night!
 A spectacle that overwhelms
 Man's trifling speech!
 We know no language
 Worthy of the theme.
 In fact,
 We do not know the theme!
 We never yet have stayed up
 Late enough
 To see the dawn.

DUMBBELL DORA THINKS

A hookworm is the kind you fish with.
 It's Saddy night and its needless to tell you what you're supposed to do tonight.

"Robin Hood" is on at the ch'qua tonight and we hope that he will rob 'em good.

A dub and his golf ball are soon parted.

"And just why can't I interest you in our new line of cane furniture—chairs, lounges, and so on," asked the urbane salesman.

"Because," replied the possible patron, "cane reminds me too much of—er—my school days in the country, when the teacher hadn't much hope for me, mentally!"

The boy stood on the burning deck, Whence all the rest had fled, The sea had made the rest so sick, They had to go to bed.

It might be said that the Prince of Wales is right there when it comes to the "throw down."

It is really too bad that a barber can't tell in advance whether or not a woman will look well with bobbed hair. But after all what difference would it make? He wouldn't dare express a positive opinion. Let a barber try telling a woman that she wouldn't look well with bobbed hair and he'd learn in a minute that his opinion didn't amount to much.

A young woman of our acquaintance defines home as: One small room containing a wardrobe trunk.

"Will Hays is a home-lover," says one of those articles of encouragement writers, but one pulling down the salary that Will does could easily make a home that anyone would love.

The golfers are pointer have a tournament tomorrow which is sad on acct. of so many of the boys not using fugh language.

"If fishermen would do more fishin' and less braggin' they'd be more fish for the rest of us."

YOUNGSTERS IN CIRCUS PARADE

Junior Chautauqua Closes Today With Parade on Business Streets.

PRIZES ARE AWARDED

Children Receive Prizes for Best and Most Unique Costumes Entered in Contest.

A circus parade and an afternoon of fun and merriment for the children, to say nothing of the grown-ups, provided by Herbert A. Taylor, clown, juggler and ventriloquist, closed the Junior Chautauqua. The parade, which has been looked forward to all week, surpassed all anticipation. It was headed by the Junior Town Police in uniform, followed by the Roseburg Boys' Band and Boy Scouts; next came a car in which were Miss Brown, Junior director, Lenoir Stanton, mayor of Junior Town, Garland Res, clerk and Gene Burt, deputy. Other features of the parade were the clown band, the wild animals in cages and on foot, and the juvenile clown float. The children marching in costume of every design and hue gave a colorful and fantastic appearance to the aggregation that delighted a large and enthusiastic street audience. The balloon vendors created a real circus atmosphere. The parade marched from the Chautauqua tent down Douglas to Jackson, up Jackson to Lane, from Lane to Main, and back to the tent where the prizes for the best costumes were awarded by Clow Taylor. And the tent was turned over to him and the children for the afternoon.

The week has been full of interesting features for the children. The Junior Town meetings gave the boys and girls a glimpse into real civic affairs, and the rules passed relative to conduct prove them thoughtful law-breakers. The Junior Town song added interest to this phase of the work.

The Chautauqua service is desirous of having this work continue and Miss Myth Henderson, English instructor at the Rose School who has been assisting in the work, has consented to carry it on during the year.

She plans, if it can be arranged, to organize a Junior Town in each of the three grade schools. Another phase of the work was the stories of sense and nonsense told by the Chautauqua director, Miss Brown. The games and folk dances were an enjoyable safety valve for the overflowing vacation spirits of the children. The physical tests for the national badges have not been completed, but the children are so interested in receiving these badges that the local committee will continue the work next week and send in the reports. A stunt program at Friday's Junior Town meeting was enjoyed by the citizens of Junior Town and many visitors.

This week has been an outstanding one for the children and Miss Brown wishes to thank the local committee, consisting of Miss Adeline Stewart, Mrs. Fitzpatrick, Miss Helen Casey, Miss Myth Henderson, Miss Mildred Starrett, Miss Helen Churchill, Miss Neva Church and Miss Rosa B. Parrott, for their assistance. She also wishes to express her appreciation to the Boys' Band, the Boy Scouts, to C. A. Lockwood Motor Company and to Denn's Transfer company for the use of their trucks, and to the Chief of Police, all of whom assisted in making the parade a success.

STARMER IS PRAISED

Sheriff Starmer comes in for praise and commendation in a short article printed in the American Railway Journal. His organization and record for law enforcement are mentioned in public office. Of course, the writer got halled up and said Douglas county, Arizona, but Sam's picture was there as big as life, so that the geographical error may be overlooked.
