Rainbow Gardens Will Be Mecca Tonight

The Rainbow Garden Dance at Winchester tonight will draw the majority of the younger set to this popular outdoor resort, which has been the favored spot for dancers during the summer months.

A musical program of unusual interest has been arranged by the Blue Devils orchestra for tonight. The Byrnes Hawaiian Instrumental Quartette of Tacoma, Washington, the members of which are visiting here, will play a concert starting at 8:45 and continuing until 9:15, and will also be featured during the evening of dancing. Mr. Byrnes is the head of the Byrnes Conservatory of Music at Tacoma, and the quartette is in frequent demand for afternoon teas, and small society dances at Tacoma. The entertainment is offered free to the public by the Blue Devils.

The Rainbow Gardens, which has up to this time been in a rather uncompleted condition, has been finished and decorated, and the combination of brilliant, colored electric lights, and many colored streamers is unusually effective. The beauty of the river near the Gardens has been reproduced in a scene at one end of the pavilion where a colonnade and draperies frame the orchestra.

Old Friends Entertain Portland Visitor

Mrs. E. E. Applewhite has as her house guest Mrs. A. P. Fulkerson (Jessie Pluke) of Portland, formerly a resident of Roseburg. Old friends of Mrs. Fulkerson are planning several informal entertainments in her honor. On Tuesday Mrs. Applewhite was hostess at luncheon having as her guests Mrs. A. P. Fulkerson, Mrs. J. F. Rice, Mrs. J. D. Osborn, Mrs. Howard Carnes, Miss Alice Mahan and Miss Eva Rice. Today Mrs. Osborn was luncheon hostess to the same group, and Mrs. Rice is entertaining for Mrs. Fulkerson on Monday.

Interesting Meeting of Lilac Circle Planned

An unusually interesting meeting of Lilac Circle No. 49, Neighbors of Woodcraft is planned for Monday evening at the K. P. Hall. There will be a program luncheon. Each member of the circle is urged to attend, and bring a friend who does not belong.

Country Club Will Entertain Tomorrow

The outdoor event of most interest here recently will be the golf tournament at the Country Club Sunday, when the Roseburg players will meet twenty-five members of the Marshfield Club who will journey to Roseburg for the day. The Marshfield members will bring their wives, and will be entertained at the club by the Roseburg ladies. All members of the Roseburg club are urged to plan on spending the day at the club house to entertain the visitors.

Goodman's Hosts at Picnic Party Friday

An outdoor picnic at Hutton's Grove, for which Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Goodman were hosts Friday evening, entertained a number of the younger matrons and their husbands. The party motored to the Grove at six for a picnic supper and evening of games and campfire enjoyment. Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Goodman were Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Quine, Mr. and Mrs. R. Nunsaker, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Rapp, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Osborn.

Mrs. Florence Dabney Returned Friday from San Francisco

Mrs. Florence Dabney returned Friday from San Francisco where she has been a guest of friends for several weeks. Her mother, Mrs. A. A. Jones who has been at Stockton with her sister, Mrs. Ann Scarlett, will remain for an additional two weeks, and will be accompanied by Mrs. Scarlett who will spend part of the winter here.

Court House Employees Frolic at Forks

One of the largest gatherings of the season was the picnic of court house employees, their families and friends Friday evening, about seventy-five making the trip to the forks of the river where the picnic supper was spread at 6:45. Miss Agnes Pitchford was chairman of the event, which was one of the most successful and amusing of the large picnics of the summer.

During the supper hour County Treasurer J. E. Sawyer and County School Superintendent O. C. Brown, spoke and ukelele music and songs by two young ladies who are visiting here with Mrs. Ted Post were enjoyed.

A kangaroo court with Judge Quine presiding, followed the picnic. In passing sentence on the defendants, with Ted Post as sheriff, John O'Gerety as prosecuting attorney, I. B. Riddle, Agnes Pitchford, Mr. Downard, Mrs. Post at attorneys, and a jury composed of Mrs. O. C. Brown, Mrs. J. E. Sawyer, Mrs. George Sewell, Mrs. W. C. Belt, Mrs. George Quine, Mrs. Frank Calkins, Mrs. Wm. Buzzell, Mrs. Mora Frear, Harry Burr, was tried, for "Wishing it would rain and spoil the picnic." The case was dismissed because it didn't rain. Floyd Frear was charged with grand larceny "Hole in the Oak Street Bridge." The court ruled that it was not a county case and should be taken to the city recorder as it is in the city limits. Verma Kohlhagen was charged with being "Single," and found guilty as charged. In passing sentence the judge gave Miss Kohlhagen her choice of all the men at the picnic for a husband. She chose O. C. Brown and as he was a married man, divorce proceedings were started at once. Divorce was granted and Mrs. Brown was given two thousand dollars a month alimony, after which the wedding took place immediately, with Judge Quine officiating. Ted Post as the bride's father, Frank Calkins as ring bearer, Mr. Downard as best man, and Peggy Bates as bridesmaid. After the usual congratulations, court was adjourned. Before breaking up the group sang "America." The picnic will be annual hereafter.

Those attending the picnic were: Mr. and Mrs. George K. Quine, Evelyn Quine, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Frear, Mrs. Mora Frear, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Epstein, and family, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Richardson, Mr. Wolford, Maurice Bowker, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Riddle, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Sawyer, Miss Gertrude Rast, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Starnier and family, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Buzzell, Mrs. Corrine Alley, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Calkins, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Calkins, Miss Maude Bridges, Mrs. Bridges, Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Belt, and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Post, Miss Marion Porter, Geo. Bradburn, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Brown, Alie Houser and family, Agnes M. Pitchford, Mrs. V. M. Pitchford, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Welch, Billy Welch, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Burr, Harry Burr, Charles Peter, Mrs. and Mrs. G. J. W. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Gordon, Miss Verma Kohlhagen, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Ritter, Miss Leota Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Small, Mrs. Florence Grandy, Miss Winniford Bates, Mrs. Bliss, John O'Gerety, Geo. Neuner and family, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Roberts and family, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Thurber, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Stephenson.

Miss Lois Geddes and Miss Alice Hooper will go to Newport tomorrow for a two weeks vacation. They will join Miss Fay Geddes and Miss Elvan Strader, who are at the resort.

Nutritious Summer Salads

According to the dictionary the word "salad" came, somewhere along its history, from an Italian word meaning salt. And salt is one of the most highly treasured condiments in Italy, because while it is necessary to human diet it is difficult to obtain in that country.

Nutritional research has of late years emphasized the extreme importance of salts and green vegetables to human health, thus proving scientifically the correctness with which the Italian word for salt was used to describe them. Investigation of the "mineral content" of green vegetables has also shown that certain salts needed by the body are contained in salads. All of which is proof of the virtue of having plenty of recipes for them in your collection.

Below are three new salads recently composed by one of the country's leading dietitians. It would be a good idea to clip and file them in your recipe cabinet—after, of course, trying them out to see how delicious they are and planning to repeat them from time to time.

Barcelona Salad.
Cover a serving platter with finely shredded lettuce, which has been crisped on ice. On the lettuce place large slices of chilled and pared tomatoes. Cover the tomato slices alternately with finely chopped Spanish green olives, and finely chopped hard-boiled eggs.

Fall Fashions Hatched

By Hedda Hoyt

Fashion Editor of United Press, NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—The fall fashion egg has burst its shell! Fall fashions that have been hatched in the minds of the designers are now full-fledged and ready to take wing.

The "infant mode" combine the characteristics of the current mode with those of bygone days as will be seen in the following summary of fall styles.

Colors.
Full colors will be dull for afternoon and daytime wear, featuring black, browns, and navy blues. Tete de negre will be a popular shade. More brilliant shades that have been sponsored are shutter green, Venetian fuchsia, burnt russet and lip-stick red.

Suits. Suits will have seven-eighths length coats in almost all instances, and frocks worn beneath them will be straight-lined and unbelted. There is a tendency towards the flare at the bottom of the frock such as the circular flounce which begins below the knees and extends around the skirt. Tailored suits are looked upon rather dubiously and will not be as popular as they have been. Suits show a tendency toward elaboration of trim.

The gown and long coat combination will be very popular, in which case the gown is straight lined and of the same material as the coat.

Coats.
Evening coats will be more popular than capes. Gold metal embroidery trims many of these. Sometimes the sleeves are embroidered, the rest of the wrap remaining plain.

Skirts will remain short and silhouette will remain tube-like. Fur trimming adorns the bottoms of many of the skirts both in wide and narrow band effects. Many of the suit-coats, which extend within 10 inches of the hem of the frock have three rows of fur banding placed at intervals about the bottom of the coat. Sleeves of the coats are generally rather snug-fitting and are finished with four or five-inch cuffs of fur. Upstanding collars of fur will be popular.

Where fur forms the hem-border on the slender frock, the accompanying coat extends just above the fur. Collar and cuffs each mixed with just enough French dressing to moisten. On the olive-covered tomato slices place thin strips of canned pimiento, crosswise; and on the egg-covered slices, strips of green pepper also placed crosswise. Garnish with a wreath of water cress and serve with French dressing.

Chicken, Spanish Olive and Asparagus Salad Espagnole.
Cut the white meat of cooked chicken into cubes, and place in French dressing for an hour. Cut the tips from a dozen stalks of asparagus (cooked or canned) and cut them into French dressing. To each cupful of chicken, allow four thinly sliced Spanish green olives. Add the olives and asparagus tips to the chicken, and serve on leaves of crisp lettuce, with mayonnaise dressing.

Scalloped Salad.
Scald, peel and chill small regular sized tomatoes, then cut each in three slices crosswise. Hard boil half as many eggs as there are persons to be served, and cut in halves crosswise, removing the yolk and cutting a thin slice from the end of each egg half to make it stand erect. Place the white cups of eggs on tomato slices which have been previously arranged on a platter bordered with parsley or lettuce and in each egg place a little stiff mayonnaise. Insert a large Spanish green olive in each egg cup, then mash the yolks of the eggs well, moisten them with mayonnaise and color with paprika. Force this mixture through a pastry tube about the yolks and finish the salad by topping each olive with a rosette of the dressing.

Antlers Theatre.
Unique in the field of motion pictures in methods of production, in story, and in system of presentation, "The Night Message," perhaps one of the most-talked-of pictures in screendom, comes to the Antlers theatre today.

It is a Universal all star attraction written and directed from his own story by Perley Poore Sheehan, the celebrated novelist, author of "The Whispering Chorus," "The Seer," "The House with a Bad Name," and other famous stories. The author chose his location, his cast, and arranged his scenes. He organized his players like a stage company and started work by reading them the play and then rehearsing it as a whole, just as Helasco rehearsed a stage play.

Gladya Hulette, who played the leading feminine role in "To Be a Lady," Edgar Kennedy of "Leather Pushers" fame, Margaret Seddon, a prominent player in "A Lady of Quality," are among the players.

Liberty Theatre.
To save her father from bankruptcy Nan married Peter Cradock, 15 years her senior—a wealthy mine-owner whom she did not love. Just as they were setting out on her honeymoon a kindly fate snatched her from the arms of her husband; sent him to South America and left her in her father's house.

Nan almost forgot her marriage. There was Jerry Lister, her childhood friend to help her forget. Then suddenly came a command from her husband to join him in South America. Nan refused absolutely. She had always had her own way and the man wasn't living who could order her about.

Peter came to get her. Nan called her marriage a mistake but her husband refused to release her. He was relentless in his fight for his rights; she stopped at nothing in her fight for her freedom. Which one wins in this great conflict of wills?

climax to "Wandering Husbands," the new James Kirkwood-Lila Lee feature which comes to the Liberty theatre for a three days run beginning tomorrow. James Kirkwood plays the husband, Lila Lee the wife and Margaret Livingston the other woman. The supporting cast includes Eugene Palette, Muriel Frances Dana, Turner Savage, George Pearce and George French.

ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN

by MRS. ELLSBURY
(Address all communications to Mrs. Ellsbury, care of News-Review.)

Dear Mrs. Ellsbury: I am very much in love. Mrs. Ellsbury, with a man that is everything I want in a man except that I cannot trust him. He is very good looking, and lately I found out that he goes with other girls too. He says he loves me, and will not let me go with any other man, although I don't want to. Now, even though I am in love with him, I don't want him to make a fool of me. What shall I do, go with some one else and turn him down entirely?

TESS: A declaration of love without a definite engagement, means very little Tess. If you are not engaged, and he goes about with other girls even though he says he loves you, I would not think too much about it, but do the same. Go out with another friend very soon, and enjoy yourself. Until you are engaged do not make the mistake of giving all your company to one person. If he really loves you, you will find it out.

Dear Mrs. Ellsbury: I am sure a girl of 17 never had such a problem to decide as I have, and it's not about love either. I have four brothers and sisters, all younger than I am. My father works for rather small wages, and we have just enough to get along on. We are not poor, and live decent, but we don't have anything left over for luxuries. I have a sister 14. My father's aunt is quite well to do and lives in another town quite a way from here. She has offered to send me through college if I will go and live with her. Now, Mrs. Ellsbury, would I be selfish to go. I forgot to tell you that my mother was sick, and I do most of the work, and I take care of the kids. It would be hard for them to get along without me, but they say I can go. What is right to do?

PET: If your family can possibly get along without you, you should not deprive yourself of this opportunity to go to school. Train your sister to do all she can, before you go and promise her that you will help her to go to school when her time comes. With a good education you could do more for your family than you ever can by staying at home. You could spend summers at home of course, and perhaps your Christmas vacation.

SIXTY-ONE CARS OF GREEN PRUNES

Sixty-one carloads of fresh prunes have been shipped from Douglas county up to the present time, it was stated today. Frank Norton reported that he has shipped thirty carloads of prunes, 20 cars from Sutherland, 11 from Myrtle Creek and 5 from Riddle. Foster Batner reports this shipment of 25 carloads.

Owing to the heavy shipments of green fruit the shippers are kept very busy. The shipping of green prunes in carload lots was started as an experiment, and it had been expected that only a very few carloads would be sent out. As a result the shippers did not provide the facilities for handling that would have been arranged had they been able to forecast the heavy shipments which have been sent out. Many growers are splitting their crop and are shipping half green and will save the rest for drying. It is believed that the green prune market in future years will serve as a means of disposing of the surplus and keeping up the prices on the dried fruit.

SUDAN TROUBLE IS REPORTED GROWING

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 16.—The British troops have yet been dispatched to the Sudan, but a battalion of the Argyll and Sutherland highlanders stationed at Ismailia, is leaving today for Sudan.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—An official communiqué has been issued by the Egyptian government, according to the exchange telegraph dispatches from Cairo, stating that the Egyptian minister to

LOCAL NEWS

Brings in Corn.
D. C. McElhenny of Glengary, today brought several ears of sweet corn to the News-Review office. The corn is among the best to be seen in the city, the ears being very large and well filled out.

Enroute to Crater Lake.
A. S. Dudley and Jake Allen of the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce, passed through the city last night enroute to Crater Lake where they will attend a meeting of the gateway cities' representatives at that place. They stressed the importance of Roseburg to have a representative at the meeting and it is likely that several local members of the Chamber of Commerce will make the trip.

Committee to Visit Camp.
The Chamber of Commerce committee to visit the auto camp this evening is composed of the following: Messrs. Chas. Chowler, J. H. Clark, Leon McClintock, Roy Catching, Dr. H. C. Church and J. V. Casey. It has been found that it takes approximately one hour and a half to make the rounds of the camp, so all committeemen should try and start in at around 7 o'clock in the evening. For Sunday evening the following are the committeemen: Messrs. T. H. Nees, D. E. Carr, J. E. McClintock, W. F. Chapman, F. H. Churchill and P. L. Calkins. It is suggested that this committee start in at 6 o'clock so as to give the tourists any information they may wish about church services.

Rev. Trites Returning.
The many Sutherland friends of Rev. George P. Trites and family will read the following from the Table Rock, Neb. Argus of August 8th, with pleasing interest. At the meeting of the official board of the M. E. Church, held last Sunday after the regular morning services, Rev. Geo. P. Trites, who has been pastor of the church for the past two years, announced that he had decided to leave Nebraska and would return to Oregon. He asked to be relieved the latter part of the month in order to get to Oregon about the first of September. His request was granted. He expects to retain his membership in the Nebraska conference and will do supply work in Oregon. Mr. Trites is one of the best pulpit orators in Nebraska, and Table Rock has always deemed itself fortunate in having him for its pastor, and will give him up with reluctance but realize that it would be an injustice to him to try to keep him.

Back From Crater Lake.
Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Nichols and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Kirk, who have just returned from a vacation trip to Crater Lake, Natural Bridge, Medford, Ashland, Klamath Falls, and various resorts in Southern Oregon, report a delightful trip. The weather was ideal and camping was very enjoyable. Crater Lake this year is 38 degrees lower than ever was known before in history. Fifty men are employed in the Crater Lake park as caretakers and they keep the park in excellent condition and are very kind and courteous to visitors. The campers report that the bears in the park are so tame that they come down to the camps and eat the garbage thrown out for them. In spite of the beauties of Crater Lake, the members of the party maintain that the scenery and camping facilities around Diamond Lake far surpass the national park, and that the road up the North Umpqua will be a valuable asset to the county.

Fire Near Riddle.
A fire broke out six miles south-west of Riddle last Monday on Island creek, and before nightfall had swept over the Iron mountain side toward Middle creek, covering several hundred acres and destroying the outbuildings on the W. R. Winkler place, which were in the path of the flames, says the Riddle Enterprise. Mr. Winkler who is a contractor for the S. P. was just ready to go on his usual run out of Roseburg when a call was sent to him, making it imperative that he come to see what was going on. He immediately left Roseburg and arrived at the fire about 10 o'clock. He found the fire had been burning for some time and was rapidly endangering his whole place. On arrival of Mr. Winkler a crew under the supervision of Deputy Fire Warden Abner Landon left Riddle to do battle. It was discovered that the fire had been started by a lightning bolt. In as much as the fire broke out on one of the trails through that country in several different places, all within a very few minutes. It showed the handiwork of a fire bug, who set the fire for purposes that might have been either a desire to turn the fire into a hunting ground, or a job for some fire fighters, or a long jail sentence for himself. By midnight of that evening there were about 30 men at the scene of the fire.

Shipping Fresh Prunes.
Up to Wednesday afternoon, the P. J. Norton Company, operating the local cannery, had shipped seventeen carloads of fresh prunes to eastern markets, one of the cars being dispatched as express freight, says the Sutherland Sun. Six of the cars sent east were loaded at Myrtle Creek and one at Riddle, the balance being shipped from Sutherland. About twenty people are employed at the local plant packing and loading these prunes into refrigerator cars. Approximately seven hundred bushels of prunes were received at the factory Tuesday, and they still come in truck loads from all directions late in the evening. The P. J. Norton Company has orders for fifty carloads of fresh prunes, and the pickers and packers don't collapse from long hours, they expect to fill every order before the end of the week. While many of the prunes are below normal in size this season, they are of good quality, and free from blemish. A car holds 400 bushels.

Here From Glendale.
C. O. Garrett of Glendale was a business visitor in Roseburg today.

Marriage License Issued.
A marriage license was issued today to P. L. Baird and Ethel Bryant of Oakland.

Speeder Fined.
F. F. Menon today paid a fine of $15 in the local justice court on a charge of speeding.

Here From Medford.
Thomas D. Petch and grandson of Medford are in the city for a day. Mr. Petch is manager of the Oregon Gas & Electric company and while here is looking over the affairs of the Roseburg office.

Goes to State Fair.
J. E. McClintock, who is to serve as manager of the state fair, this year, left yesterday to take up his duties. Mr. McClintock has previously served as auditor at the fair, but because of the increased business the position of manager became necessary and Mr. McClintock was selected for the office. It will require his presence in Salem until late in October.

Monroe Check.
Monroe Check, clerk in the Standard Oil office here for the past few years, was today transferred to the Portland office. He will leave for Portland the latter part of the week to take up his new duties. The transfer is in the form of an advancement and his many friends are pleased to hear of his success. Max Kimmel, who is with the company at Myrtle Creek, has been transferred to this city to take Mr. Check's place. Mr. Kimmel is well known here, having been employed in the Umpqua Valley Bank at one time.

Prunes Shipped Green.
The first car of green prunes to be shipped by Denny & Company from the Salem Fruit Union plant was loaded today to roll out this evening, and Young & Wells expect to ship their first car tomorrow, with the Drager plant. These prunes, being received there today. Yesterday 19 cars were used here for shipment from various points. Tomorrow it is expected the big game will be in earnest and continue to full speed until the prunes are no longer in fit condition to hold up. Word was received here today to the effect that the last green prune car went out of Myrtle Creek yesterday, shipping there being somewhat earlier than here—Salem Capital Journal.

Prune Market Healthy.
The healthy tone of the 1924 prune market was further confirmed with announcement of the North Pacific Prune Exchange that it has joined the advance on prunes and is notifying its brokers of new prices running at 10¢ for 20s, 8¢ for 40s, 6¢ for 50s and 4¢ for 60s. Prices on 50s and 60s stand the same as at the exchange opening, advances being on 20s and 40s. The new prices of the exchange now stand the same as the opening of the Drager Fruit company. This year the Drager people pioneered the way in pulling the dried market and for some time stood alone, with brokers advising them that no sales could be made at the opening because of lower prices of competitors.

Oil Driller Set Up.
With the arrival of a steam boiler from Roseburg preparations will be made rapidly for the setting of the machinery at the new well on the Leeper dome, says the Oakland Tribune. The equipment is now practically complete and with the derrick already up no great delay is anticipated before the actual work of drilling begins. W. L. Cobb of Roseburg was recently elected to the board of directors of the company to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Colby Adams. The finances of the company are reported in very satisfactory condition and there seems to be no doubt on the part of the officers that sufficient funds will be secured to conduct the drilling operations.
