

EXPLOSION ENTOMBS MINERS IN SHAFT

FIVE ARE IN TUNNEL

COAL MINE

Black Smoke Im-

Lives of Men Attempting Rescue.

IS TERRIFIC

tion Breaks in En-

of Tunnel—Aid

hed to Scene in hopeless effort.

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

Nominees Put Worry Aside.

JOHN W. DAVIS & CHAS. W. BRYAN

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

DAVIS BASES TALK ON TARIFF TOPICS

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

BAND TO GIVE FINE PROGRAM THURSDAY

The band concert to be given on Thursday evening of this week, if weather permits, will be the final and best program of the season. The band is endeavoring to make its last appearance in the regular concert schedule, the best of the year, and it is assured that every one present will be well entertained. In addition to the band selections several special features have been arranged. Mrs. Mabel Henry is to sing two solos with band accompaniment. Mrs. Henry will sing "Sunrise and You" and "The Last Rose of Summer." As another feature Dale Stranne and Clyde Carstens will play a trombone and clarinet duet, "Tita's Serenade." The short address, on the subject of Roseburg's greatest need, will be given by Bert G. Bates. Director Shields promises that the band will play some of its finest selections, and that the program will be one of much interest to all music lovers.

OUTLOOK BLACK IS OPINION OF COACH

Such is the opinion of Coach Joe Maddock of the University of Oregon, following the first day's football. Football Coach "Hart" Shellman, who will handle the linemen is full pessimistic. Only two varsity lettermen were out Monday, the initial turnout day. Terjesen, half and Maguire, end, were on hand with some 25 other candidates. A good showing of last year's fresh also reported. Captain Dick Reed, tackle, and Ward Johnson veteran backfield men are expected today. "Unless we can get most of our men this week we don't want them," the coach said. "I don't want to be a gloom spreader, but it all looks about hopeless now," was his comment.

SIX KILLED AS AUTO CRASHES

British Naval Officers Die When Struck by Speeding Machine.

CAR DRIVER IS HELD

Son of Wealthy Newfoundland Railway Owner to Answer Charges for Manslaughter.

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

Fog Holds Up Trans-States Air Journey

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

DECISION UPHOLDS INCOME TAX LAW

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

RACE DRIVER ON LAST LONG RIDE

Jimmy Murphy, Veteran Speed King, Killed in Race Accident.

CAUSE NOT KNOWN

Death Came After Unexplained Crash on Final Lap—Speedsters Pay Last Homage.

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

Eskimo Flappers Like To Smoke Haven't Bobbed Hair, But Are Flapperish

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

UMPUQA CHIEFS WILL ATTEND STATE FAIR

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

BOHEMIA COMPANY BUYS BIG SAWMILL

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

TO DISCUSS NAVY BUDGET FOR YEAR

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

GOOD RACE CARDS IN LAKE CO. FAIR

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

SAYS WASHINGTON FOR CAL COOLIDGE

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

R. H. S. TO HAVE STRONG TEAM

Twenty-four Men Respond to First all for Football Practice.

COACH IS PLEASED

Expects to Have Larger Squad Soon—Roseburg to Play Grants Pass Armistice Day.

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.

BEND FIRE REPORT VERY OPTIMISTIC

When John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential candidate, and his running mate, Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, were in Omaha, Neb., together, they forgot politics long enough to journey to the baseball park and watch a game. Their expressions plainly show their interest.