AGED VETERAN OF MEXICAN WAR DIES

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) ALBANY, Or., Sept. 6.—John McFeeley, 97, veteran of the Mexican war, died at his Lebanon home yesterday. McFeeley's death leaves but two veterans of that war living in Oregon. He served in the marine corps. He had been a resident of Oregon since 1912.

Mr. McFeeley was born August 16, 1827, near Pittsburgh, Penn., and as a youth ran away from home to Pittsburgh. He joined the United States Marine force in 1846 and first saw duty on the United States Ship Ohio, later being transferred to the U. S. S. Warren. Both ships did coast patrol duty during the Mexican war.

After three year's service he was honorably discharged in San Francisco. Following his discharge he engaged in work on boats, chiefly on California rivers. He also engaged in farm work.

In 1912 because of failing eyesight he retired and came to Linn county to make his home with his eldest son, S. T. McFeeley.

Mr. McFeeley, despite his age, was hale and hearty until a short time before his death, he weighed 200 pounds. He attributed his long life to clean living.

PROHIBITION OFFICERS IN BATTLE WITH WETS

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

EUGENE, Or., Sept. 16.—Guns barked and blood spilled here Sunday morning shortly after midnight when Malvin "Blackie" Coyle, John Stuman and E. L. Pyle were placed under arrest under charges of disobedience of the liquor laws of the nation.

Coyle, who is a Cottage Grove man, was driving his car along the road across the river from Eugene when a special investigator stopped his car. Stuman, a Trent man, and Pyle, of Eugene, were also in the car at the time.

Seeing the officer's star as the investigator clambered aboard, Coyle shoved the man and started the car. A shot from the officers' gun flattened the tire and two more found marks in the machine. The officer, was clinging to the running board all the while.

Coyle swung the car close to a telephone pole and swerved about the road in an effort to dislodge the investigator. A blow from the revolver finally stunned the driver and the car stopped. The three men were placed under arrest, and quantity of liquor was seized in the car.

LELAND STANFORD TEAM TO BE STRONG

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) SEATTLE, Sept. 16.—Leland Stanford, Jr., University's football star, is to be a serious contender for Pacific Coast football championship honors this fall, said backfield coach Kerr in an article which the Post-Intelligencer printed today.

"Only one real difficult hole has to be patched up in the gridiron machine," said Coach Kerr. "That is the post left vacant by Captain Scotch Campbell, quarter-back. Other good men are absent from the eleven this year, but with the appearance of Ernie Nevers as a fullback candidate and a wealth of good halfbacks, the problem of Coach Kerr is to find the best combination."

"There will be 12 freshman men who have had two full years of experience under our present system of football. The team, therefore, should be better, stronger and more powerful than the 1923 squad."

FAMOUS BASEBALL MANAGER IS DEAD

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—Baseball today mourned Frank Chance, the peerless leader of the Chicago American League White Sox, whose sudden death in Los Angeles yesterday, ended a battle he had fought against asthma and other complications since an attack of influenza he suffered more than a year ago.

Chicago which had hailed his selection as manager of the White Sox last year and hoped against hope that his health would permit him to take active charge of the team, particularly felt a keen regret. For to Chicago, as manager of the Cubs, Chance brought four National League pennants and two world's championships.

Johnny Evers, acting manager of the White Sox, and member of the famous triumvirate "tinker to Evers to Chance," paid his tribute to the dead mentor, with whom he had been associated since 1902.

"It is a severe blow to learn that Frank has passed along," Evers said. "From 1902 to 1912 we were together daily during the playing season. When Frank accepted the managership of the White Sox he immediately offered me a place as his assistant. I jumped at it because I wanted to be associated with the old boy again. Then he was taken ill and I was glad to handle the team until he could report."

"He made a game fight of it."

HEINLINE CONSERVATORY PUTS OUT YEAR BOOK

Mrs. C. S. Heinline, of the Heinline Conservatory of Music, has issued a most attractive catalogue covering the various departments of music and art maintained by that school. The catalogue gives in detail the courses offered, and information regarding each of the instructors, together with a report of their training and preparation for the positions which they hold. The year book is most complete in every respect and will be of much interest to the patrons of the conservatory and those interested in the advancement of music, art and culture in the community.

PRINCE WILL WATCH MORE POLO GAMES

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) SYOSSET, N. Y., Sept. 16.—After a luncheon today at the Meadowbrook club, the Prince of Wales will make what may be his last public appearance in the United States on the present visit.

When he takes the seat of honor at the second polo match between the British and Americans, the prince will wear a blue and white uniform. The prince won $640 on a horse race yesterday. He backed Duettiste, Joseph E. Widener's 12-year-old which won the $10,000 Brook handicap steeplechase at Belmont Park. Standing by the owner of Duettiste, the prince eagerly watched the race, his excitement increasing as the horse gained on the entire field and Ed by fifteen lengths at the finish.

After the race the prince personally collected his winnings.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) SYOSSET, N. Y., Sept. 16.—The Prince of Wales will again sit in the royal box at Meadowbrook this afternoon and witness the second of the polo matches between America and England. It is the British team should defeat the Americans, thus tying the score, the prince will remain on Long Island to see the final match. But it is no secret that the servants in the James A. Burden home, occupied by the royal party, have been directed to get the luggage ready for departure Thursday night.

Yesterday the prince inspected the editorial and mechanical rooms of the publishing house at Garden City founded in 1900 by Walter Hines Page, ambassador to the Court of St. James, from 1912 to 1915. The prince had read with great interest the "Life and Letters" of Mr. Page, who was an apostle of closer relations between Britain and America, and wanted to visit the Doubleday-Page plant.

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) TUCSON, Ariz., Sept. 16.—After hearing motion and argument by attorneys for United States Senator Ralph Cameron, seeking the quashing of contempt of court proceedings against the Arizona solon, Federal Judge W. H. Sawtelle late yesterday continued the hearing until 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The Arizona senator is charged with contempt of court by his occupancy of certain mining claims after the United States District court issued an injunction to restrain Cameron and his associates from using the land.
