

LOCAL NEWS

Brings Home Buck—

Dr. J. R. Chapman went into the hills Sunday for deer, and came home last night with a fine buck.

Back from Roundup—

Garry Rapp, who spent a good part of last week attending the Pendleton Roundup, came home last night.

Redding Hotel Man Here—

John F. Walker, who is connected with the Lorenz hotel at Redding, Calif., is in the city a guest at the Grand.

Shopping Here Today—

Mrs. Davis and daughter, Miss Mildred, were in the city from Sutherlin, today, shopping and looking after business matters.

Registered at Grand—

T. B. Davis of Glendale registered at the Grand hotel yesterday, and is in town looking after business matters.

Fire Department Called—

The fire department was called out just before noon yesterday for a grass fire on Ella street. The fire threatened several buildings, but was easily extinguished.

Going Hunting—

W. S. Powell, who recently moved from Roseburg to Eugene, came back to this city last night, and, accompanied by Howard Church left this morning for Cow Creek canyon to enjoy a short hunting trip.

Mother Returning—

C. E. Smith, of North Roseburg, left Saturday night for Portland, where he will meet his mother, Mrs. Smith, who has been visiting at the home of her daughter in Nyssa, Ore. They will return here tomorrow.

Home at Week End—

P. D. Wolford, who is working at Glendale where contractors are laying the paving from the town to connect up with the Pacific highway, 3 1/2 miles south of that place, was in town over the week end visiting with home folks.

Adds to Window Display—

La. A. Ueland brought to the chamber of commerce Saturday a bunch of Black Prince grapes weighing over 3 1/2 pounds. Christian Anderson of Looking Glass also contributed to the chamber window display three pears weighing nearly 4 1/2 pounds.

Going to O. A. C.—

Glenn Britt, who has been doing ranger duty, came in from his station in the mountains yesterday and was met here by his brother, Lewis, who came down from Corvallis. Both of the young men expect to attend O. A. C. this year, and will leave in a short time for Corvallis.

Return to Seattle—

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Stevens returned to Seattle Saturday after a two weeks visit here at the home of S. D. Dunn. Chauncey Dunn, who graduated from Roseburg High School last year, accompanied them home, and will attend the University of Washington.

Looking After Interests—

W. H. Richardson, of Portland, a former resident and druggist of this city, arrived in Roseburg last night and is looking after property interests here today. Mr. Richardson recently sold the central telephone building and the adjacent lots on the north to Perry Foster and Roland Agee.

Former Pastor in Town—

Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Spencer, of Portland, who are well known to many of Roseburg's people, the former having served as pastor of the local Methodist Episcopal church for several years, were in town Sunday. They had been attending the Methodist conference at Medford.

Equinox Tonight—

Autumn will be officially ushered in tonight, according to Weather Observer Wm. Bell, who reports that the autumn equinox takes place at 11:59 p. m. on the 120th meridian. The weather forecast in connection with the equinox predicts rain tonight, and warmer weather tomorrow.

Back From Alaska—

J. D. Wynn, who has been spending the summer at Steamboat Bay, near Ketchikan, Alaska, has returned to Roseburg. He will remain here for the winter employed at the California Packing plant, but expects to go back to Alaska again next year.

Four Throat Operations—

Four throat operations were performed this morning for the four children of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hutchins, of Days Creek. The surgery was performed by Dr. Seely, the little folks all being patients at the local hospital. They were accompanied by their parents.

Building Store—

G. M. Denton, who arrived here from Tennessee some few months ago, and who later bought the Davis house on South Stephens street, is now building a store on the main street of Brockway street. Mr. Denton expects to put in a stock of groceries as soon as the building is completed.

Purchased Another Place—

W. T. Craven of the Lone Oak ranch at Brockway was in Roseburg today. Mr. Craven has just purchased the old Hewitt place near Brockway from its present owner, Mrs. Mildred Bulker. He will run both places but will continue to reside at the Lone Oak ranch.

Will Attend Academy—

Mr. Percy Crowley and daughter Miss Genevieve, of Coquille, were in the city today for a few hours. They were enroute to Sutherlin, where the young lady will enroll as a student at the academy.

Small Fine Paid—

V. R. Sanders paid a fine of $1.50 in the city court today for parking in front of a fire hydrant.

Drive From Eugene—

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Welch of Eugene, spent yesterday in Roseburg visiting at the Pitchford home.

License Issued—

A marriage license was issued on Saturday to Walter W. Wolfe, of Brush, Colorado, and Nellie Henry of this city.

Visiting Daughters Here—

Mrs. C. B. Patrick of Eugene, is visiting in Roseburg with her daughters, Mrs. A. C. Spencer and Miss Clara Patrick.

In Town on Business—

S. L. Moss, of Ten Mile, prune grower and farmer of that locality, was attending to business affairs in Roseburg this morning.

Riddle Folks in Town—

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Cornutt, of Riddle, pioneers of that place, spent the day in Roseburg shopping and visiting with friends.

Up From Umpqua—

Jess Shambrook, well known grower of the Umpqua country, was a business visitor to this city today.

Visiting Friends—

Watson C. Lea, formerly a resident of Drain, this county, but now of Forest Grove was in the city today renewing friendships with Roseburg acquaintances.

Business Here Today—

Mr. and Mrs. Ed D. Neely, of Looking Glass valley, were in town today looking after shopping interests and chatting with friends.

Sunday Here—

Don Denning of Marshfield, spent Sunday in this city visiting with friends. Mr. Denning formerly lived in Roseburg, and has a host of acquaintances here.

Drive to Fair—

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Taylor, Mrs. C. B. Patrick, and Miss Clara Patrick, drove to Myrtle Point Saturday and spent the day attending the county fair in progress there.

Patient Doing Well—

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Moore, of Days Creek, was operated on at Mercy Hospital today for throat trouble, Dr. Seely being the attending surgeon.

Leave for Portland—

Mrs. Bert G. Bates and B. W. Bates left in the latter's car yesterday for Portland where they will spend a week visiting with Mrs. B. W. Bates, who is in Portland for her health.

Attending State Fair—

Mr. and Mrs. John Busenbark, who reside near Melrose, are following their usual custom of attending the State Fair at Salem. They left Sunday and will spend the week at Salem.

Joins News-Review Force—

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Yockey and two children arrived here last night and will locate in this city. Mr. Yockey, who is an experienced printer, has joined the force of the News-Review.

W. C. T. U. To Meet—

The Glengary W. C. T. U. will meet Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 at the home of Mrs. Floyd Betts. All members are requested to be present, and everyone is cordially invited to attend.

On Hunting Trip—

D. C. Humphrey, a former resident of this city, now employed as a linotype operator on the Portland Oregonian force, accompanied by a party of friends, arrived here last night, and will spend a few days in the canyon hunting.

Mrs. Clough Here—

Mrs. Blanche Clough who is making her home in San Francisco, arrived in Roseburg today for a short visit with friends and relatives. She will continue on to Portland before returning to California.

Returning Home—

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Osborne, of Hotel Chaudier, of Marshfield, Mrs. V. Glasco and Mrs. Stein, spent last night as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Weaver. They are returning home to Coos Bay after a business trip to Portland, field.

Fascinated With Roseburg—

Fred H. Jacobs and wife, the former an attorney of Santa Cruz, California, drove into the Highway Service Station garage last night on their way south. They have been touring the Northwest and of all the towns visited on their trip of several weeks, Roseburg appeals to them most. The valley and hills, the wonderful river and the delightful sunshine were praised by these people from the southland.

Here From Marshfield—

Ernest Barnum and wife, of Marshfield, are visitors in the city today. They started to San Francisco yesterday, but met with an auto accident south of Dillard, and are waiting here today while repairs are made to their machine. The delay will necessitate a change in their plans, and they will give up their trip to San Francisco for the present and instead will go to the State Fair and on to Portland for a few days.

Calvin Coolidge The Biography of a President

CALVIN COOLIDGE, IN HIS EARLIEST EXTANT PHOTO.

It is relatively unimportant, but curiously interesting, to know that the most taciturn president this country ever has had was born on the noisiest day of our national life.

On July 4, 1872, when fire-crackers were slipping and booming throughout the land, Calvin Coolidge first opened his eyes in the hill-town of Plymouth, Vermont.

Some biographers are loath to respect the privacy of even his first few hours on earth. They tell a story, which never has been verified, but which has gained no little circulation. They say his nicknames of "Silent Cal" dates back to those first moments on earth.

It seems the very young Cal had been crying lustily. The more he cried the more difficult it became for his father to sleep. The family physician was of no help and neither was a solicitous mother. All anyone could do was hope for the best.

Finally they noted that the baby's eyes had become riveted on the only decoration on the walls, a portrait of William the Silent, the great Dutch statesman. They brought the picture closer.

Then, as R. M. Washburn, a biographer notes, "peace came to that household and to its mother. The child studied the face and the features of the portrait and then, placing the end of one of his small forefingers upon the mouth of that great prince and the other upon one of his ears, he, too, was content and happy, and he, too, slept, and peace overwhelmed that small house and that small family.

"From that hour he then became and has since continued, 'Calvin the Silent.'"

And Calvin Coolidge the Silent he has remained. To those who have studied his uncannily successful career from 1899, when he was elected to the city council of Northampton, Massachusetts, until he assumed the presidency of the United States, it is this grim economy of words that fascinates.

But there is no doubt in the mind of anyone that the president's granite-like exterior is but the outgrowth of his early environment. He is the typical New Englander. The house in which he was born and brought up is in the Green Mountains. It overlooks a wide sweep of valley and is just across the street from the house now occupied by his father.

When Coolidge was twelve, his mother died, and the boy went to live on "Grandfather Coolidge's" farm a short distance away. There is nothing pretentious about Plymouth. People there live by the sweat of their brows.

The winters in that section are long and cold and severe. In a way they serve to harden them, to make them more independent, more dour and self-reliant.

When Coolidge was six he went to the district school at Plymouth Notch. Here he learned the three "R's." Even then he was different from the rest. He did not mumble. When school was out he would hurry home to work. He was always on time and his lessons always were

The First Story on the Life of John W. Davis Will Appear Tomorrow.

Day at Glendale— F. S. Jones, representing the Lockwood Motor Co., spent the day at Glendale.

Spends Night Here—

F. S. Bramwell, of Grants Pass, stopped at the Umpqua Hotel last night on his way to Portland.

Over From Oakland—

I. H. Tutthill, well known in the Oakland country, was doing business in this city today. Mr. Tutthill motored over this morning.

Going to O. A. C.—

Misses Vivian Orgutt and Verus Houser left today for Corvallis, where they will attend O. A. C. during the coming school year.

In Town Today—

R. E. Dale, of Powers, Oregon, is in town today perfecting arrangements for the agency of the roadfinder light for Coos county.

Visitor From Tiller—

J. D. Van Dyke, stockman from the Tiller county on the upper South Umpqua, was a business visitor to Roseburg this forenoon.

Visit Over Sunday—

Mrs. W. F. Drager and children, of Salem, visited in the city over Sunday, spending last night at the Umpqua. They returned to Salem this morning.

Road Work Progressing—

J. M. Myers, superintendent of the road construction work east of Rock Creek, spent last night at the Umpqua Hotel. He reports work progressing in a very satisfactory manner.

Lakeview Party Visits—

Cornelia Robertson, Nellie Carroll, Joycelyn Robertson, C. E. Williams and R. Peterson, all of Lakeview, were registered at the Umpqua last night. The young ladies are going to Corvallis to enter school.

Coos Bay People Here—

Roseburg was visited yesterday by a large number of people from Coos Bay. Many were on their way to the state fair and stopped here for lunch. Among those who registered at the Umpqua Hotel last night and remained over today, were Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Davis and son, P. V. McElwain, and W. E. Coleman, H. S. Johnson.

settled in Watertown, Massachusetts. The Watertown records show him as first mentioned in 1636. The town granted him land and he was admitted as a freeman. Not satisfied, he bought more property. His name appears rather frequently after that and shows he was elected a selectman or councilman many times.

That he was a man of education is evident. He was used freely to witness deeds, sign wills and indorse other legal documents. He left considerable property and a large family, though it is not known how many sons and daughters.

His descendants appear frequently. One was a farmer. Another tried his hand at carpentry. Others were soldiers, one serving in the Revolutionary War. At least one joined the vestments of his church.

The grandfather of the president was named Calvin Galusha Coolidge. There is also mention of a Carlos Coolidge, who was governor of Vermont in 1849.

The president's immediate forbears were decidedly inconspicuous, as measured in present day terms. They were a quiet lot. They were for the most part storekeepers or farmers. In fact, there appears to be a distinct gap socially between several groups of the family. One branch "looked down" on the other branch. It is probable, too, that the less wealthy group, from which the president came, was just as independent as the other.

Galusha, the grandfather, was a farmer. He lived literally from crop to crop. His son, the president's father, became a storekeeper, but at various times served as deputy sheriff, constable and state assessor. He also served in the Legislature, both branches, and takes his title of "Colonel" by virtue of being on the staff of Governor W. W. Stickney.

Coolidge's mother, who died when he was a boy of 12, was Victoria Joseph Moor. His father married again, the second time to Carrie G. Brown, who died in 1920.

In his boyhood, Coolidge was always girl-shy. He never danced, it is related, and seldom talked. They tell a story about his son, John. His mother wanted him to go to dancing school.

"Did father go to dancing school when he was young?" asked the lad. "No," replied his mother, "but that is no reason why you shouldn't." "Well," John said, "father seemed to do pretty well without learning to dance, so I guess I won't learn, either."

The first touch of sadness, so often associated with his serene face with drooping mouth, crept into the life of the president just after his graduation from the academy. He had delivered the class oration and was homeward bound with happy thoughts. He was met with the news that his beautiful sister, Abigail, had died. The father had been devoted to the girl, who gave much promise. She taught school when but twelve years of age.

Now that she had been taken away, Colonel Coolidge seemed to draw closer to Calvin. He had dedicated his life to the boy, for in him rested all the hopes of the Coolidge family.

agricultural college, one of the party said they did not. These people will reach their destination tonight and enroll at their respective colleges tomorrow.

Try our Merchants Lunch— 11:30 a. m. to 2 p. m., 50c. Palace of Sweets.

PHILLY MAN QUALIFIES

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) ARDMORE, Pa., Sept. 22.—D. Clark Cochran, of Philadelphia, today won the qualifying medal of the National Amateur gold championship with 67-75-142 for the 36 hole test. Two strokes better than Bobby Jones of Atlanta. The 112 is a new record in National Amateur golf.

Jones finished with 72-72-144 for the 26 holes. Dr. F. O. Whiting of Portland, Ore., with an 81 today, made his total 158.

Grass seeds and burn mixtures at Wharton Bros.

Jelly grapes at the Overland Orchards—2c a lb.

THE FERN FLORISTS

We have just received a fresh shipment of IMPORTED BULBS DIRECT FROM HOLLAND. CHINESE SACRED LILIES PAPER WHITE NARCISSUS HYACENTH, ALL COLORS TULIPS IN WANTED SHADES

Our stock of other flowers is very complete, come and visit our greenhouse at any time. We will gladly try to please you.

Say it with Flowers from The Fern

109 SOUTH JACKSON ST. FLOWERPHONE 240

LIST PRICES OF DODGE BROTHERS SPECIAL TYPE CARS REDUCED

Economies effected in the purchase of special equipment on Dodge Brothers Special type cars, due to substantially increased volume, make it possible for Dodge Brothers to reduce the list prices on these types, effective Sept 15.

Prices of all standard types remain unchanged.

DODGE BROTHERS

J. O. Newland & Son Dodge Brothers Dealers ROSEBURG, OREGON

Trainer Says Circus Animals Like to Perform

learn at first. They're exactly like little children, but when they find that no harm is meant, that each lesson is given in kindness, with tid-bit rewards for each proper advance, they begin to exhibit interest. Soon they do their work with zeal. In fact, the happiest hour of the day for my pumas, next to feeding time, of course, is that in which they exhibit their higher education to the crowds in the stands.

Before you buy your furnace let us show you the NORTHWESTERN PIPE OR PIPELESS ZIGLER-FEE HARDWARE CO. PHONE 25 WATCH OUR WINDOWS FOR BARGAINS