MODERN RESTLESSNESS.

Many philosophers have commented upon the spirit of restlesaness that so largely dominates the modern world. The chairman of the international relations committee of the General Federation of Woman's Clubs lately expressed the opinion that this spirit promotes war, since many restless people may welcome war as a vent for their passions. Perhaps not many people would go as far as that, yet restlessness does have some harmful results. Formerly people were wrist content to live in simpler ways. They sat on their porches and around their firesides, and discussed politics, religion, etc. This promoted public intelligence. In spite of all our fine ter bit. schools, there is a question if the average person is more intelligent now than the average citizen of 50 years ago. Although newspapers and books offer means of self education to all, yet many people are too busy and restless to read. The majority of people used to work ploddingly and faithfully, tisements. but they were not very wide awake. If they had always done their work in a certain way, they were disposed to keep on doing it the same. It was hard to induce them to take up progressive measures for the benefit of their communities. progressive measures for the benefit of their communities. These restless times make many people superficial in their These restless times make many people superficial in their thinking. But they do not give a certain mental quickness. If a new idea is introduced in one town and if it works out write but who can make an "X." well there, it is likely to spread very widely. New processes in industry and business are quickly imitated and the people hain't. get the benefit. So restlessness has its good as well as its harmful side. If this spirit can only make us desire to improve our minds and working ability, as it makes us want to move around and see new things, then it ought to promote human progress.

At a meeting of the board of officentors of the Roseburg Chamber of Commerce held last evening, with Dr. A. F. Sether, president, in the chair, several matters were presented for consideration that were deemed of much importance. Among these was the statement of Mayor Rice, who caded attention to the fact as he understands it that the rondiside stands at Dillard are not carrying the best possible fruit. It was alleged that inferior attiff is being sold to tourbit and others who buy from those road-side vendors. According to Mayor Rice, the owners of these retail stands give as their reason for this policy that the best of the trull was constanted for, and they was constacted for, and the had to take the cuils. The mayor suggested that the chamber at tempt to do something to remedy this gractice, as it is imperative that tourists be sold only the very hat Couries he sold only the very part of the Unipola Valley pro-lects in order to live up to the Charles Roberts, chief deputy shor-claims set out in the savertising iff in charge of tax collection in matter circulated. The rock, which weighs about five pounds, had been in the stream only a short time, for it had not been subjected to the action of water. An effort is now being made to find the place from which it became detach-od, and if this can be located, it is quite possible that the fossilized skeleton of some prehistoric crea-ture may be discovered.
