> In spite of a rate and drizzle in spite of a rain and drizzio which made it most disagreeable for spectators and marchers, the Armistice Day parade staged by Umpqua Post of the American Legion this morning was a most suc-cessful event in every particular. Nearly a mile and a half in length it truly typified the spirit of the day, and was interesting, inspiring and amusing.

The parade was led by the marshal of the day, then the colors, and band. There followed the Women's Relief corps, G. A. R. Spanish American war veterans, national guard, and ex-service men, and other national corpusation.

and other patriotic organizations.

The beautiful float entered by the auxiliary of the American Legion was followed by the great host of school children, who marched in perfect formation. Benson, Rose, Fullerton and high school were all represented. A cabinet and has expressed the float was entered by the camptire girls.

MARION, Ill., Nov. 11.—Health authorities of Williamson county today were awaiting word from the state board of health regarding its findings in 14 cases believed to be pnuemonic plague at Hurst and Bush, mining towns.

According to Dr. Springs, of Dewmaines, the patients have shown "all symptoms" of the plague. Twelve of the cases were reported from Hurst, two ending in deaths. A representative of the board spent several days investigating the cases, but his report will not be made public until it reaches the board.

Profuse bleeding from the nose is an unfavorable symptom in these cases, according to Dr.

Pneumonic And Bubonic Plague Same; Carried by Fleas

Pneumonic And Babonic Plague Same; Carried by Fleas BALTIMORE, Nov. 11.—One germ is responsible for both the bubonic and the pneumonic plagues according to Dr. Wulion Teh director in chief of the North Manchurian plague service, who is pursuing special research work and studies at the Johns Hopkins School of Hyglene and Public Health here.

Dr. Wu is said to be one of the foremost authoritie on pneumonic plague, which recently has claimed many lives in Los Angeles.

In the case of bubonic plague, says Dr. Wu, the germ attacks the lymph glands. It is transmitted by fleas.

When it develops in the pneumonic form, however, the germ is carried by the patient's cough and thus is spread with great rapidity, the doctor assertied. This form is more fatal than the bubonic, Dr. Wu says, the death rate approaching 100 per cent. He added that with good sanitary control and strict isolation of those infected, the pneumonic plague may be speedily controlled.

Dr. Wu said that in Manchuria,
