ROSEBURG, OREGON, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1924.

THE AVARICIOUS SPIRIT.

People ought to be encouraged to get out in the world and do their best to earn and save money. But when people have accomplished these results, it sometimes happens that they need some other kind of counsel. It is not necessarily for the interest of the community that the man who has made a million should be counseled to quit business. His skill and energy are very valuable to the people. If he sticks to his shop and is ambitious to make still more money, he employs labor and keeps the people prosperous. His wise administration helps his employees to secure regular work. If he retired from business, they might suffer from the lack of competent direction. Yet when a man has acquired wealth, other ends than money making ought to be very prominent in his mind. He has gained about all that money can buy. Doubling his wealth will not necessarily make him any happier. The thing that can do him most good from now on is along such lines as friendship, the affection and loyalty of his employees and townspeople. He is in a position to offer the helping hand to the unfortunate, to give substantial gifts to good causes, to make his city a better place for homes. If he spends some of his money for those aims, he creates ties that bring far more happiness than can be bought by any money. Many people who have not acquired wealth, also need counsel as to the effect of too exclusive devotion to money getting. After they have done their best work, given their job devoted attention and study, and if they have exercised reasonable thrift, they have no cause for complaint if riches have not come to them. The world's best treasures are still within their reach. Friendship, good books, healthful sports, out door pursuits, ends like these are more rewarding than anything money can buy and they can be had without large expense.

Secretary Hoover is sufficiently stirred by the appalling record of motor accidents, so that he has called a national conference to consider the matter in Washington next month. These accidents are the result of the "Take a Chance" spirit which runs through our national temperament. Nations with slower and more patient characteristics would never have so many of these mishaps, as people would take their time and not run risks. No conference can change this national temperament. And yet much could be done by a stricter policy all over the country, in licensing automobile drivers shall be absolutely denied the right to use motor vehicles in the streets, at least until they demonstrate such fitness, there will be a great decline in accidents.

The popular form of government existing in the United States for the past 135 years has proved a success for just one reason. That one reason is that the people are disposed, with few exceptions, to accept the will of the majority. If those who are dissatisfied with the result of the election tried to start a movement to overturn the result of the voting by force of arms or mob rule, such a movement would get only a handful of supporters, and its promoters and many of its followers would be landed in jail. That is how our country differs from many others, where the people who are dissatisfied start riots or a revolution, and set at naught the will of the voters. This acceptance of majority rule is the essential element in a successful democracy, and when this ceases to exist, democratic government will perish.

Dr. Woods Hutchinson announces that the automobile is a great agency for the prolongation of life, but whether he means the life of the person in the auto or the pedestrian he does not specify. Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher once remarked that since the advent of the automobile mankind was divided into two classes: "The quick and the dead." This observation is capable of more than one interpretation, but the reports appearing almost daily in the press would justify the paraphrase that "he who is not quick soon will be dead."

Today's news dispatch telling of the marked increase in the manufacture of jewelry in Germany to meet heavy demands from the well-to-do people of that country is interesting information, coming as it does close to the recent contributions of food, money and clothing by the United States to aid the "starving and destitute" folk of the Fatherland.

Don't get excited over the recent ruling of the Baltimore judge wherein the home brew per centage gets a boost. Oregon has a law all its own to take care of home-made stuff, and the per centage of alcohol allowed is so low that it wouldn't kill a gnat.

Permanent prosperity is the aim of President Coolidge during his administration. If we get permanent prosperity what will the calamity howlers do for something to yell about?

After Thanksgiving we can prepare for the holiday trade. Still, it is not too early to impress the buyer with the early shopping idea—to get best results.

Spent Day in City—

Is S. Beale, Idaho banker, came down last night and registered at the Grand Hotel. Mr. Beale remained in the city to witness the Armistice Day festivities put on by the American Legion boys and the school children.

Mrs. Steven Moorehead, formerly Vera Sykes, is visiting here at the J. H. Sykes home for several days. Mrs. Moorehead has been making her home in Portland, and is en route to San Francisco to join her husband. They will make their home in San Francisco.

PRUNE PICKIN'S

BY BERT & BATES

GOOD EVENING FOLKS—
Well, ye ed is Back agin
From the Centennial vacation
And we'll bet
You folks have
Also had a
Dern good rest
White Prune Pickin's
Colyum was Filled with Good readin' matter.
$ $ $ $
DUMBELL DORA THINKS
A slip-on is a banana peel.
$ $ $ $
Ho hum, Armistice Day is over but the brown taste is still with us.
$ $ $ $

It was a great day. Had a fine feed over at the armory for the ex-slum guzzlers and it was great chuck. The beans were a little hard to digest tho. We took a mouthful of 'em and took two bites and nearly dropped dead. We thot all the fillin's had dropped outa our teeth.
$ $ $ $

A few of the boys got too enthusiastic at the football game yesterday p. m. and got some sawdust in their eyes.
$ $ $ $

There's nothin' like a vacation to make a feller tired.
$ $ $ $

Most of us are spendin' this month wonderin' how we're goin' to scrape up enough jack to buy Xmas presents for next month. This life is just one dern thing after another. Go in debt for a Thanksgiving turk, buy the Xmas presents on the installment plan and then put the flivver in the garage at the first of the year because we haven't the cash to purchase a license.
$ $ $ $

The old fiddlers at this army last eve certainly squawked a mean catgut.
$ $ $ $

The Armistice Day we spent in 1918 beat 'em all because none of the neighbors were there to look on.
$ $ $ $

The chill in the air has brot out the goose-pimples on a majority of the populace and cut an awful gash in the winter's wood supply.
$ $ $ $

Gosh, it seems good to be back poundin' this ol' goosin mill agin. Its been so long since we've punched this foundry that we've forgot where the period mark is.
$ $ $ $

'Saw a feller walkin' down the main stem a couple days ago leadin' a hound. He asked him what kinda dawg he had and he said, "A police dawg." We said, "Heck no, that ain't a police dawg, that's just a little pup." The dawg fancier said, "Well, ya see, this dawg is in the secret service branch."
$ $ $ $

DEAR ED. Do you know who the next prez of the U. S. is goin' to be?
$ $ $ $

Dear Slim: Yes. Is there anything else you'd like to ask?
$ $ $ $

We note that the covered vehicle has driven back into the village for a few days.
$ $ $ $

Down in the metrop all of the janes are wearin' galoshes and many a good ankle has been spoiled by the messy things.
$ $ $ $

DEAR ED: What is a cafeteria? HUGGY HAROLD.
$ $ $ $

Dear Friend, Hal: A cafeteria is just another good girl gone wrong.
$ $ $ $

This ol' hokum must get tire-some to you folks, but heck, we've got to earn our daily bread and this is the easiest way we know how.
$ $ $ $

One thing we notice, most of the La Pollette signs have been taken down off'n the windshields.
$ $ $ $

The famine on aspirin assumed serious proportions today.
$ $ $ $

"The ol' hum town beats 'em all!"

BOOTLEGGERS SAW WAY OUT OF JAIL AT SALEM

Associated Press Local Wire—Salem, Or., Nov. 12.—Roy Miller and Zena Hansard, who were being time in the Salem City Jail of 250 and 12 days respectively for possession of intoxicating liquor, made an escape sometime last night by sawing the bars of a rear window of the prison.

How the prisoners obtained the saw with which they effected the delivery is at present a mystery to the police.

Both men are also under state charges of operating a still and their bail was fixed in justice court at $750 each. As soon as they had completed their sentence in the city jail they were to be tried on the state charge.

GLIDE COUPLE MARRIED YESTERDAY

Miss Grace Engels, and Seth T. Mathews, two well known young people of this county, were united in marriage yesterday at one o'clock at the Baptist church parsonage. Rev. H. L. Caldwell read the service in the presence of the immediate families. The bride is the daughter of Lyle Engels of Glide, and lived in that district the greater part of her life. Mr. Mathews has a farm in the Glide vicinity, and the young couple will make their home there.

Automobile Insurance is compulsory in Denmark and Switzerland.

STATE PRESS COMMENT

Laws and Crime.

Judge Talley of the New York court of general sessions says the United States must plead guilty to being the most lawless country on earth.

It is a serious indictment, coming from so responsible a source. Yet people who keep in touch with events will probably grant that it is true.

And why must America plead guilty to this charge? Here is one possible answer:

We have more laws than any other country on earth, and we keep right on piling up legislation, making laws of infinite variety and detail for almost every conceivable offense, civil and criminal. Our accepted remedy for any unsatisfactory condition is to enact another law. Perhaps so much public energy goes into the creation of laws that there is not enough energy left to enforce them. Perhaps, too, the very multiplicity of laws makes it impossible to keep track of them, and breeds contempt for them.

If there were fewer laws, we may be pretty sure that those laws would be better observed. How would it do to start a campaign for the observance by repealing about half the laws on the statute books?

By reducing the present quantity one-half by combining and simplifying existing laws?—Eugene Hopper.

Cut the Overhead.

Governor Pierce announces that he will recommend to the legislature the imposition by the state of numerous new taxes, to provide additional sources of revenue to support state bureaucracy. Among the taxes proposed is one on having pictures, one on cigarettes and another cent a gallon on gasoline, making a total of four cents gas tax.

The governor is consistent, for his program of fulfilling his campaign promises of reducing taxes, consists in imposing new taxes, such as the income tax, and cutting new board to spend the revenues thereby obtained. Instead of the simpler program followed by New York, he is cutting down expenditures and discharging half of the state's bills under his control.

The income tax was repealed, after a thorough trial, because it imposed double taxation instead of reducing it, and experience proved it a penalty on industry that retarded development by keeping out investment capital.

If Oregon was at war with another country, there might be an excuse for the luxury taxes, but so far as known, all is peaceful on the Willamette. Another cent upon automobiles would arouse every motorist in the state against what will be conceived undue discrimination and any such measure will undoubtedly provoke a referendum for its repeal.

It is on account of the defeat of the income tax law, state ex-officio must be cut a million dollars to come within the six per cent limitation next year. It will be a good send to the taxpayers, for it will force rigid economy and a consolidation of over-lapping bureaus and abolition of others that should have been accomplished years ago. Such action would go much farther to re-popularize Governor Pierce than the imposition of any new taxes will.—Salem Journal.

QUICKSILVER INTO GOLD IS AIM OF SCIENCE

(Associated Press Local Wire.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Alchemists, discredited "science" of medieval times, may be vindicated by experiments of American scientists. Under the direction of the Scientific American whose editor, E. L. Price, is confident of success, experiments have been started to determine the practicability of transmuting quick silver into gold—a feat that is said to have been accomplished recently at great expense by a German scientist. Professor Adolph Miethe, the "modern Alchemist" is based on modern science, the experimenters say. Gold has a planetary system of 79 electrons while quick silver has 80. Permanent "knocking off" the superfluous electron with electric current, it is believed, pure gold will result.

Pimp? Well, Don't Be

People Notice It. Drive Them Off With Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cured with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil, you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.

POOR GERMANY HAS BUT ENOUGH TO BUY JEWELRY

PFORZHEIM, Germany, Nov. 12.—One of the few German industries running on full time at present is the jewelry business here, which is operating at capacity to meet Christmas orders. Manufacturers report most of the jewelry being made is of high grade, indicating a revival of purchasing power among the well-to-do classes.

MILICENT AND HUMAN POODLE MAY RECONCILE

(Associated Press Local Wire.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Contradictory dispatches from Paris, one to the effect that Count von Salm-Hogstraeten was to sail for New York today to join his wife, the former Millicent Rogers and another stating that the countess was preparing to go with her child to her husband in Paris, have caused the secretary to Henry H. Rogers, father of the countess, to comment on the reports of a reconciliation.

The secretary said no word

When You Feel a Cold Coming On

Take Laxative Bromo Quinine tablets

to work off the cause and to fortify the system against an attack of Grip or Influenza. A Safe and Proven Remedy. Price 30c.

The box bears this signature

E. H. Grove

had been received from Count Salm pending departure from Paris. He declared there had never been a separation but that the countess had returned to New York to await the arrival of the stork.

The secretary said that the countess was not to go abroad at any time in the near future, so far as he knew.

PARIS, Nov. 12.—Count Ludwig Salm-Hogstraeten was not a passenger on the Pomerle boat train leaving Paris for Cherbourg this morning. He was still at his hotel at noon.
