BURGLARS ENTER 4 KELSO PLACES; SMOKES AND $77

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

KELSO, Wash., Nov. 13.—Burglars last night moved the safe of the Pacific Fruit and Produce company from the office of the company into the storage room of the building where the door of the safe was blown, but only $47 in cash was taken, it was reported by officials of the company this morning.

The safe in the office of the Kelso Feed and Fuel company was also tracked with explosives but no cash was obtained.

Burglars also looted the pool hall of Secor and Barlow, taking 5500 cigarettes, cigars an dtobacco. The cash drawer of this place was relieved of about $18.

Jack Hill's barber shop, located in the same building as the pool hall, also was visited about $12 being taken fro mthe cash drawed. The coins there taken included a 50-cent piece and also a 25-cent piece of the mintage of 1853.

Authorities declare they have but slight clews to follow in these robberies, all of which took place within an area of about two blocks on Front Street.

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen, of 26 Forbes St., Rochester, N. Y., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery, which he called Allenrhu, to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. He has therefore instructed druggists everywhere to dispense Allenrhu with the understanding that if the first bottle does not show the way to complete recovery he will gladly return your money without comment.

Nathan Fullerton is my appointed agent in your city. If you live out of town I'll gladly send you free particulars.

The Husband Tamer

by VIOLET DARE

Author of "The Half-Time Wife," "The Luxury..."

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

PATRICIA CLEVE has become estranged from her husband.

ANDREW CLEVE, who seems to feel that his young wife exists only to help entertain his business friends. He goes abroad, after Patricia has insisted that she will live differently or leave him. She visits her sister.

CAROL WILLOUGHBY, and finds herself enrolled to help Carol's husband.

KEITH WILLOUGHBY, in his efforts to interest

GREGORY HEWITT, a famous financier, in his affairs. Hewitt falls in love with Patricia, and for Keith's sake she cannot refuse to join a western camping trip arranged by him.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT

XLII—SOMEONE TO THINK ABOUT

PATRICIA looked like a confirmed invalid the next day after a night of crying: not at all like the accident case whose beauty had attracted all the men at the hospital, and whose dainty lace breakfast jackets were the envy of the other convalescent women up in the sun parlor.

VIOLET DARE

She had her nurse wheel her to a secluded corner; she did not wish to talk to anyone, and she hoped that Hewitt would not come until she felt more composed.

But soon the privacy of her corner was invaded; another patient was wheeled up right next to her. She eyed him from under the dainty lace bandeau that held back her hair. He had a nice head, was very old, and looked tired, somehow, of life. Patricia found herself taking quite an interest in him, and after awhile, when she had refused a proffer of his newspaper, she found herself chatting to him quite as though they were old friends.

"No children?" he said shaking his head reprovingly. "That is too bad. Your life is wasted if you don't have children."

Patricia agreed with him with a quick little nod, hardly trusting herself to speak.

"Your husband?" It was as though there were many questions he would ask that he suggested just in those two words.

"I—I've lost him," Patricia said hesitatingly, realizing that the impression she was giving was not quite the truth, and yet not wanting to go into details about her isolation.

He nodded sympathetically and went on to other subjects. He seemed to have endless curiosity about what the world was doing and illimitable enthusiasm for movements of all kinds.

"A philanthropist," Patricia decided, taking an even greater interest in him. "But not one of the soulless kind. A poor rich man who is trying to bring some happiness with his money."

After awhile Patricia found herself telling him a little about her life with Andrew—always maintaining a little guiltily the fiction that he was dead. She told him of how every detail of Andrew's business was an open book to her, and how she enjoyed it though she regretted not having children.

"When you have none of your own, the next best thing is to interest yourself in the many poor children who have no parents," he started telling her just as Carol and Keith and Hewitt rushed in to see her. And as they brought up chairs and started talking to her, the old man quietly signaled his nurse to come and wheel him away.

"Who is that old man and what was he telling you that was so engrossing?" Hewitt demanded querulously. "You hardly noticed us when we came."

"I don't know who he is," Patricia answered a little stiffly, "but he is a wonderful person, and I find him quite inspiring. I—"

But before she could continue, Hewitt was apologizing profusely.

"Forgive me, Patricia, for speaking as I did," he begged of her. "I had no right to do it. But I am so worried about you, and so lonely for you that it made me just wild with jealousy when I came in to find you talking to another man."

Pat's neighbor was very old, and looked tired, somehow, of life.

Carol and Keith stayed but a moment and then rushed away, but before Carol left she tucked in Patricia's hand a letter that she noticed with a flutter was from Andrew.

"Mrs Hewitt has made many preposterous demands," Hewitt was saying, "but I believe that she will finally consent to a divorce. Tell me, my dear, that everything is all right. I love you so, little Pat."

But Pat could only raise her eyes dully to his and shake her head. "I can't Gregory; I simply can't. We both made a mess of our marriages, I guess; but I am still intent on saving mine. And you've spent so many years trying to appease Mrs. Hewitt that you would seem like a quitter if you foresook her now. Your place is with her, not me. I can't marry you; I'm not even sure that I will ever divorce Andrew."

And as Gregory Hewitt went disconsolately away, she lifted her eyes to see her old man of the morning's conversation being wheeled back to her side.

"I have something very important to say to you," he told her. "Do you feel well enough to talk awhile longer?"

ANTI-WAR SPIEL ANGERS MEETING FOR "FRIENDSHIP"

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

BUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 13.—The resolutions committee of the peace congress of the American council of the world alliance for international friendship through the churches was today considering a resolution intended to clarify the situation caused by the address of Herbet M. Sein, New York student, which caused a furore at yesterday's session.

Sein who described himself as a Mexican-born internationalist, said that the youth of the world would rally the workers, artisans and soldiers into a united refusal to fight in war. This brought a rebuke from a local delegate and mingled cheers and antagonistic demonstrations.

FORD SAVES BOY WHO DESTROYED HIS BUILDINGS

DETROIT, Nov. 13.—Henry Ford saved John McCammon, 18, a probable jail sentence in court here yesterday. The youth admitted he set fire to seven barns on the Ford estate last April.

Judge Marschner placed McCammon on probation when Mr. Ford assured the court that the youth would attend a trade school.

ALGEBRA TEXT BOOKS TOO "WET" FOR MODERNITY

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—Some public school algebra text books using whiskey, beer, and wine examples are not apace with current times, according to Hart Hanson, member of the board of education here, who opposes use of the b ooks by students.

One book ordered for a high school here is 32 years old, and "looks like a bar tender's friend," Hanson said. "It is full of problems of how much did this wine merchant get for his sherry, or how many barrels of whiskey could this man purchase for such an amount."

FIRPO FAILS TO BEAT WEINERT IN TWELVE ROUNDS

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 13.—Luis Angel Firpo's attempted ring comeback was rudely halted last night when Charlie Weinert, local heavyweight, gave the South American champion a scientific boxing lesson in 12 rounds of a no-decision fight, and in the opinion of newspaper men at the ringside, gained a comfortable shade over the Argentine.

The "Wild Bull" was distanced all the way. His rushes which featured his fight with Dempsey were missing and his terrific right which has reaped its harvest of knockouts was virtually of no use to him against Weinert's clever boxing.

The Newarker poured his left into Firpo's face, and successfully avoided Firpo's right. He cut Firpo's face to shreds. Otherwise Firpo was unhurt. He tried to box Weinert, but he did not possess the ability and when he wanted to slug, Weinert was too evasive.

Firpo scored a knockout over Weinert at their previous meeting over a year ago.

PORTLAND, Or., Nov. 13.—Joe Gorman, Portland lightweight, won a foul from Gene Delmont, of Memphis, Tennessee, in the sixth round of their scheduled ten round bout here last night. In another ten-round match Eddie Robinson, local light heavyweight, lost to Jimmy Darcy, of Portland, on a technical knockout.

RESULTS DECIDE FOOTBALL POINT

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Arguments against the abolition of the point-after touchdown in football will lack basis if scores continue the present trend. Results of more than 700 contests throughout the county up to this time show that only 13 games have been decided by one point margins.

Only three of these goals after touchdown victories can be found among the so-called large college as follows:

Yale 7; Georgia 6; Massachusetts Aggies 14; Wesleyan 13; Tufts 7; Bowdoin 6.

DEATH CLAIMS NO ADDITIONAL ELKS

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

LYNCHBURG, Nov. 13.—Although four of the 17 aged residents of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks national home at Bedford, who were poisoned Monday by cider containing arsenic, were in a critical condition today, attending physicians were more optimistic over the outcome of the illness of all of them. The list of those who died remains at 10.
