NOTICE—BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL WOMEN

Another proof of the old adage that "great minds run in the same channel," (this time, however, it was great organizations) has been demonstrated. Mr. Ness, Chief Umpqua, of the Chiefs, together with some of his co-workers, has also taken up the project of holiday street decorations with a central Christmas tree. The Business and Professional Women's club, which planned at yesterday's luncheon for the same project, therefore withdrew, leaving the initiative in the hands of the Chiefs. The club will, however, be glad to assist the Chiefs in any possible way.

The high bail was required because of the fact that a more serious charge may be made, as officers report the finding of a partly filled bottle of liquor in the truck which Hash was driving. The trial will probably be held on Monday.
