ROSEBURG, OREGON, MONDAY, JANUARY 5, 1925.

SUGGESTIONS FOR ACCIDENT PREVENTION.

Secretary Hoover, in an address before the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety, asked for the cooperation of all interests in an effort to reduce the now rapidly increasing number of deaths and injuries due to traffic accidents.

Here is a suggestion for lessening accidents, says the Industrial News Bureau. In the old days, a road was rounded up like a railroad grade with deep ditches on each side.

Instead of digging ditches on each side of the road, use the same labor and extend the grade and the culvert coverings from the edge of the pavement at a gentle slope to the fence row on each side.

All the rules, regulations and laws that can be passed will be of little or no avail so long as any man or woman can buy an automobile one minute, step into the state licensing department and get a permit to drive the next minute.

Remove the cause and you will remove the accidents. Intermediary measures will be useless. Compulsory automobile accident insurance, or worse yet, monopolistic state automobile accident insurance, a suggested remedy, will simply encourage recklessness for it will tend to remove restraint from an already careless person.

THE HOMELESS ONES.

It was remarked just before Christmas at the Bowery Y. M. C. A. in New York, that there are 60,000 homeless men in that city. This is only a small fragment of the great army that roams about the country supplying the demand for casual jobs at snow shoveling, harvesting crops, lumbering in the woodlands, etc.

FIRE PERILS.

The terrible fire at a Christmas celebration at Hobart, Oklahoma, as a result of which 33 school children and friends were fatally burned, is a tragic reminder of several perils. Inflammable Christmas decorations with lighted candles constitute a combination which is only to be handled with the utmost care.

New Year resolutions have been recommended by the New York Campfire Girls to members of that order throughout the country. They favor giving up of slang, sleeping with open windows, eating vegetables, playing some musical instrument, cooking one meal a week, speaking in low voices, playing some game well, creating something of beauty.

PRUNE PICKIN'S BY BERT G. BATES

GOOD EVENING FOLKS— Since the village sheiks Have Started Growin' points On their sideburns And the Shebas Have Adopted the Checkered-Box style It's no wonder that Rudy Valentino has Grown chin-whiskers And Gloria Swanson is wearin' Pantaloons.

DUMBELL DORA THINKS The female of the species is not as deadly as the MULE! Now that the weather is warmer The twin beds are comin' back in style.

The fellow who wrote "Babes in the Woods" must have got his inspiration by walkin' thru Laurelwood Grove after dark.

If Roseburg needs a new night watchman, we know a few village gossips who'd do the work for nothin'.

The town seems so quiet without the college boys and their loud sweaters.

We wrote a local item the other day and our friend Russ on the linotype set it: "And she always had many friends." Ye ed had to leave town to save his carcass.

"Saw a darlin' little painted butterfly on the main stem the other day and she looked so sweet and innocent but we that different when a sheik passed her up and she shouted: "Gaw ya big boob! Wet's the idee of givin' me the Ritz!"

After takin' a trip on a Pullman a feller don't mind seein a guy sleep like a log if he don't saw it.

A cross-word puzzle is the cause of a cuss-word.

The golfers' feet are itchin' and oh boy! we'll be glad to get out agin and dub 'em around.

A sweet young thing made some asyrum jangle the other day—it was so full of nuts.

You can tell how long a feller has been married by lookin' at his cothes—and if he's well-dressed, take a look at his wife's dress.

Just when a feller gets the Xmas bills settled up along comes the income tax pest.

FARMER SHOULD SOLVE HIS OWN DIFFICULTIES

be faith, good will, patience." The cooperative association which establishes grades and standards, encourages the good and eliminates the poor by variety, increases the efficiency of production, provides a unified product adapted to its market, organizes its distribution, creates confidence in its products and its methods—that kind of an association is doing the best that cooperation can do.

"More than anything else, we need a generation of farmers trained to cooperation; and to get that we need able, courageous, determined leadership and most of all leadership that will not desert the farmer, but will stay by him." The supposition that Americans are not the sort of people who possess the genius for cooperation, the president dismissed as in conflict with the whole course of society.

"All the way down from these earliest discoveries to the Ford achievements of a motor car every 15 seconds, the material advance of the race from savagery to civilization has been mainly the development of co-operation and the adoption of new tools for it to use."

WASHINGTON, January 5.—Formulation of a definite policy with regard to pending legislation on farmers co-operative marketing, was the outstanding question before representatives of the movement assembling here today for the third annual convention of the National Association of Farmers Co-operative Marketing Associations.

Recognition of the delegates by President Coolidge at the White House and an address at the opening session by former Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, a member of the association's executive committee and a leader in the co-operative movement, were included on the first day's program.

After an address of welcome by R. W. Bingham of Louisville, Ky., as chairman, other speakers listed include A. J. McPhail, president of the Canadian co-operative wheat pool. The meeting will continue four days.

followed by seasons of low production, and that no distant day they would receive a fair price for their corn. "In other words, the corn farmers, if organized, would have adjusted the supply to the actual demand. And they would have made this adjustment before the price became demoralized."

UMPUQUA FOREST MAP TO BE ISSUED

Lage Wernstedt, expert map maker of the U. S. forest service is in the city working on a new national forest map which will cover the Umpqua National Forest, and in fact, all of Douglas county excepting a small corner in the northwest section.

Mr. Wernstedt by triangulation has located accurately all of the high peaks mountains and ridges in the sections where accurate surveys have been lacking, and has also definitely placed rivers, streams, roads and trails.

County Boardmaster Frear, and Fire Warden Brown, of the Douglas Fire Patrol, have collaborated on data outside the forest, particularly roads and trails, so that the map will be one of the best county maps available. It will be useful for forest administration purposes and for people seeking recreation.

MURDER MARKS KLAMATH CARD GAME ROBBERY

Police and sheriff's officers were without clues of any description today which might aid them in apprehending the trio of outlaws who early yesterday morning shot and killed Oscar Erickson, transient laborer, in a $100 hold up of a card game in the Scandinavian hall here.

Sheriff L. L. Low retired from office at midnight last night, and he and his deputies devoted most of yesterday to straightening up prosecuting a vigorous man-hunt. Practically the same condition was true of the police department where Police Chief George Humphrey and all patrolmen retire today.

Belief prevails here that the robbery and murder were committed by local men by reason of their knowledge of conditions in the supposedly secret card room, which was not under city license. It is also thought that the outlaws took advantage of the fact that the sheriff and police officials were retiring from office and time the robbery with that in mind, knowing that the investigation would be less vigorous than ordinarily.

The inquest, which originally was scheduled for late yesterday afternoon was postponed until 3 o'clock this afternoon. Earl Whitlock, coroner, announced.
