R. R. OFFICIALS ARE CONFERRING

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 8.—Officials of the Southern Pacific Northern Pacific, Union Pacific and Great Northern railroads are in conference here today to formulate an answer to the report of examiner Kephart of the interstate commerce commission containing proposed plans for the extension of railroad facilities in central Oregon. According to Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern and Conferee for that system, the reply must be in Washington by January 17 and its contents will not be divulged before the commission has had a chance to examine it. "The report of the examiner suggested certain changes in which my line is not particularly interested," Mr. Budd said, "so I do not know its details. I understand it called particularly for a road across the state from the east to the west." Other conferees are William Sproule, president of the Southern Pacific company, A. C. Spencer, attorney for the Union Pacific, and Judge C. H. Carey, representing the Northern Pacific.

TWO GOOD TALKS ROTARY LUNCHEON

Two good talks were made at today's luncheon of the Rotary club, Lawrence Goux, of the Anderses the, giving some very interesting information in "reference" to the moving picture industry, while Henry Booth, of the Douglas National bank, told the members a lot more than they had ever realized in regard to the banking institutions of the city, both speakers bringing out some very interesting points.

GUN ELEVATION NOT VIOLATION OF ARMS TREATY

(Continued from page one) be demonstrated. If the proposed gun elevation were carried out, Mr. Wilbur declared, "we would have as much advantage over the British as they have over us now." When Chairman Butler recalled a previous statement by Mr. Wilbur that "each signatory power has carried out with scrupulous attention the provisions of the treaty," Representative Andre, a republican, Massachusetts, asked: "Had you in mind that three of those powers had elevated their guns?" "Frankly I had not," the secretary replied. Mr. Wilbur said the naval air service had asked for $32,000,000 for the next year, but that after consultation with the budget bureau, the navy department cut the amount to $20,000,000. The budget bureau, he said, recommended only $16,000,000. WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Congress was informed today that the administration does not regard the much debated proposal to modernize American battle ships as conflicting with the arms treaty but that President Coolidge believes both the modernization program and certain proposed new construction would conflict with his policy of economy.

Secretary Hughes in a letter to the house naval committee, declared, Japan and the United States agreed that elevation of guns on American capital ships would be in harmony with the treaty, although Great Britain has taken the opposite view. Secretary Wilbur, appearing before the same committee said although the navy department would like to see enough construction and alterations to bring the navy as a whole up to the 5-5-3 ratio, the expenditures necessary had been vetoed by the budget bureau with the backing of the president. A proposal to go ahead with the gun elevation program, Mr. Wilbur said, had been presented to the president by the director of the budget who then informed the navy department that the president viewed the expenditures as in conflict with his financial policies. A proposed expenditure of $70,000,000 for four scout cruisers, one aircraft carrier and one floating drydock, the secretary added, had been disapproved by the budget bureau on the same ground. Asked what should be done to bring up the whole navy to a 5-5-3 ratio, the secretary read: "a statement of facts," and not a recommendation saving it would require an expenditure of $110,000,000 annually for ten years, he insisted however, that with the completion of repairs on the battleship Florida, the battle fleet itself will be up to the treaty ratio.

Here Wednesday and last night from northern points was W. P. Gray. Mr. Gray resides at Eugene, and left today for other southern points.

ORDER

In the County Court of the State of Oregon for Douglas County. In the matter of the Guardianship of Esther M. Reese, a Minor. This matter coming on for hearing at this time upon the petition of Esther M. Today's Cross-Word Puzzle THE JEWELLED CROWN—Twister No. 63 By J. C. BOYD

THIS cross word contraption is not one that you will get through with in a hurry. In fact, we rather think you will find a number of disturbing synonyms likely to cause you some annoyance. But, at that, there are only four words not in everyday use which are used in the puzzle. You will find the proper synonyms below the graph.

- HORIZONTAL: 3—grips, 8—capricious, 10—stope, 13—in the direction of, 14—lampoon, 16—New England State (abbr.), 18—sifting utensil, 20—a sister (eccl.), 21—lowest point, 22—recent intelligence, 24—military officer, 25—prefix denoting format. 27—change the position of, 30—opening, 31—executed, 33—grain, 34—affirmative nature, 35—suffix denoting any one of a series of derivatives, 36—frozen desserts (eccl.), 38—theory, 42—split, 43—we (Lat.), 44—bewitch, 46—nimble, 49—kind of soil, 50—makes equal, 51—abundance. VERTICAL: 1—preposition, 2—time and again, 3—comrade (colloq.), 4—silled by, 5—musical instrument at that time, 6—salt (abbr.), 7—privately, 9—pirate, 11—occupation, 12—interrogated, 15—opening of tympanum of ear, 17—got up, 19—wide-mouthed jug, 21—large African river, 23—testify, 24—some, 26—twelve (Roman), 28—curb, 29—Dutch measure of liquids, 30—strange term (abbr.), 35—within, 37—kind of cheese, 38—flat sea fish, 41—erong, 43—business house (abbr.), 44—exclamation, 45—pronoun, 46—for example, 47—look, 48—noun suffix with diminutive force.

Tip For Beginners. Solve this puzzle by comparing the synonyms listed in the "Horizontal" and "Vertical" columns with the number of spaces extending crosswise or downward on the diagram, as the case may be. If a word occurs to you meaning substantially the same as the words first, and they will give you plenty of clues to the difficult ones.
