which will come over these matters. Already Ashland has an agent at Salem working for the establishment of a normal institution there. Pendleton wants a normal school. So does La Grande, and probably Baker.

Child Labor Law Loses Test.
 STATEHOUSE, SALEM, Ore., Jan. 13.—Women's organizations of Portland will send a delegation to the legislature to work for the child labor amendment, already before the session in a joint resolution. The measure will be held in abeyance until the women shall have a chance to present arguments.

The first reaction to the amendment, as shown this morning in a test polled in the house, was decidedly against it and seemed to foreshadow its defeat. The impromptu vote, while not complete, because some would not express themselves, was 14 for and 25 against.

Normal Bill 5.
 STATEHOUSE, SALEM, Ore., Jan. 14.—Senator Bruce Dennis of La Grande is preparing a bill to increase the financial support of the Oregon Normal School at Monmouth and lay the foundation for an adequate normal school policy for the state.

He will propose that part of the financial support now being given the State University and Oregon Agricultural College be diverted to the normal school, declaring that the latter is being neglected in favor of the two former.

The Dennis plan calls for new buildings at Monmouth sufficient to afford plenty of modern class rooms and dormitories as well as laboratory and other needed equipment. He has not decided whether he will advocate the immediate establishment of normal schools elsewhere in the state.

"Oregon has been criminally negligent in the matter of normal schools," said Senator Dennis, "and it is high time we were recognizing in a substantial way the need for better and more schools of this kind."

"I am more inclined to the belief that the present normal school should be enlarged and equipped to put it on a plane with the best institutions of its kind in the country before we start in to locate and build others."

Plan Joint Session

STATEHOUSE, Salem, Jan. 14.—Members of the house resolution committee and the senate judiciary committee of the legislature, will likely agree on a date, probably January 28, for a joint session and public hearing in connection with the joint resolution calling for adoption of the proposed child labor amendment to the federal constitution.

Informal discussions were held among members of the two committees today with the view of agreeing on a date for the hearing. The Hall joint resolution calling for a joint committee to confer with similar committees from the legislature of Washington and California with a view to enacting uniform rules relating to speed, limits and other phases of auto travel received a favorable report of the senate committee on roads and highways today. It provides that the committee, if possible, report at this session, but if not possible to report at this session, it shall report at the next session. On motion of Senator Joseph the resolution was tabled pending further study.

The house recessed until 2 p. m. after a half hour session this morning during which four new bills were introduced and previously read bills referred to various committees.

Have You a Daughter?

If You Have, This Woman's Advice Is of Vital Interest to You

Seattle, Wash.—"In my girlhood, I suffered with severe backaches and pain and had a catarrhal condition. These disagreeable sensations were completely eradicated and I developed into a strong and healthy womanhood because my mother gave me Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. As my own daughters were developing I gave them Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and in that way prevented their having any form of inward weakness. My daughters developed naturally into womanhood and I am sure it was because I had them take the 'Prescription' at that critical period."

Mrs. Sadie E. Holtzer, 2124 North 52d St. Go to your neighborhood drug store today and get this prescription in tablets or liquid, or write Dr. Pierce, President Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for medical advice, free and confidential.

The house will reconvene at 2 p. m. Senator Strayer today again introduced a bill that he placed before the legislature in 1923, providing for the use of market road funds on certain roads that have been designed as state highways, but which are in realty market roads.

In 1923 the bill passed the senate unanimously but was killed in the house because Strayer would not vote for a tourist appropriation bill.

Legislation seeking appropriation of a fund for studying poultry diseases prevalent in the state probably will be asked by poultrymen of Oregon. It was learned this morning, S. W. Lovell, president of the Astoria Chamber of Commerce has written to various legislators urging favorable action on any such legislation. He points out that many poultry pens of the state are empty because of fowl diseases.

Probe Proft. Dept.
 STATEHOUSE, Salem, Jan. 14.—Plans were quite definitely laid here today for an investigation of the state prohibition department as it has been administered by Geo. J. Cleaver. This afternoon, Senator Garland, chairman of the committee on alcoholic traffic called his committee together and it was declared probable that the investigation plans would crystallize. The members of the committee are: Garland, Eddy, Butler, Hare and Johnson and there is no doubt that the resolution will have the signatures of all of them.

Protest Salmon Tax
 STATEHOUSE, Salem, Jan. 14.—Protest against Governor Pier's recommendation for an additional half cent a pound tax on all salmon caught within the waters of Oregon was lodged with the chief executive by the Wholesale Fish Dealers Association of Oregon today. Clyde Chase, of Reedport, secretary of the association, presented the protesting resolution adopted by the fish men. A delegation of fifteen men accompanied Chase.

The resolution points out that the tax would not be paid by the consumer or by the wholesaler, but would be passed on to the fishermen.

 STATEHOUSE, Salem, Jan. 14.—Appropriation requests submitted to the state budget commission and recommended by the commission to the legislature together with those that are submitted to the legislature without recommendations amount to $2,561,912.53 in excess of the estimated revenues accruing to the state during 1925 and 1926, under existing laws, namely the direct property tax and all other sources to which the six percent constitutional limitation does not apply.

POWERS IN INTER-ALLIED CONFERENCE SIGN AGREEMENT

this morning. Replies were made by heads of delegations, including Ambassador Kellogg for the United States.

Mr. Kellogg said the present meeting, the London conference and the preparation for the Dawes plan would rank as the three most important events that had occurred in Europe during the last year. He believed the work accomplished augured well for progress toward a general settlement of European problems.

The delegations signed the protocol in the following order: Belgium, France, Great Britain, Italy, Japan, the United States, Brazil, Greece, Portugal, Roumania, Yugo-Slavia and Czechoslovakia.

The Roumanian announced that they were making reservations with a view to demanding an increased percentage of reparations over the percentage to which she is entitled.

These reservations did not prevent unanimous signature of the agreement and the objections of the two countries will be considered by the allies later.

MEN AND WOMEN IN NEWS OF THE DAY

The desire of Mary Miles Minter, screen star, to escape publicity received another jolt when a $50,000 slander suit, filed by her former cook, Katherine Herbig, came up for trial in Los Angeles. William H. Anderson, former superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New York, recently released from State's Prison for forgery, received an ovation when he attended services in the Central Methodist Church, of Yonkers, N. Y., his home.

H. Crossland Staye, a New York engineer, claims to have invented a lightweight steam power plant of high pressure for aviation use that will ensure non-stop flights across the continent at will. "His Royal Highness, Prince Zerdecheno," sometimes self-styled "Emir of Kurdistan," has been ordered deported from the United States for assuming false titles. He fooled official Washington for a time.
