FAMOUS MUSICIANS COMING JANUARY 28

Charles Wakefield Cadman, one of the foremost American composers to today, who will appear here in joint recital with Princess Talania at the Heintze Conservatory, Monday, Jan. 26, was honor guest and soloist at one of the concerts given at the Hollywood Bowl last summer by the Los Angeles Symphony orchestra with Alfred Hertz conducting.

The largest crowd of the season, over ten thousand, attending and Mr. Cadman was given an ovation which lasted over ten minutes. The bowl is a natural amphitheatre seating 20,000 people.

The orchestra played his Omar Khayyam Suite which was written for the play of the same name and several of his most popular compositions were sung. Mr. Cadman accompanied them on the piano.

Announcement has been made recently that Charles Wakefield Cadman has been added to the faculty of the University of Southern California for the coming season. Mr. Cadman will deliver three lectures, taking as his subjects, "Public School Music," "Indian Music and its Influence," and "The Problem of the American Composer."

Mr. Cadman is noted for his enthusiasm and the splendid work he has done in behalf of the junior clubs, in the state federation of music clubs, of which he is the chairman of education. He has carried that department farther than ever before in its history. He is also chairman in California of the Opera in Our Language Foundation and takes a keen interest in all young composers who he helps most unselfishly in getting compositions published and proper public presentation.

STRAHORN DENIES SALE

(Associated Press Local Wire.) PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 22.—Robert E. Strahorn, builder of the Oregon, California and Eastern railroad, which runs out of Klamath Falls, in a statement given out here last night denied rumors that he had sold the line. He declared the railroad in southern and south central Oregon may result in "a long drawn out fight between powerful railroad antagonists."

ORDER

In the County Court of the State of Oregon for Douglas County. In re: matter of the Guardianship of Esther M. Reese, a Minor.

This matter coming on for hearing at this time upon the petition of Guy Gordon, guardian of the estate of Esther M. Reese, a minor, for a license to sell the real estate, and it appearing to the court from such petition that it would be beneficial to said minor that the interest of said minor in real property therein described be sold.

It is further appearing to the court that said real property is situated in the County of Douglas, State of Oregon, and that said real property is described as follows: Lot 1 of Block 1 of the subdivision known as the 22nd day of November 1924, at 10 o'clock A. M. to show cause why a license should not be granted to said guardian for the sale of said real property.

It is therefore ORDERED, ADJUDGED and DECREED that the court that service of a copy of said order be made upon the said minor at least three successive weeks in a newspaper circulating in Douglas County, Oregon.

It is therefore ORDERED, ADJUDGED and DECREED that the court that service of a copy of said order be made upon the said minor at least three successive weeks in a newspaper circulating in Douglas County, Oregon.

Beginning at a point from which the 42d corner of Lot No. 2 of Block 1, tract bears N 15 1/2 deg. E 4 1/2 chs. thereon S 7 1/2 deg. One Wife on Approval by VIOLET DARE

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

CYNTHIA and JIM LELAND set the tone after their honeymoon, to find that Jim's mother intends to monopolize him as she always has. Cynthia cannot accustom herself to this or to her mother-in-law's determination to remodel her. Jim leaves town on business, and Cynthia and Madame Leland quarrel. Cynthia makes the acquaintance of NOEL GARDNER, the black sheep of the town, recently returned from Paris, where his wife has divorced him. She also meets CECILE MALCOLM, a gay young widow who has designs on Gardner.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT XX—DEFIANCE

CYNTHIA liked Noel; there was something quite irresistible about him. As they stood waiting for the elevator, after looking at the picture in which she had just agreed to rent from him, she found herself thinking of the things Cecile Malcolm had said about him.

"The town's black sheep," Cecile had called him. And she had said that she herself was one of the few women in town who frankly admitted having been a good girl.

"That was certainly during the golf game of the day before, Cecile had been eager enough to establish that friendship once more, now that he had returned from abroad.

Cynthia could not help feeling sorry for him. It was quite obvious that he had been in love with his wife, and had felt much cut up when she decided to go back to her own people. Cynthia pictured him rushing to France after her, when she went abroad with her parents, and pleading with her not to divorce him. How could any woman have been so hard-hearted, she asked herself again.

Of course, there probably had been reasons. It was impossible to deny that Gardner had a look in his eye that would not have been characteristic of a man who sat quietly back and let the world go by. No doubt he had given his wife plenty of provocation, reflected Cynthia. Perhaps he had flirted with Cecile Malcolm—Cecile would certainly have encouraged him, if he needed encouragement. And yet Cecile did not seem to be his type at all.

Cynthia sighed. Weren't there any happy married people anywhere? "About that stock that your mother-in-law bought," remarked Gardner, as they left the elevator and started across the lobby of the apartment house. "I've got everything straightened out, and am going to see her this afternoon and buy the stock from her. Now, let me get this thing quite straight: you don't want her to know that you are going to buy it, do you?"

"Oh, no; she's not to know anything about it, and neither is anyone else. I want to—well, you see, I want to surprise her. She feels that I'm partly responsible for her buying it, and also for making her lots of trouble. Jim always advises her about her investments, and she bought that stock when he was off honeymooning with me. They both say that if he had been home he wouldn't have let her buy it at all."

"I see," commented Gardner, his lips twisting in a cynical little smile. "They think it's no good."

"Well, you know, it has gone down with smoke for a period of five minutes and one fireman, Byron S. McDonald, left alone for a moment holding a hose on the roof was thrown down by the weight of the hose and suffered a wrenched side. It was more serious than it would have been otherwise since he had just recently recovered from the effects of two broken ribs.

REVIVAL MEETINGS DRAW BIG CROWDS

Evangelist Miller spoke to a packed house at the Methodist meeting last night.

"If God be for us, who can be against us," was his text and he emphasized the fact that the Christian church is a church militant. He recounted the wars of our country in past years where we have met and defeated powerful foes and declared that the fight the church is waging against sin is the greatest of them all. The church must be prepared in order to succeed. He made a strong appeal to the church people for reconsecration which met with a hearty response.

Professor Tedford has his orchestra at work and his chorus full. He and Mrs. Tedford sang a number which was full of power.

Dr. Miller delighted the audience with his rendition of a favorite song, proving himself a singer as well as a preacher. Tonight is high school night and it is expected that it will be necessary to be in the meeting early to obtain a good seat.

Those attending the revival meetings are missing the passing of the collection plate every night. The expenses are heavy and will amount to $625, not counting the offering to the Evangelist the last Sunday of the meeting. Of course the expenses must be raised some way. In order to do this the finance committee are selling 125 revival shares at $5 each. This is proving a popular method and nearly $400 has thus far been secured. It is hoped the response will continue as generous so that nightly offerings will not have to be resorted to.

TANKER AFIRE AT SEA (Associated Press Local Wire.) HUNTINGTON BEACH, Cal., Jan. 22.—Indications that an oil tanker is afire about 1 mile off shore from here were reported today by representatives of the Associated Oil company field office, who said they saw through field glasses a vessel apparently burning with large clouds of black smoke, assumed to be from oil.

Seating capacity is limited to 250, so be sure of your ticket for Cadman-Talania, Jan. 26.

Johnson Loses Place On Advisory Board.

Byron Bancroft Johnson, President of the American League of Baseball Clubs, has finally been forced to acknowledge the supreme power of former Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis as High Commissioner of Baseball. Discredited by club executives in his own league, Johnson was dropped as the League's member of the Advisory Board in favor of Phil Ball, St. Louis, at the joint meeting of the two leagues in Chicago. He retains office as league president only upon good behavior.
