ROSEBURG AND COQUILLE TO PLAY

The Roseburg and Coquille high school basketball teams are to meet in the local high school gymnasium on Tuesday evening. These two teams played a very close game at Coquille a short time ago, Roseburg winning by a narrow margin. The visiting team is the strongest in the Coast county district and has defeated all of the teams in that locality. The two teams are very evenly matched and the game should be an interesting exhibition. A preliminary has been arranged to precede the main contest.

Bolstered in almost every position by promising youngsters as a result of trades and a thorough combing of the minor leagues, Lee Fohl, manager of the Boston Red Sox, will take his entire squad number about 40 men, to New Orleans, the Sox' new training grounds, March 1.

"Doc" Brothers, third baseman, was obtained from Washington in exchange for Mike McNally, previously obtained from New York in a trade for Howard Shanks. Denny Clark was traded to San Antonio for Ewell Cross, a fine infield prospect, and cash consideration. The pitching staff will be strengthened by Rudolph Kallio, a right hander from Salt Lake City, and J. W. Keefe, who pitched for Bay City, Mich., won 19 games last season.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—The national league opened its jubilee celebration today at the scene of its birth, the "Broadway Central" hotel, where nearly fifty years ago a little group gathered to establish and regulate the baseball championship of the United States.

Today's session will be just a gathering of "boys" who fought through for that ideal and many of the of time favorites are expected to attend.

Canned Vegetables

At this time of the year it is hard to get good green vegetables, so we must use the canned vegetables.

The best canned foods are the only ones a person should use. We recommend the Royal Club brand as the very best and the price is no higher than some grades that are not so good.

We have just received a barrel of fresh sauer kraut.

MISSING PIANIST FOUND; MEMORY OF INTERIM LACKING

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Ethel Leginska, concert pianist, who disappeared week ago, has been found at the home of friends outside New York.

In the police report it was said that her disappearance was apparently caused by a nervous breakdown resulting from overwork. It was reported that she remembers nothing from the time she vanished here until the time she was located.

According to Mrs. Richard Marwede, a close friend, Miss Leginska is in a sanitarium in Boston, having been taken there after she was found in a tavern in Pennsylvania suffering from partial loss of her memory. Incessant overwork was the reason Mrs. Marwede ascribed to her breakdown of the famed pianist.

QUIETUS ON RUMS

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 2.—Jack Dempsey and Estelle Taylor motion picture actress, still were engaged but not married, according to best advice early today. While queries came in from eastern sporting circles seeking information about some sort of a frenzied search for a marriage license that the champion and the bride-to-be were pictured by rumor to be engaged upon, the principals slept soundly in their respective abodes here today. At the Barbara hotel, the blond hotel clerk announced that Jack was not to be disturbed under any conditions until 10 a. m. Meanwhile in the Hollywood boulevard of the fair Estelle a more loquacious maid confided that her mistress was out with Jack yesterday and "never gets up before 11 o'clock."

But that she was quite positive that no actual quest for a license to wed had been initiated yet.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

CYNTHIA LELAND had a misunderstanding with her husband, JIM LELAND, due to his mother's interference in their affairs. Jim goes to Honolulu, taking his mother with him. Cynthia accepts the attentions of NOEL GARDNER, and through him buys some stock which Madame Leland has thought worthless, for the purchase of which she had held Cynthia responsible. Cynthia makes several friends outside the set in which her sister-in-law, LOUELLA and her husband, Stanley, move. Among them is CECILE MALCOLM, who openly avows her affection for Noel.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT XXIX—CECILE STEPS IN

CYNTHIA drove to the station in a hired cab; ever that she felt, marked the change in her life. Until now she had had a care of her own. She had not yet decided where she would go; it was not until she stepped out of the cab and a porter gathered up her things and asked to which train gate he was to take them, that she made up her mind.

She would go to be only friend, Phil Graham. He had told her that he would always be ready to help her. Of course—how could she have forgotten him? After all, he had known her for years; there was no danger of his misunderstanding her. And although he loved her, he would not tell her so if she didn't want him to.

As she crossed the station toward the ticket office she encountered Cecile Malcolm, who promptly clutched her.

"Oh, how lucky! My dear, I was just going to phone you. We've got the most wonderful plan, Helene and I. We're going to have a winter house party at my cabin in the mountains. There'll be snow up there, and it will be gorgeous. Do you, you'll come."

Cynthia shook her head.

"No, I can't. I'm on my way home for a visit."

"But, my dear, I thought you didn't have any home—that is, that there was only your aunt, and she's abroad? Now, Cynthia, you can't run away from me unless you can think of a better story than that. Do come with us, please. Think of what fun it will be to go snowed-out of skating and tobogganing! It's just what you need. Come along!"

Cynthia hesitated, and was lost. She had always loved winter sports, and as a girl had gone almost every year to Quebec. Her gorgeous afternoons of skating, with a pause for tea and a dance or two, and then more skating. And the drives in the high-backed sleighs, and the gay little dinner parties—oh, Cecile was right.

"But I haven't any winter sports togs," she objected, taking a final step.

"Neither have I, but we'll buy some. Now, let's see—Helene and her husband and Nick DeLaney and Noel—we haven't asked him yet. You'll do that, won't you, Cynthia?"

"Indeed I shan't. It's your party, do it yourself."

"All right. Come over to the phone booth with me."

A moment later Cecile was assured that he and she had business to discuss.

ZONE MEETING AT SUTHERLIN

A very interesting zone meeting was held at Sutherlin on Saturday. The attendance was good and a most enjoyable meeting was reported. Roll call was answered by short bits of Oregon history. A fine talk was made by J. P. Burch, of the Oregon Agricultural College, and also by Miss Jackson, county supervisor and Mrs. Ackert, county superintendent. In the afternoon Miss Stewart spoke on "Primary Devices," and Miss Martha Young on "Problems in the Teaching of English."

CHILD LABOR "VICTIM" WRITES OF CONDITIONS

Roseburg, Jan. 29.

Editor News-Review:

Will you please permit me to say a few words about a subject that is being discussed freely throughout the county—

The child labor proposition, I feel competent to speak on this subject as I am one of the millions of victims. I was raised in the south. I began work in the cotton field at the age of 7 and kept it up until I reached the age of 22. So did the family goodbye and went to where cotton was unknown. But the folks followed me and so did the cotton. But the high altitude soon exterminated it. During boyhood I began picking cotton Sept. 1st, finished Jan. 1. Started to school which lasted 3 months. Began in April to prepare for cotton.

I was not driven by my parents as most children were, but was offered a premium for my work besides a part of the crop which equalled 1-10. I got up at 4 a. m. and worked until dark in the picking season.

Have worked day after day. Did not stop for lunch. I enjoyed it, even loved it, because I did not know any better. School was a dread to me.

These conditions were general. We are in a progressive age now, but those conditions still exist in the south and it is worse now as there are more people and land run down and the crop more valuable. The cotton mills of the east enslave more children than the agricultural districts. The way those people have to live in congested quarters is pitiful.

Large families exist in one room apartments owned by the capitalist. The children work and the parents stay home and produce more children. Whites and blacks the same. Most of these people are foreigners. I got my schooling after leaving the cotton fields of the

MUCH INTEREST IN SPECIAL ELECTION

A great deal of interest is being shown in the special advisory election to be held on next Saturday afternoon. The supporters of the two sites are working diligently and it is evident that there will be a large vote polled. The vote is to be taken on two sites, the West Roseburg location and the central site, the latter proposal being for the construction of a unit to the present building.

Any person over the age of 21 years who has been a resident of the district for 30 days, and who is a legal voter in the state or county, is qualified to vote at this election, no property qualifications being considered in this special vote.
