DOCTORS SAY DON'T NEGLECT COUGH OR COLD

Physicians warn against neglecting coughs and colds and tell of the serious lung complications that may result. Leading physicians now prescribe BALSAMEA for all bronchial affections. Well known Dr. Benj. F. Crabtree, Anderson, Mo., writes: "I use it exclusively for my practice and my family. It is quick, sure and safe in its action like nothing else."

Toward the end of the influenza epidemic a government physician noticed that a tribe of Indians in Nevada, by the use of oils from a native plant were immune from the ravages of influenza. He used these oils among his white patients and then in a hospital overflowing with "death" cases. News of the results swept the world and for some time it was not possible to supply the demand.

BALSAMEA combines these pure vegetable oils in a pleasant syrup. It gives miraculous results in four ways: 1. It soothes the inflamed membranes and relieves irritation. 2. It increases secretion of mucous and permits easy expectoration. 3. It stimulates pores of the skin in throwing off body poisons and 4. It strikes at the cause, quickly checking germ action.

Do not confuse it with ordinary balsam cough syrups that are only soothing syrups and do not get to the base of the trouble. Unlike other cough remedies BALSAMEA is free from coal tar and other harmful narcotics. Pleasant to take and absolutely safe to give to children.

Be sure you get BAL-SA-ME-A with the picture of the Indian on the package. Guaranteed to relieve any cough, no matter from what cause, or your money back. All druggists sell BALSAMEA.

In Roseburg buy it from Chapman's Drug Store.

NO CASE AGAINST O'CONNELL'S MATES AND COZY DOLAN

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Jimmy O'Connell, blacklisted infielder of the New York Giants, may be guilty by his confession of violating the New York state laws covering baseball bribery, but there is no case against Cozy Dolan, former coach, also banished from the game, according to the report of the district attorney's investigation into the scandal made public today.

The report disclosing that no new evidence has been unearthed to alter the case as it stood last fall, following the expulsion of O'Connell and Dolan by Commissioner Landis, also reiterates that there is no ground for implicating Ross Young, George Kelly and Frank Frisch, Giant stars, named by O'Connell as having knowledge of the deal but exonerated by Landis.

Pimply! Well, Don't Be

People Notice It. Drive Them Off With Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.

LEWIS BEATS MONDT, BUT DRAWS HISSES

(Associated Press Leased Wire.)

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 4. — Ed. "Strangler" Lewis, former heavyweight wrestling champion in his first appearance since his defeat by Wayne "Big" Munn, defeated Joe "Toots" Mondt, Greeley, Col., here last night.

Mondt won the second fall in 37 minutes. Lewis won the first in 47:05 with a series of headlocks. In the third fall, Lewis was sent to the mat several times and succeeded in applying his winning headlock after a flying leap at his opponent. Catcalls greeted the introduction of Lewis as world's champion. Munn, who was present, was hailed with cheers.

WHITE SOX EYE PENNANT WITH HIGHEST HOPES

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—A first division club and possibly a pennant contender is the aim of Eddie Collins, new manager of the Chicago American league team. If enthusiasm and dope are any criterion the White Sox may prove to be the "Dark Horse" in the 1925 pennant drive. Collins declares the club "will finish where it belongs."

Four of the recent American league pennant winners were piloted by first year managers.

Collins is pleased with his club and is depending upon two men, Pitcher Ted Blankenship and Outfielder Johnny Mostil. With Falk and Hooper occupying the other outfield berths, the new pilot believes his troubles there have been solved. He also has Arch Deacon and Elsh as substitute fly catchers.

The shortstop position, the weakest in the club last season, seems to be well cared for with Ike Davis, former Columbus American Association player.

Collins believes he has a strong line of substitutes.

There are four left handed pitchers on the roster and Collins is hopeful of developing one who would be able to take his turn with the right handers. The southpaws are Mike Cvengros, Foreman, Davenport and Ash. The right handers on the roster are Faber, Thurston, Robertson, Connally, Lyons, Blankenship, Leverette, Mangum and Steengraafe.

William Kamm, $100,000 coast league third baseman, who suffered a slump in his batting last season, is expected to command the hot corner. Earl Sheely will return to the initial sack. Collins will return to the Keystone sack.

Ray Schalk and Clyde Grouse will probably do the bulk of the catching. Billy Lauder, former baseball coach, has been signed as coach and assistant to Collins.

The club as a whole will take on a college atmosphere. In addition to the collegiate coach and Manager Collins, there are five or more men with university experiences, these include Charlie Robertson, Bib Falk, "Red" Faber, Harry Hooper, from California and Ted Lyons.

One Wife on Approval

by VIOLET DARE

Author of "Luxury of Love," "The Husband Maker," etc.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

CYNTHIA LELAND'S husband, Jim, has gone to Honolulu shortly after their marriage, following a misunderstanding with his wife, and has taken his mother with him, leaving Cynthia to face the disapproval of her sister-in-law,

LOUELLA, and all her world. Cynthia turns to

CECILE MALCOLM, leader of the town's gayest set, and accepts the friendship of NOEL GARDNER, the town's black sheep, going with them to a mid-winter house party at Cecile's mountain cabin.

TODAY'S INSTALMENT

XXXI—PLAYING WITH DANGER

CYNTHIA and Noel Gardner made their way slowly up a slight rise of ground near the cabin; then, as they came to untrodden snow over which a crust had hardened, they went faster. Their skis made almost no sound, and save for the occasional rustling of a branch there was absolute quiet all about them.

VIOLET DARE

It was a night of white magic; the moonlight was so bright that an air of unreality lay over everything. Cynthia, as she went skimming down a long, easy hill, felt as if she were flying through the wine-like air.

"Oh, isn't this perfect?" she cried to Noel, when they had reached the bottom and started up the next hill. "I've never known anything like it."

"Neither have I," he replied, and his deep voice made the words doubly significant, as she knew he had meant them to be. Hurriedly she tried to find a safer subject. She did not want Noel to renew his love-making.

"It's so beautiful here; these pine woods are magnificent," she exclaimed. "I've often been in Canada for the winter sports, but never have I known anything more wonderful than this."

Determinedly she pinned the conversation to a discussion of the scenery, as they climbed the hill. When they had reached the top and paused a moment for breath he touched her arm lightly.

"Look—isn't that incredibly lovely?" he demanded, with a gesture toward the moonlit world that lay below them.

She knew that there were other cabins in the vicinity of Cecile's, but from that hill they could see no sign of human life; only the woods, with their beautiful evergreens, so heavy with snow that some of them were like white tents, and the long, unbroken sweep of snow that marked the long hill.

"I feel as if we could sail straight down this hill into Heaven," he said slowly. "I'd like to do that—to come a cropper at the end, and wind up my life right there; knowing that I'm with you is the only thing that means anything to me, Cynthia, and since you can't see your way clear to being with me always, I don't care about going on."

"Oh, Noel—don't!" she cried. "Surely I can't mean that much to you."

"But you do. Every other [illegible] I've ever known has disappointed me bitterly. You're different from them all. I know that I can trust you as I could a man—and I think you as if you were a pal."

"I'm not, though—I'm just a woman," exclaimed Cynthia, taking refuge in flippancy. She felt that she could not trust herself. Noel had never appealed to her so strongly before as he had in that moment. She did not know how much was due to the magic of the night and how much to her feeling for him, but she was resolved not to find out. She did not want to care for Noel.

Turning abruptly, she started down the hill. It was very steep, and here and there slight hummocks showed where tree stumps or small bushes were concealed by the snow. Trees grew in scattered clumps on the incline, and at the bottom was a thickly wooded area, through which no path was visible.

"Better take it easy," Noel called, as she went dashing down the hill. "You can't be too sure of a hill like this."

Cynthia went skimming on, balancing perfectly, so well poised that she was hardly conscious of helping herself with the pole that she held lightly. On, on, so fast that she seemed to be sailing through the moonlit air instead of on the ground.

She could not help wishing that she could go on like that forever; she felt as if she were flying through a dream world. Noel was somewhere behind her. She hardly realized that he was there.

"Oh, isn't this perfect?" she cried.

Faster and faster she went as the hill became steeper. She was coming into the wooded space now. Perhaps it would be better to slow down a bit, she told herself, returning to reality, as when she was going at such a rate it was a bit hard to steer sometimes. And the trees had such a way of bobbing up just when she didn't expect them.

A warning shout came from Noel; she could not understand what he said, but she knew that he was telling her to go slower.

She thrust out with her pointed stick, did everything she could to slacken her pace. She felt now as if some giant hand thrown her through space, and nothing could stop her. Yet she was not afraid. After all it didn't matter what happened. This was Elysium!

And then, suddenly, Noel, who was close behind her, cried out and swerved sharply to one side. For Cynthia had somehow caught one ski in the underbrush, her body had swung sharply around and gone crashing into a tree stump. She [illegible] limply, like a rag doll [illegible] hair. With a heart-[illegible] Noel threw himself [illegible] and gently lifted

ROSEBURG WINS SLOW CONTEST FROM COQUILLE

High School Team Takes Basketball Game From Visitors 17 to 8.

OAKLAND DEFEATED

Second String Players Win From Oakland High Team by Score of 29 to 7.

Basketball fans witnessed a slow and rather uninteresting game last night when the Roseburg high school defeated Coquille by a score of 17 to 8. Although both teams fought hard, the contest was devoid of excitement, and was a slow, dragging spectacle.

The game was featured by a great deal of running back and forth across the floor, with poor basketshooting on both sides. Both teams were playing a stronger defense game than offense, and consequently little basketshooting was attempted.

Rusty Irwin, a veteran player with the high school, was back in uniform last night and played the greater part of the game. Irwin was not carrying enough subjects last semester to qualify for the team, but this semester is doing sufficient work to entitle him to a place on the squad.

The Roseburg team this year is exhibiting one strong point and that is ability to convert fouls. Last year's team was very weak in this regard, and lost at least one close game because free throws could not be turned into scores. Last night, however, out of seven free throws, Roseburg secured five points. In fact, the local team made the first four points of the game off fouls, before a field basket was thrown.

Beckley was high point man for Roseburg, making five points, while Jost was second with four. Wilson, with five points, was high for Coquille.

The main game was preceded by a fast preliminary between Roseburg's second team and Oakland. These two teams were evenly matched, and put up a hard fight, Roseburg however, exhibited a much better ability in shooting and won the game 29 to 7.

The lineup for the main game was as follows:

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Roseburg (7) | Pos. | Coquille (8) |
| Irwin (1) | C | Wilson (5) |
| Beckley (5) | C | |
| Gile (1) | F | Pulford (2) |
| Collins (2) | F | Richmond |
| Helliwell (3) | F | Simmons |
| Jost (4) | G | Mosier |
| Perrin (1) | G | Rice (1) |
| | G | Laird |

PINE BEETLE CAUSING GREAT TIMBER LOSSES

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 4.—(United Press.)—Destruction by the pine beetle in the Western yellow pine forests of Oregon during 1924 mounted to 300,000,000 board feet, conservatively valued at $1,000,000, according to figures recently compiled by A. J. Jaenicke in charge of the insect control work for the district forest office.

"The rapid increase in the value of pine stumpage has resulted in a growing interest by timber owners in protecting against the beetle," Jaenicke said. "Forest experts are devoting much time to research work along this line."

A similar insect, known as the mountain pine beetle, is killing thousands of acres of lodge pole pine and considerable yellow pine in Klamath, Lake, Deschutes, Grant, Umatilla, Baker, Union and Wallowa counties, Jaenicke said.

Because of the relative low value of lodge pole and the large quantities infected at one time, control methods of this species are not considered practical.

"The most serious aspect of the lodge pole infections," Jaenicke said," is the tremendous fire hazard they constitute. In a number of instances large fires have got their head way in lodge pole killings.

The Douglas fir of Western Oregon at present is fairly free from insect damage of any kind, reports show. Douglas fir, Jaenicke said is far less suspectible to insect loss than western Yellow pine.

Don't Fuss With Mustard Plasters!

Musterole Works Without the Blister—Easier, Quicker

There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole.

Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of the present white ointment. It takes the place of mustard plasters, and will not blister.

Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia).

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.
