WORLD ENDERS IN HOLLYWOOD BAR THE PUBLIC

was not evident to the man on the street and efforts to reach the members of the Rowenite cult for an opinion on the matter were unsuccessful during the early morning hours.

Cults: The Aftermath.
If the mystic and ritualistic activities of the cult members remained hidden from the general public, however, there were other phases of the "end of the world" situation that became matters of public record.

One woman visited the district attorney's office to ask aid in preventing her mother from the disposing of her property as the result of Mrs. Rowen's prediction. She said her mother already had given a portion of her funds to the Rowenites' cause.

In Los Angeles county superior court, Mrs. Arvelia May Balzar filed suit against her divorced husband, Dr. F. J. Balzar, leader of the Rowenite colony in Pasadena, alleging that in his haste to settle other accounts before the end he was neglecting alimony payments due her and was already $1,000 in arrears.

PATCHOGUE, N. Y., Feb. 7.—The sun rose in the east today, just as it has for untold ages, and shone on the rustic home of Robert Reid, the "Apostle of Doom" despite his fervid predictions that at midnight last night would come the beginning of the millennium and the salvation of the "chosen few."

Reid and his followers, who had lived through as hectic a night as may ever be their lot, were still confident today that the "promised sign" of the second coming of Christ is not far off. Just when he would not say, although yesterday he declared the end of the world would take fully seven days.

Hopeful all through the night that the sign would come, Reid watched the heavens until morning. When nothing startling had happened at midnight in the east, he still felt that the end might come within the next three hours when it would be midnight in Hollywood, Cal., the home of Mrs. Margaret Rowen, the leader of the cult. Hundreds of curious persons gathered in the neighborhood of his shack; reporters interviewed him, cameramen took his picture. Once his chief disciple, Willard Downs, drove away the crowd under a shower of hot water. At another time Downs' son, Daniel, attempted to take his father home forcibly. A scuffle followed and the son was persuaded to leave with difficulty. This morning all that was left was his shack and his faithful little band.

His Dunch Has ABN.
BRIDLEY, Cal., Feb. 7.—Elder P. W. Province, head of the Berkeley group of "Reformed" Seventh Day Adventists, who sat up until midnight to await the "end of the world" as prophesied by "supreme prophetess," Mrs. Margaret W. Rowen, of Hollywood, declared early today that "we did not expect the earth to be destroyed."

"It has to stay here for another thousand years as the 'bottomless pit' Mr. Province said. 'We haven't had the battle of Armageddon yet. That has to be fought.'"

Mrs. Rowen's Prestige in Balance.
LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 7.—If the predictions of Margaret W. Rowen, of Hollywood, self-styled seeress and leader of "what is termed the 'Reformed Adventist church' movement, does not develop to the point of realization within the seven days allotted, twelve followers of the California cultists are prepared to renounce her as their leader. This was the announcement of Joe Gammel, leader of the Callego view, the time set for the Saviour to begin his long journey from heaven to earth.

Members of the cult gathered in their homes last night, and early today scanned the heavens through a cloudless sky—"cloud, less to the unbeliever."

"Believers" of Mrs. Rowen's faith are able to see the cloud and other signs of the second coming of Christ," Mr. Gammel explained to the expectant throng that surrounded his home in Collegeview, a Lincoln suburb. Many persons were gathered inside the Gammel home, but only one other of the twelve Colleeview believers in the prediction of doom was present. That was Mrs. Gammel. Mr. Gammel went to the back porch soon after midnight to see if the first sign of the coming millennium—"Christ appearing as a small cloud"—was visible, but on his return did not indicate what visions, if any, he had seen in the sky.

According to the belief of members of the Rowen faith, Christ's first appearance was to have been in the form of a small cloud descending at a rapid rate toward the earth. He was to make several stops, the first on a planet near heaven, where the saints were to join him and accompany the Lord to earth. The descent was to take seven days and the return trip a like time, it was believed.

"Error in Prophecy."
CLEVELAND, Ore., Feb. 7.—Scores of followers of the Rowenite cult, who believed the "world's end" was coming, sadly returned to their homes today, weary from loss of sleep after waiting throughout the night for the great ray of light shining from the constellation Orion that they believed was to herald the end.

"We didn't see the light; there was an error in the prophecy," the leaders said.

A. N. Holman, a business visitor in Roseburg Friday, and an overnight guest returned to his home at Portland this morning.

JACK DEMPSEY TO WED MONDAY.

(Associated Press Local Wire.)
SAN DIEGO, Cal., Feb. 7.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion pugilist, and Estelita Taylor, motion picture actress, shortly before noon today secured a marriage license at the office of the county clerk here.

"We do not intend to get married until Monday night" said Dempsey after the license had been issued. "We have not yet decided who will perform the ceremony. As it is, we plan on getting married Monday night and then leave for Los Angeles, after which we will plan our honeymoon."

FARM BUREAU MEETING WAS WELL ATTENDED

plain. The cooperative law, the federal farm loan act and the intermediate credit act all stand practically unmet awaiting the time when farmers will realize that they must intelligently organize as business men or be reduced to the level of the European peasant.

"I deplore the use of such remedies as loaning the credit of the state to farmers or attempting by congressional enactment the raising of the price levels. They are all unproductive and unneeded. Let us discard these fallacies and return to sound fundamental principles of government and work out in cooperation with our other citizens, a sound and lasting prosperity based on sound economic and business principles."

"Let us in Oregon take no backward step. Let us try out the next few years cooperation with our other citizens and see if we can not attract such population and wealth to our state that our tax problem will be no more, that our market problem will be largely solved, that by cooperation good feeling shall replace division and strife, prosperity increase and capital and population be attracted."

"We live in a state of wonderful possibilities. Let us do our duty and we can realize them."

"Organization, cooperation, good will toward all and the observance of sound economic principles is the answer to all our Oregon problems."

Mr. Mansfield's address was loudly applauded and it seemed as though he had struck a popular chord with the farmers of this district.

Tip For Beginners.
Solve this puzzle by comparing the synonyms listed in the "Horizontal" and "Vertical" columns with the number of spaces extending crosswise or downward on the diagram, as the case may be. If a word occurs to you meaning substantially the same as the synonym and the correct number of letters to fit in the spaces between its number and the first shaded stop following, write it in lightly. Work away the small words, the "easy" words, first, and they will give you plenty of clues to the difficult ones.
