HEART DISEASE SUPPLANTS TUBERCULOSIS

"Heart disease has supplanted tuberculosis as the greatest man-killer."

This assertion was made by Dr. Robert H. Halsey, of New York, in a paper presented to the American Association for the Advancement of Science at its last annual meeting in Washington, D. C.

According to statistics compiled by the Department of Commerce for the registration area, comprising 87.6 per cent of the population of the United States, heart disease claimed 170,033 lives in 1923, as compared to 105,680 deaths caused by pneumonia and 90,732 by tuberculosis.

"If the above figures are correct," says the Division of Venereal Diseases of the United States Public Health Service, "syphilis may also be held responsible for 52 per cent of all the deaths resulting from heart trouble, or 88,417 fatalities.

"Heart disease has both economic and public health aspects," said Dr. Halsey in his paper. "Heart disease is associated with large economic losses, this ailment being the largest single cause of death we know today.

Dr. Roberts asserted that there was no more excuse for having syphilis than leprosy and that while a great portion of heart disease comes from syphilis, the other portion comes from degeneration and afflictions of the rheumatic group, most of which, like syphilis, are entirely preventable.

Athletic coaches in schools and colleges are prominent figures now. Judging by newspaper notice and salaries paid in many cases, there are many who consider the appointment of such an official more important than the engagement of a teacher or professor.

The cold waves of winter bring many destructive fires in their train. People force stoves and heaters beyond their normal capacity, and then if their flues are improperly protected, the unnatural heat may set woodwork on fire.

DEPUTIES SHOW A LACK CONFIDENCE

LONDON, Feb. 11.—The Chamber of Deputies today voted lack of confidence in the government by 45 to 45 after a stormy all night session and Premier Santos resigned.

Because of rumors of 500-rupee troops paraded the streets and were stationed around parliament after midnight.

The governmental crisis followed a debate on a statement of Premier Santos regarding a demonstration in front of the ministerial offices last Saturday when troops fired into the crowds.

No. 8—FREE JOHNSON Among the old pioneers of the village upon whose brow this colony wishes to place the laurel wreath is our good friend Free Johnson. Free doesn't say much and perhaps that is the reason he has such a legion of friends in this country. When he does talk, he says something and probably that is the reason he is listened to. At any rate, he's a mighty fine scout. He has plugged along at the same old stand for years and years. Has witnessed the transformation of Roseburg from a one-horse town to a full-fledged city. And in the days of wooden crosswalks, Free was just as likable as he is today. And come to think about it, we guess that is the reason a fellow can live in a town all his life and still stand ace-high in the community as regards friends. And Free has not only endeared himself to the older generation but the youngsters who have had a smack of his wonderful ice cream will remember him and his brand of goodies for ever and ever. We like it, too, Free.

COMPLAINT IS MADE OF ROAD EAST OF TOWN

The reason why the road has been allowed to become in such a deplorable condition, and stated that there is no money available for maintenance.

"This district," he stated, "has a valuation of $388,140, which raises approximately $700 for maintenance work for the entire district, which includes the Roseburg-Dixonville road and several short roads. This amount is entirely inadequate to take care of the necessary maintenance, although the supervisor does the best he can with the available funds. The money is distributed as rapidly as it is received, through the payment of taxes, but no great amount of work is possible.

"This district has positively refused to help itself, and is dependent altogether upon the small amount of maintenance money raised. Recently the district was posted with notices of election, and a special road meeting held at Dixonville. The proposition was to vote a ten mill special tax to maintain the roads, 5 mills to be spent between Roseburg and Dixonville, one mill on the Banning-Hahn road, one mill on the Ed Ware road, one-half mill on the Rifle range road, one-half mill on the Gladwell road and one-half mill on the Hamp road.

"When the election was held these were 49 votes cast against a special tax and 7 votes in favor. We have the names of those who voted for the tax and every one of those who favor it live in Edenbower where they would have received the direct benefit of only one mill of the tax. "The county court spent considerable money scraping the road and fixing up the surface last year, believing that the district would maintain the road with a special tax, but they turned down the proposition to help themselves, and now there is no money which can be procured to maintain this section.

"Market road money cannot be used for maintenance. The state directs where this money is to be spent and will permit the money to be used only on permanent improvement. It can be used to straighten out a curve, cut down grades, or make other permanent improvements, but cannot be spent to keep up the surface or do maintenance work of any sort, and that is what is needed on the Dixonville road.

"It must also be kept in mind that the road is not the worst in the county. There are many other roads where conditions are just as bad and where county aid is just as badly needed. Many of these districts with many times the amount of road to maintain are each year voting heavy special taxes year after year, and it appears to me that if any districts are to be given help that those which are doing something for themselves should be the first to receive it.

"The only other money the court receives outside the general road fund, is from the auto tax, and this must go into the bond fund, so that it cannot be used for maintenance.

"The county has a small general road and bridge fund, which it can use for important work. The extremely wet weather has caused a great deal of damage in various parts of the county. Bridges have been washed out in many points and entire grades have been carried out on some roads, so that all the money in this fund will be needed for absolutely necessary work.

"As conditions are at the present time, I do not see how any help can be given the district. If it had voted its tax there would have been more than $2,000 for the maintenance of the Dixonville section alone, which would have been ample to keep the road in shape.

"There is no question but that the road is the most important in this section. It should be paved. Not only the Dixonville road, but also the Edenhower road, but until a better spirit is shown, there is not apt to be any such improvement on the Dixonville section."

RICH DETROIT DENTIST AND 2 SONS ARRESTED

(A special police commission)

self and his wife, of $10,000 face value each, with a view of collecting the policies by "identifying" bodies to be obtained at an undertaking establishment here as Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Fox. A man employed at the Molin home one Mary Garbo was also insured for $10,000, Crinnian told the police. These $10,000 policies were written by one of the younger Molins, according to his statement, while Dr. Molin arranged for the medical examination of the applicants.

Crinnian began to fear for his life and that of his wife, he said, when the Molins insisted on their eating dinner with them frequently. Each dinner party was followed by a spell of sickness, he explained, and he began to distrust the sincerity of Molin's offer to let him and his wife share in the profits of the proposed "frame up" deaths.

Molin obtained his signature to the false affidavit in Detroit, Crinnian's statement alleges, by threats of prosecution on a charge of passing worthless checks.

In connection with the Molins' arrest police announced they planned to make a search here for $200,000 in diamonds said to be missing from the reported hold-up of a diamond salesman in Detroit last year. The Molins have four safety deposit boxes in Los Angeles banks, they said.
