

GENERAL STATIONS ALL ALONG HIGHWAY

With the opening of Roseburg for the distribution of General gasoline the last link has been filled in a chain of service through independent dealers which enables the motorist to fill up his tank with "old-fashioned" gasoline all along the Pacific highway from Ashland to Blaine at the British Columbia-Washington line.

The spread of General gasoline, in the thirteen months since it was first offered to motorists in Seattle and since the opening in Portland last August, has been one of the most phenomenal occurrences in the annals of either of the automotive or oil industries, according to R. G. Bowman, manager, General Petroleum Corporation (Oregon).

"General gasoline fans can now drive the entire breadth of Washington and Oregon without being out of reach of stations that display the green and white signs showing that our products are for sale. Much of the rapidity with which our distribution has spread was due to the demand from motorists who were induced by our advertising or the recommendation of friends to try General and were so strongly convinced by the decision of their engine that they insisted on being able to get it wherever they wanted to drive.

"We have increased our service just as rapidly as possible so as to take care of these demands and now have an adequate framework for covering all of western Oregon and Washington as well as parts of eastern Washington.

Much of the activity of his organization this winter, Mr. Bowman explains, has been devoted to getting preparations over the territory completed so that when the outing and touring season begins everything will be in readiness to meet the heavier demands.

"While General gasoline made its first reputation in the winter as a quick-starting, peppy gas, and added much to its laurels by satisfactory performance during the cold snap this winter, it also showed last summer that it gives the power mileage which the motor tourist wants when he hits the open highway or the mountain roads.

VIRGINIA WILL SAFEGUARD RICHMOND FEEDING GROUNDS

A huge sea wall will be built to save far-famed Back Bay, Virginia's paradise for the duck hunters of many states, according to W. McDonald Lee, Virginia Commissioner of game and fisheries, who recently inspected the district after receiving complaints from hunters that salty waters from the Atlantic threatened to kill all food for wild fowl in the vast area.

The waters of Back Bay are saline but not enough to prevent a wild variety of grasses and plants from growing on its shores and marshes. But, said the commissioner, the Atlantic ocean has broken through its natural barrier of sand dunes and is pouring in too much salt for the plant life to survive. A sea wall to withstand the mightiest storms will be thrown across the weakened beaches.

WEALTHY MAN IS AMNESIA VICTIM

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) FREMONT, Neb., Feb. 11.—Earl Holt, 27, who was found wandering about the streets of Fremont, penniless and eating raw corn for sustenance, police say, has been identified as a member of a prominent southern family of Hot Springs, N. C. A brother, C. W. Holt, has arrived here taking charge of his brother, preparatory to taking him to his home in Reidsville.

According to C. W. Holt, Earl was head of a number of large textile mills and business worries affected his mind to such an extent that he became a victim of amnesia about seven months ago and disappeared from his home.

In Fremont, broken in health and without funds, he declared himself too proud to beg, and, according to police, he was found living on corn he took from the stalks in the fields.

ELIMINATION FOR THE CHAMP TITLE

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Challengers for the heavyweight boxing crown no worn by Jack

Dempsey, should fight among themselves for an opportunity at the title in the opinion of the New York State athletic commission.

Paddy Mullins, manager of Harry Wills appeared at the meeting of the commission yesterday seeking information regarding the filing of a challenge and was informed that the body would not award preference in the matter. If challenges come from both Wills and Tom Gibbons of St. Paul, the commission pointed out, an elimination match would be necessary.

GIRLS LEARN TO USE THEIR FEET

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) FORT COLLINS, Colo., Feb. 11.—One hundred and fifty girl students arrested by campus "police" at the Colorado Agricultural college here are learning a new game, how to play marbles with their feet.

The women's athletic department, "arrested" the girls on specific charges of bad posture, improper shoes or other foot defects. They pleaded guilty to violating the "health ordinance" of the athletic department and the game of marbles, played with the toes, was invented as punishment as a corrective exercise.

HOUSE OF COMMONS RECEIVES A JOLT

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) LONDON, Feb. 11.—A political subplot kept of astonishment through the ranks of the newly assembled House of Commons yesterday when the only laborite woman, Miss Ellen Wilkinson, entered wearing a vivid green frock—the most daring costume any woman has yet shown in Britain's staid legislative chamber.

It was the sensation of the day. It had the merit of affording a brilliant contrast to Miss Wilkinson's mass of red hair, which it was noticed the owner had shined during the parliamentary session. Miss Wilkinson seems fond of striking contrasts. Her height is just four feet 11 inches, so she has

BACHELORS CLUB UTTER FAILURE

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) GREELEY, Colo., Feb. 11.—The "misogynist fraternity," Colorado state teachers' college organization of avowed "bachelors," organized a week ago, has fallen.

Woman's lure proved too much for the would-be hermits of the college who a week ago signed "the pledge" not to have "dates," nor have anything to do with girls, or girls' belongings, in fact not even to talk to a girl on the campus unless the conversation was purely business.

Yesterday Glenn Wood, president of the fraternity and leader in school affairs, was seen riding with a girl in an automobile, and today every confirmed bachelor was planning engagements with the coeds for tonight.

NAVAJOS REFUSE TO GIVE UP DEAD

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Feb. 11.—Velled from the pale of modern civilization by the isolation of their own haunts in New Mexico hills news of a war council by Navajo Indians for reprisal for the death of a tribesman was awaited beyond the borders of the reservation today. Attempts to communicate with the trading post nearest the scene of the Indian camp where yesterday 100 Navajo refused to yield the body of the slain Navajo to the county jury were futile last night. The Indian was shot in a hand to hand struggle with a constable, who sought to arrest him for moving a fence from a homesteader's tract, it was reported.

The scene of the trouble is near Cuba, N. M., about 75 miles from Albuquerque. Homesteaders were reported arming in that section yesterday, in preparation for possible eventualities.

Francis Bond and Agnes Smith, were in Roseburg Saturday visiting with Mrs. Fanny Smith, who is ill. The Parent Teachers' association held a very interesting meeting last Friday evening. The program consisted of recitations, music and picture slides of Switzerland. There will be a dance at the Dixonville hall on Friday evening, Feb. 13 with music by the Gilde orchestra. Free lunch. Everyone welcome. Before a large and appreciative audience at the Gilde high school building, Friday night, Will E. Holbein, secretary of the Roseburg

Chamber of Commerce, and Carl Neal, supervisor of the Umpqua National forest gave interesting talks on publicity matters and the North Umpqua road. Mr. Holbein gave inspiring arguments for the development of the "Civic Spirit" among the rural communities, pointing out the fact that the farmer who is indifferent to the progress of his neighbors is just as much a detriment to the welfare of the county as the city business man who neglects to take an active part in civic affairs. He outlined the plans of the state and county chambers of commerce for the future advancement of Oregon's interests, and explained some of the proposed legislation now before the legislature. Mr. Neal told of the tentative plans of the federal forest service for the coming year's work on the North Umpqua road and expressed the desire of his department to complete the highway through to Diamond Lake.
