WOULD OUST GEO. CLEAVER FROM OFFICE

League. This money was turned over as aforesaid in June and the early part of July, 1924. No itemized statement covering the expenditure of this money was ever made by the superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League to the commissioner. A portion of this fund was spent in high living, debauchery and immorality upon the part of so-called investigating agents. No prosecutions have resulted from the activities of these agents. It is claimed by the governor, the prohibition commissioner and the superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League that $1500 was expended in order to secure evidence for the purpose of convicting large run runners. The governor has asserted that the money was well spent, and it is claimed that prosecutions will result. However, up to the present time no large run runners have been arrested or convicted as a result of said investigation. Considerable time has elapsed since the investigations were made and Weinberg, the chief investigator, has departed from the state of Oregon to answer an indictment in the state of New York.

"A general statement has been submitted to the committee by the superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League covering the expenditure of the said sum of $1500. This statement shows that large sums were expended for hotels and meals for Mr. and Mrs. Weinberg and guests consisting of large run runners; and that a portion of said sum was expended for taxi, auto hire, cigars, drinks, etc. money was spent freely by these agents in houses of prostitution for the purpose of purchasing drinks and for other purposes which were improper. The committee believes Weinberg and his assistant, Hugo, should never have been employed at the expense of the state prohibition fund. The methods employed by these so-called investigators were not law enforcement but lawlessness. Their activities are a stain upon the prohibition cause."

"6. The commissioner had no previous experience which qualified him for the office and is not temperamentally suited to the work which developed upon him. He has been unfortunate in the selection and approval of a number of agents employed by him. Some of these agents have been convicted of crimes before their employment and others were guilty of malfeasance during the term of their employment by the commissioner. In two instances, a chief deputy of the commissioner has assaulted persons placed under arrest by him for the purpose of forcing confessions from them. The commissioner, however, has immediately discharged such employees as soon as their conduct became known to him. It has been difficult for him to secure the services of competent and trustworthy men, and the governor has appointed to many of these positions without any knowledge of their character or qualifications as law enforcement officers."

"7. The department has been conducted upon the theory at least in part, that it was better to capture a corrupt official than a boot-legal and has been unduly concerned about the conduct of public officials."

"8. The report of the commissioner with respect to the results obtained by his office is exaggerated and inaccurate, the best results in the enforcement of the prohibition law have been obtained under the direction of duly elected sheriffs and district attorneys of the various counties. Although several agents were paid by the district attorneys of the various counties, they were required to report to the commissioner and the results of their work are credited to the commissioner—as though they were working under his immediate direction. In addition, the very large credit is taken for work in which Mr. Cleaver nor his assistants had the slightest part. In some counties the commissioner is entitled to credit."

"9. The commissioner has done practically nothing towards the enforcement of the narcotic law. The narcotic evil is one of the most serious matters confronting the people of this state and the work of the commissioner in the enforcement of narcotic laws has been almost nil."

"10. By reason of the inexperience of the commissioner, he was directed by the governor to keep in close touch with the superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League and to follow his advice, which the commissioner has consistently done."

"11. Under the act creating the office of prohibition commissioner, the power of appointing the commissioner and such agents and inspectors as may be deemed necessary to enforce the prohibition laws of the state, is vested in the governor. The governor's orders and directions have been strictly and literally followed by the commissioner and the governor has personally assumed full responsibility for the conduct of the office of the commissioner."

"12. The commissioner has oftentimes been unduly condemned and criticized for conduct resulting from the direction of the governor and the superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League; but in our judgment he can be of no further service to the state as prohibition commissioner, and that in furtherance of the cause of law enforcement, his resignation should be demanded or he should be removed."

Representative Hurlburt signed a brief complimentary report declaring that "in many instances the work of the prohibition commissioner has been most commendable and he has accomplished considerable substantial good which could not have been accomplished by local officers."

Committee Evenly Divided
STATE HOUSE, Salem, Ore., Feb. 12.—Following announcement of its findings today the prohibition department investigating committee was unable to agree on

S. P. TRAINS DELAYED.

(Associated Press Local Wire.)
MEDFORD, Ore., Feb. 12.—With three feet of snow at Blazon, Cal., and two at the crest of the Skalkyou, all the Southern Pacific trains from south are from three to four hours late today. The highway over the Skalkyou, however, is kept open and motor cars are coming through, although travel is difficult. Motor buses are still running to Klamath Falls over the Green Spring highway, but if the present stormy weather continues, the road will soon be closed.

recommendations, and was evenly divided.

Recommendations signed by Senator Hare and four members of the house committee urged that the major portion of money from violations of the prohibition law be turned over to sheriffs and district attorneys for enforcement of the law and that they should have a "flying squadron" of competent officers to enforce the prohibition law.

Their recommendation would virtually supplant the present act, with Hare in this recommendation are Representatives Rushlight, Fitzmaurice, Longman and Swan.

The other recommendation signed by Representative Hurlburt and Senators Eddy, Johnson, Butler and Garland urges that there be a change in the office of prohibition commissioner without delay. They would strengthen the present act by giving the prohibition department twice the amount of money it now receives, under the act.

The recommendations signed by Hare and the four representatives follows in full:

"A better machinery should be provided to the enforcement of the prohibition laws than the act provided for the enforcement of a prohibition commissioner and agents to be selected by the governor."

"The fines and forfeitures obtained by the various counties in the enforcement of the prohibition laws should be expended for the purpose of enforcing the various prohibition acts. The major portion of the money thus obtained should be expended under the direction and control of the district attorneys and sheriffs of the various counties. Their work should be supplemented by a "flying squadron" of carefully selected and competent law enforcing officers to be selected by the attorney-general and required to cooperate with the various law enforcing officers of the state. Those officers would be able to perform valuable service in working and co-operating with the sheriffs."

"Disregard for law is a more serious menace than the evils resulting from the liquor traffic. The duty of enforcing the laws should be placed squarely upon the shoulders of sheriffs and district attorneys and they should be assisted by the state officers to be selected as hereinafter stated."

The recommendations signed by Representative Hurlburt and the four senators follows:

"We recommend the continuance of the present law continuing the office of prohibition commissioner but that there should be a change in the commissioner without delay."

"We recommend that the funds available for the enforcement of the prohibition law be increased to twice the amount of the present sum."

"We recommend that of the funds allotted to the counties for the enforcement of the prohibition law, some reasonable portion be made available to the sheriffs for independent use in enforcing prohibition."

TO FORECLOSE BIG MORTGAGE IN MEDFORD

(Associated Press Local Wire.)
MEDFORD, Ore., Feb. 12.—Suit to foreclose a mortgage for $372,603.14, the largest sum ever involved in a legal action in Jackson county, was filed in circuit court Wednesday by the Welch Investment company and J. W. Stewart of Spokane, against the Rogue River Valley Canal company.

The complaint sets forth that on July 26, 1915, the Rogue River Valley Canal company, through J. T. Sullivan, as manager, and W. P. Mealey, as secretary, signed two promissory notes for a total of $372,394 giving as security the Rogue orchard tract, except ten ten acres, the water rights of Fish and Four Mile lakes, 10,900 minor's inches in the north and south forks of Rutte creek, the water rights of the Southern Oregon Irrigation company, water rights in Klamath county, ditches in Jackson county and all other assets.

The complaint asks for judgment, foreclosure of the mortgage and the decree of a sale on the property and rights.

In another legal action involving irrigation, the state land board of Oregon filed suit against Robert C. Baker, Sohelma J. Baker, Beulah and Edith Baker, H. H. Baker, the Medford Irrigation district and Jackson county, for the collection of a promissory note for $1,500 signed December 5, 1917, with land in the Central Point district given as security under a mortgage.

The $1,500 was loaned, the complaint states, from the "irreducible school fund" of the state.

The action also involves the priority claim of irrigation liens over a first mortgage.

The complaint sets forth that no part of the loan has been paid, and alleges that the general taxes have not been paid since 1919, tax delinquencies now amounting to $1,000.

The state land board asks for a judgment and decree of foreclosure.

WANT A REFERENDUM.

STATEHOUSE, Salem, Oregon, Feb. 12.—On motion of Senator Magladry, the senate this forenoon considered the resolution of Senator Dennis submitting to a vote of the people a constitutional amendment inhibiting the levy of any income or inheritance taxes until 1940.

The vote was 17 for reconsideration and 13 against. Senator Magladry yesterday afternoon struck by the automobile driven by Mr. Shell. The grand jury, although finding the accident to be a defensible one, found that the evidence did not show indications of any criminal intent, and that Shell could not be held responsible as a criminal charge. The true bill was brought in and the bondsmen ordered discharged.

An indictment was brought against Charles Thacker, charging him with passing a check without having sufficient funds to meet it. The check in the sum of $5 was passed on the proprietor of Uneda Lunch restaurant.

Shell released by grand jury

A not true bill was returned by the grand jury in the case of S. S. Shell, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Wm. LaMere, who was killed when struck by the automobile driven by Mr. Shell. The grand jury, although finding the accident to be a defensible one, did not show indications of any criminal intent, and that Shell could not be held responsible as a criminal charge. The true bill was brought in and the bondsmen ordered discharged.

ANTLEIS THEATRE

Interest in the William Fox production "Dante's Inferno" in this locality will reach its highest point Thursday and Friday, when the much-heralded picture arrives at the Antleis Theatre. This picture seems to be all that has been claimed for it. Lakes of fire and brimstone, sinners swinging over red-hot flames, and the glowing forms of hundreds of girls representing the souls of stinging sinners which have passed on to their "reward," are among the fantastic scenes. A present day story has been interlaced with the main narrative (that of Dante's visit to Hell) and relates some dramatic events in the life of a millionaire who oppresses family and friends.

LIBERTY THEATRE

On the eve of Wolfe's famous expedition against Quebec, the great British General was y-lited on board the flagship "Sutherland" by his doctor who was much concerned about the health of his patient.

"You've done your best, doctor," Wolfe told him. "You've kept me practically without pain for the last two days, and if I have twenty-four hours more, I'll be content."

The tremendous achievement of Wolfe in bringing to an end the French menace to England's American colonies is said to be graphically and thrillingly depicted in the Chronicle of America, "Wolfe and Montcalm," to be shown today at the Liberty Theatre.

Before You Step on the Starter Think of Your Motor!

There should be more to gasoline than the mere ability to start quickly. That's a common quality with good gasolines.

- Quick Starting - plus!
 - Full Power - plus!
 - Maximum Mileage - plus!
 - Non-Detonating - plus!
- Non-detonating gasoline supplies controlled energy—producing a smooth, quick, powerful vibration-less acceleration and gliding, rushing speed.
- And all of this kind of fuel is completely burned—turned into power. A maximum of mileage is thus obtained and carbon formation is delayed.
- "Knocking," even on steep hills under heavy pull, is minimized, because the explosions are progressive and power impulses are delivered to the pistons throughout the entire stroke.
- Union is insurance of your motor's best performance—that is certain.
- Sold through Union Service Stations and independent dealers everywhere.

Majestic Theatre
It would be hard to find a group of more popular screen players in one picture than those who make up the cast of "Outwitted." Independent Pictures Corporation's latest release, starring Helen Holmes and William Desmond at the Majestic tonight. For in addition to these two well known stars there are Alec Francis, Grace Currier, J. P. McGowan, Emily Fitzroy and an excellent supporting cast.

Most of these players are too well known to need any introduction to film fans. However, a word or two about Emily Fitzroy may not be amiss.

In "Outwitted" she plays the part of "Meg," a disreputable old woman—a consort of crooks. And she has never done a finer bit of acting.
