FREE TEXT BOOK BILL IS KILLED

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) STATE HOUSE, Salem, Ore., Feb. 17.—In another morning of steady grinding, the house disposed of twenty-three bills. All passed, except the measure calling for free or "loan" text books to be supplied by the state. The latter measure, house bill 296, was killed by a vote of 23 to 24.

Representatives Woodward and Graham were the principal supporters of the bill. Woodward declared that passage of the measure which would have been referred to the people would save from 25 to 50 percent a year to the people of Oregon in text book costs. He also maintained that it would cut down printing 10 percent.

"California's books only cost 50 cents a year per pupil under the loan system, the books being owned by the state," he explained. The people kicking against the bill are chiefly those who don't have children and don't want school houses, declared Representative Graham of Washington county.

Representative Tucker, Lin county also spoke for the bill. Representative Swan, Hamilton, Fuller and German fought the measure. The vote was as follows: For the bill—Bailey, Bates, Bratcher, Cowell, Fisher, Graham, Hall, Hammond, Hazlett, Hercher, Kilham, King, Kirkwood, Lohergan, Meindl, Mott, North, Pierce, Roberts, Rushlight, Shrock, Tucker, Winslow and Woodward.

Against the bill—Buchanan, Bennett, Carlin, Coffey, Cramer, Fitzmaurice, Ford, Fuller, German, Hall, Hamilton, Hessa, Howard, both Hunters, Mann, McCallister, Miller, Oakes, Potters, Randall, Reynolds, Russell, Settlement, Shunway, Swan, Teegarden, Tom, Wheeler, Wilson and Burdick.

Among house bills passed were: 427, providing for potato grading; 428, permitting the increase from $1800 to $2700 a year in the salary of water masters in irrigation districts; 295, providing regulations for the use of spotlights and headlights on automobiles; 297, authorizing county courts to fix salaries of justices of the peace and requiring the latter to turn in all fees with an itemized statement to the county treasurer.
