COAST LEAGUE TEAMS ARE GETTING READY FOR SPRING TRAINING

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 17.—The ground hog having by his memorable and customary appearance heralded an early spring the Pacific coast baseball league club owners are getting in the last scattering of contracts and preparing for spring training. Seattle, which hopes to keep the pennant it won last year with a healthy spurt, assembles its warriors at Santa Maria March 1. Manager Killifer with the new deal all around that resulted from the trading of Veen Gregg believes he has a winning team and will enter the season firmly determined to convince fans and the other seven outfits of just that thing.

San Francisco again is a leading pennant contender. George Putnam has not signed all his players yet, but expects to clean up one or two holdouts between today and next Monday, when the entire squad gets together at Fresno. A few pitchers and catchers went to Boyes Springs to get the old soup bones in shape. They started working out today.

The Vernon Tigers will do their training at Maier Park, Vernon, starting next Monday with the pitchers and catchers as a nucleus. The rest of the squad reports March 1.

Angel rookies have been ordered to report at Washington Park, Los Angeles next Monday, and the regulars will drift in March 1, after the babes have had a week unembarrassed by the supercilious presence of veterans.

Salt Lake, still with Bill Lane doing business at the old stand, gathers at Long Beach, March 1, with the earnest hope that Dame Fortune will have a heart this year—for once.

The Portland Beavers will work out at San Jose this year, starting March 1, which seems to be the popular date, with hope akin to that of the Senators inspiring them to higher things than a cellar entrance.

The Oaks, having recovered from the uncertainty of winter, when they didn't know who would sign their pay checks, go to Myrtlebeach next Monday.

Last season was one of the best ever enjoyed by the Pacific coast league and President Harry Williams is hoping for a repeat or a better record this year. Coast fans believe baseball generally has a higher respect for the Pacific circuit now than formerly, because of the spirited fashion club heads carried the fight to Ben Johnson and other detractors in the east last fall.

And there is the further feature that when the majors really want a good player, they come to the coast for him, which does not hurt the western game any. Few of the more familiar players are missing from coast line-ups this season because major league managers held their pennies last fall until the copper gave forth hollow groans, but with a promising crop of rookies and veterans getting better, the coming season is expected to result in some fancy trading next fall.

SUN IS SHINING FOR EUGENE FOLKS

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) EUGENE, Ore., Feb. 15.—Today, for the first time in weeks, the sun was bidding fair to shine brightly all day long, and the atmosphere was balmy as the brightest of spring days. Though sunshine has prevailed before this spring, clouds usually marred the perfection of a sunshiny day before evening had come.

Violets are in bloom; daisies peep forth from the freshly green grass, while daffodils and other spring flowers are bobbing in the sunshine. Trees are budding, as are hopes for more spring days.

JANUARY HAS BAD LUCK IN FEBRUARY

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) EUGENE, Ore., Feb. 17.—February is no month for January. At least that is the case with Robert January, held in the county jail on a charge of passing worthless checks.

His bad luck started on Friday the 12th he told officers, when he passed a check in Corvallis. His description was sent to Eugene and when he was picked up last night on another bad check charge he was lodged in custody of the law.

FRAME LEGISLATION FOR FARM RELIEF

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—The senate and house agricultural committees were called to continue hearings today on the framing of legislation based on the recommendations of the presidents agricultural conference. On hand to resume testimony before the senate committee were representatives of the wheat belt committee: the creation of a federal co-operative marketing board as suggested by the conference would interfere with present progress.

COOS MOUNTAINEER MUST PAY PENALTY

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) SALEM, Ore., Feb. 17.—L. W. Peare, apud Coos county mountaineer, must hang for the murder of James Culver on December 27, 1922. The supreme court so held today in an opinion written by Justice Belt affirming the conviction and sentence in Judge John C. Kendall's court at Coquille. Other opinions handed down today were:

Adolph Ask vs. Carl Wood appellant; appeal from Marion county; suit to recover money; opinion by Justice Coshaw. Judge Percy Kelley affirmed.

State of Oregon vs. E. O. Wilson, appellant; appeal from Union county; appeal from conviction for manslaughter; petition for rehearing denied in opinion by Justice Burnett.

Petition for rehearing denied in Halston vs. Stone. Appeal dismissed in Anderson vs. Harju. Peare admitted on the witness stand at his trial that he had shot Culver, his neighbor. He was also charged with second degree murder in connection with the death of his wife, who was choked to death in the Peare home. Peare claimed his mind was blank concerning his wife's death, saying he was temporarily deranged from intoxication because of drinking moonshine whiskey.

EXECUTIVE BOARD HOLDS MEETING

The executive committee of the Douglas county health association, met this afternoon at the office of the county health unit. During the past few months the association has been aiding the unit in many ways, particularly by helping in bearing the expense of giving medical treatments in cases where parents were unable to afford the cost. The association has paid for fifty tonsil operations and has procured glasses for two children. Scales have also been purchased by the organization for the Reedsport schools.

NATION IN NEED OF MORE AIRCRAFT

(Associated Press Leased Wire.) WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—The status of the nation's aircraft defense forces held the attention of two congressional committees today with the house military committee re-entering the controversy to resume hearings on the bill to create a unified air service.

The house aircraft committee, at the same time, arranged for a special executive session to receive confidential information from representatives of Secretary Weeks and Secretary Wilbur on plans of their respective departments for national defense against attack from the air.

Brigadier General Mitchell, assistant army air chief and central figure in the controversy and Theodore Roosevelt, former assistant secretary of the navy, were the witnesses called by the military committee.

The war and navy departments were called on for confidential information by the aircraft committee by unanimous decision of the committee in executive session yesterday, several members admitting the action was prompted by repeated statements of witnesses that the nation is lagging in the development of air power. The action was suggested by Representative Perkins, republican, New Jersey, committee examiner.

Colonel Roosevelt told the military committee it would be a grave mistake if the army and navy air services were united as proposed in the pending Curry bill. Money saved by such a step would be false economy, he said. The bill is opposed by the administration and favored by General Mitchell.

NEW VERSION OF OLD TALE OF "PAPA WENT AWUNTING"
SALEM, Ore., Feb. 17.—(AP)—G. P. Sharkey, Blahoe club professor, sent a long one down the fairway just as a dog passed across in close pursuit of a rabbit. The ball dropped to earth just between the long ears of the fleeing bunny, and he was so surprised he just laid down and died. "He thought, what's the use with a dog and a golfer after him. 'S' fact," avers Sharkey.
